Officials state case for 4.5 more school mills

by Mark Eisenloh

Schools and millage don't go together. At least, that's what Manistique Area School District voters have said in the recent past.

They said it a thousand times last June 14, one year ago, when they defeated a school request for 4 mills by more than a 2-1 margin, 1,127 no to 476 yes.

But school officials will try to reverse history on Monday, June 13 and ask once again that the people unite schools with more millage when they ask for a 4.5 millage increase to meet operational costs.

The extra millage will bring the total amount of mills now levied for local educational purposes from 20.7 to 25.2.

The schools were helped somewhat recently when they received an additional 2 mills from the county allocation board. Superintendent of Schools, Richard Bonifas, said that the 2 mills will not be additional mills placed upon the taxpayer, but, money that is already appropriated to the county for distribution among the local units of government.

Bonifas contends that while the additional 2 mills will aid the school, it will not be enough to meet the operational needs for the coming year.

The school is operating on a planned deficit for the 1977-78 school year of $340,000. The 4.5 mills would raise approximately that same amount of money.

This money is needed to continue to operate our schools at their current level during the remainder of the year," Supt. Bonifas explained at a special press conference Monday.

According to Bonifas, the money realized from the passage of the millage would bring the school out of the deficit budget and allow for adding a guidance counselor, full-time nurse and an electronics program.

Bonifas responded to a question concerning an assumed lack of program cutting which the school has said they would be forced to initiate if previous millage elections were unsuccessful.

"What a lot of people don't see are the programs we did cut," Bonifas said. "We were forced to fire a guidance counselor. There were two buses we didn't purchase. We had no director of transportation to upgrade our transportation system, and four professional staff members were not kept."

"In addition, those students who wanted to take a foreign language could no do so and we needed an additional junior high shop instructor that we didn't have. We also lost two teachers in the elementary program but fortunately we were able to plug them into the Title I program," Bonifas said.

Monday's ballot

Here's what will be on the ballot Monday in the annual Manistique school district election:

Three school board candidates vying for two four-year terms: John Mincoff, William Mueller (incumbent), and Virginia Stark.

Millage proposal: "Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Manistique Area Schools, Schoolcraft County, Michigan, be increased by 4.5 mills ($4.50 on each $1,000.00 of state qualified valuation) for the year 1977, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating purposes?"

Eight precincts will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.: Lincoln School, Lakeside School, Thompson Township Hall, Hiawatha School, Fairview School, Doyle School, Mueller Town Hall, Germfask Town Hall.

The school business office will be open from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. for absentee ballots on Saturday, June 11.

"The real people who get hurt are the youngsters who wanted to take Spanish or German or advanced math or those that needed the guidance counselor."

Board member Billie Doyle indicated that identifying programs to be cut would be premature.

"At this point, I don't think we should talk about cutting programs. We have a need for additional monies and I think we should accentuate these needs," Doyle said.

Bonifas responded that if the board were going to make cuts, "it would be to take $340,000 worth of services out of the budget. That's a lot of money and a lot of services."

Bonifas said that taxpayers are paying less in school taxes this year than in the three previous years. He cited a reduction of debt retirement millage as the factor behind this.

However, he added, the debt retirement money cannot be used for general operational expenditures.

"All salaries, regardless if they are audio-visual employees, teachers, bus drivers, or administration, comes out of the general operational budget," the superintendent said.

"If the professional and administration staff did not receive any increase in their salaries this year we still could not run the budget. There's just not that much money tied up in salary increases," Bonifas said.

Professional and auxiliary staff contracts have yet to be negotiated for the 1977-78 school year.

The 4.5 mills would not leave the school with any extra money, Bonifas said. The money would reportedly be used to keep the school operating at its present rate, without a deficit budget.

In fact, the superintendent reported, the tax money would not be given to the school until January and February, with a big share coming next March.

The school will initiate action to borrow $150,000 at the next board meeting regardless of the outcome of the election, in order to meet fall start-up expenses.

"Our children have to be expensive to go out and make a living," Bonifas said. "Our children had about $980 behind them last year. Other districts were putting 11 hundred, 12 hundred and even 13 hundred dollars behind each child. That to me is important."

Bonifas reported that millage funds would be utilized in several areas, including providing previously removed supplies in elementary and secondary instructional levels.

Also included in those areas was general fund monies could be used where an increase in maintenance transportation and operational costs throughout the district.

"It's a fact that the Manistique area school district has not increased its school taxes during the past three years, in spite of inflation and increased costs," Bonifas said.

Gray moves out; county loses rent

by Mark Eisenloh

Schoolcraft County Sheriff Lloyd Gray soon will be doing something he hasn't done in 23 years.

He'll be driving to and from his job at the county courthouse on a permanent basis. Sheriff Gray will vacate the present sheriff facilities connected with the jail sometime before June 20 for a more leisurely retirement home on Indian Lake.

"It was something that was going to happen eventually," says the mild-spoken sheriff.

Sheriff Gray isn't thinking of retirement at this point. But he feels he must prepare for it.

"I'd like to finish this term and then possibly another. By then, I'll be up in the sixties range," the veteran law enforcer said.

Sheriff Gray will also receive a $200 pay raise for leaving the present facilities under the program, the county board of commissioners established last year.

Under the terms of a program set up by William Olesak, then chairman of the finance committee, Gray was scheduled to receive a $200 raise. Instead, the county voted to charge Gray $200 a month rent for the facilities.

Since that money is part of Gray's salary, it will go with him when he moves.

It will also affect the amount of pension the sheriff will receive when he retires, because no pension money is taken out of the $2,400 a year he pays in rent.

Sheriff Gray reports that the rent is not the only reason the couple is moving out.

"This place came up and we decided to take it," he said. "The wife and I would like to get out and enjoy our free time at a more leisurely pace. It can be hard to relax when you live at your job."

Theresa Gray is a matron at the jailhouse.

The Grays have lived in the jailhouse quarters for 23 years. They have taken care of the prisoners and managed to raise three kids in the apartment like quarters.

"We don't have to live here. We're not required by law anyway, but it has been more convenient," says Sheriff Gray.

"The jail will be taken care of as it always has been. The prisoners will get fed on time," the sheriff said.

The sheriff and his wife currently cook and launder for the prisoners in the jail, which can hold up to 20 inmates.

However, since the new jailhouse was built 19 years ago, it has only been filled once.

"The only thing I'll be doing different than before is driving 5 1/2 miles to work every day," he said.

Driving to work isn't exactly new to the sheriff, either.

For the past 10 years, the Grays have maintained two cabins on Indian Lake where they spent most of the summer months, renting one and living in the other.

Both cabins will be offered up for sale this summer. When Sheriff Gray's rent runs up June 20, the county board of commissioners will be seeking a new renter.

However, the residence will have to be renovated somewhat before that can happen.

According to county commissioner Earl LeBrasseur, under a state restriction, if anyone other than a sheriff moves into the quarters, separate entrances have to be provided and the quarters have to be completely sealed off from the jail facilities.

Town meeting seeks answers for community

Questions about community problems seem to be abundant. Solutions are more scarce, however.

And that is why a group of interested persons is planning a Manistique Town Meeting for Saturday, June 18 at Manistique High School.

"We have a lot of good questions," County Commissioner Lindsley Frenette said at a meeting of the group Monday night. "The trouble is, there aren't many answers."

The town meeting will be keyed to providing some answers, with workshops scheduled to address social, economic and political concerns.

Members of the steering committee hope to draw 200 people from the Manistique area to discuss problems, put them in writing, and identify practical actions proposed to overcome them.

Committee members include Phil Ott, Dave Grimes, Gene Nagel and Betty LaPointe.

On Monday, Norma Johnson was master of ceremonies for the day's events, which will run from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Babysitting will be available.

Last year, town meetings of this type were held all across the state, using materials provided by the Institute of Cultural Affairs, a non-profit organization based in Chicago.

Advanced registration for the day, open any area resident, is required because seating capacity. Costs include a $1 strating fee, plus a donation for lunch.

Mincoff, Mueller, Stark give views on school issues

Voters will have the task of choosing from three area residents—including one incumbent—for the Manistique Area School Board of Education during the June 13 school election.

The names of John Mincoff, incumbent William Mueller and Mrs. Virginia Stark are scheduled to appear on the ballot.

Voters will choose one person to fill the vacancy on the board of education, created when Mueller's term expires. John Mincoff Mincoff, 123 S. Cedar St., was born in Wakefield and moved to Manistique with his family when he was a child. He graduated from Manistique High School and completed an apprenticeship at the Manistique Tool and Manufacturing Co.

Mincoff moved to Milwaukee in 1948 as manager of Product Tool Corp. and later enlisted in the U.S. Army where he served in Germany in the Ordnance Corps.

In 1954, he married the former Marlene Anderson of Manistique, and in 1958 they moved back to Manistique.

While in Manistique, he was owner of Mincoff Studio for 16 years and for the last three years he and his wife Marlene have owned and operated The Vogue. He is also a real estate salesman with State Wide Real Estate.

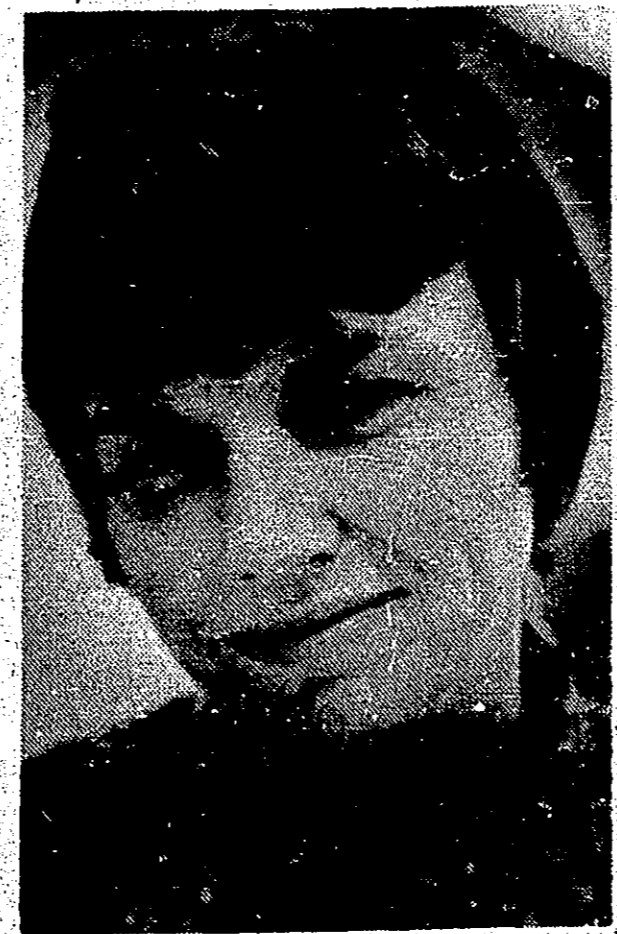

Mincoff is currently secretary-treasurer of the Schoolcraft County Republican Committee, member of the Elks Club, the Indian Lake Golf and Country Club, VFW Post 4420, the Professional Photographers of America, the Manistique Schoolcraft Area Chamber of Commerce and CHANGE (Citizens Helping Advance Needs, Good for Education.)

He also has been a member of the Wisconsin Professional Photographers for 15 years, he is past president of the Manistique Jaycees and was a member of the Manistique Centennial Committee.

He and his wife have three children: Tom, Sabrina and Nicky. About school issues, Mincoff says: "I really don't know what the issues would be. I've been following that thing (school board) for years trying to find out. I don't think anybody knows until they get in there.

"I think, though, that I could help them out.

"I would strive for more accountability in all departments. I just think I have the ability to make decisions.

"I believe the school does need the millage. They could use the millage. It's just like everything else today, people have to get paid for what they do, I just think there could be more accountability.

"But, I really don't see where it (millage) has much chance."

Township School in 1975-76 and also at the Manistique Pioneer-Tribune.

She and her husband are the current owners of Sequoia Resort on Indian Lake, and he also works for John Barber on construction.

She is a pianist and member of the choir at the First Methodist Church in Manistique. She has four children; Bill, Dan and Susan Giles from a previous marriage and Linda from her present.

About school issues Mrs. Stark says:

"The school board should have some idea of the situation in the school and be willing to listen to the people they represent.

"I think there is a frustration on the part of people. A lot of them don't feel they are being listened to. They are unsure of the situation themselves.

"They would like to have more representation with teachers and school board.

"Communication would help solve the problem.

"If the people truly believe that the finances are such that they really need the money they will give the support.

"The people would be believe definitely that the situation is severe. If they did, they would vote for it (additional millage).

"I feel it would be a good idea if several members of the school board visited various PTA groups and tried to find out what the problems are and show the people that they are concerned."

Senior Citizens

by Eileen Males

There is a quote that goes like this: "Though another may have more money, beauty, than you; yet when it comes to the rarer spiritual values such as charity, self sacrifice, honor, nobility of heart, you have an equal chance with everyone to be the most beloved and honored of all people."

In every church, club, or organization, there are a faithful few who are always willing to extend a helping hand and are always spending their time to make life a little better for someone else. Anyone who is in charge of a club, head of a church or whatever, can rattle off the names of these faithful workers and they usually number less than what can be counted on both hands.

When our life is over can we really say, "I gave my community a little part of my life that made it a better place in which to live."

Likewise, a Senior Citizens Center is like a church or a club because we would have to lock our doors if it weren't for our faithful few. There aren't any sweeter words that can be said than, "Is there some way that I can help?"

Our center, to be run effectively, the staff must be dedicated and the people we serve should vie back, if possible. Our volunteers make the center function. We have opened our Thrift Store in the former Ken's Bakery Building and it is ran solely by retired volunteers.

Our basement at our center is piled full of used clothing that has to be sorted, priced and ironed, and we need volunteers for that. Last week Myrtle McDonough, Edith Washburn, Isabell Bunker, Viola Richmire and Virginia Foye came and ironed and helped us. We need so much more help. Can you offer a morning or afternoon to help us in this endeavor? For those who like meeting the public, would you call and offer to work a day at our Thrift Store? Giving of yourself is what makes the world a little better place in which to live. Call us at 341-2021 should you want to help.

Ida Goudreau made us an assortment of baby booties, pin cushions, hot pads, etc. for our Thrift Store with the money going to the center. Like Ida, Edith Washburn made baby bibs and finished one of our lovely home-made quilts and Mabel Moreau made us another lovely baby poncho. If you haven't seen our fine selections of quilts, afghans, mittens and other home-made items, you should stop at our Thrift Store and browse around. We also have one of the finest assortments of good cleaned used clothing priced very reasonable. At today's high prices, it shouldn't be above anyone's dignity to buy a good value.

One lady came in and purchased eight darling outfits for under $5. I know I have bought things there that I liked. Growing up I was accustomed to wearing someone else's clothing and I'll still do it today if I see something that pleases me. Why not? I'm not proud, but I do have pride and that makes the difference.

Memorials were given to the center's building fund in the name of Norma Sallie by Irma Brown, in the name of Mr. and Mrs. Max Larson, by Erland and Ellen Danielson, in the name of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Willebrand by Margaret Willebrand of Gardena, Cal., and in the name of Dorothy Frans, who passed away a year ago June 4, by Edith Snyder.

Building Fund donations came from Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fragale and an anonymous donor. Josie Peterson gave us a donation towards coffee. Thrift Store supplies were given by Dorothy Michaels, Mrs. Joseph Turek, Elma and Ed Swan, Selma Kaiser, Edna Fiegel, Nel Nelson and Helen Cox. Baked goods were brought in by Viola Richmire and Pearl Whitman brought Bingo prizes to the Tuesday Bingo-Potluck day at the Harbor Towers. All these acts of kindness are so deeply appreciated and thank you all.

Some experts know warblers on sight

With all the northbound feathered traffic pausing just long enough to confuse ordinary people, it's amazing to me that there are experts who know all the warblers by name and song...and sparrows aren't a heck of a lot easier to pin down. But what's in a name, after all?

We have a cement retaining wall in front of our camp which, after a storm, becomes a regular salad bar of goodies for the water shore birds which share the lake with us. We never tire of their double timing in search of groceries among the mini-debris but we aren't particularly concerned about their rather distinctive group.

Ferns could drive a curious man crazy, for there are so many almost-alike brands, but what matter as long as they're pleasurable to walk through and smell? And some people can get so wrapped up identifying wing contours and tail colorations of high-soaring hawks that the billowing clouds behind them are totally overlooked. Went up to visit they Brockway Mountain hermit several springs ago with my friend Vic, a self-taught naturalist, and as a lover of beauty, he was most impressed with the hermit's voiced appreciation of the many wildflowers growing in the clearing around his tarpaper shack. He was even more impressed when the hermit, with a twinkle in his eye, quickly identified each one of them. Pansies, all pansies.

So much for those silly Latin names of experts toss around....

Manistique featured in U.P. article in Amoco magazine

Maybe you never thought of Manistique as a metropolis.

But that's the way it's described in the current summer issue of Adventure Road Magazine, published for 1,250,000 members of the Amoco Motor Club.

In a three-page article titled "The U.P.: Michigan's Upper Peninsula, The Kingdom by the Lake," Manistique, Sault Ste. Marie and Escanaba are termed "thriving metropolises (that) give the visitor another view of Upper Peninsula life."

The city is called "the one-time busy lumber port from which came most of the white pine used in constructing Chicago during the mid-1800's."

"Within easy driving distance from the center of town," the article continues, "there is a whole roster of attractions to be found in state parks, Seney Wildlife Refuge and Hiawatha National Forest. Located in Palms Book State Park is the dazzling natural phenomenon of 'Big Spring,' its glass-like waters revealing a rare underwater fantasy of plants, fish and clouds of boiling sand. Nearby on the Garden Peninsula is the ghost town of Fayette and the remnants of a large iron smelting concern that operated in the late 1800s."

Color photos of Big Spring, taken by John Mincoff, sand dunes near Pt. Aux Barques and the Manistique Marina accompanied the article.

The article followed a community effort last year to raise $4,000 to place a photo of Big Spring on the cover of the 1976 Standard Oil map of Michigan. Ron Schulz, headed a fund-raising group of businessmen that included Mincoff, Johnny Pat Miller, Fred Hahne and Fred Cayia.

The map and article were part of a campaign to lure more travelers and vacationers to the Manistique area.

Seul Choix Point state property

It's official. Six acres of the Seul Choix Point Light Station no longer belong to the federal government.

On June 7, the designated surplus federal land was turned over to the State of Michigan free of charge to be used for public recreation.

Currently, the State plans to develop the site into a park. Planned facilities include a launching area to provide access to Lake Michigan for water-oriented activities.

Restroom facilities and parking facilities will also be added and expanded. The existing wood-stone breaker wall will be improved to protect boaters from the wave action of Lake Michigan.

In addition, the State will also build a parking lot near the site's current picnic facilities. The picnic area will be administered by the Mueller Township under an agreement with the Department of Natural Resources.

In Memoriams

In loving memory of wife and mother Daisy Moore who passed away four years ago, June 5th. Do not ask me if I miss her, For there's such a vacant place, Of I think of her footsteps, Or I see her smiling face, For she left me broken hearted, Friends may think the wound is healed, But they so little know the sorrow That is in my heart concealed. Big Bay de Noc asks 5.4 mills

Big Bay de Noc School District voters will decide a 5.4 operating mill issue and two school board seats in its annual school election on Monday, June 13.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at Inwood Township Hall, Fairbanks Township Hall, the Garden Community Building and Nahma Township Hall.

Four candidates are vying for two four-year positions on the board. Carl Van Remortel and Thomas Klaus are running for re-election, challenged by Linda Parkinson and Jon Haindl.

"The additional 5.4 mills will be utilized for a $33,000 incurred debt," Superintendent Terry Brooks said in a newsletter. "plus a 15 per cent increase for electric heat, fuel for buses and building, contracted wages for the 1977-78 school year, and 25 per cent for insurance cost increases." "Many cuts have been made in an attempt to balance the budget this past year: one elementary teacher, one high school teacher, two cooks, one custodian and one bus driver," Brooks added. "If the millage should fail, we are faced with many additional cuts in programs."

If passed, the millage would increase property taxes by $5.40 for each $1,000 in assessed valuation. For instance, a house whose actual valuation is $20,000 and assessed valuation is $10,000, would be taxed for $54 more.

In the school board races, Van Remortel, a 10-year member of the Big Bay board; and Klaus, a three-year member; face Parkinson, wife and mother of five sons, and Haindl former high school teacher.

Van Remortel said his first priority if re-elected "Would be to make every effort to see that the school district is returned to a sound financial condition, then a good sound educational program would follow."

Klaus, a licensed foster parent, said "consistent discipline is essential." He is married and has six children in the school system.

Haindl, a life-long resident of the area and graduate of Michigan State University, stressed discipline and the need to provide the best education possible within our framework of finances."

Parkinson, who served as vice president of the Delta Parish Council, is owner and operator of an adult care facility. She said she hopes to establish a closer relationship among parents, students, faculty and school administrators.

'Student of the year'

PAMELA SZMANESKY, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Szmanesky of Manistique, was chosen "Student of the Year" in office education. Ms. Szmanesky graduated May 31 from Sterling, Ill. High School and wore the Gold Cord, a symbol of the National Honor Society, of which she is a member. She will be attending the American Institute of Commerce in Davenport, Iowa this fall.

William Mueller
William Mueller, 302 Terrace Ave., is seeking a second re-election to the board. He was originally elected in 1969 and was re-elected in 1973.

Mueller was born in Manitowoc, Wis., and came to Manistique with his family when he was a child in 1907.

He graduated from Manistique High School and from the American Institute of Baking in Chicago in January, 1926.

He worked with the family bakery in Manistique until 1944, when it closed. He was then employed with Our Own Bakeries in Manistique until 1948. From 1948, until his retirement in 1971, he was employed as a salesman by Toby's Specialties of Manistique.

Mueller is a member of the First United Methodist Church of Manistique, where he is a trustee and financial secretary. He is a life member of Lakeside Lodge 371 F. and A.M. and is a past master and present secretary. He belongs to the Francis M. Moore Consistory, Ahmed Temple Shrine and is past patron of Ida Chapter 54, Order of Eastern Star. Mueller serves on the Schoolcraft County Commission of Aging and on the Community Action Agency's Schoolcraft Nutrition Policy Advisory Committee.

He and his wife, Margaret, have two sons: Dr. Van Mueller of Minneapolis and William Jr. of Beaver Dam, Wis.

About school issues Mueller says: "I've always been interested in education and like to encourage new programs."

"The biggest problem facing the district today is financing so you can provide the things that are necessary."

"We need more money to work with. We need the millage to maintain the programs."

"The education system has deviated from the basics to a certain extent. We need a little more academics and foreign languages, these are the things that develop the mind and teaches the child to think. Even if he never uses them again in his life, these things did some good because they taught him to think."

"The parent really needs to take more interest in education. It has to be a joint effort between the parents and the kids."

Hahne, LeBrasseur named ORV course set to CAA governing board

Escanaba—A new executive committee for the Menominee-Delta-Schoolcraft Community Action Agency was elected by its governing board of directors at the quarterly meeting held Saturday, June 4, at the Catherine Bonifas Civic Center in Escanaba.

Elected to serve one year terms on the executive committee were the following: Floyd Paronto of Stephenson; Lloyd Benson of Nadeau and Carl Grassl of Menominee; Carl Anderson, David Pugliese and H. George Nelson, all of Escanaba; Earl LeBrasseur and Fred Hahne, both of Manistique and Rudy Lawrence of Germfask.

Theresa Lanaville, Head Start parents' representative to the executive committee, will continue to serve until her term expires in the Fall.

In addition, the governing board replaced old members whose three-year term expired with new ones. The board acted upon recommendations of local policy advisory committees (PACs) which identify areas of concern for the agency directors.

Six director seats will be rotated as follows: Ann Lungerhausen of Hermansville for LeRoy Nelson of Powers; Elmer Dahn for Henry Hill, both of Rock; Mike Deleux for Lt. Murray Herron, Ernest Berg in place of Norma Kositzke and John Carlson takes the chair of John Roman, all of Escanaba; Donald Schultze of Manistique will occupy Martha Miller's position. Mrs. Miller is from Cooks.

Some 290 youths ages 14-18 are placed in public and non-profit organizations for summer employment throughout the tri-county area, Marsha Green, Work Experience Program counselor, told the board.

Each youth can expect to work 26 hours for 10 weeks throughout the Summer for a total of 260 hours, Mrs. Green said. Placement breakdown by county is as follows: Menominee, 92; Delta, 156 and Schoolcraft, 43.

School millage...

"Over the past three years, the valuation of the Manistique Area School District has steadily increased. Each year this means additional local money is raised per mill for the school district."

"However, the state decreases its aid by the same amount of the local increase. The result is our school district receives no additional money because of the increased valuation."

"The only way the state will increase its contributions to the Manistique Area Schools is if our citizens approve additional operational millage," Bonifas said.

Parents and students are reminded that off road vehicles (ORV) operators aged 12 to 16 are required to have an ORV safety certificate when operating an ORV unless accompanied by an adult or on land owned by a parent or guardian.

ORVs are defined to include mini bikes, motorcycles, motorized carts and other wheeled and tracked vehicles designed for off road use. Violation of this provision of state law is a misdemeanor, and parents of offending juveniles may be held responsible and cited by law enforcement officers.

A scheduled ORV safety training class stresses safe operational techniques, first aid, survival skills, legal and environmental requirements. To register for an ORV class scheduled for this summer, contact Manistique Community School office, 341-2195.

Strawberry dish

by Carl Olson
Michigan Department of Agriculture

Look in your markets now and you'll find fresh Michigan strawberries. In fact, our own strawberries should be available until around the end of July as the growing season stretches northward into the Houghton area.

Strawberries are, according to Larousse Gastronomique, as member of the rose family and to me a fresh bowl of strawberries is as attractive as a dozen roses. They're an important crop, too, with Michigan ranking fifth nationwide in production, according to Michigan Department of Agriculture figures.

These bright red berries are easy to prepare. Most children, and I number myself among them, just like to have them sliced with sugar and milk. Another treat I make is to whip up a vanilla milk shake in the blender, add a pint of sliced strawberries and whirl for a few seconds more. Delicious!

The other day my wife brought home a recipe for another way to use strawberries I had never tasted before. It's called, "Strawberries de Luxe," and is it ever!

Wash, hull and either halve or slice a box of fresh strawberries. Turn them into a bowl and sprinkle with three tablespoons of brown sugar. Gently stir in 1/2 cup of Michigan Grade A sour cream and sprinkle with another tablespoon of brown sugar. Place in the refrigerator to chill for at least an hour. Spoon into serving dishes and sprinkle with a little more brown sugar. This makes two to three servings.

We finance a lot of things just for fun-like travel trailers, tent campers & Fifth Wheels—you save and still have the fun.

Travelers tell tall tales

There's some tall tales in the history books.

And probably none taller than the ones that have been heard around Seney over the past several decades.

I recently pulled two newspaper articles out of my sometimes dusty drawer that dealt with Seney and its travelers tales.

For instance: Seney once boasted 2,000 residents and was known as the "hell hole" of the north woods.

Ernest Hemingway once made his headquarters at Seney while trout fishing in the Fox and Two Hearted Rivers. (He later mentions these rivers in some of his works.)

Illiterate lumberjacks coming from Europe would simply ask the railroad station for a ticket to "hell" and would earn a ride to Seney.

Many of the wild stories told about Seney were mere fiction, but some were true.

One that made the headlines of city newspapers all over the country was supposedly written by a female New York World reporter based on information supplied her by some Seney jokesters.

In her story, she told about "ram's pasture," supposedly a stockade guarded by huge dogs, where lumberjacks were held as slaves until taken into the woods to labor at work camps.

(Actually, ram's pasture was the main floor of a crowded hotel where lumberjacks slept for the lack of beds)

A former Seney section worker was Leon Czolgosz, the man who assassinated President McKinley.

Nicknames such as Snap Jaw Small, who munched drinks by biting off the heads of snakes and frogs; Protestant Bob McGuire, who used his razor sharp thumbnails to cut faces and gouge out eyes in barroom fights; and a honky-tonk madam called Frying Pan Mag, after she used a cast iron pan to subdue lumberjacks who started roughhousing.

One of Seney's famous fights was between Tim Kaine, camp teamster, and John Dugan, camp boss.

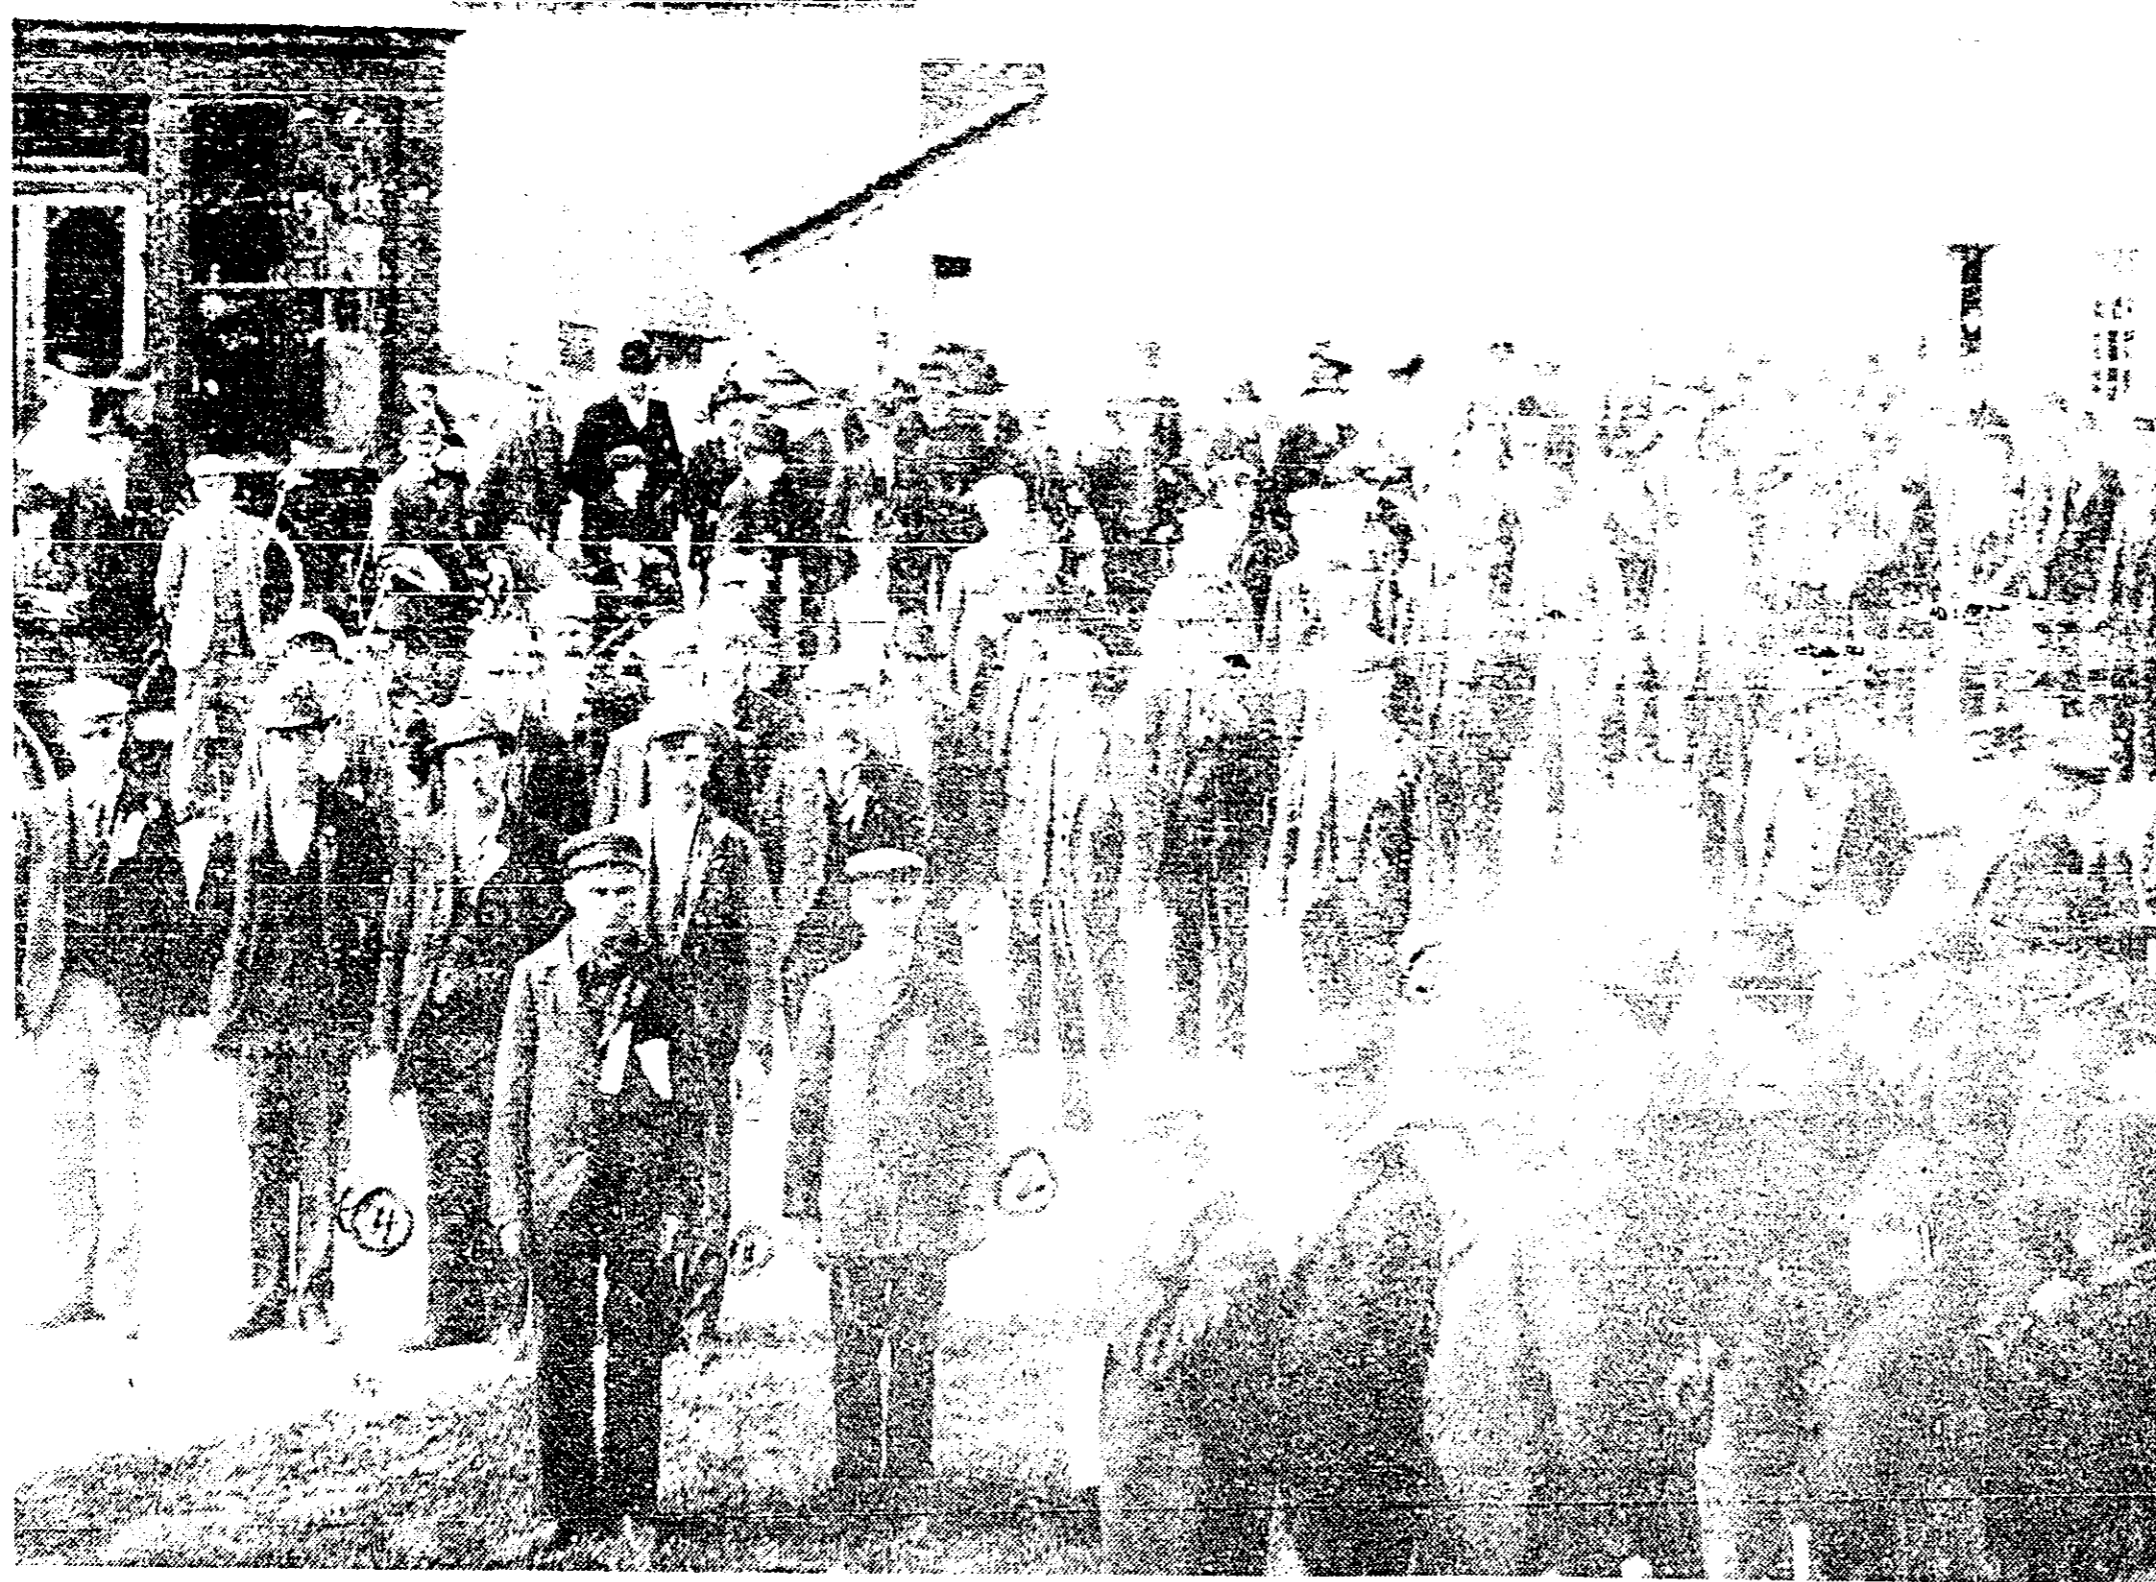

Seney lived up to its bad reputation during the Dunn-Harcourt feud, which resulted in two murders.

I'm sure Seney residents have heard these and many more such tales.

Whether they are true or not, it makes interesting reading to see what others have to say about the local lore of the upper peninsula. (The newspaper article was from an out state paper.)

Dear Mr. Eisenlohr: Kate LeBrasseur sent me a copy of the Manistique Pioneer-Tribune for May 12.

my step-father. We are leaving for a trip early tomorrow and won't be back until June 2.

"At that time I'll try and look up what material I have on father.

"Mr. Hixson's grandson, Carter White, is publisher of the Record Journal in Meriden, Conn. He, too, may have material he could send.

"If it would be possible to send a copy of the May 12 Tribune I'm sure Carter would appreciate it.

"He is out of the country at this moment so I suggest it be sent to his home.

"Most sincerely, (signed) Katherine H. Bowers."

Last winter, I wrote a column on past winters using information I had taken from some notes at the time.

This past week I had the pleasure of meeting the man who wrote those notes, although no name was included on them.

John Girven walked into the office and introduced himself (really, it seemed like we had already known each other) as the author of the notes.

John was the owner of the Girven Coal and Dock Co. at the time.

According to John, the weather information was taken off of a Taylor reading thermometer and the Tribune used to receive their weekly weather reports from him.

John must have gotten cold working with all those low numbers, because he told me he now spends his winters in Florida.

He's promised to recall some interesting history for the column.

Thanks for stopping in, John.

County Extension

by Elvin Hepker

68 beef owners appointed as the secretary of agriculture. Nominations for the board would come from producer organizations in various geographical areas and from cattle owners in areas not represented by such organizations.

According to Michigan State University Extension agricultural economist, the aim of the proposed organization is to provide a coordinated program of education, promotion and research for the nation's cattle and beef industry. Among the expected benefits is a more efficient marketing system with reasonable returns to the producer and better quality products and fair prices for the consumer.

The program would be paid for through assessments on the value added on all cattle sold. For the first three years, the board would collect up to three-ninths of one percent. After that, the rate could be changed but could not exceed one-half of one percent. Cattle owners who did not want to take part in the program could get refunds.

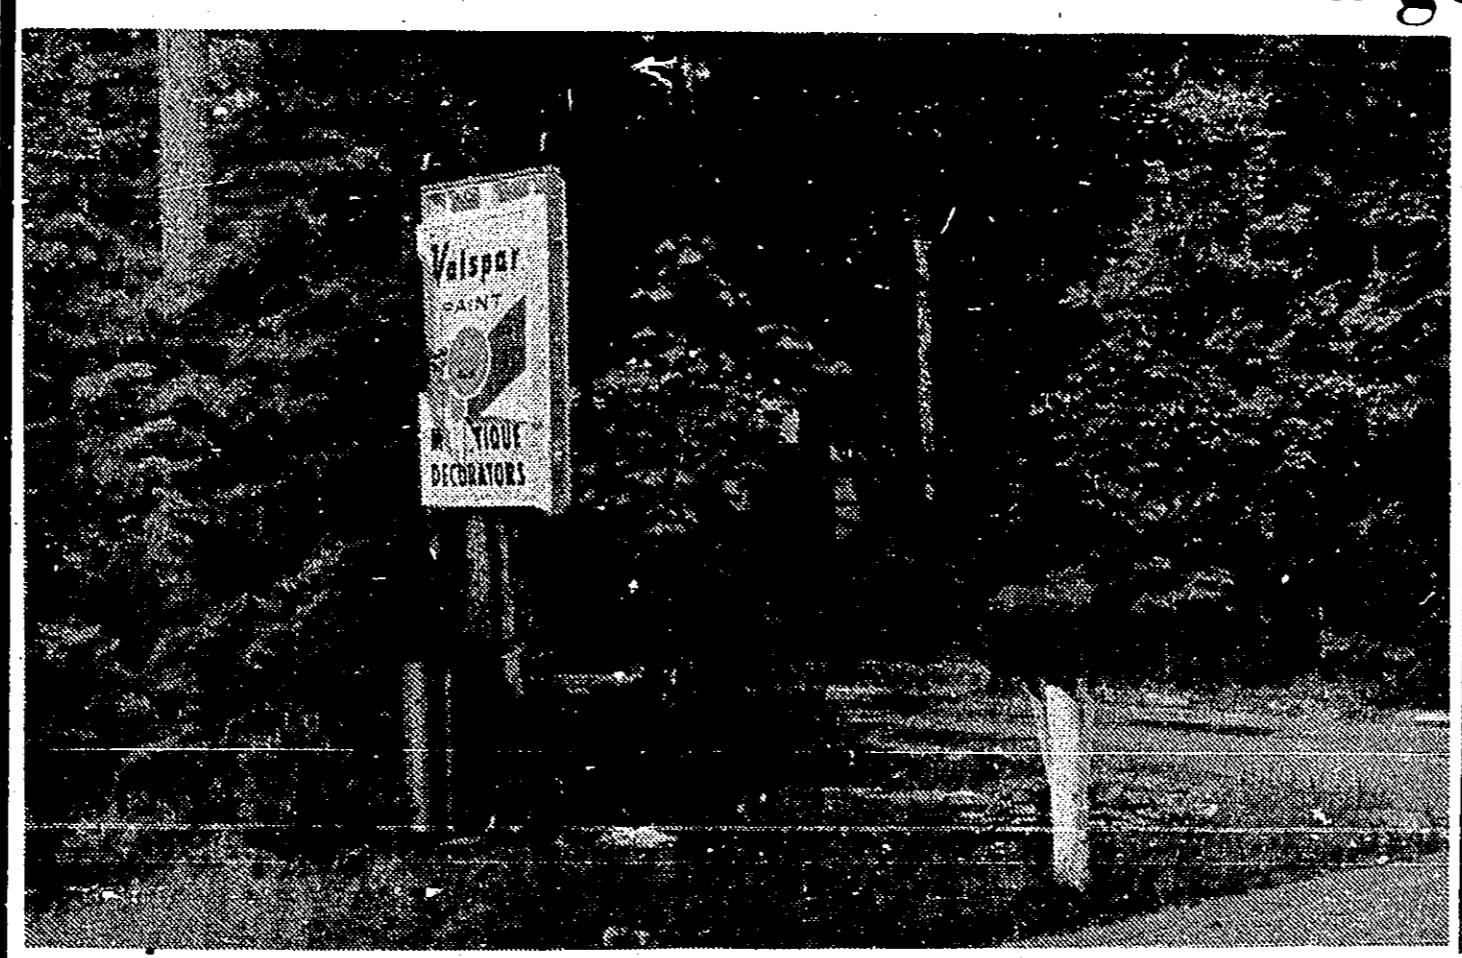

Any person or legal entity (corporation, partnership, etc.) that owned beef or dairy cattle from Jan. 1, 1976 through Dec. 31, 1976, is eligible to register and vote. There is no age limit.

For more information in the referendum, contact your local Cooperative Extension Service or ASCS office.

A public responsibility

The financial interest in the educational program at Manistique is undoubtedly more real than it ever has been. But in asking for 4.5 mills in the annual school election Monday the Manistique Board of Education is like, in the public's eye, the boy who cried wolf.

The public has heard the cry of more millage to operate the schools four times in the past two years alone and has turned it off every time by surrounding margins. And each election defeat seemed to justify the next one: voters could not see that the schools truly were suffering for lack of money.

After a 1974 no vote margin on a two-mill issue last November some cuts were realized in the school program. But they were mainly in the counseling and academic areas and not in athletics or sports which seemed to raise the greatest concern in public meetings last summer. And highly visible to the public, so is bus transportation. Major reductions in those areas would be obvious.

So the millage failed, but the highly visible and popular programs continued. And the schools operated without, it seemed, any obvious hardship throughout the year.

Each millage defeat, however, has made things more difficult for the school board to meet rising costs for generally the same program.

This year, the board faces the prospect of borrowing just to start up school operations in the fall, regardless of the millage election outcome. Additional revenue from new millage would not be realized until early in 1978, after tax bills go out.

Failure of the millage would mean a prospective deficit of approximately $700,000—primarily tied to the school program. That's a large sum that could be translated into the loss of some key services and activities.

Rather to wait and see if the "wolf" cry is more real this time, the public should accept financial responsibility and approve the needed millage. The schools may open without it, but the time would only be shortened before severe program cuts would have to be enacted.

The schools picked up 2 of a 11 from the county allocation board in May, and lowered the debt retirement levy rate by 2.5 mills, easing by some degree the public's school tax burden.

No one, however, is saying that 4.5 new mills will mean a slight increase in taxes. For a $20,000 home assessed at $10,000, the increase would add $45 to the winter tax bill.

If approved, the total school operating and debt retirement rate will be 29.94 mills. That's high. But it is no higher than other U.P. school districts which have sustained higher levy rates.

Issues that branch from millage questions—the management of school finances, salaries, the competence of school personnel—are matters that the school board, with the public's direction, must deal with. They will not be resolved by negative votes in millage elections.

The responsible and relevant issue is whether the schools need more money to operate the current program. And no one is publicly arguing that one. Vote yes on Monday.

Vegetarian dreams stir rabbit stew

About this time every year I vow that never again will I get involved with a garden. My aversion to gardening goes back a long way, to the years my parents had a rented plot and would drag the family out to it each evening to weed and hoe.

When I grew up, there weren't going to be any gardens for me. I'd buy my vegetables at the grocery store like the saner people of the civilized world. Somehow, age and maturity tempered that radical streak and before I knew it I too had a garden.

There formative years of gardening at my parents' knee did help to develop my own philosophy of gardening. If survival of the fittest worked with the rest of nature, I reasoned, why wouldn't it work in a vegetable garden? My early gardens had beans and radishes competing with weeds with mixed success. My harvest may not have been great, but I had the hardest vegetables around.

Soil conditions in Wisconsin and Michigan, where I've done my solo gardening, were different than the soils of my parents' gardens in Illinois. I've sown seeds in heavy clay that turned to rock under the hot July sun. And I've planted in soils more suited to a rock garden than a vegetable patch.

My gardens have been washed out by torrential rains, frozed by late frosts and burned up by mid-summer drought. Through all kinds of adversity I've kept a relatively cool demeanor and thanked God that I chose the newspaper business and not farming as my livelihood.

This was the year, I decided early this spring, for my garden to produce a bumper crop. The weather moderated early in May and I got my seeds in the ground two weeks earlier than usual. The soil conditions were ideal. Instead of the heavy clay of recent years, the soil in this year's garden was a rich mixture of sand and loam. I even prepared for a dry summer by purchasing a special garden sprinkler.

The seeds germinated and sprouted on schedule and each morning I would check their progress. I even staggered the plantings so the produce would mature at different times. I was organized and even had dreams of a little vegetable stand in front of my house. That is, until last week.

My dreams of a vegetarian's delight by August were wiped out by a pair of hungry rabbits. Where corn and lettuce had reached to the sky one evening, was now reduced to stubs by the next morning. Rabbit tracks along the rows told the story.

The bunnies had been bouncing around my yard for the past month. I assumed they would rather feast on my lush, uncut lawn that risk death by attacking my garden. I was wrong. The urge for fresh vegetables was too much for them and my garden has been wiped out. Rabbit stew has now replaced home grown vegetables on my summer menu. I wonder if I could apply for federal crop disaster relief?

Monuments to our modern days

There are monuments to everything, it seems.

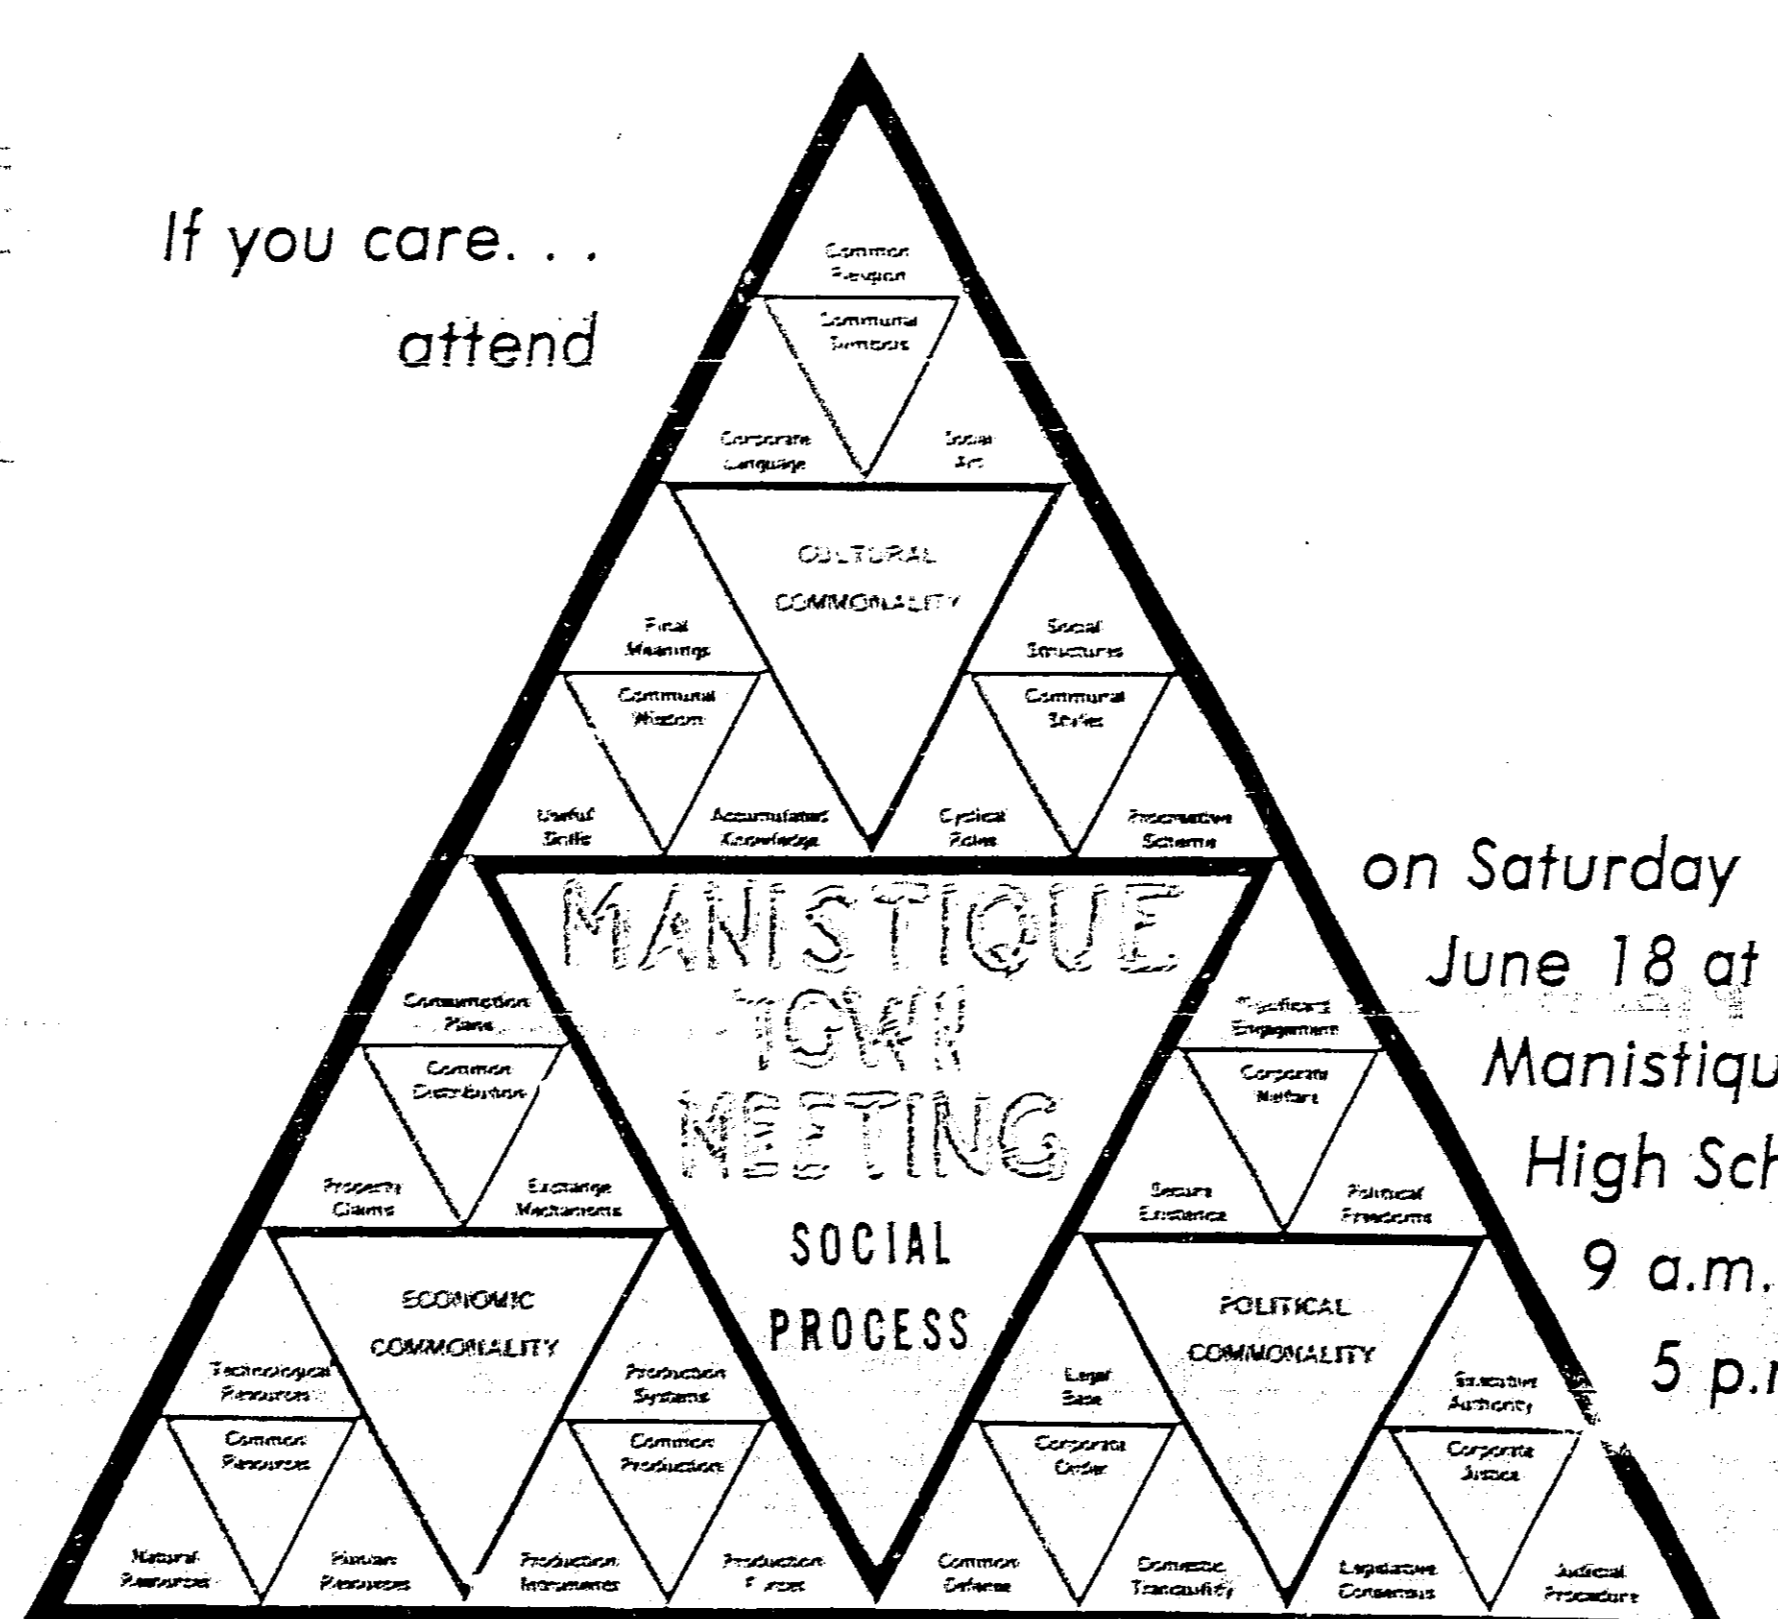

A recent book review in the Detroit Free Press listed several unique monuments—to boll weevils, butchered cows and Benedict Arnold's left boot. But these are all monuments of the past.

Why not some modern markers to pass on the common truths and idiosyncracies of the times?

Suggestions:

1. The Dentist and Patient, 1970's. A bronze sculpture depicting a talkative doctor of dentistry peering into the mouth of a hopelessly taciturn patient whose oral cavity is filled with cotton and instruments.
2. Truth in Packaging, Detroit Style. A graphic presentation in-marble, of an optical illusion showing from one angle that an automobile engine is one of the Oldsmobile variety, but is in fact Chevrolet.
3. Temple of the PBB Cow. Erected by attorneys, health department officials and farmers in memory of the contamination debacle that proved profitable for some, confusing to others and a health hazard of unknown dimensions for a hamburger-happy public.
4. Pioneers, Old and New. An intricate statue of two contrasting figures—one of a form in buckskin, carrying a knapsack,

A few years ago, a surgeon suggested there should be no pitchers in boys' baseball because it is bad for the kids' arms. He said a machine should be used to throw the ball toward the batter.

I go along with that, happily. I hope the idea will catch on and possibly spread to the pros.

My partner and I were riding in an elevator when I overheard a conversation between a woman young person and a man who was chief of orthopedic surgery at Buffalo, Thurston's Hospital.

None of mine could ever pitch little league baseball," he said. "The possibilities of sustaining permanent elbow restriction, if minor, or may definitely stem from pitching overhead at an early age."

I was thinking about Dr. Godfrey while playing golf the other day.

FHA accepting loan applications

Escanaba-The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) will receive applications until Sept. 30, 1977, under special loan programs initiated by President Jimmy Carter to assist farms and improve community water systems affected by prolonged drought.

FmHA County Supervisor Dennis J. Maufort said the application deadline was designated by a federal interagency Drought Emergency Coordinating Committee in naming areas eligible for benefits of the special programs. Schoolcraft County is among the areas designated.

FmHA farm emergency loans covering losses from drought and providing additional credit needed to restore production are available to farmers who lack other sources of credit. Loans, which may be supplemented by grants, are available for emergency measures such as deepening or drilling new wells to improve community water systems adversely affected by drought.

Another deadline applies to emergency water system projects; they must be completed by Nov. 30, 1977.

Dennis J. Maufort said the FmHA office for Schoolcraft County at Escanaba can supply further information on terms of the special drought emergency programs.

FOREVER AND EVER

This picture was taken just a year ago. It was a perfect afternoon for a garden wedding reception. Joan and Kenny were so much in love.

Now, this morning, a letter came in the mail from Joan telling us that she is coming home. She's thinking about divorce — that the beautiful dream that she and Kenny shared has turned into a nightmare.

Naturally, her father and I will welcome her. This is her home and she will be. But this is a problem that we shall not try to solve by ourselves. We will turn, as we know Joan will, to our church, and to the very minister who both baptized and married her. Maybe all of us, working together, will find a way through God's Will and His Word.

The Church comes very close in times of stress. Remember that.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS

Board of Commissioners

Tuesday, May 17, 1977

A regular monthly (May 1977) meeting of the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners was held on Tuesday, May 17, 1977, at the Courthouse, City of Manistique, Michigan, commencing at 7:00 o'clock P.M., E.D.S.T.

The meeting was called to order by the Chairman, Ernest S. Hoholik.

The roll was called and noted as follows: Present: Kenneth O. Mortensen, Daniel N. Klarich, Earl LeBrasseur, William Tennyson, Lindsley Frenette, Edward Way, and Ernest S. Hoholik. Absent: None.

It was moved by William Tennyson, supported by Kenneth O. Mortensen, that the minutes of the April 27th, 1977 Board Meeting, be approved as printed, copies of which were furnished to each member present. Motion carried by unanimous Aye Vote.

Commissioner Lindsley Frenette, Chairman of the Airport Committee reported on their most recent meeting at which meeting the matters raised by the FAA, dealing with shutting down of the Airport and snow removal were discussed. Frenette also reported that he is awaiting further word from the Michigan Aeronautic Commission regarding the settlement of the 1972 Airport Expansion Project dealing with land acquisition. He stated that during their phone conversation he was informed that this information would be conveyed to him within a few days, and as of this date nothing has been received.

Commissioner Frenette also reported that the Airport Committee authorized the purchase of a pick-up truck for Airport maintenance work.

Frenette then moved that the Board authorize the Airport Committee to work out an agreement with Marvin Curran for the purchase of 4.9 acres of land adjacent to and lying west of the current west boundary line of the Schoolcraft County Airport. This land is commonly referred to as, "The Pines," and used for picnics, etc. for many years even though it was not owned by the County. The purchase price would be $15,000. This motion was seconded by Earl LeBrasseur, and was carried by 6 to 1 Aye Vote, with Commissioner William Tennyson voting Nay.

Two Sealed Bids for the purchase of the Air Search and Rescue Squadron clubhouse building located on the Schoolcraft County Airport and owned by the County, which bids were the result of a publicly advertised notice to sell, were received and opened. The bids were as follows: William Doyle, RFD, Indian Lake, Manistique, Michigan 49854 - bid of $263.51, and Eleanor Schnurer, RFD, Manistique, Michigan 49854 - bid of $150.00.

A lengthy and heated discussion on the Building Construction Code fees was held, with a large delegation of builders and construction workers in attendance. Commissioner Edward Way, who was appointed Chairman of a study group to study the fee principal and structure reported that it was the Committees recommendation, and that he was moving that all building fees as presently charged by the Building Code Department of Schoolcraft County be fully eliminated.

Said motion seconded by Earl LeBrasseur. Motion defeated by 5 to 2 Nay Vote. Voting Nay were Edward Way, Kenneth Mortensen, Earl LeBrasseur, William Tennyson and Ernest S. Hoholik. Voting Aye were Lindsley Frenette and Daniel N. Klarich.

The Chairman then urged the builders and construction workers to be sure to attend a Special Township Officers Association meeting to be held on May 23rd, 1977, at which meeting speakers will be in attendance to explain the various fees and fee structures. The Township Officers Association representative asked that no specific action be taken regarding this matter until they have a chance to study this matter and come back to the County Board of Commissioners with their recommendation. Mr. Hoholik stated that if it is the wish of the Townships and the City of Manistique that each individual unit of Government in Schoolcraft County control and issue permits, etc. then the County Board will gladly relinquish said responsibility. He further stated that if only a portion of the units of government want to change, that he cannot see this as a practicable or feasible solution to the problem, and that no decision will be made to change the present set-up as now operating until a definite substitute program is presented and acceptable to the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners.

Commissioner Earl LeBrasseur reported on his recent attendance of the National Conference of Indians and Indian Affairs Task Force Meeting held at Helena, Montana. LeBrasseur stated that in the western states that as a result of the Indians claiming rights under various Treaties with the U.S. Government, that it is causing much concern to the ranchers, and others, and that it is a serious problem. LeBrasseur also reported on his participation in the Michigan Senior Citizens day at the Civic Center in Lansing, where he was honored to introduce the Honorable William G. Milliken, Governor of the State of Michigan to the assembled 6, 100 senior citizens.

Commander of Manistique Post V.F.W. on the status of the moving of World War 1 memorial from intersection of River, Deer and East Elk Streets to the Courthouse lawn, be accepted. The truth of the matter concerning rhubarb seed

The last couple of weeks, I have noticed so much rhubarb that has gone to seed. After visiting with some people it seems they are misinformed about the seed formation.

The truth of the matter is you should never let the seed stalk form. As soon as you see the seed stalk starting to form, cut it off close to the ground. Some people think you must let it go to seed in the fall. Never let a seed stalk form. When the seed stalk forms it takes nutrition away from the root system and the plant becomes weak.

Rhubarb is best propagated by divisions of the old plant. The divisions can be planted either in late September or in early spring. Do not pull the stalks the first year after planting. The second year stop pulling the stalks by July 1. An application of manure of commercial fertilizer about July 1 will help build up the plants for the coming year.

In early spring, before growth begins, sprinkle one cup of fertilizer (5-10-10) or 10-10-10 around the crown of each plant. After the second year you can take rhubarb until late August if you provide enough nutrition and water.

Harvest the stalks by grasping them near the base of the plant and pulling sideways twisting the stalk away from the mother plant. NEVER eat the leaves of rhubarb, only the stalks, since the leaves contain a poisonous substance known as "oxalic acid".

Rhubarb is high in potassium and contains some vitamin C, iron, calcium and phosphorus. Rhubarb does not contain many calories (20 per cup). It is the sugar which is added that raises the calorie count. If you are calorie conscious maybe you could use a sugar substitute.

You can preserve rhubarb by washing, cutting in desired length and freezing in Use airtight vapor proof containers. Rhubarb sauce can be canned by washing and cutting stalks into one inch pieces. Measure. Add 1/2 to 1 cup sugar for each quart rhubarb. Mix well. Let stand 3 to 4 hours. Heat slowly to boiling. Boil 10 minutes. Pack hot into jars, leaving 1/2 inch headspace. Adjust caps. Process pints and quarts 10 minutes in boiling water bath.

SUMMER is the time to do it!

Good insulation will also keep you cooler this summer. If you air-condition, it will help conserve summertime energy use and cut your cooling costs.

In these days of higher energy and fuel costs, you'll find that adequate insulation will pay for itself — fast.

The best place to start insulating is the attic. You can do it yourself, too. WMPCO recommends insulation with a value of R-30. If you can't install R-30 without extensive remodeling, then install the greatest R-value that will fit.

Good insulation conserves energy the year-round.
