Presque Isle trial moved to Manistique

The trial of two men on charges of assault and armed robbery in Presque Isle County will begin in the Schoolcraft County Courthouse on Monday, Oct. 31.

The trial is being moved from Presque Isle on a change of venue.

Darrel L. Jarvis, 21, of Millersburg, and James E. Siebert, 21, of Pontiac, are charged with the Nov. 5 assault and armed robbery of a Case Township storeowner and her son.

Circuit Court Judge Philip J. Glennie will come to Manistique to handle the trial along with Prosecutor Larry Farmer of Rogers City.

Glennie granted a change of venue motion Oct. 7 following four days of efforts to select a jury in Presque Isle County.

Of the 153 jurors questioned by Glennie and trial attorneys, only 11 were tentatively seated according to newspaper reports. However, even that many could have been excused through pre-emptory challenges by the attorneys.

Glennie said widespread news media coverage and the high amount of public comment that the incident under trial had received made seating a jury difficult.

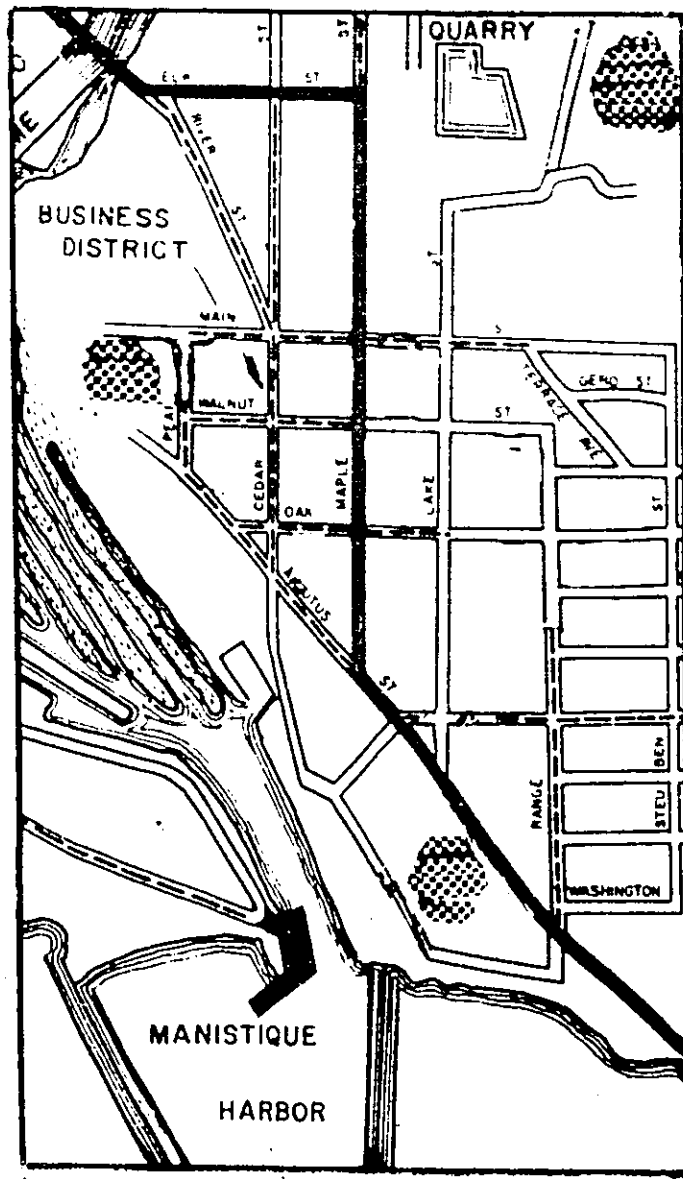

The victims of the crime, Mrs. Laurette Schepke, and her son, Mikel, 10, were at the Halfway Station on Highway 638 the day of the assault.

The change of venue motions were requested by the attorneys for Jarvis and Siebert, Richard Collins of Alpena and Nicholas V. Hile of Cheboygan.

According to a Presque Isle newspaper, Prosecuting Attorney Farmer said he believed the interest of the people would be well served in moving the trial to Manistique.

Presque Isle, as county of original jurisdiction, will foot the bill for the trial and jury selection.

Glennie is reported to have said that as many as 16 witnesses will be called to testify at the trial.

Three veteran sites offered

by Ed Zaske

The Manistique veteran's facility site selection committee has identified three locations available to construct a proposed Peninsula veteran's facility.

The committee will present the locations to a survey group which will be coming to Manistique Monday.

The survey group will consider the locations and other statistical data for a recommendation to the Michigan legislature on the placement of the nursing home.

However, other U.P. cities also are offering their sites to the survey group. The sites the committee has selected: 1. about 6.5 acres at the end of Arbutus near present location of Warshawsky Brothers junk dealers, 2. some vacant county land northwest of Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital and 3. some vacant city land adjacent to proposed senior citizen housing next to Harbor View Towers.

The land at the end of Arbutus presently belongs to the Ishpeming Steel Company. City Assessor Howard Benson, who chairs the site selection committee, said the Arbutus property was chosen because of its good drainage, water supply and proximity to the downtown area.

Also, he said the land next to the hospital was a good selection because the veterans will want to use hospital facilities. It, too, is close to the downtown area.

Benson said the land near the senior citizens' housing may not prove usable as site because of traffic on US-2. On Oct. 18, Gerald Bax, commandant of the Grand Rapids Veterans' Facility, invited Manistique to put in its bid for the U.P. home.

PART OF a community task force that met Friday to discuss the potential for a veterans' nursing home in Manistique.

Currently, two bills have been introduced in the Michigan legislature to provide funding for the facility's planning and construction.

Bax said he was reasonably sure that the bills would pass into law. To date, only two areas have been reviewed by the survey team for the location of the facility. They are Kincheloe Air Force Base hospital and the south unit of Marquette General Hospital.

Other cities to make presentations to the survey team this next week will be Ironwood, Iron Mountain and Escanaba.

The location of the facility would be a significant boost to the economy of almost any U.P. town. An estimated 100 jobs will be generated by the facility.

That means that about 300 more jobs will be created in the community, according to employment theories.

A coalition of concerned and interested businessmen, county commissioners and city officials have been working on site selections and gathering statistical data to present to the survey team. The group met last Friday to discuss the proposal they would give the team.

City Manager Bob Risik, urged that the presentation be made with a united front. He said all the preliminary planning should be out of the way by the time the survey team arrives.

On statistical data, the group plans to present information regarding Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital, the Manistique Christian community, the county veteran population and area fraternal, civic and service organizations.

New councilmen

DAVID VAUGHAN, left, and Patrick Moberg Monday night are sworn in as appointed councilmembers to fill two vacant seats on the Manistique City Council. Vaughan, 28, owns Cinema I and II and Moberg, 31, teaches English at Manistique High School. They were the only candidates to submit 50-signature petitions by the noon deadline last Thursday to succeed Councilmembers Bob White and Doug Rose.

Move protested

City trades property for new highway US-2

Manistique City Council Monday night authorized the transfer of a piece of property near the entrance to the municipal marina to the state highway department in preparation for a new highway U.S.-2 route through the city.

With Mayor Frank Hewitt abstaining, the council authorized City Manager Robert Risik and City Clerk Pat Erickson to enter into an agreement with the state that would turn over the land in exchange for a piece of property that includes rear portions of three residential lots on Arbutus Avenue that would be eliminated by the proposed route.

After the vote, Robert Broullire, whose Messier-Broullire Funeral business at 211 Arbutus Ave., would be affected questioned the action.

"You're letting the highway go through without talking to people on Arbutus Avenue," Broullire said. "You're giving the state authority to go ahead without talking to anybody about it. I know no one has talked to me about it."

Broullire said that six houses along "the prettiest street in Manistique" and four businesses would be eliminated by the proposed route. In January City Council accepted the state-preferred route to cross the Manistique River just north of the marina.

transfer would take place only if the state buys private property in the path of the route.

"If they have that state highway go through where they want it to go through, I'm out of business," Broullire went on. "I've been here for 31 years." He said the route would cut off two of three stalls in his garage, and take away present parking on Cedar Street.

Mayor Hewitt, who abstained from the vote because his nearby funeral business on the highway is not in the route's right of way, said there would be access to the new route from Cedar.

Risik said it would not be until late 1979 or early 1980 at the earliest before the new route would be constructed, according to highway department sources.

In other business, the council named Councilmember Peter Mathson as Mayor Pro-Tem to succeed Doug Rose, who resigned from the council to take a new job in Gaylord. Pat Moberg and David Vaughan were installed on the council to replace Rose and Bob White, who also resigned.

Accepted a low bid of $144,290 from DeGrand Construction, Inc. of Escanaba for the construction of water transmission lines in the city. The money will come from the city's HUD Community Development program.

County would gain $185,000 by state plan

Schoolcraft County would receive an estimated $185,000 this fiscal year under a recommended $1 million program to reimburse local units of government for taxes lost as a result of the transfer of land to the federal government.

The formula proposed by Gov. William G. Milliken would compensate the county for the Seney National Wildlife Refuge.

In a news release, the governor said the payments would help ease the impact of removal of the refuge land from tax rolls. The Milliken proposal would phase the payments out over a 10-year period, with a 10 percent reduction in the payment each year.

An initial $200,000 estimate was determined by calculating the assessed value of all federal lands and applying the property tax rate of each local unit to that assessed value.

The state payment would equal that tax figure, minus whatever federal payments counties and townships had received under a new federal program to reimburse local units for a portion of the taxes lost.

County Treasurer William Cowman said the proposal would mean $185,000 for local government and the schools, after a $15,000 earlier payment for federal forest reimbursements is subtracted.

According to Cowman, the total would break down as follows: 67 percent to Manistique Area Schools; 19.4 percent to the county; 7.1 percent to the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District; less than 1 percent to the Eastern U.P. school district; and about 6 percent to be divided by Doyle, Seney, Germfask, Manistique and Hiawatha townships, in which the refuge is located.

Cowman said he expects a decision on the payments to be made by the state within two months, with the first lump sum to be received in January if the program is passed by the Legislature.

"This proposal provides an equitable answer to the problems realized in each of these areas as a result of the large amounts of federal lands which are taken off the tax rolls," Milliken said. "With the support of legislators from these areas, I am hopeful of final legislative approval of it."

Estimates for other area involved include: Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore in Alger County, $275,000; Sylvania Recreation Area in Gogebic County, $165,000; Isle Royale National Park in Keweenaw county, $50,000; Sleeping Bear Dune National Lakeshore in Benzie County, $84,000, and in Leelanau County, $236,000.

The payments to the local units involved in the Sleeping Bear Dune area include monies committed by the state but not paid during the last fiscal year.

Milliken said the proposal has the approval of members of the Legislature from the affected areas.

Hospital seeks new supplier of blood

Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Administrator James Gardner says he is negotiating for a new blood supplier to the hospital.

Gardner told hospital board members on Wednesday, Oct. 19 that the current blood supplier out of Marquette could still supply blood. However, he said the supplier cannot economically justify coming down here from Marquette to do the blood drawing.

"We are exploring options at this time," Gardner said. "We're leaning towards a Red Cross program out of Petoskey."

Gardner said a decision on which procedure would be best for the hospital would be made by Friday.

He said it would also be possible to draw blood here and transport it to Marquette.

Under the Red Cross program, there is no placement or replacement system in the blood bank. The bank is filled by donors who volunteer from the community in a blood drive sponsored by the Red Cross two to four times a year.

But there is a processing charge the hospital must pay.

The Red Cross assumes responsibility for keeping the bank full.

However, Gardner noted that in other communities, a service organization such as the Elks Club, has taken over the publicity involved in the drives.

The drives have been successful in other locations because of the social pressure placed on would-be donors to volunteer.

Gardner said the only other place in the U.P. using the Petoskey Red Cross program was Sault Ste. Marie.

"They are satisfied with the supply," he said.

On another topic, Gardner said the hospital was looking for a registered nurse in the community who would be interested in working at the hospital.

Recently, two RNs have departed the hospital because their spouses had had reassignments in their professions.

In other business, Dr. Robert Urban said two new oxygen tents are scheduled to arrive at the hospital within the week.

He also said a gastroenterologist, neurologist and a neurosurgery specialist would be visiting the hospital on a regular basis to see patients.

The board voted in favor of a new contract with Michigan Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

Gardner said the contract was a combination retrospective and prospective reimbursement plan as opposed to the strictly retrospective reimbursement plan the hospital has now.

Board ratifies teacher contract

The Manistique Area Schools Board of Education approved a ratified contract for teachers for 1977-78 Tuesday night at its meeting.

Mediations on the salaries for the teachers was begun in July.

Superintendent Richard Bonifas said there had been considerable discussion on the matter by the teachers.

Included in the new contract will be hospitalization to be paid by the employer, in this case the school system.

However, no salary increases were ratified for beginning teachers. The raises varied upon what teaching level the teacher occupied.

The teachers will not receive the new pay scale until 60 days of the new year have passed. Only 122 days of the 1977-78 school will be applicable for the raises.

In another item, Bonifas said that the boiler had broken down in Fairview school, and that the maintenance policy of the school in this regards was not what should be done.

The problem with boiler stemmed from conduit laid too close to the heat.

Bonifas said he was waiting for reports on the breakdowns from state and company inspectors.

A hearing date of Nov. 8 was set for the school financial report.

Also, the board decided to mail out copies of the report to every household in Manistique.

Senior Citizens

by Eileen Males

I appreciated Arnie Mackowiak's article in last week's paper entitled "Want ads for new federal jobs." He took my request for "CETA" Title VI Special Project for a "masseur" and expounded on it.

For those who don't know about this particular CETA program, the requirements are you must have been unemployed for 15 weeks, your total family income must be very low that means if your husband is working and you are a single mother of Manistique and the job slot that is available must be a new and innovative idea.

We need a driver for one of the vans and a typist but we've had these jobs filled before so we cannot apply for either one. We had a very good driver and her name is Jerry Sleeper, but her grant expired and we have no other funds to hire her.

Bertha Davis, our nurse, is also out of work until we can find future funding and we can't retire her because this is not a new or innovative idea. Bertha is volunteering her services till we can find future funding.

So far under CETA Title VI we have been allocated two homemaker aides and pending for November are two handy men for the Manistique area and one homemaker aide and educational and activities co-ordinator for Germfask.

So our hands are tied with stringent guidelines and this type of bureaucratic stupidity doesn't make sense so I thought I'd write a grant for a masseur. It's new and innovative and, why not?

Here is my reasoning that was taken directly from my grant application. Quote. "Inflationary costs, spiraling heat and utility bills, increases in food prices, loneliness, widowhood, etc., etc., takes its toll in destroying a person's health through nervous tension. The older person has aches, pains, stiff necks, tense shoulders, all due to pressures of life.

"To alleviate and help these conditions a masseur would hold office in a room in the Manistique Senior Citizens Center and provide services such as needed by the older individual.

"Due to a drastic cut in state grants to the Schoolcraft County Commission on Aging and because future grants will be given on population, not performance, there will be one typist and one driver laid off at the Manistique Senior Citizens Center at the end of September. In total four valuable and needed personnel will have been laid off since June 30.

"Title VI Special Project CETA grants are for new and innovative ideas and cannot replace present needed staff members. Mrs. Eileen Males and her present staff will be under severe and tedious working conditions and they too will need the aid of a masseur to help them overcome problems of tension and stress.

"The objective is to provide 16 units of service (a unit equals 1/2 hr. of service) a day to approximately 200 different older individuals and staff members of the Manistique Senior Citizens Center over the period of one year." Unquote.

Who writes these guidelines for these grants? It comes directly from Washington, D.C. and I would encourage each and everyone of you to write to Robert Griffin, 252 Old Senate Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20510 or Philip E. Ruppe, U.S. Representative, 11th District, House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20516, and ask for these guidelines for CETA projects to be lifted except for unemployment.

Someone asked me, "What would you have done if you county board of commissioners okayed the grant for your masseur?"

I'd have been tickled pink. The publicity would have been overwhelming. We'd have made the Detroit Free Press and national news coverage. Couldn't you see the caption reading, "Massage Parlor for Manistique Senior Center?"

And after all, I'd probably be his or hers first and weekly customer because there is nothing that relaxes me more than a good back and foot rub. You know, it really wasn't a bad idea.

We wish to thank the following for monetary donations to the building fund: Elsie and Ray Burns, Cecil E. Moore, Carol Shelly, Viola Steele, Lena Thibault, Loretta Stevens, John and Mary Borko, Viola Richmire, Virginia Radgens, Neil and Louisa Reese and Evelyn Schuster.

Memorials were given to the center in the name of Barbara Kasun by Phyllis Popour, and in the name of Bud Peterson, brother of Myrtle Quick, by Myrtle Quick.

All these acts of concern through giving of your monetary support is so deeply appreciated.

Donations to our Thrift Store came from Margaret Shampine, Fran Carolyn, Rosalie Mayer, Martha Flusek, Eva Noteboom, Mary Schuster, Mary Gordon, Hilja Pekkarinen of Grand Marais, Essie Jarvis, Florence Sheldon, Rena McEachern, and Carol Arrowood.

Baked good were brought in by Elma Bowersox and Lil Farley.

Birthday greetings go out to: Frances Hoar, Oct. 27; Ragner Carlson and Olive Saunders, Oct. 28; Sue Caffey, Minola DeSauler, Eva Fletcher and Mittie Vertz, Oct. 29; Ellen Burgess, Loris Heinz, John Dyer, Laura Denny, Earl Burns and Clara Wood, Oct. 30; Edith Klagstad, Marion Haas, Henry Adams, Doris Van Eyck and Mildred Carlson, Oct. 31; Art Halverson, Nov. 1; J.L. LeDuc, Nov. 2; Edward Cook and Clarence McNamara, Nov. 3.

Have a happy and healthy week and thank you for your concern and giving.

Libby Maynard

Unemployment key concern: Maynard

Libby Maynard, vice chairperson of the Michigan Democratic Party, said here Friday that she feels unemployment is the major issue of concern to people in the U.P.

Ms. Maynard chatted with county Democrats and lunched with representatives of the news media at Manistique's Fireside Inn.

She said U.P. unemployment varies from county to county but in some places was as high as 10 per cent.

Traveling through the counties of Mackinac, Chippewa, Luce, Ontonagon, Gogebic, Baraga and Schoolcraft the week of Oct. 17, she said the trip was an effort to keep in touch.

"Just this summer, our state chairperson, Morley Winograd, spent three weeks touring the U.P. and meeting with local Democrats," she said.

"My trip is a continuation of that effort to find out which issues are of concern in the various communities."

Ms. Maynard said she had also heard quite a bit about Project Seafarer.

She said since the eastern part of the peninsula had lost Kincheloe Air Force Base, they had changed their attitude on the project.

"They are thinking maybe it isn't such a bad idea now," she said.

However, she said the environmental concerns were a problem.

"In the long run, damaging the environment hurts everyone," she said.

Ms. Maynard said other issues she has heard which were of concern were the cost of energy, reform of the welfare system and the location of a veterans' facility.

Ms. Maynard is serving her fourth term as vice chairperson and prior to that served as state party secretary. She is also a member of the National Democratic Party's Executive Committee.

Board honors Bonifas, Nelson

Joe Heirmann, vice president of the Delta Schoolcraft Intermediate School District Board of Education, Thursday night presented Richard Bonifas, Superintendent of Manistique Area Schools, and Denton Nelson, a member of the Manistique Board of Education, with an award commemorating their years of service.

Bonifas has been in education for 29 years, the past 26 at Manistique. He has been superintendent of Manistique Area Schools since 1971.

He was the first Community School Director as well as a promoter of community education. He has served as the City Recreation Director and the School Athletic Director. Additionally he took time to serve as a member of the intermediate school district board.

Nelson is currently serving his 16th year as a member of the Manistique Area Board of Education. He was a member of the board before recent consolidation and has served as treasurer and president of this board many times. Also, he has served on the Delta-Schoolcraft board.

Heirmann said both were a real credit to the field of education and that the Delta-Schoolcraft board was pleased to be associated with them.

Bonifas said he had learned a great deal in his 10 years serving on the board and had seen it move from almost nothing to what it is now.

Nelson said he has always been interested in the intermediate school district and probably always would be.

Joe Heirmann presents Richard Bonifas with an award for his years of service to the intermediate school district. Denton Nelson who also received an award, is standing to the right.

AUTUMN CYCLAMENS

Wild cyclamens grow throughout much of the mountain area of Europe as well as into the Near East. The tiny European species are sometimes called "alpine violets," but the larger-flowered species from Syria, known as "Persian violets" are the ancestors of our cultivated forms of cyclamen. Their colors range from snowy white through every subtle shade of pink, lavender and red.

The cyclamens now coming into blossom were tender seedlings a year and a half ago; in the intervening months the young plants were fed, watered, sprayed and reported time after time to achieve today's perfection. It's only fair that plants that were so long in growing and that have such a potential for long-term loveliness should have the best possible care in the house. Here are their four simple needs: (1) give them your coolest window sill; (2) set them in bright light or full sun from now through February, then give them the protection of a thin curtain as the days become hotter; (3) keep the soil damp, but not wet; (4) feed them every other week with any house plant fertilizer to keep the flowers big and beautiful.

The LICKITY "CHIPSTER"

The biggest little chipper on the market...

This photo shows the shredded wood chips being processed by the "CHIPSTER". They make excellent mulch, cattle bedding, etc., and the chips are much in demand in most areas.

The chips leave the hammermill rotor (not shown), pass through a screen and are deflected to the ground by the hood. If desired a container can be placed to catch the chips.

This left side view of the "CHIPSTER" shows the 8 h.p. Kohler gasoline engine (retractable rope starter) with which it is powered. Also shown are the 2.75 x 10" wheels, feed chute and the large handle which makes moving the chipper an easy job on most surfaces.

Notice the heavy gauge steel plate from which the "CHIPSTER" is constructed. Normal maintenance will give your machine a long life expectancy.

This top view of the "CHIPSTER" shows three small branches being processed at the same time. The feed chute holds them horizontal, the powered feed rolls convey them to the hammermill rotor. The operator is busy getting additional branches.

In the right side view, the metal shield covers the "grip" belts that drive the rotor. Belts can easily be tightened as desired. Tightener fittings are provided.

The Lickity Line

We'd like to take this space to introduce the Lickity "Chipster", the biggest little chipper on the market.

We'd also like to point out that the chipster comes in several different models.

Like the Lickity Brush Chipper, Model WPM-6 featuring 60 h.p., 4 cylinder, aircooled engine. Or the all NEW model F.P.M.-6 60 h.p. industrial engine.

But rather than us trying to tell you about these remarkable machines, why don't you stop down and take a look at one.

We'd also like to demonstrate our model Lickity Log Splitter or if you'd like your own demonstration we have log splitters for rent. Stop down this week and take a look at your remarkable Lickity Dealer.

14-8 win over Munising assures tie for second

The Manistique Emeralds clinched at least a tie for second place in the Mid-Peninsula Conference with a last-minute 14-8 victory over Munising in the Emeralds' Homecoming game Friday night.

"We were so close to doing better than that," Coach Dan Skatzka, said of the league finish, "but we'll take it."

After playing independent last year and going 3-6, the Emeralds this year have lost only to Ishpeming and Negaunee, the no. 1 ranked Class C team in the state, after replacing Stephenson in the conference.

With Friday's win the Emeralds have posted more victories than any Manistique varsity grid team since 1967, when the Emeralds won seven.

The sixth win Friday was a triumph of persistence for Manistique, which controlled the ball for most of the game but saw one touchdown called back and four other deep drives fall short of scoring.

"It was a super job by the defense," Skatzka said, "when you consider Munising has been one of the best offensive teams in the conference and the U.P. They really rose to the occasion."

Going into the contest, the Emeralds and the Mustangs were tied for the best overall offense in the league, each averaging 343 yards per game. The Mustangs, minus the services of Mark Pirlot, couldn't match the 336-yard output of Manistique Friday night, however.

Munising, totalling only 131 yards, missed running back Pirlot, who had 1,112 yards rushing going into the game. He had suffered a chipped bone in the right ankle during the Mustangs' Oct. 14 game with Negaunee.

After taking the kickoff, the Emeralds drove to the Mustang 24 before the defenders grabbed a muffed pitchout and Munising took over on its own 38. Four plays later, the Mustangs punted and the Emeralds began a drive on their own 35 at 8:04 that lasted the rest of the period.

Eighteen plays later, on the first play of the second quarter, Norm Jahn hit John Pistulka for a 22-yard touchdown pass play. Jahn connected with D.J. Brady for a two-point conversion and the Emeralds led 8-0.

Rob Lee cut short the Mustangs' next time with the ball, intercepting a Munising pass on the Emerald 48 and running it back to the visitors' 35. But Manistique's drive was stalled on the 14.

The Mustangs punted after one series, and Brady ran back the reception 60 yards for an apparent touchdown. However, a clipping call cancelled the play. The two teams each had two more chances with the ball but failed to gain deep penetration before the halftime festivities.

JOHN PISTULKA runs to greet teammates after catching a Norm Jahn touchdown pass in the Homecoming game against Munising. The Emeralds won, 14-8.

Munising set up the Emeralds on the Munising 22-yard line with 1:42 remaining. Runs by Jahn and Brady put Manistique inside the one, and with 33 seconds left Jahn punched it across on a quarterback sneak. The PAT failed the next kickoff, Munising failed to get out of its own territory before the game ended.

Manistique had a heavy advantage in the game statistics, rushing for 257 yards on 61 carries and passing for 79 yards on five of 10 attempts and one interception. The Mustangs managed 86 on the ground on 25 tries and 45 through the air on four of 12 and threw two interceptions. The Emeralds amassed 17 first downs to the visitors' five, but were penalized for more yards, 45-35.

Brady led the running attack with 118 yards on 24 carries, followed by Doug Bertrand with 47 on 10, Jahn with 44 on 11, and John Pelon with 39 on nine.

North led Munising with 50 yards on seven runs from scrimmage.

Defensively, Pistulka was in on most of the Emerald tackles, collecting 10 solos and eight assists from his middle line-backer position. Tackle Jay Bowman chipped in four solos and three assists.

Emeralds close against Newberry

It will be Parents' Night Friday when the Emeralds close off a highly successful season against Newberry at A.F. Hall Stadium.

At 7:15 p.m., parents of varsity team players and cheerleaders will be introduced, followed by their respective sons and daughters.

Manistique, 6-2, will be seeking to equal the 1967 Emeralds' output of seven victories in a season against the unlucky Indians, 0-8.

But Emerald coach Dan Skatzka is not taking things for granted.

"Any time Newberry plays Manistique I'm sure a lot of strange things can happen," he said of the Luce County rivals. "We can't afford to take them lightly."

The Indians have lost to a number of strong squads, including Traverse City St. Francis, Munising and Sault Ste. Marie. Skatzka said his team is in as good a physical condition as any other time this season.

Notice

The City of Manistique requests bids for operation of the city and county landfill for the calendar year 1978. Specifications can be obtained at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Manistique.

The Mustangs evened things up after taking the kickoff to open the third quarter and drove 58 yards in five plays for their first touchdown. A 33-yard run to the end zone by Ray North at 8:58 capped the drive. A pass from quarterback Tom Chiardi to North tied the score at 8-8.

The Emeralds' next drive was stopped by an interception on the Mustang 34, but Rob Lee returned the favor by picking off an errant Munising pass two plays later with 3:45 left in the third period.

Manistique then engineered a 16-play drive that went 60 yards to the Mustang four before an offside call, an incomplete pass and a pass attempt failed. The Mustangs took over again with 8:27 left in the game. Each team had an ineffectual drive, and a bad snap from center by the

Time change

Michigan motorists are reminded that nightfall—the most dangerous period of the day for car-pedestrian accidents, especially those involving youngsters—comes an hour earlier after the switch to Eastern Standard Time at 2 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 30.

Motorists should adjust their driving in this period by:

- Reducing speed while increasing distance between cars.
- Watching for signs of children at play, including bicycles and dogs.
- Keeping windshields, headlights and taillights clean and in proper working order to insure optimum visibility.

The city of Manistique has been offered an $85,386 state grant to assist in the construction of a massive sewer project, reports State Representative Charles H. Varnum, R-Manistique.

A message for Veterans' Day

This past week Dewey Minor of 602 Oak St. brought me a clipping that appeared many years ago in "The Waifs' Messenger." It concerns everybody and with the recent passing of Veterans' Day, it seems appropriate enough.

"Some people call me Old Glory, others call me the Star Spangled Banner, but whatever they call me, I am your flag, the Flag of the United States of America. Something has been bothering me, so I thought I might talk it over with you, because it is about you and me.

"I remember some time ago people lined up on both sides of the street to watch the parade and naturally I was leading every parade, doddly waving in the breeze. When your daddy saw me coming, he immediately removed his hat and placed it against his left shoulder so that his hand was directly over his heart—remember?"

"And you, I remember you, standing there straight as a soldier. You didn't have a hat, but you were giving the right salute. Remember little sister? Not to be out there, she was saluting the same as you with her right hand over her heart—remember?"

"What happened? I'm still the same old flag. Oh, I have a few more stars since you were a boy. A lot more blood has been shed since those parades of long ago.

"But, now I don't feel as proud as I used to. When I come down the street you just stand there with your hands in your pockets and I may get a small glance and then you look away. Then I see the children running around and shouting—they don't seem to know who I am. I saw one man take his hat off, then look around. He didn't see anybody else with their hats off so he quickly put his back on!"

"Is it a sin to be patriotic anymore? Have you forgotten what I stand for and where I've been. Anzio, Goudalcanal, Korea, Vietnam. Take a look at the memorial honor rolls sometime of those who never came back to keep this Republic free. One Nation Under God. When you salute me you are actually saluting them."

"Well, it won't be long until I'll be coming down your street again. So when you see me, stand straight, place your right hand over your heart—and I'll salute you by waving back—and I'll know that...you remember."

Mr. Minor is a veteran himself, having saw action in World War I. Two son-in-laws and a daughter are also veterans.

according to Mr. Minor.

L. Jack was down from Seney last week. Stopping in for a quick cup of coffee and more tales of a bygone era. He mentioned an interesting fact that stood out in my mind as something I should pass along.

"You know, when I was young I had occasion to go to Gernfask."

I remember that once, this would be about 1915, I believe, I was in town and ole Harvey Saunders was installing some fancy street lights, the first in that town."

"We didn't have any at Seney at that time, so it kind of stood out like a sore thumb in my mind."

"If I remember right, and I usually do, they were gasoline mantle lights of some candle power. Saunders had had one at his lumber camp and the people evidently thought it would be nice to have in Gernfask."

"There were only three put up and some guy was hired to light and take care of them for thirty days' trial. Saunders sold them for around a $100 apiece, and the dang things only lasted a year."

"That column you ran several weeks ago about them boys, pretty good column too, blowing out those lamps as they were lit hit the mantle right on the head, if you'll pardon the expression."

"I can remember that was one of the first problems they encountered with their new 'moons'."

Prospects for veterans' facility

Practical and political considerations each play a role in determining Manistique's chances for a proposed 125-bed veterans' facility.

Community leaders and interested citizens have been quick to see the practical advantages that this area has to offer location of a U.P. veterans facility here. Now the task is to show Lansing why Manistique makes political sense as well.

State Rep. Charles Varnum of Manistique says that officials favor placing the facility in an available building. An old hospital in Marquette, an incomplete motel in Escanaba and Kincheoloe Air Force Base near Sault Ste. Marie thus have emerged as leading candidates. According to Varnum, Marquette and the Soo have the best chances, though there are disadvantages to each location.

Manistique, entering the sweepstakes at a late date without a large, vacant facility, and representing a smaller local population, might seem to be at a major disadvantage. However, there are numerous reasons to believe that Manistique could have a fair chance of getting the facility, and an estimated 100 full-time and part-time jobs that go with it.

There is a bill in the Legislature, House Bill No. 5270, that would provide $4 million for the planning and construction of a Michigan veterans' facility in the U.P. The problem is, the bill is resting in the Appropriations Committee, which is headed by State Rep. Dominic Jacobetti of Negaunee. Mr. Jacobetti, in representing his area's bid for old Marquette General South for the veterans, clearly would have little interest in freeing funds for new construction.

What needs to be done right now is to develop a public letter-writing campaign on the part of veterans and other concerned individuals, plus a thorough petition drive that state:

Manistique's case. These should be sent to Mr. Varnum and State Senator Bob Davis of Gaylord, so they might share them with Governor William, who may make the final decision on site location.

It is not an exercise in futility. Here's why: --Manistique has an ideal central location to serve all of the U.P., plus more than 100,000 people in the northern counties of the Lower Peninsula who are closer to Manistique than to the present veterans' facility in Grand Rapids. Manistique is 188 miles from Alpena on the southeast, 232 miles from Ironwood on the west.

--The area is noted for its retirement attributes, including a highly successful senior citizens' program and bus transportation system.

--Schoolcraft County has a high percentage of veterans, about 12 percent.

--Sites could be available to provide easy access to the business district, churches and clubs, a requirement for the facility.

--Adequate medical resources are available at the 55-bed Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital and 75-skilled nursing bed Schoolcraft County Medical Care Facility.

--Manistique offers recreational, scenic and environmental qualities second to none in the U.P., plus a weather climate milder than Marquette and more akin to northern lower Michigan.

A local group organizing information for the State Department of Public Health has only until Monday to prepare a presentation before a traveling state team on that day.

The presentation can be a persuasive one, but an argument for Manistique will be far more convincing if the public applies much needed pressure on Lansing.

Some jolts for our self-centered world

It's a funny world. Man is on the earth for an unbelievably short span of time, as time is measured, yet how are those allotted seconds and minutes and hours and years used?

Man is supposed to be God's noblest creature, and here in a rich and successful America we find it easy to tell ourselves that this is so, conveniently ignoring more than half the world's population who live in hunger and filth and poverty and disease and fear and pain.

For every effort like Project Hope, that tries to light a candle instead of cursing the darkness, there are a thousand efforts to manipulate and demean and oppress, most often in the name of patriotism or religion or peace.

The people of our America, our United States, are too comfortable, too relaxed, too contented to be bothered.

The richer we become in material things the less we seem to care about any fundamental values—values that are usually obscured by the glittering facade of shiny cars, color television and split-level living. The unhappy truth is that the millions of poor, hungry and suffering also aim to embrace these same tinsel gods in any way possible, and would just as soon overthrow a government to gain a color TV as to revolt on behalf of plenty of food, a dry home, or better education.

Even in this land of plenty and promise there are times when it seems we are determined to destroy ourselves and all that we hold dear.

We have tolerated racism and bigotry for so long that we were appalled when the riot-smoldering opposition blazed forth in riots and civil disorder. And instead of attempting to get at the root causes we attempt to convince ourselves that if we spend enough money and start enough projects and hire enough pompous asses to run them that we are solving the problems and that the sun will shine once again on our bright and happy land.

We set ourselves up as the World Judge of what is right and wrong, and were amazed that our middling and intrusions developed into the guarded statement of a Korea or the hopeless drain of a Vietnam. We were frustrated because we could not, as God did, create these people in our own likeness. Vietnam was no more ready to accept the American way of life than we were prepared to accept the Vietnamese, yet a series of tragic misjudgments forced us into militarily fighting their war and diplomatically trying to justify the graft and corruption of their government.

Only those families who experienced the brutal tragedy of death of their sons in Vietnam seemed fully aware of our commitment and our effort. To the rest of us the entire affair assumed the proportions of a military exercise combined with a sideshow, complete with television commentary, casualty scoreboards, and instant replay.

It was too remote for our comprehension, and we were not eager to face the futility when there were so many other pleasant distractions close at home to occupy us.

We have come to expect as a right what were formerly considered responsibilities and obligations. We look for someone else to raise our kids, build our schools, run our government, build our communities help our poor, fight for justice, preserve our beauty and keep our nation free and prosperous.

In our self-centered world we have built our walls that effectively screen out all that displeases us, living in a little world all of our own. We foul our water and pollute our air and litter our beauty spots as if there was no tomorrow, and the scars of man can be found all across the face of America the Beautiful.

Within each of us should be the determination to live our few short years on earth as if every day were tomorrow, as if all that is good and wonderful and right with each of us and with our country depends on what we do and what we think and what we say—because it does.

Fitz picks out his final resting place

Unless I change my mind, I may become guilty of the ultimate selfishness—but not until I am dead.

I didn't know what the ultimate selfishness is until the other noon when I ate an informative lunch with four gracious gentlemen. Three of them wore dark blue suits, white shirts and sedately striped neckties. By comparison, the fourth man looked almost garish in his brown sport-coat.

"The guy in brown must be their public relations consultant," I said to myself, as I approached their table. I'd never seen any of the four men before, but the invitation to join them had been extended on behalf of the Michigan Funeral Directors Association, so it wasn't difficult to peg the three men in mourning.

My assessment proved correct. The sportcoat was Thomas Banas, senior vice-president of P-R Associates Inc., a Detroit firm that bills itself as "counselors in communications."

Banas was there to counsel the communications between the misinformed columnist and the three morticians who had volunteered to straighten me out. They were Thomas Lynch of Milford, John Desmond of Troy and Daniel Garrett of Royal Oak. Garrett is vice-president of the funeral directors association.

If you have been paying attention lately, you're not surprised that the morticians might want to further my education as it pertains to the final curtain. I recently have quoted several readers' complaints against the funeral industry's handling of cremations. These nasty allegations did not provide pleasant reading at Digger O'Dell's chapel.

It has been charged that some morticians do not tell bereaved families it is legal to cremate Uncle Harry in a $50 crate rather than in an $800 coffin. There was also the charge that occasionally a bereaved family pays for a burned coffin that really isn't burned but instead is stealthily snatched from the flames so that the mortician can sell it again.

The three morticians insisted that the fake-burning charge is outrageous. "I never heard of such a thing," they said in unison.

It was conceded that morticians don't suggest to the bereaved that "immediate disposition" would be a good way to say goodbye to Uncle Harry. And that's the only way he could be burned in a $50 crate.

Most families don't want the corpse sped directly from the hospital to the furnace. They want Uncle Harry laid out in the funeral parlor for a couple of days so

If It Fitz

by Jim Fitzgerald

friends can come see him and his survivors. And it would hardly do to lay him out in an orange crate.

The Greater Detroit Memorial Society has suggested that morticians rent caskets for viewing purposes, and then burn the body in a cheap container. My three morticians said they had experienced no demand from survivors for a Hertz casket, and it is Uncle Harry's survivors who are most important to morticians. Uncle Harry himself is secondary because he's dead, remember.

Funerals are for the living, the three morticians stressed. Even if Uncle Harry's last wish was to be incinerated before his corpse became cold, that quickie disposal probably wouldn't be good for his bereaved family. It could be a traumatic experience that would leave many scars, the morticians said.

"Good funerals are those that help the grief-stricken deal with the hurt," they said, so decisions concerning the funeral should be made by the survivors, with the guidance of a mortician.

For the dead person to arrange his own funeral is "the ultimate selfishness," they said.

I always wanted to be buried behind the Alibi Bar in Port Huron. That's where I spent the last 10 years of my bachelorhood, trying to forget the horrors of World War II, and sometimes forgetting my name.

But my attachment for the Alibi is not as nostalgic as it is proprietary. I have enough money sunk in the place to provide care for my grave forever, or perpetual care, whichever comes first.

Now the morticians say it could be selfish of me to demand such an interment. My widow and our children might not be happy depositing my remains at the Alibi. I will have to think about that.

I will also think about another type of selfishness—not as ultimate as the selfishness that reaches out from the grave but selfish enough to make a grave's occupant spin if the selfishness is committed against his widow, back among the living, where the sorrow salve is sold.

Opting for auto life

The following story is quite a comment on life in the 1970's. If it is true, as written by Arthur Hoppe in his column for the San Francisco Chronicle, then it's a pretty sad commentary. If, as I suspect, it is something of a fable in order to make a point, it still makes interesting reading.

Two young boys were made wards of the court in Los Angeles last week after social workers discovered they and their parents had been living in the family car for the past three months.

The troubles of the Morton Sneek family began last July when Sneek lost control of his 1972 Oldsmobile and hit a divider on the Harbor Freeway. Sneek, a 42-year-old sausage stuffer, escaped uninjured but the car was totally demolished.

"I wish it'd been me instead of it," the disconsolate Sneek told friends at the time.

The loss of the car was a severe blow to the Sneeks. They were left with only their two-bedroom home in East Glendale in which they had a small equity.

"What could we do?" Sneek's wife, Lois, said later. "There was no possible way we could keep up the mortgage payments and taxes on the house and still buy a new car."

So the Sneeks had no choice but to see the equity in their house in order to purchase a new four-door Buick Rivera sedan.

"Having a roof over your head is okay," said Sneek. "But we just couldn't afford that kind of luxury no more."

Like all children, Billy Sneek, 11, and his brother, Jimmy, 9, were delighted when their father drove up in the new car, making them the envy of every kid on the block. And they adapted easily to the change in their life style.

Each week day morning Sneek would drive the family the 33 miles to his job at the Stauffer Stuffing Factory in South Anaheim, where he worked the 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. shift.

Mrs. Sneek would then take the wheel to drive the boys back to The Altadena Summer School and Day Camp, arriving at 9:30. By 10:30 she would be in downtown Los Angeles hunting for a parking place so she could look for a job. Unfortunately, she never found either.

"I felt that if only I could get part-time work, we could buy some of the things we really needed," she said, "like stereo speakers and vinyl seat covers."

Mrs. Sneek picked up her husband daily at 4 p.m. He would then relieve her at the wheel for the long drive back up the Santa Ana and Arroyo Seco Freeways to Altadena to retrieve the boys. The family would eat in a drive-in-restaurant and attend a different drive-in movie each evening.

"We didn't have no tee-vee," Sneek said, "and I didn't want my kids roaming the streets at night."

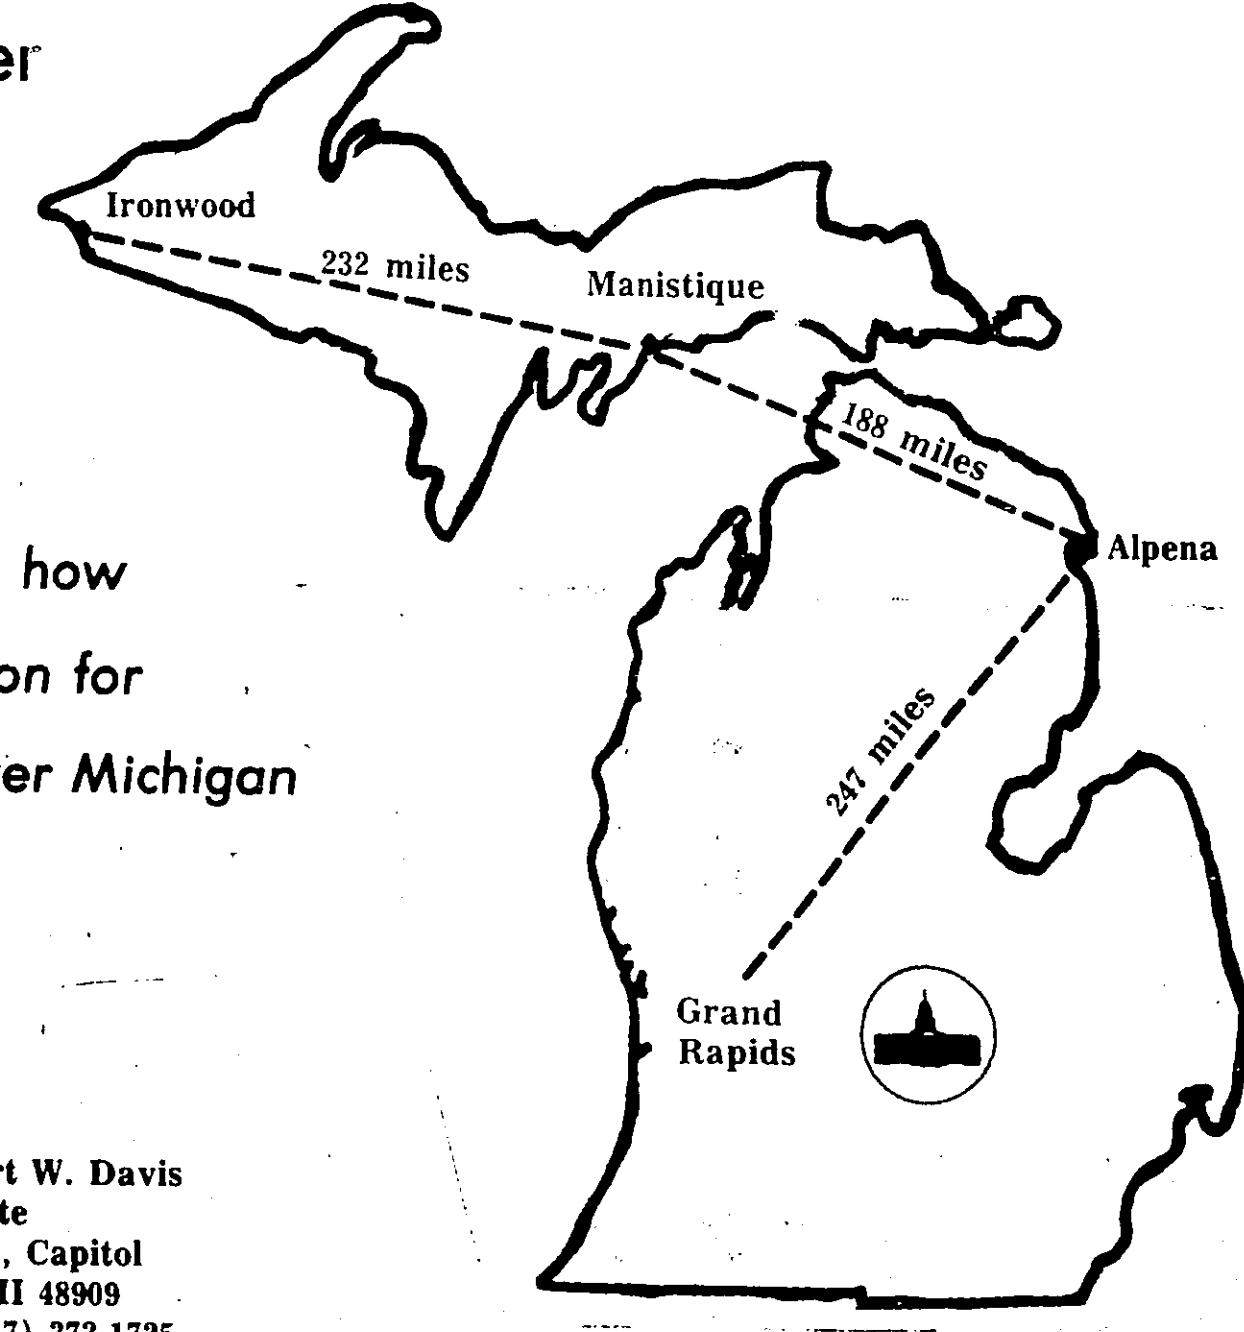

But with gasoline selling at 70 cents a gallon, the Sneeks simply couldn't make ends meet and they fell behind on their car payments. The end came a week ago Saturday at Sunset Beach when sheriff's deputies caught up with the Sneeks and repossessed the car.

Sneek watched it being driven away, walked into the surf and has not been seen since.

"What else could he do?" sobbed Mrs. Sneek. "You can't live these days without a car."

Deceit of 'medication problem'

The bed floated softly above the hospital floor.

And the feeling was peaceful, euphoric. Go ahead and talk if you wish. I'll just close my eyes.

That was a reaction to the drug demerol, which was administered to me several years ago to relieve pain from a severe hand injury.

I was told that the drug would be given to me for just a few days, due to its addictive powers as a derivative of morphine.

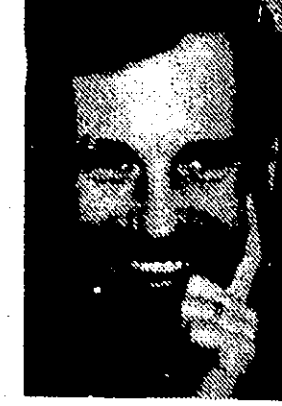

I didn't understand its addictive powers. I only understood it made me feel great, and was far more effective than the pain pills later given to substitute for it.

And somewhere in there lies a basic deceit that fuels widespread drug abuse.

This comes to mind upon learning of Elvis Presley's problems with drugs that apparently led to the death of the pop-

Side Tracks

by Arnold Mackowiak

singer. His friends made a distinction in his use of drugs that can be fatal.

They said Elvis had a "medication problem," not a drug problem, because he was taking demerol and other drugs for medical purposes. Somehow, it is supposed to be more comforting to the memory of the singer that there was some justification to his use of drugs, that he wasn't merely taking them for pleasure. But somehow, he's just as dead.

A friend used to joke that he smoked marijuana "only for medicinal purposes," an idea not far removed from old-fashioned practices of keeping liquor in the kitchen cabinet for a variety of minor ailments. We can kid ourselves, without ever really drawing a line, that we "need" a drug. The reason isn't important.

In practice, we seem to only be concerned about the social stigma of having a drug problem. A "medication problem" sounds so much more acceptable. After all, we don't like pain, right?

Fortunately, physicians and other concerned with prescription drugs are taking more care to see that persons blind to their real needs do find an easy way to float away from reality.

It's up to the rest of us to understand why.

Schoolcraft Scandinavians make an invitation

To the Editor:

Early in 1976, when our country was preparing to celebrate the Bicentennial, the Scandinavians of the Manistique area gathered together, with the object of helping celebrate their influence upon our country's history.

This group met weekly or biweekly for several months to plan some type of celebration. Reminiscing seemed to take up a great portion of our initial meetings, as each week someone would bring old photographs, ethnic cookbooks, or artifacts of Schoolcraft County and the "Old Country." Everyone had an opportunity to practice a little of their Swedish, Finnish, Norwegian, or Danish. Each meeting ended with the traditional coffee and sweets of so many Scandinavian households.

It seemed natural to blend all of this heritage together as a combination Bicentennial-Midsummer Festival. The mid-summer celebrated every year in late June is a very important event in each of the Scandinavian countries. The outcome of this blending of cultures was a very successful Smorgasbord-Entertainment-program complete with national flags and the flower decked Midsummer Pole. As an unexpected result of the success of this celebration the club found itself with some funds remaining in its treasury.

Desiring to continue our influence in the community, we met recently to decide how these funds could be effectively used. It was decided to dispose of the funds in such a way that they would enhance our community and serve as reminders of our influence as Scandinavians in the community.

At a meeting chaired last week by Mr. Agner Dehlin we had an opportunity to hear from various community service representatives.

Mrs. Eleanor Broullire representing CBC spoke of their function and support of Cancer, Bay Cliff, and Crippled Children. The scope of the current Building Fund Drive which the Senior Citizens Center is currently conducting was explained by its director Mrs. Eileen Males. This drive is important to all senior citizens if they are to continue to offer an ever increasing effective service to all senior citizens of the area.

The Manistique Historical Society was represented by Mrs. Helen Olsen who explained their efforts to establish a much needed Community Park. After hearing from these three vital and necessary community agencies, we all expressed regret that we weren't able to help to a greater extent. At this meeting it was voted to donate $125 to each of the organizations.

Even though the amounts weren't that extensive we did want to do something to have our influence as proud Scandinavians felt in our community. Further action taken at that meeting was the unanimous feeling that we wanted to continue as a fellowship of Schoolcraft Scandinavians.

Therefore, we will be looking forward to a holiday celebration to be held in early December. Mrs. Eleanor Broullire and Mrs. Anne Peterlin are making plans for a pot-luck dinner and program featuring traditional foods, holiday music and customs of each of the countries.

The Schoolcraft Scandinavians extend an invitation to all interested people to join with them in this celebration. There will be further details announced at a later date. It is the hope of the organization to meet on perhaps a regular quarterly basis. Anyone wishing further information can contact either Mrs. Broullire (341-5178) or Mrs. Peterlin (341-5812). Pastors to give views from Christian standpoint

This first column of Your Neighborhood Church is devoted to explaining why the Manistique Ministerial Association will have a regular column, published monthly in the Pioneer-Tribune.

First of all, the local Christian community and its pastors bring a unique set of values to focus upon the world and contemporary events.

For example, some people in Manistique would like to attract a proposed Veterans Care Facility to Manistique because of economic advantages. But this column, while affirming these advantages, would emphasize the opportunities such a facility would give Christians for local witness and service in terms of person-to-person ministry to veterans.

Secondly, this column in its proposed format, will allow each pastor of the Manistique Ministerial Association to speak on a given topic, be it sex education in the public schools or abortion, as an individual and as a representative of one of our neighborhood churches.

Rather than present only one side of an issue, this column will offer the views of eight pastors in Manistique, who, in addition to having their own personal opinions will usually reflect the particular history, tradition, and present stance of their local church and denomination.

These pastors and their local churches are: Rev. Robert Freiburger and Rev. Frank Lenz, St. Francis De Sales Catholic Church; Rev. Ingmar Levin, Zion Lutheran Church; Rev. Austin Patty, Church of the Redeemer, Presbyterian; Rev. Mike Peterson, United Methodist Church; Rev. John Shields, Free Methodist Church; Rev. Ralph Simmons, Faith Assembly of

Your Neighborhood Church

Edited by Rev. Austin Patty

God: Rev. Jim Troyer, Cedar Grove Mennonite Church.

The First Baptist Church and St. Alban's Episcopal Church are presently without pastors, but these churches will be represented in the column when they obtain pastors.

As editor, my duties will be to collect the views of these pastors on a topic they selected previously; organize the column for readability; and meet newspaper deadlines each month. Our topic for the month of October is "Advantages and Disadvantages of Denominations."

I hope you will continue to read Your Neighborhood Church. I will!

Tribute paid to Evelyn Berwin

Neighbors and friends of Miss Evelyn Berwin, corner of Arbutus Ave. and Range St., have placed a copy of "Joni" by Joni Eareckson in the Manistique School and Public Library as a tribute to the courage and indomitable spirit and pride of Miss Berwin, who was injured in a car accident while acting in her capacity as elementary supervisor of the Manistique Area Schools.

The book is the unforgettable story of a young woman's struggle against quadriplegia and depression, and her great faith in God. A diving accident in 1967 transformed a headstrong teenager into a self-reliant young woman who is learning to be joyful in suffering... and who has become an artist, holding the pen for drawing in her mouth!

The book is currently available for circulation.

Kanerva, Mrs. Betty Briggs, Mrs. Marion... and Mrs. Sonia... members as follows: Mrs. Robert... fire, chairman; Mrs. Vern Dufour, Mrs. Reuben Peterson, Mrs. Witter Reid, and Mrs. Boyd Briggs.

HAPPINESS IS PARENTS YOU TRUST

Being a baby must be a frightening existence - that is, if viewed objectively with adult minds. New things are always happening to you... things too involved to understand... people are so big... and there are such strange sounds.

Yet the experts tell us that the natural frights of babyhood dissolve as the child realizes he is loved. Every new experience takes on happy dimensions because he has such complete trust in those who love him.

Discovering God's love for all His children is what the Christian religion is about. Men's fears and tensions give way to the realization that the Creator is someone we can trust.

This Jesus stresses when He teaches His followers to pray to the Almighty with the same confidence loving parents inspire in their child... OUR FATHER!

Last week, the Manistique Pioneer-Tribune could have saved you at least ~~$56.99~~

Not bad for a 25¢ investment

That 25¢ investment meant a 364% return on your quarter.

Just by reading the ads in last week's Pioneer-Tribune, you could have saved yourself at least that amount. And that figure doesn't even include major purchases like real estate and home appliances.

Had major purchases been figured in, the total savings from just one issue would have run into the thousands!!

The $56.99 figure was arrived at from ads of advertised products that most people can use.

Specials from the local grocery stores were included.

Good deals on clothing could be found in last week's paper.

So the next time you go shopping, consult the Pioneer-Tribune first. Make it your weekly guide for where the bargains are. After all, $56.99 isn't something to sneeze at.

Get more out of your paycheck.
