Special meeting called on dam

Lesson from Prof Woolly

There is the observation from this outpost that the first thing a sugar beeter does when he crosses the line into the Upper Peculiar is put on a coat.

The second thing is he coats the door.

Thus insulated, he (or she, avoid the wrath of the feminist movement) feels well-prepared to survive the icy blasts of the Northland, where temperatures have been known to dip as low as 50 degrees during July.

(A sugar beeter, as any literate person should know, is any one of that poor unenlightened horde that arrives on our shores from below the Straits of Mackinac. Everyone knows that south of Emmet County vast fields of sugar beets stretch across the mitten of Michigan southward until they are choked by the smog emanating from Macomb, Oakland and Wayne counties Immigrants from Wisconsin and Illinois must be similarly classified until a better nomenclature can be arranged.)

We are reminded of all this by Professor Woolly, our well-meaning but unenlightened friend from the field of education, who suffers a perpetual chill despite the fact that he is insulated with 20 pounds of beard and hair and a tell-tale bulging that comes from a size 44 belt circling a size 48 waist.

The sun can be shining brightly, the temperature can be soaring upwards to a stifling 70 degrees, and nary a breeze will be stirring, but poor Professor Woolly sits and shivers, clasps his cloak tightly about him, and nervously glances from porthole to ventilator trying to detect whatever errant breeze that bedevils him.

And this is in July. Unlike the birds, he does not fly off to the Sunny Southland, and thus is condemned to what he is convinced is nine months of snow and three months of bad sledding.

The Sideliner is conditioned to this pattern of behavior, having (in a moment of missionary zeal) married a poor young thing conditioned to the sand fleas and sweat of the River Rouge. Our June honeymoon on the shores of Lake Superior failed to uncover her thin blood, with the groom suffering from the deception that these were tremors of passion draining her frail body when in reality the poor thing was just trying to thaw out.

Still we manage she wrapped like a mummy in a sarcophagus on her side of the bed, and the Sideliner sweating and twisting in his bare neckers on his side, Love, like politics, makes for strange bedfellows.

Back in the old-timey days, when the Sideliner was bobbing and weaving through the agonizing age of adolescence, hot was a synonym for good. If the jazz was hot, then it was good music. If you had a date with a hot number you were destined for the agonies of ecstasy. The news came hot off the wire. And, Lord willing and the acne under control, you were hot stuff with your plaid jacket, white shirt and argyle socks.

No more. Now you strive to be cool. If you get flustered, you are advised to cool it. The music, even though it lacks a melody and resembles a berserk pile-driver in a sheet metal plant, is cool, man cool. You are advised, despite aggravation and temptation, to above all else, keep your cool.

We seem to be preoccupied with temperature, from one extreme to the other.

Perhaps this is logical; here in the temperature zone, where the changing of the seasons annually brings a changing of the outlook and a revision of the perceptions.

Perhaps one should be truly ambidextrous, able to truly appreciate the savoir faire of Cool Hand Luke while at the same time admiring the artistry of Hot Lips Clyde McCoy.

One thing remains constant, as the summer season dissipates and thoughts of deer camp and five card draw dance in one's hand: When you're hot you're hot, and when you're not, you're not.

As my Daddy told me, never pass on an outside curve nor draw to an inside straight.

A little disappointment

See Memoirs

A special meeting to deal with the fate of the Manistique Heights Dam has been called by the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners.

At its regular meeting Tuesday night, the board scheduled a special work session for county officials and representatives of the Indian Lake Property Owners Association. It is set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 4 at the courthouse.

Commissioners, who were read a letter from the lake association's board of directors outlining needs to improve the dam, delayed any action until after the special meeting.

"It's a touchy area," Prosecutor John Thompson told the board. "It would be determined whether there should be a deposit from the landowners, or whether the DNR should act under 146."

Thompson was referring to Act No. 146, the State Inland Lake Level Acat, which governs setting and maintaining lake levels by law.

Indian Lake has a legal level that was established in 1945, but many property owners want stable winter and summer levels, and improvements to the Manistique Heights Dam to maintain the levels.

According to Thompson, the DNR could act under the 1961 Inland Lakes Act, which states that the state agency may assist the county board in maintaining a new lake level.

The act also states that the county board must assume the task of maintaining a lake level if the board receives a petition signed by two-thirds of the freeholders owning lands abutting the lake. It adds that the board may require a cash deposit to cover preliminary costs once a petition is received.

Commissioner Ken Mortensen, who has attended meetings of the lake improvement association, said the group so far has about 100 signatures on an estimated 400 property owners on the Lake.

The lake level act also provides that the county may take over the old brewery dam and improve it to maintain stable lake levels. But commissioners hesitated after hearing the prosecutor's questions.

Thompson asked why the DNR hasn't stepped into repair the structure on the Indian River.

Commissioner Earl LeBrasseur said it may cost $250,000 to replace the dam and suggested a hearing to obtain the views of property owners.

Jim Dooley of CUPPAD told the board there were no grant funds available to assist financing of any dam improvement needs.

Commissioner William Tennyson said that if a special assessment of affected property owners did not work, the county as a whole would have to pick up the bill.

But, Tennyson allowed, "If that dam goes out while we're sitting on our cans, then we will have problems."

A drastic lowering of the level of Indian Lake and potential flooding of the city was foreseen with a collapse of the dam.

In other business, the board also approved several projects through CETA Title VI, as presented by Steve LaFond, of the Six-County Consortium for Public Service Employment:

- an additional $16,000 for fair building construction. The extra money will be added to an original grant of $30,000 to hire two employees now to prepare the site in Central Park and do preliminary welding and carpentry.
- A $10,266 salary for a statistician to be employed by the local Community Action Agency.

- A $11,384.34 salary for a county coordinator to supervise Title VI project in various townships.
- $11,384.34 for a landscaping project at Pioneer Park (old water tower). Two salaries are to be covered with the grant.
- $22,958.16 to cover wages for two "handy men" to assist senior citizens in the area with household chores.
- $7,651.68 salary for one chore servicer aide for the new Germfask Senior Citizens Center.

- A $7,651.68 salary for a senior citizens activities and educational coordinator at Germfask.
- A $3,043.56 grant to pay for help to compile a senior citizens directory.

LaFond said that with these projects, plus others approved in June, the county has an estimated $121,000 left in CETA funds for the year. He also noted that persons must have been unemployed for 16 weeks to qualify for newly-approved jobs.

In other action, the board gained two small parcels of property from the Lakehead Pipeline Co., between the pipeline and M-94 north of Manistique. In exchange, the county granted the company an easement restricting any construction within 100 feet of either side of the center of the pipeline. The County board in July granted the Sault Ste. Marie Band of Chippewa Indians a 90-day option to purchase an adjoining 1.6 parcel of land just north of the city limits for $3,000.

Open house and Mickey Mouse

APPROXIMATELY 350 persons attended General Telephone's Open House in Manistique last Thursday, Sept. 15, according to J.M. Love, exchange manager for the company. Visitors were able to view local and long distance calling being processed through the switches equipment. Dave Bloom, installation and maintenance supervisor is shown explaining operations to Vivian Moser of Harbor Towers. Love also presented the Mickey Mouse telephone, offered as the prize in drawing, to Bruce Henry, 112 S. Maple St. (Tribune photo)

Still above all-time low

Lake Michigan drops 20 inches

The elevation of the Lake Michigan-Huron at the end of August was about 20 inches below what it was one year ago and about one inch below one month ago.

And, according to the Detroit District office of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the lake level is headed even lower in the near future.

The end of August level of the two lakes was at 578.45 feet above the mean water level at Father Point, Quebec.

The August monthly mean level was about two inches below the long-term average and about 30 inches below the all-time monthly mean high for August, which was set in 1973, and about 31 inches above the all-time low August monthly mean set in 1964.

The six-month forecast of levels for Lakes Michigan-Huron shows that the lakes are expected to be below the long-term average level during the next six months.

The forecast shows that at the end of September, Lakes Michigan-Huron will be about three inches below what they were at the end of August. The lakes are expected to continue their seasonal decline into February.

At the end of February 1978, the lakes are expected to be eight inches below what they were at the same time in 1977. The February mean would be below the long-term average for that month and 29 inches below the all-time high mean for February, which was set in 1952.

Davis's representative in Seney

Bill Huber, administrative assistant for Senate Republican Leader Bob Davis of Gaylord, will visit Seney on Tuesday, Sept. 27.

Huber is scheduled to be at the Seney

Township Hall from 3 to 4:30 p.m. if any questions or problems to be relayed to Senator Davis. Any Schoolcraft County resident is welcome to meet with Huber.

Luce dam grant

Congressman Phil Ruppe (R-Houghton) has announced that Luce County has been approved to receive $86,400 of public works grants monies for construction of a new dam on the Manistique River.

Luce County will kick in another $21,600 to complete the total cost of $108,000 for the dam.

The dam actually is located in Schoolcraft County but is owned by Luce County.

The dam being replaced is a wooden structure built during the 1940's to maintain a lake level established by court order in 1948. Because of the condition of the present dam, Luce County officials were afraid that should it burst, water levels would drop drastically.

Schoolcraft County Commissioners met Tuesday night and were presented a similar proposal concerning the Manistique Heights dam, owned by the Indian Lake Property Owners Association.

What happened to our Elms?

by Mark Eisenlohr

The city of Manistique has lost some 400 "residents" over the past several weeks.

City crews and crews from two utility companies have been removing diseased Elm trees that line city streets and provide shade at two of area cemeteries.

About 75 trees within the city and more than 300 trees in the Fairview and Lakeview cemeteries have been "topped" by employees of the General Telephone and Edison Sault utility companies.

The trees were either dead, or dying of a Dutch Elm disease. The same disease swept through Manistique some 10 years ago, killing elm trees.

But officials have said because the local elms were bigger and stronger than others, many survived, the first attack.

It was only temporary. The disease, carried by the European Elm bark beetle, has spread throughout of the remaining trees in Manistique.

"It's a shame. I'm really upset about it," City manager Robert Risik lamented. "But what can we do about it. The trees are dead and with winter coming on they're potentially dangerous."

Officials fear that with snow and ice covering the dead trees, many will begin to topple, taking down phone and electric wires with them or falling on pedestrians and cars as well as private homes.

The removal of the trees has been a three-way project, with the cost being split between Edison Sault, General Telephone and the city of Manistique.

Employees of General Telephone and Edison Sault have topped the trees, while city employees will remove the brush and trunks in the next several months.

The beetle that carries the disease is not responsible directly for the tree's death, according to a pamphlet issued from the Cooperative Extension Service.

But it does spread a fungus which, as it grows, plugs the water-conducting tissues of the tree. This condition causes the tree to wilt and die.

Once the tree is diseased, the fungus may be spread by the beetle, flying from unhealthy trees to healthier trees to feed, or it may spread through the root systems of Elm trees located close to each other, the pamphlet continued.

Cures for the Elms that have already contracted the fungus is simple. Cut and burn them.

And that's just what's been happening to them, although the trunks of the trees may remain for a few months yet.

"We don't want to start on the trunk removal until our warm weather work is caught up," said Risik. "We can take care of the trunks in February but it's harder to work on water and sewer pipes then."

The cost of removing the trees was termed "iremendous" by Risik who said that no one unit could have footed the entire bill.

The cooperation between the city and the utilities is a unique, according to Glen Jenks, coordinator for Edison Sault's share of the work. Jenks also originated the idea of sharing the burden of the tree removal.

"I'm well pleased with it. It works out good for everybody concerned and everybody seems happy," said Jenks.

Jenks indicated that future projects of this nature could be handled jointly between the agencies involved. He added that he wasn't aware of any other areas using the same type of agreement.

If you're one of the homeowners who has a diseased tree on your property, then the cost is staggering.

Under an organized program, it is the law that all diseased Elms on both public and private land be removed.

Risik estimated that hiring a tree removal contractor could cost a private owner as high as $200.

"Obviously, doing many at once and splitting the cost three ways has lowered our cost," said Risik. Residents may take notice of the "many trees at a time" approach to tree removal as a means of lowering the cost.

There are still trees left in Manistique. The picture isn't quite that bleak. But very few Elms do exist anymore, and those that do will probably come down next year, according to Department of Public Works Superintendent Mike Faketty.

Some older residents of Manistique may remember several years ago when Manistique was a beautiful, canopied town. That is, until Dutch Elm disease first appeared and wiped out many of the trees.

El Hepper, county extension director noted that a preventive "medicine" has been found, involving giving the tree a transfusion.

According to Hepper, a bucket of a chemical is placed several feet off the ground. A tube then carries the liquid into the tree trunk where it is absorbed via osmosis.

That's only a preventive method, designed to protect healthy trees. But unless that preventive practice is utilized, officials say, all remaining Elm trees may come down next year.

Patients treated to ice cream

Patients are still going to have to put up with some pretty gloomy days. This month certainly has been a nasty one for rain and cloudy skies but maybe by October we'll have a little sunshine.

It seems I just can't win with the gardening as the season still remains short. Either we have early frost or warm weather with rain so the crop either freezes or rots from all the moisture, and we just can't seem to reach a happy medium. Next year I think I'll plant a field of flowers and maybe I'll have better luck.

Wednesday's chapel service went very well with many members of our little choir leading the singing. The service was conducted by Rev. Patty of the Presbyterian Church. Rev. Patty intends to have a social hour with the patients after his next service so he will have a chance to socialize with them and I'm sure they will enjoy that very much.

On Saturday the patients had a special treat as the O'Connors delivered ice cream treats from the Dairy Kream as it was the last day of the season for the Dairy Kream to be open. Many thanks for your thoughtfulness.

Thank you also to Del and Mary O'Brien for A & W treats and to Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Henderson for the lovely bingo prizes.

The V.F.W. Auxiliary will host a birthday party for the patients on Tuesday, Sept. 20 and the honored guests for the month are Maude Rasmussen, Ellsworth Curran, Blanch Leach, Margarite Louis, Walter Veltz, William Riley, Marion Fox and Albert Huescher.

Have a nice week.

Driver training set for October

A driving training program for non-drivers has been scheduled by the Manistique Community School, with the class beginning the first week in October.

The course is free to those who do not possess a high school diploma. Tuition will be charged to high school graduates, said Jim McDonough, community school director.

Registrants will be contacted later as to the exact time, day and room number.

Persons interested in registering for the course can contact the community school office at 341-2195.

Two-headed find

SUSAN BIGNALL, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bignall of Manistique, displays a rarity: a two-headed garden snake. The snake was found by a student of Susan's father, who is a science teacher at Manistique High School. Most freaks, such as this one, rarely live long but this one seems to be healthy and doing well. Susan is a third grader at Lakeside Elementary School and brought the snake in to show her classmates. ## What's Going On Surprisingly it involves a difficult task, especially if it anyone is getting the person to an out of town location. The task is twice as hard if the person happens to be a doctor who has already planned his work schedule. Last weekend Laura Wehner was faced with accomplishing this impossible feat.

The American Cancer Society notified her that Dr. Wehner had been selected for the society's highest honor, the Tiffany award, and that they wanted the presentation to be a surprise. After much convincing, she finally persuaded the doctor to travel to Lansing for the meeting of the society.

The award was given to Dr. Wehner in recognition of his outstanding contributions to the control of cancer. Dr. Wehner is the first person in the U.P. to receive the award. We are very fortunate to have a man of Dr. Wehner's ability and concern working in our community.

Surprising someone on their 30th birthday is also difficult. Friends of Joanne Sartori decided that the sneakiest way to announce to the world that she will be 30 on Saturday, Sept. 24 was to tell What's Going On.

Heading north to Alaska were Mr. and Mrs. John Potvin and her sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Russell Paulson of Belleville. They travelled for two months returning to Manistique on Aug. 30. Most of the roads were fairly good with the exception of the logging road through the mountains from Prince Rupert. They originally had planned to proceed from Prince Rupert by boat but the boat employees were on strike.

In addition to enjoying the rugged beauty of Alaska, they spent several days in White Horse in the Yukon, and at Yellowstone National Park. The only car trouble which they experienced in the two month trek was a flat tire in Minnesota enroute home.

Surprise is definitely the word for the week. Mrs. Ed Mathson, Mrs. Bob Broellire and Mrs. Glen Berry of Davison are travelling to Chicago to surprise their sister Mrs. Tony Falcinelli. She is retiring from Aetna Life Insurance Co. and her husband arranged for her sisters to be surprise guests at the party, given by the company in honor of her retirement.

Todd LaLonde is a patient at the Motts Children's Hospital. His address is 635 1/2 Floor East, Ann Arbor, Mich. 48100.

Vi DuFour drove to Detroit with friends to visit Mr. and Mrs. Walt LaBenz. She will then visit former Manistique residents Mr. and Mrs. Elton Larson in Brighton and will return to Manistique with them.

Cordel Beaudouin notified us of the death of Ruth E. Watson who was born on July 8, 1899 in Manistique. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Havilick. She died on Aug. 23 in Bremerton, Wash. Funeral services were held at Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic Church on Saturday, Aug. 27. Burial will be in the Miller-Woodlawn Memorial Park.

Recent visitors in Manistique were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barnes of Milwaukee and Paul Hoholik and son Mike of Sault St. Marie. They also attended the funeral of their brother Dr. A.A. Hollick former Manistique resident in Gladstone.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Andersen and daughter Roberta of Los Angeles, Calif., visited Mrs. Andersen's mother, Ethel Nelson at Harbor View Towers. They also visited Edith Tufnell at the Jerome Beaudry Family.

Mrs. Nelson entertained Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson of Sullivan, Wis. The Robert Nelsons also visited the Tufnells and the Beaudrys.

Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Quirk gave Ed Mathson a 55th birthday party on Wednesday Sept. 14 at their home on Dodge Lake. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Pawley, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Carlson, Bob Broellire and Roland Hoholik.

Pamela Bryant was the guest of honor at a baby shower given by her grandmother Sis Hoholik and her aunt Donna Malloy. The dessert shower was held at the Hoholik home last Wednesday. Prize winners were Sally Ott, Pat Hinkson and Berniece Archambeau.

Berniece Archambeau is visiting her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Robert Archambeau. She flew from her home in San Jose, Calif. to Pontiac to visit her daughter Gay Fox. Granddaughters Terri and Stephanie Fox drove her to Manistique. It was a trip of memories for the girls because they used to stay with their grandmother in Manistique when they were younger. Uncle Bob lives in the house in which their grandmother used to live.

Mrs. Archambeau now lives with her daughter Jacqueline who is a utilization coordinator at San Jose Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lesley Popp of Marysville, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sampson of Saginaw and Rachel Greenfield of Caro were weekend guests of Mrs. George Cornell.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Mickelson hosted the A&P employees and their spouses and Ruth Pizzala at a retirement party in honor of Bob Jetty. The party was held at their home on Saturday evening.

A cocktail hour was followed by a steak dinner. Bob Jetty was given a fishing rod and accessories as a remembrance from the guests. Bob is retiring after 40 years with A & P.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Roe and Michelle Michael were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fox.

Rush and Imogene Cattell have moved back to their home in Stouben.

The Tribune staff thanks everyone who has been helping with this column. If you have any news for What's Going On, please call 341-5200. We look forward to hearing from you.

They're engaged

Mrs. Josephine Hoffman of Sparta announces the engagement of her daughter Lynda Joe to George K. Reid of Indian Lake. A June wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar Flodin of Manistique announce the engagement of their daughter, Evelyn to Joseph Brock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brock. A Dec. 17 wedding is planned. Evelyn is a 1977 graduate of M.H.S. and plans to attend Big Bay De Noc Community College in the fall. Joseph is currently employed by the Manistique Pulp and Paper Co.

Senior Citizens

by Eileen Males

We are seeking three people 55 years of age and living on very low-income for driving the Center's vans and for typing. Your income cannot be over $247 a month for one person and $327 for two people. We do find people living under such adverse conditions.

A program called "Green Thumb", sponsored by the Michigan Farmers Union and the National Farmers Organization pay low-income people $2.30 an hour, 20 hours a week to work for public and non-profit organizations such as we.

Most of our employees have been employed and of low-income and this is the way we have been able to keep our center in operation by getting this kind of assistance.

The colors are getting to be just beautiful so to help you enjoy the loveliness of Federal Forest Highway 13, Leona Matney will drive a special Sunday afternoon excursion leaving at 2 p.m. this week and returning home before 6 p.m.

This trip is for those who do not have a car and cannot get out to enjoy. Call the center at 341-2021 immediately for your reservation. We will pick you up at your home. We will also be taking the Medical Care patients on this once a year trip on Tuesday.

We are having a lot of exciting classes you should be aware of and we invite all of you to participate. Monday 10-11 a.m. is exercise class with Sharon Gardner instructing. Sharon has spent much time and energy in giving you one of the most beneficial-easy to do-exercise programs that isn't too strenuous and is needed by each and everyone of you. Then Sharon goes immediately from the class to the Medical Care Facility and she has organized their own choir and is doing a marvelous job in giving our facility friends something meaningful to do. Then of course Monday afternoon is our bridge play.

Emeralds collide with No. 2 Miners

The Manistique Emeralds have their work cut out for them this Friday. They will be on the road again, this time to face the Negaunee Miners, second-ranked Class C team in the state according to the Associated Press poll released this week.

"We'll need our best performance," said Emerald Coach Dan Skatzka, whose squad held off Gwinn last Friday to post a 26-20 victory. The key is that we've got to stop their option. And they've got a fine defense."

Negaunee, at 3-0 overall on the season, placed behind Bay City All Saints and ahead of Traverse City St. Francis in the first football poll of the 1977 campaign. The Miners, a favorite in the Mid-Peninsula Conference, dropped Gladstone 13-6 last Friday night.

	MID-PENINSULA CONFERENCE				Overall
	W	L	TP	OP	W	L	TP	OP
Negaunee	1	0	43	8	3	0	60	20
Norway	1	0	15	14	1	2	30	49
Ishpening	1	1	44	38	2	1	50	41
Manistique	1	1	36	48	2	1	58	62
Munising	1	1	42	31	2	1	33	31
Westwood	1	1	14	40	1	1	21	47
Gwinn	0	2	20	32	1	2	45	32

The Emeralds will be boosted by the return of Jay Bowman at tackle and Gary Kaiser at end. Both have been sidelined with injuries.

Last Friday, Manistique was propelled to a 2-1 record with a first quarter surge and tough second half defense to overcome the Model Towners, in a conference clash.

The Emeralds blitzed to an 18-0 lead in the opening period with a safety following a bad snap on a Miner punt formation, a 47-yard touchdown pass from Norm Jahn to John Pistulka, and a one-yard run by Jahn for another six-pointer. D.J. Brady and Doug Bertrand ran for two-point conversions, respectively, following each tally.

The score stood that way until the third quarter, when the Emeralds padded the margin to a 26-0 on a 19-yard touchdown run by John Pelon. Jahn flipped the ball to Carl Levin for a two-point PAT.

Gwinn struck later in the period on a 28-yard pass play from Bob Cunningham to Tim Gross. The PAT attempt failed.

The Model Towners lit the scoreboard for 14 more points in the final quarter. Tim Winberg reached the end zone on a 25-yard run, and Cunningham threw to Winberg for a two-pointer. Winberg scored the last TD for Gwinn with a 49-yard burst from scrimmage.

For the night, the Emeralds bettered the Model Towners in every major department, gaining 248 yards on the ground to 221 for Gwinn; 152 in the air to the hosts' 113; 16 first downs to Gwinn's 14; and only 15 yards penalized for the Model Towners. Manistique completed five of nine aerials, compared to nine of 29 and four interceptions hurled by Gwinn.

Brady again led the ground game, gathering 82 yards on 13 lugs. Bertrand had 58 on 21 tries, followed by Tony McClaren with 45 yards in the contest. The 6-foot-5 senior also led the defensive unit with five tackles and three assists, along with George Danko, who had five tackles and four assists. Danko also intercepted a crucial Gwinn pass. In junior varsity action, the Emeralds stand at 2-1. So far the JVs have downed Stephenson 20-0, lost to Sault Ste. Marie 22-8, whipped Gwinn 40-14.

Meanwhile the freshman record stands at 0-3 with defeats at the hands of Newberry 8-6; Gwinn 28-6; and Gladstone 40-12.

Registrations taken for Punt, Pass, Kick

Registrations for the 1977 Punt, Pass & Kick competition co-sponsored locally by the Manistique Lions Club and Creighton Ford Co. are available. The contest is open to any youngster 8 through 13 years of age.

Any youngster meeting the age requirements who can punt, pass and kick a football - or who'd like to try - may compete. Participants compete only against others their own age, and there is no body contact.

No special equipment is needed and participation does not impair a youngster's amateur standing. Each youngster will compete in three categories - punting, passing and kicking. ## Color tour early EAST LANSING-If you've planned this year's fall color tour for the same time as last year's, be prepared for a disappointment. Like summer, apple harvest and insect problems, fall leaf color should be earlier this year.

"Some parts of the western Upper Peninsula are already having good fall color displays," says Mel Koelling, Extension forestry specialist at Michigan State University. Koelling said colors should peak this week. "That'll be nearly 10 days to two weeks ahead of normal," he added.

The rest of the state can also look forward to early fall color and leaf drop, he predicts. He expects leaves to develop full color 10 to 14 days earlier than normal and the color to be somewhat less spectacular than last year's display.

The reason, he explains, is the dry weather Michigan has been having.

"As long as trees get sufficient moisture, warm temperatures and sunlight, leaves manufacture the green pigment chlorophyll, Koelling says. "This green color masks the yellow and orange pigments that are also present in the leaf all summer. When the leaves stop producing chlorophyll, the other pigments show through."

State Police officers reported a personal injury accident on Saturday, Sept. 17 on U.S. 2 five miles east of C.R. 483.

Edward Lester, 21, of Garden was eastbound when he ran off the road and struck several trees, police said.

Lester, and a passenger, Earl Ansel, 25, of Garden were taken by motorists to the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Both were treated at the hospital and later discharged.

Lester was cited for violation of the basic speed law.

State Police also report the larceny of several guns and hunting equipment from a pick-up truck sometime between 11:30 p.m. on Sept. 16 and 1 a.m. on Sept. 17.

Police report that the pick-up was parked at the Green School Bar in Mueller Township.

Taken were some $460 worth of rifles and shotguns belonging to Robert Stradler, Gobel, who is also owner of the pick-up; Harry Haase, of Galeburg; and Harry Haase, Jr., of Kalamazoo.

Officers later arrested four persons in connection with that larceny. Arrested were Chris Hart, 18 of Langsberg and his brother Jack, 28 of Haslett. The young Hart was charged with larceny from a motor vehicle while his brother was charged with concealing stolen property.

Police report that two juveniles were also arrested.

Police also arrested Robert Morrison, Jr., of Novi, for possession of stolen property and possession of an unregistered pistol at 2:30 a.m. Sept. 17 after they stopped his pick-up while investigating the rifle larceny.

The pistol was reported stolen from the Detroit area.

Andrew Timson, 22, of Farmington was also arrested and charged with the offenses.

Thirteen State Police Officers worked 350 traffic patrol hours, spent 736 hours answering complaints, logged another 802 hours behind the desk and spent 205 hours on miscellaneous duties, according to the August activity roster from the trooper post at Manistique.

Officers made 200 traffic-related arrests and an additional 52 non-traffic arrests.

Thirty-one motorists were also assisted; 173 properties inspected; 163 verbal warnings given; and 158 vehicles were inspected.

Only 26 accidents were logged during the month. A total of 183 complaints was listed. Total mileage travelled by the troopers amounted to 11,975.

Steven N. Popour, 23, of Manistique was cited by Manistique Public Safety Officers Sunday, Sept. 11 for failure to yield the right-of-way after the vehicle he was driving attempted to leave a parking space on Deer St.

Officers say Popour did not see a vehicle driven by Lenora Ritter, 18, of Marquette. Ritter said she could not stop in time to avoid the collision.

William J. Vincent, 81, of 807 W. Elk St., was also cited for failure to stop for a stop sign and struck a car driven by James K. Coady, 41, of Alberta, Canada.

The accident occurred on U.S.-2 and North Cedar Street on Sept. 12.

Sterling R. Nef, 18, of Gulliver was cited for careless driving Monday, Sept. 12 at 8 p.m. after he struck a parked vehicle.

It's a little disappointing

It's a little disappointing. The Historical Society of Michigan recently ran in their quarterly magazine, Chronicle, a brief history of the Michigan brewing industry.

When I first read that this article was being printed, I wrote the society requesting a copy and asked the group if Manistique was included.

The answer came back: it was not. It's a little disappointing.

"In one way or another, most important Michigan industries have been commemorated. But historians and preservationists have almost completely overlooked Michigan breweries," the Chronicle stated.

Well, they overlooked Manistique. It's not too surprising, though. The article concentrates on Detroit and southern Michigan breweries while only mentioning some up-state breweries. For example: Escanaba, Upper Peninsula and Superior are a few of the brand names listed that were once brewed in the Upper Peninsula.

It also mentions that two old time beers that trace their beginnings to the U.P. - Bosch and Gilt Edge - are still available but are brewed in Wisconsin and shipped to Michigan.

It's an interesting and informative article, if you're interested in Bernard Siroh. But if you're interested in the only local partaker that supplied the "beverage of moderation," it doesn't help much.

But for all those that supplied information on the Manistique-Willebrande Brewery, a hearty thanks. For, at least, we here in this area know a little of the local brewer's history.

In a return letter, Frank Wilhelm, executive director and editor of the Chronicle, requested information and pictures of the brewery. Perhaps they may run as a separate article. Perhaps he won't run them at all.

But at any rate, he'll at least know that Manistique supported its own brewery.

One of nostalgia's greatest fans sent the following article along this past week. It actually deals with employees of a factory in Scotland around 1852, but I have seen similar rules published for American workers during the same span of time.

Rules for Employees:

- "1) Godliness, cleanliness, and punctuality are the necessities of a good business.
- "2) This firm has reduced the hours of work and the clerical staff will now only have to be present between the hours of 7 a.m. and 6 p.m.
- "3) Daily prayers will be held each morning in the main office. The clerical staff will be present.
- "4) Clothing must be of a sober nature.
- "5) Overshoes and top coats may not be worn in the office but neck scarves may be worn in inclement weather.
- "6) A stove is provided for the benefit of the clerical staff. Each member of the clerical staff must bring in four pounds of coal each day during cold weather.
- "7) No talking is allowed during business hours.
- "8) No member of the clerical staff may leave the room without permission from Mr. (Blank.) The calls of nature are permitted and clerical staff may use the garden below the second gate. This area must be kept in good order.
- "9) The craving of tobacco, wines or

Bridge lessons

Bridge players, take notice. If you're interested in improving your game, or if you don't know how to play and would like to learn, the Manistique Community School is willing to show you how.

The Community School is now offering area residents beginning bridge lessons and advanced bridge lessons, according to Community School director, James McDonough.

The advanced lessons are scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 19 in the distributive education room. Beginners lessons are scheduled for 7 p.m. Sept. 22 in the library.

The course, which runs for eight weeks, will cost the participant a nominal charge. Registration is at community school office, or by calling 341-2195.

NO DOUBT, this group of musicians was an entertaining group during their day. Regrettably, information concerning the owner of the pictured was lost. However, on the back of the photo it gives the groups spirits is a human weakness and such is forbidden.

"10) The partaking of food is allowed between 11:30 a.m. and noon but on no account will work cease.

"11) Members of the clerical staff will provide their own pens.

"12) All male clerical employees under the rank of "Junior" will be responsible for cleaning the floors and offices before morning prayers and after evening prayers."

It would be interesting to see what the unions would do with those rules today should they attempt to be enforced in a "modern" factory.

The following letter was received from Jim Cowman, 1716 Glenarm, Clovis, New Mexico.

"Dear Mark:
"We enjoy your Memoirs articles and the entire Pioneer-Tribune out here in the badlands of New Mexico.
"In August of 1977 you published a photo of a school. I jumped near the old Lakeside school. I had hoped you would have published some additional information concerning that photo--such as when was it taken, and does anyone remember who the jumpers were that used that ski jump.

"At one time I was involved in the Manistique ski-jumping club, but I'm sure the slide in the photo was taken long before my time.

"On Aug. 25 of this year you published a photo of Ekstrom's All-Star Baseball team. My uncle, Fred Lundberg, was a member of that team. Please mail me Mrs. Hazel Schultz's address. I would like to correspond with her concerning that team.

"(signed) Jim Cowman.

Thank-you for the letter, Mr. Cowman. Concerning the jump, I believe the picture was taken around 1910. I normally print any additional information that I learn of a subject, but in this case none was forwarded to me.

I must depend on the remembrances of others to fill gaps, because I am limited in the amount of research I can do myself.

Should any information come in, I will print it for you and others interested in the ski jump.

I called Mrs. Hazel Schultz and cleared using her address. It is: 250 N. Cedar, Manistique, 49854.

She said she is looking forward to receiving a letter. I would be interested in what the two of you remember of the baseball team. Sometimes when two people remember things together, they can think of many more details than if just the one individual recalled the event.

Dam may not wait long

The Manistique Heights Dam is a problem that may not wait long for a solution.

The aging structure located on the Indian River between Indian Lake and the Intake Park Dam by the city's water filtration plant is in critical condition, according to members of the Indian Lake Property Owners Association. Its steel gates are difficult to close during dry periods, causing further drops in the already shallow lake.

Deterioration of the dam also has drawn fears of its collapse, which many feel is an eventuality if nothing is done soon to repair it. And if that happens, the consequences would extend beyond the Indian Lake property owners' concerns. Not only would the lake be transformed into a marsh, but the Intake Park Dam probably would collapse as well from the heavier river flow.

And that washout could threaten the city of Manistique with flooding.

The situation is not drawn out to cause alarm, but to show the importance of taking action to insure that persons and property along the lake and waterways though the city will be protected.

The Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners was made aware of the situation several years ago, but there has been little movement toward a solution until this year. The property owners have taken the initiative by circulating petitions calling for stable lake levels. However, the association is still short of the estimated 265 signatures needed to force the county to take responsibility for the dam and determine financing for any needed improvements.

The county board may, on its own discretion, take on the project before a petition finds its way around to property owners scattered throughout the state and the midwest. But the board, in discussing the matter Tuesday night, was reluctant to do so.

Understandably, the undertaking could become a major project and responsibility that the county might prefer to leave to the Department of Natural Resources for administration and technical assistance.

But concern about the dam's condition is very real. And when the board and interested parties hold a special meeting at 7 p.m. Oct. 4 at the courthouse especially to examine options for the next step, it should be with deliberate speed toward securing the safety of us all.

Should prostitution gain legalization?

A troublemaker has dropped upon my desk a column clipped from The Toronto Sun. It says prostitution should be legalized in Toronto, the town where everyone already wants to go anyway.

"Hookers would be legal in Detroit, too. If you had any guts, you would write a column saying so," the troublemaker said.

On Toronto's famous Yonge Street, they are having the same sort of trouble currently causing the local burghers much anguish on Detroit's "Sin Strip"—Woodward between Six and Eight Mile.

Toronto Sun columnist Paul Rinstead wrote: "The police know where the girls work and they let them work unless the public puts on the heat. And the reason they let them work is because they know that every city needs hookers. If we didn't have hookers, we'd have one helluva lot more rapes. I wonder when we are going to get smart and legalize prostitution?"

It is easy to agree with Rinstead. Detroit cops chase hookers when there are no real crotches available, or when the screams of irate citizens force a temporary crackdown. But it is always an empty chase with the hookers detained and detoured, but never stopped.

"It's like playing checkers. You move it from corner to corner," a police lieutenant recently told a newsman.

Purely in the interest of research, I have given the Woodward hookers a close look. I figure the johns who buy their curbside services would be better off spending the money on psychiatric treatment. If a man can gain pleasure from a $15 tumble with one of those ghastly women, I feel as sorry for him as I do for the hookers.

But that is a snobbish opinion and I should be ashamed of it. I have also seen the high-priced hookers work the bars and lobbies in our plush hotels. Many of them are sexy looking dolls and I do not feel sorry for them. Also, it is not pity I feel for the high-rolling john who smoothly slides a $20-per-night prostitute out of the cocktail lounge and onto the elevator to his $55-per-night room. If I were not a happily married idiot, the feeling might be envy.

So what does it mean? It means prostitution is socially acceptable as long as the hooker is well dressed, the john is wealthy, the pimp is on a hotel payroll, and they all keep the crime off the streets.

If the cops worked hard enough, they

If It Fittz

by Jim Fitzgerald

could chase all the streetwalkers into the river, and the cheap johns would have to rent rowboats. But there is no way the law is ever going to stop the fancy hooker from entertaining the rich john on his yacht.

In the prostitution business, the ultimate price is marriage, and no patrolman can bust that liaison.

That's the way it is, and once again the poor get poorer and the rich get regular physical checkups to make certain everything is social except the disease.

Not fair, right? The ragged hookers and scroungy johns should not be discriminated against simply because they transact business on the sidewalk rather than inside the Plaza. It's a bum deal for the ordinary consumer, but what can Ralph Nader do about it?

For Toronto, columnist Rinstead advocates legal brothels controlled by the government. It will never happen, and he knows it. He is just kidding on the square, as columnists sometimes do, you know. Many people favor legal whorehouses, as long as they are in another county, isolated on top of a mountain. No housewife wants sin next door, not even if she might be inclined to borrow a cup once in awhile.

The only way to keep most Detroit residents from protesting legal prostitution is to limit it to Las Vegas. This is no problem for the jet johns and the high-toned ladies. But it is no help to Woodward hookers and their Chevrolet johns who might be forgiven a cynical laugh. Their government profits from the peasants' dreams, selling them lottery tickets on every corner, but forbids the unhappy slob to merchandise in sex on the sidewalk.

The moral is that there is more than one way to get lucky, and the easiest way is to go cruising in a yacht instead of a rowboat.

Fear of flying...

A couple of years ago, Erica Jong's book "Fear of Flying" was a runaway best seller...although the plot has little to do with air travel. Its success can be attributed to a great extent to the fact that Ms. Jong has been sold as the female Henry Miller and her book as "the" pornographic novel of the 1970's.

Well there's another fear of flying that gets much less attention than Ms. Jong and her novel. While flying is one of the things I enjoy most, there are many in the traveling public that would rather walk than set foot on an airplane.

Jackie Gleason trembles at the thought of it. Gene Shalit won't go near one, and Broadway actress Maureen Stapleton says she has done it only once.

Even though statistically it is a safe way to travel, millions of Americans refuse to fly. Others do it only after a few tranquilizers or several drinks under their belts.

Says Ms. Stapleton of her solo flight experience: "The trip was one long cardiac arrest. They had to carry me off the plane sucking my thumb."

The jet set may not have any problems, but experts estimate that some nine million Americans are deadly afraid of planes. And according to the Gallup organization, 45 percent of the adult population—about 60 million people—have never been on a plane.

In New York, an organization called Fly Without Fear, Inc., claims to have helped some 1500 people overcome their hang-up in the last five years.

Prospective fliers first are fed with an abundance of statistics that show how safe it is to fly, and then after much counseling are led to a "therapy" flight to a nearby city.

More than half a million people fly a commercial U.S. airliner every day. According to the National Safety Council, the rate of fatalities on flights in the United States through 1971-73 was 0.12 per 100 million passenger miles. For buses the rate was 0.20; for trains, 0.28; and for cars, 1.80, or 15 times as high as for planes.

But statistics can be misleading. For as critics of air safety point out, 1974 was the worst single year in airline history, with more than 1200 casualties throughout the world caused by air crashes.

The high percentage of casualties in air disasters, is one of the major reasons why millions of Americans stick to ground transportation. But there are other subtler reasons.

Psychologists list fear of not being in control as the basis for fear of flying. Interestingly, pilots of small planes are often known to become very nervous in large planes for this reason.

Another interesting observation: Men and women are equally afraid, though men are harder to deal with because they don't like to admit it.

People afraid to fly have other fears, such as claustrophobia or fear of elevators, tunnels or heights.

Airlines also realize that some passengers fear mysterious thumps and movements, of not being able to see out front and not knowing during a flight whether the plane is dropping because of turbulence or mechanical problems. To avoid this, pilots try to fly around bad weather and are encouraged to communicate with their passengers.

One carrier, American Airlines, has even installed a camera behind the pilot in some of its planes, allowing the passengers to see what goes on up front during takeoffs and landings.

The experiment has met with mixed results. The infrequent, pleasure traveling passengers have reacted favorably to the camera, but experienced travelers say it's a bore.

The nervous passengers apparently like the camera idea. "They said it made them feel more comfortable to know what's going on all the time," said one official of the airline.

Of course if all else fails, there is always the traditional method of flying without fear—three martinis.

Children and TV

Too much cripples creativity

by William Rakozy
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

How would you evaluate your own children? Are they average? Above average? Probably so. And that's what bothers me.

A recent report indicates that the AVERAGE child in the United States spends 1,100 hours each year watching TV that is more than they spend in school each year. And they spend more time in school each year than they spend with their parents annually. So, if you wonder, as I have, why our children are not responding to our efforts to guide them, let's look at the real problem.

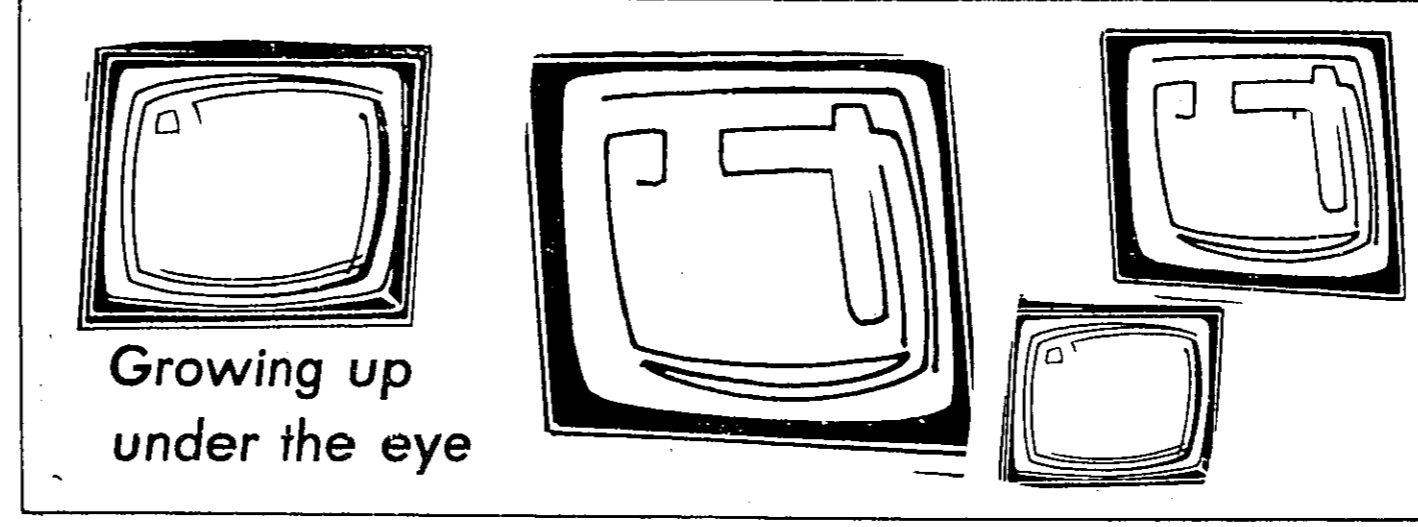

In an magazine article by Dr. William Glasser, a prominent educator and psychiatrist, some startling information was disclosed.

TV is passive enjoyment. Often there is little social pleasure in watching TV because you can choose not to share this time with other people.

Most children watch between three and eight hours of TV per day. The result of over-use is an interference with the brain's capacity for growth in its ability to handle simple every day problems of living, cripples creativity, curiosity and most of all the child's follow-through.

Most TV programs are designed to give the viewer a neat "problem, conflict, solution," packaged in 30 to 60 minutes. As young people apply the TV "methods" to their own lives, they soon find out that life is much more complex, requiring a great deal of effort, patience and in some cases weeks and months pass before a solution or completion is achieved. When kids can't finish their tasks or solve their problems in a short amount of time as TV always does, frustration sets in and the tendency to "quit" or "give up" occurs more frequently.

Because of this weakening effect on our children's development, we are experiencing a child behavior pattern that is becoming epidemic in our society—the hyperactive child. A hyperactive child is really a weak child saying, "Pay attention to me; recognize me; I need something from you—I can't handle my life here."

Growing up under the eye

If these already weakened children continue to watch TV at a high rate, as they become teens, it becomes their only satisfaction because they have become too passive to get involved in active, social, creative growing.

Finally, the large amount of violence on TV gets through to them. It comes out in their disregard for property, life and our standards today. To control their anger, confusion and to relieve the pain of failure, many medicate themselves with marijuana and other drugs.

Dr. Glasser said that kids today would invent their own games but don't because TV exposes them to professional standards that are beyond their reach. Kids lose faith in their own ability, become discouraged and would rather sit and watch rather than try themselves. That way there is no chance of failing. He suggested that today's youth need strong parents and teachers to tell them that there are many opportunities away from TV. Go out and live life—don't just view it!

This is where you and I can be a terrific benefit to young people. Through the 4-H program we can give young people an alternative to a passive life style, filled with television programs, to a life style involved in "learning by doing". We can offer them a set of standards which they can achieve and which will encourage them to follow-through and be successful. There is no such thing as failure in 4-H. Rather, opportunities to experience "life skills" which help them become natural curiosity, creativity and learn to benefit from social activities with other people.

Most importantly, we as adults can be good examples for the hundreds of young people that each of us are exposed to each year. More specifically, we can limit the TV viewing of our children 2-10 years old to one hour per day. Or, you can do as I have done, physically remove the TV. In doing so, I have not missed the "really good shows" that I so often hear about; we read more quality hours per week0 we spend more quality hours with our children; and all types of music are now appreciated.

TV has a powerful influence on the members of your household whether you know it or not. Only you can make the change so that you are a greater influence on your family than television, and 4-H can be an important part of the change process.

An overkill of compliments

Mark Twain once said he could live for two weeks off a single compliment.

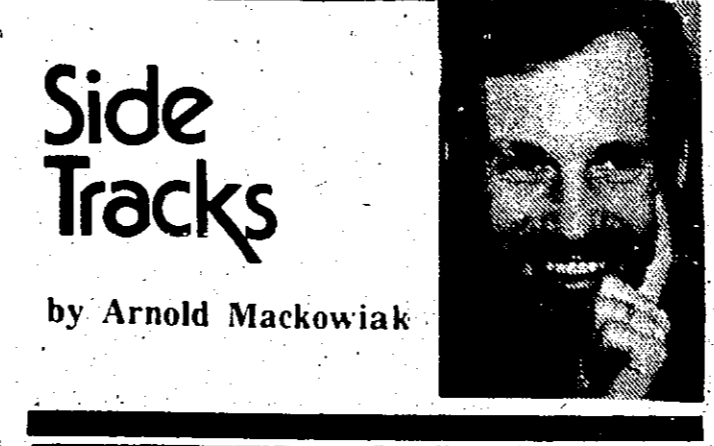

Mr. Twain had a reasonable-sized ego during his heyday around the turn of the century. The modern 20th century man needs a pat on the back just to make it to lunch.

Some fight for recognition, desiring admiration from a deposed foe. Others develop a self-deprecatory sense of humor and hope someone will contradict their light-hearted self-criticism.

Still others get sarcastic in their frustration. So much that the most hard-core Dale Carnegie follower is tested beyond his limits.

Compliments may have to be won through searing conflict in public. A public servant under attack may even find the experience invigorating, à la Bert Lance under hot lights.

All of this, perhaps, serves to show that people want to know what other people think of them. And once they hear it face to

by Arnold Mackowiak

face, they are free to grin, blush, scowl or duel, as the case may be.

The trouble is, the need for praise is so great that an average person with average abilities has very little chance to get ahead. A superior must expand on his fair chance for a promotion, under this spiraling phenomenon.

The armed forces make the best, or worst, example of praise overkill. If an officer's performance was rated merely "very good" on his efficiency report, he might as well have been sentenced to the firing squad, for all the help he would be getting toward a promotion.

Schmoe would have to be judged "outstanding, incomparable, and a major credit to his profession" and a line of pap four or five rows deep in order to attract the attention of higher heads in personnel. And Schmoe might in fact have trouble determining the right end of a M-16 rifle.

In civilian life, the stack of awards, certificates, ribbons and prizes that most people have a chance to accumulate in their adult life would provide a good start toward forming a new service club.

The most significant awards might go on a wall. The rest may end up in a drawer or in a box in the closet. But significantly, not too many get pitched.

Maybe that's in hopes that someone would come upon the dusty archives and praise us for our modesty.

To the Editor:

Enclosed is my check for two more copies of "Lumberjack"—excellently done. Send as soon as possible.

For future copies, could we be included about real lumbering in various camps such as Thunder Lake, Stubben, Indian River areas. I am sure some people can still add much from family's memories. Pictures, too of all present replanting, in mint farm and areas east of highway 13 would interest the younger generation.

Letters to the Editor

Letters from readers are welcome. All letters to the editor must be signed; however, names will be withheld if requested. Views given are not necessarily those of The Pioneer Tribune.

Here's why there was city street work at 11 p.m.

Such as yours.

Two members of the city crew were working with the contractors from 10 p.m. to 6 p.m. These two men are not being paid overtime, but are simply working at night instead of during the day.

The work consists of closing water mains in various sections of the city, digging holes in which the contractor places water-flow recording instruments and cameras, and walking the streets with listening devices to locate leaks—which could not be done during the day because of normal daytime noise levels.

Notices to this effect were placed in the Pioneer Tribune two weeks in a row, and our local radio station, WTIQ, was kind enough to broadcast this information daily for the first week of the project. I'm sorry you didn't receive this information.

Again Mrs. Wehner, thank you for your concern about our city programs. In the future, I wish that concerned citizens such as yourself, and the Pioneer-Tribune also, would check with me prior to publishing items such as this which might be misleading to the public in general, in order to avoid this type of confusion and to allow us to spend your tax dollars in the best and most efficient manner possible.

Michael Faketty
Superintendent of Public Works

Presenting musical drama

The Agape Players are coming to Manistique on Thursday, Sept. 22 for an appearance at 7 p.m. at the Bethel Baptist Church.

The Agape Players are a group of college-age young people from all across the United States who spend nine months traveling nationally and internationally, presenting musical dramas and sacred-song concerts.

Program at Church of Redeemer

The Covenant Players will be presenting the Sunday morning, Sept. 25 worship service at the Church of the Redeemer. The Players are a group of young people who are taking a break from college and are travelling all over the country presenting programs. They will stay with members of the congregation during their visit to Manistique. In November they will return to participate in the church's 90th anniversary celebration.

In addition to the presentation by the Players, attendance awards will be presented to members of the Sunday School. Teachers will also be honored at the service.

A coffee hour will follow the service. On Friday, Sept. 23 a rummage sale will be held at the church beginning at 9 a.m. The sale is sponsored by the Women's Association.

St. Rita Circle

The opening meeting of St. Rita Circle will be a steak fry at the Cayia cottage at Indian Lake at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 4. Mrs. Don McNally will assist Mrs. Cayia as hostess. All members and prospective members are urged to attend.

Women's retreat

Rev. Matt Nyman will conduct a retreat for women at Marygrove the weekend of Oct. 7-9. Father Nyman is the rector of Marygrove Retreat House.

The retreat will begin on Friday evening at 7:30 and will close after the noon meal on Sunday. To make reservations write Marygrove, Garden, Mich. 49835 or call 644-2771.

Zion Lady Quilters

Zion Lady Quilters will meet Tuesday, Sept. 27 at 10 a.m. in Augustana Hall for a full day of quilting.

Elderly donate more for meals

Escañaba: The number of meals served to tri-county elderly during August 1977 dipped while the average meal donation rose, according to the monthly report prepared by Community Action's Senior Citizens Nutrition Program.

Meals consumed in August were about 60 less than those served July's figure of 4,616. Meals days for the month, which remained the same over the two months, were 19. The average meal donation increased by three cents from 79 cents to 81 cents recorded in August. Meal donations indicate local economic support of the project by area elderly to Title VII nutrition officials in Lansing.

Senior Citizens at the Escañaba site received the largest number of meals during August at 1,155 while those at Ford River ate the smallest amount with 50. The Escañaba site provided meals on 19 days of the month and Ford River was open one day.

Those seniors at the Germfask site gave the largest average meal donation of $1 while those at Ford River gave the smallest donation per meal. Germfask served meals on eight days during August.

Zoning enforcement

If you're in violation of the present zoning ordinance the county prosecutor may be after you.

That's the word from the Schoolcraft County Planning and Zoning Commission, which recently spent an entire meeting discussing past and future enforcement of zoning ordinances.

The commission was established several months ago to draw up new zoning ordinances to replace outdated ordinances put in effect several years ago.

Township supervisors have questioned the commission on how to get a section of the present rural zoning ordinance enforced if the county prosecutor was reluctant to proceed on a complaint.

The supervisors said that if an old ordinance is not enforced at the present time, it would be futile to develop and adopt a revised ordinance that also would not be enforced.

Pete Cambier, CUPPAD representative, said that the prosecutor may be reluctant to prosecute because the old ordinance cannot be enforced fairly if it had not been previously enforced.

Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners Chairman Jimmie Hoholik told the board that he would contact the prosecutor and request that all necessary steps be taken to enforce the zoning. Hoholik later contacted the commission and informed them that the prosecutor has agreed to proceed on the existing complaints to get the present ordinance enforced.

No new business was conducted by the commission during its regular meeting held Sept. 13. The next meeting of the commission has been scheduled for Sept. 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the courthouse.

Agenda items include discussion of a resource production district, public lands district, open space district, timber production district, and an industrial-commercial district.

Cooks

by Mrs. Charles Reid 644-2365

The maples are prettifying themselves up in the latest thing for fall. The brilliant scarlet, orange, yellow, rust and even lavender creations are a breath-taking sight to behold!

Anyone would think that autumn was my favorite time of the year, and they would be correct!

There has been considerable re-shuffling of our local residents here as you can gather from the following news items.

Matthew and Nancy Walter have sold their house in Cooks to Arthur and Marsha Miller, and are now living in their new home on Deep Lake in Inwood Township.

Joel and Ella Carley have moved into their new mobile home located across the street from the Cooks Depot building.

Maurice (Aoe) and Marcelien Chandler have purchased the former Gerald and Shirley Graphos home in Cooks and are in residence there. The Graphos' have moved to town where both are employed.

Patty Walter and Sandy Tatrow are attending Big Bay de Noc Community College and share an apartment together.

St. Mary's Altar Society held its first fall meeting on Sept. 14 in the church basement. The meeting was opened with a prayer led by Father Sitko.

Mrs. Rosario Poupore and Joseph Poupore of Manistique, spent a few days visiting at the Gerard Poupore farm this past week.

Cecil Gonder spent Sunday afternoon at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Arlene and Donald Quinn, rural Manistique.

Louis and Eileen Pangborn of Christmas, were recent visitors at the Charles Reid home.

Correction

In the Sept. 8 issue of the Pioneer-Tribune, Peter Krumrey was incorrectly listed in a photo caption as the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dietmar Krumrey. It should have read, Peter Krumrey, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Krumrey.

Choir to practice

The Manistique Community Choir will hold a practice in the choral room of Manistique High School at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 27.

Full Time Position

One of Manistique's leading retail stores has an immediate opening for a sales clerk. A mature, responsible woman will receive a good wage and excellent working conditions.

HELP US... GET THE FAULTS OUT OF 'NO FAULT'!!

MICHIGAN'S "NO FAULT" AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE LAW HAS ALREADY PROVED THE "NO FAULT" IDEA CAN WORK, AND WORK WELL. BUT THE LAW ITSELF HAS SOME FAULTS. AND IT IS THOSE FAULTS THAT WILL DRIVE INSURANCE COSTS UP AND UP, WHILE, AT THE SAME TIME, POSSIBLY CAUSING SOME INSURANCE COMPANIES TO CEASE ACCEPTING AUTO INSURANCE BUSINESS IN OUR STATE. IT'S TIME WE ALL SPOKE UP AND SHOW OUR LEGISLATORS OUR DISPLEASURE OF THE PRESENT "NO FAULT" LAW. THIS MATTER IS GOING TO COME BEFORE OUR LEGISLATURE IN OCTOBER OF THIS YEAR. WE ARE ASKING OUR CLIENTS AND NON-CLIENTS TO COME INTO OUR AGENCY AND SIGN A PROTEST CARD WHICH WE WILL MAIL TO OUR INDEPENDENT INSURANCE AGENTS ASSOCIATION OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN, WHICH IN TURN WILL BE SENT TO OUR LEGISLATORS IN LANSING.

Our energy-conscious world can learn an important lesson from the candle that flickers out. The problem is not that its fuel is all gone. The fuel has been dissipated so it is no longer in a usable state.

The flickering candle conveys a religious lesson, too. Some of us burn out spiritually. Not because we lack God-given resources. Because we let those resources dissolve in a hedgepodge of confusion and doubt.

The diligent Psalmist called God's Word a lamp for his feet and a light for his path.

Keep close to your church and its teaching. The spiritual resources we constantly renew cannot melt away.

A bonus this fall for fishermen

The wary pink salmon should provide bonus fall fishing for the more than 500,000 salmon addicts concentrating on two million coho and chinook schooling off 35 Michigan rivers, bays and lakes, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The pink, or humpback, spawns every two years and is returning to tributaries of Lakes Superior, Michigan and Huron.

Many of those fish, plus more than a million coho ranging up to 25 pounds of chinook averaging 30 pounds, should be taken at rivers, lakes and bays listed on Auto Club's 1977 salmon fishing guide.

Runs of at least three-year-old silvery salmon already are converging on spawning streams and should provide optimum great Lakes and stream angling through mid-November.

Sportsmen looking for an early salmon fishery should be ready to go after the pinks in early September, Auto Club advises.

The small but powerful pinks were planted inadvertently into Lake Superior by Canada in 1956. Now they are established firmly as the world's only naturally reproducing freshwater pink salmon. The state record is just over two pounds.

Humpback schools are expanding southward each year and at least one good Lower Peninsula run is expected in Lake Huron's Ocqueoc River. Other significant runs should appear in Upper Michigan's Presque Isle, Huron and Laughing Whitefish rivers along Lake Superior, and possibly in the Carp River on Lake Huron and in the Ford and Manistique rivers and Thompson Creek along Lake Michigan.

Most pinks are taken in streams, where flies or small spoons and spinners can provoke strikes from spawners. Stealth is required. These fish are disurbed easily, but once caught, filleted and cooked, many anglers agree pinks are tastier table fare than either coho or chinook salmon.

Plans to weir off portions of several rivers from spawning coho and chinook salmon will not affect runs of pink salmon.

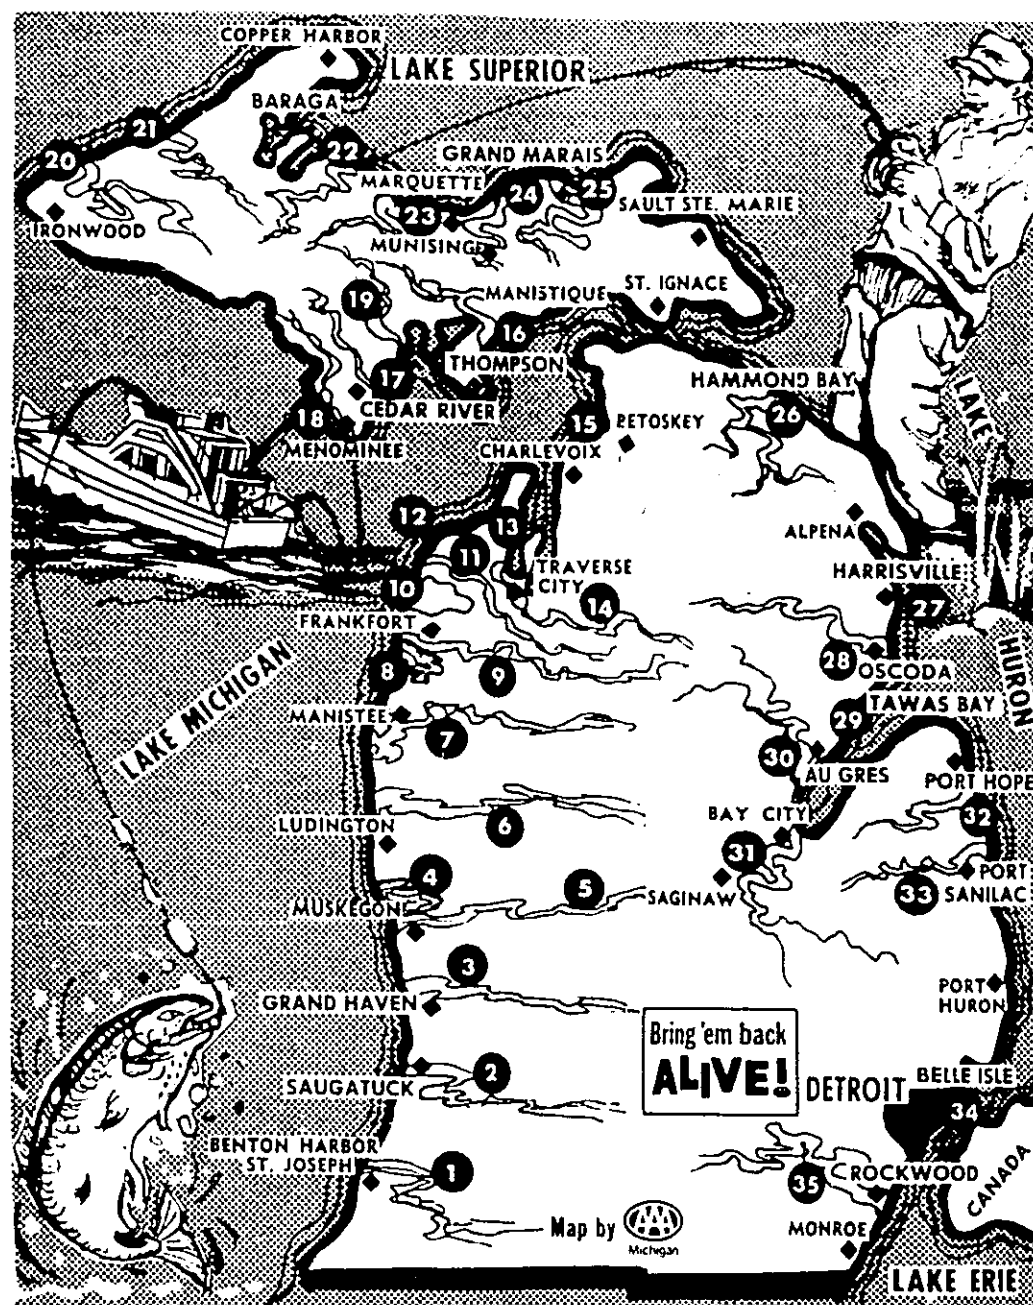

Lake Superior's best bets for both coho and chinook include the Black, Presque Isle, Huron and Dead rivers. The Presque Isle and Huron also should have good runs of pink salmon. Sections of certain streams are open again this year to liberalized fishing regulations, allowing anglers to keep foul-hooked Pacific salmon from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31.

Fishermen are restricted to using unweighted double or treble hooks no more than three-eighths inch from point to shank or single hook's no more than one-half inch from point to shank. For dates and sections open on each stream, contact any DNR office.

Anglers planning to charter a boat can write for a free copy of the Michigan Charter Boat Directory from the Michigan Travel Commission, Lansing, MI. 48913.
