Timely buck

RICK TALLMAN, 19, of State Road, Manistique showed up at the Pioneer-Tribune Tuesday morning with one of the first bucks bagged in the 1977 deer hunting season. Tallman said he spotted the four-point, 140-pounder close to his blind located near the S curves on M-94 north of town at about 8:30 a.m. He used a 12-gauge shotgun to bring it down.

County ambulance aid is asked

Manistique City Council is seeking a joint meeting with the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners to discuss sharing costs of operating a city-run ambulance service that is used by the county.

"It's just my feeling that it's not unfair to ask the county to share the cost," City Manager Robert Risik told councilmembers at their regular meeting Monday night.

Risik said the county board annually has contributed $4,000 to the ambulance service, but total operating costs have risen from $9,000 in 1975 to $18,500 in 1977, both estimates.

During that period, Risik said in a letter addressed to Ernie Hoholik, county board chairman, the city has completed 763 ambulance runs. "Of these, 394, or just over 52 percent, have been county calls," he said.

Risik said that what the county is paying "is barely sufficient to cover the simple bookkeeping expenses which are a necessary part of this service."

The city manager added that the main reason for the increase in cost is a requirement beginning Jan. 1, 1978 that all ambulance services in the state to be staffed with employees who have received Emergency Medical Training. "Eventually the state will require licensed paramedics for all ambulance services," he went on, "and the cost to provide this training will be astronomical."

"At present, we have determined that $8,000 will be a sufficient amount to bring our current ambulance personnel and cooperating hospital personnel up to this minimum level by spring of 1978. It is our feeling that the county should share one half of these training expenses."

"Should your board feel that it would be more advantageous for the county itself to become physically involved in the operation of the service," he continued in the letter. "I am sure that the City Council would look favorably upon granting to you all of the ambulance and related emergency supplies which would be necessary to implement the operation from a county base."

A breakdown of the city's suggested allocation for ambulance service for 1978: general service, $6,000; cross training of personnel, $4,000; purchase of hand held mobile units for on-call ambulance personnel, $3,000; stand-by pay for ambulance attendants, $5,000. "For all calls made outside the city and inside the county, the bill for this service will be sent directly to the county treasurer for payment by the county if the county is not settled with the city within three months of its occurrence," the letter stated.

Risik told the council that the service is unique in that Manistique is the only city in the state providing a county-wide ambulance service.

He concluded in the letter that despite increased costs, the concern of the city "is more in providing improved service than in simple balancing the books."

Councilmembers agreed to seek a mutually agreeable date possibly the first week of December to discuss the matter with the county board.

Hoholik, who was away at a deer hunting camp, was unavailable for comment.

Another exam may be due for vet facility

Manistique may be given another examination as a prospective site for a new Michigan Veterans Facility in the U.P.

The Board of Managers of the Michigan Veterans Facility in Grand Rapids, of which a new U.P. facility would be a branch, Friday announced the appointment of a 10-member committee to study the feasibility of a proposed facility for the U.P.

The new committee, of which Kenneth D. Kent of L'Anse is serving as chairman, includes the following representation: two members of the board of managers, one member from the governor's office, one member of the Michigan House of Representatives, one member of the Michigan Senate, one member of the Department of Health, one U.P. representative apiece from the American Legion, V.F.W., Disabled American Veterans and AM-VETS.

According to a news release from the board of managers, the Department of Public Health survey team that visited Manistique on Oct. 31 will present all of its findings to the new committee the first week of December. The team also has surveyed Escanaba, Ironwood, Iron Mountain, Houghton-Hancock, Marquette and Kincheloe Air Force Base.

"Visits by the committee will then be arranged so they can make a recommendation to the board of managers of the Grand Rapids facility," the release stated. "The board will then forward these recommendations to the State Legislature for action."

The committee plans to complete its work by Jan. 1, 1978. The group held its organizational meeting on Nov. 4.

A letter-writing campaign urging legislators and Governor Milliken to consider Manistique for the proposed 120-125 bed nursing home facility is continuing in the area. Women's and senior citizens groups have been personally contacted, and the campaign has been promoted through the Pioneer-Tribune and radio station WTIQ.

Additionally, the Pioneer-Tribune is preparing a special section outlining the community's advantages as a site. It is scheduled for the Nov. 24 issue. Copies will be sent to all state legislators and officials who may have some role in a final decision.

Two of three construction sites offered were termed usable by Bob Hicks, assistant chief, Division of Health Facility Planning and Construction. They include a location at the end of Arbutus Avenue near Warshawsky's junk yard, and vacant county land northwest of the hospital.

Public Act 107 of 1977 authorized a feasibility study for a U.P. facility, which has long been advocated by U.P. veterans' organizations.

City accepts $65,000 landfill operation bid

Manistique City Council accepted $65,000 bid for the operation of the City-County landfill for 1978 and 1979 at its regular meeting Monday night.

Upon the recommendation of City Manager Robert Risik, the council approved a two-year contract with Manistique Rentals. According to Risik, the amount will be paid monthly in equal installments. The city and county share payment for the operation on a 50-50 basis, he said.

Manistique Rentals, the only bidder, also submitted a $33,000 bid for 1978 only. The two-year bid unanimously was approved by Councilmembers Pat Moberg, David Vaughn, Peter Mathson and Mary Moffat. Mayor Frank Hewitt was absent.

In other action, the council: —accepted a bid of $33,361 from Curran Chevrolet for two 1978 diesel single axle dump trucks. Alex Creighton Co. submitted a bid of $40,795 for the two diesel vehicles. The diesel models were accepted over pairs of 1978 gasoline models, on which Creighton bid $27,995 and Curran, $29,037.

Risik recommended the diesels on the basis of fuel economy, less maintenance and adequacy of power for snow removal. —change its regular Dec. 26 meeting date to Dec. 27 because of the Christmas holiday for city employees on the date.

—set a public hearing for Dec. 12 on rezoning from multiple dwelling to general business property bounded by Park Avenue on the north, US-2 on the south, Steuben Street on the west and a tourist service district on the east.

—approved the transfer of $21,892 in federal revenue sharing funds back to the general fund, which was used to purchase a street sweeper; plus $1,465 expended for a steam cleaner. The two new dump trucks also will be paid for out of revenue sharing. The purchases should complete major equipment additions for the city for the next year and a half, Risik said.

—referred to the public safety department a request from Mayor Hewitt to eliminate some parking spaces at the corner of Cedar and Walnut streets for traffic visibility purposes.

Zoning board checks lot sizes

The Schoolcraft County Planning and Zoning Commission discussed lot sizes for development districts and commercial districts at a regular meeting Tuesday night.

There was discussion of the 20,000 square foot lot size for the R-Four District. This is the medium multiple development district. There was also concern that this lot size was too small for multi-family dwellings. The discussion was tabled until the next meeting.

The present Lakeshore River setback is 50 feet. The lot sizes for these areas are 11,250 square feet for an L1 lot, and 15,000 square feet for an L2 lot. A discussion centered around changing the dimensions to include a 75 foot setback and a 20,000 square foot lot size. The changes are to be given to the Health Department for scrutiny.

The last item discussed at the meeting was the commercial district. At the Oct. 25 meeting, it was suggested that the commercial district description found in the old ordinance be accepted as it is. It was taken under advisement that the Light Industrial and Heavy Industrial be combined into one district, and have only one commercial district. The item was tabled until the next meeting.

The commission will next meet Nov. 22 at 7 p.m. in the conference room of the courthouse.

Ranking up there with Mardi Gras

by Ed Zaskie

In Paris, they call it Bastille Day. In New Orleans, they refer to it as Mardi Gras. Here in Manistique, the opening day of deer season is the big event.

It makes headlines in the newspapers, opinions in the editorial columns and a good topic for general conversation for just about everyone. Some outstanding facts about deer season:

—At Manistique High School, 184 persons were excused from attending classes for the express purpose of deer hunting. Of those hunters, seven were girls.

—The Manistique Pulp and Paper Company reported that 15 to 20 employees have taken hunting vacations. However, that's not counting the ones who wanted to go but didn't have the seniority, according to Lief Christenson, company president.

—At the Inland Lime and Stone Company, another 20 persons have been given vacation time to hunt. That's as many as the plant could release and still operate. Don Ott, personnel manager for the plant, says even that number doesn't take into consideration those persons who have changed shifts with non-hunters to get into the woods during the day.

—Members of the Pioneer-Tribune newspaper have found that many persons who have anything to do with making news are at deer camp. That includes many city officials, county commissioners, township supervisor, members of the Department of Natural Resources, school officials, advertising contacts and sporting goods stores.

Hunters gain early success

It didn't take long for hunters to get the 1977 deer season off to a successful start on opening day Tuesday.

Mark Ward of Fairport bagged a spike horn at 8 a.m. while hunting in the Cedar River area. A camp companion, Dave Farley, also of Fairport, got himself a six-pointer.

Closer to Manistique, Rick Tallman of State Road brought down a four-point buck at 8:30 a.m. near the S curves on M-94 north of the city.

At 9:25, Henry Gilkes of Clio also shot a four-pointer, and Bob Jirard of Galesburg bagged a seven-pointer about 10 a.m., the Dreamland Motel reported.

Mike Boudreau shot his first buck at 9 a.m. in the Cooks area. The four pointer weighed 110 lbs.

At 4:30 p.m. Mike Doxey, 16, shot his first buck in Hiawatha Forest off M-94. The 6 point buck weighed 150 lbs.

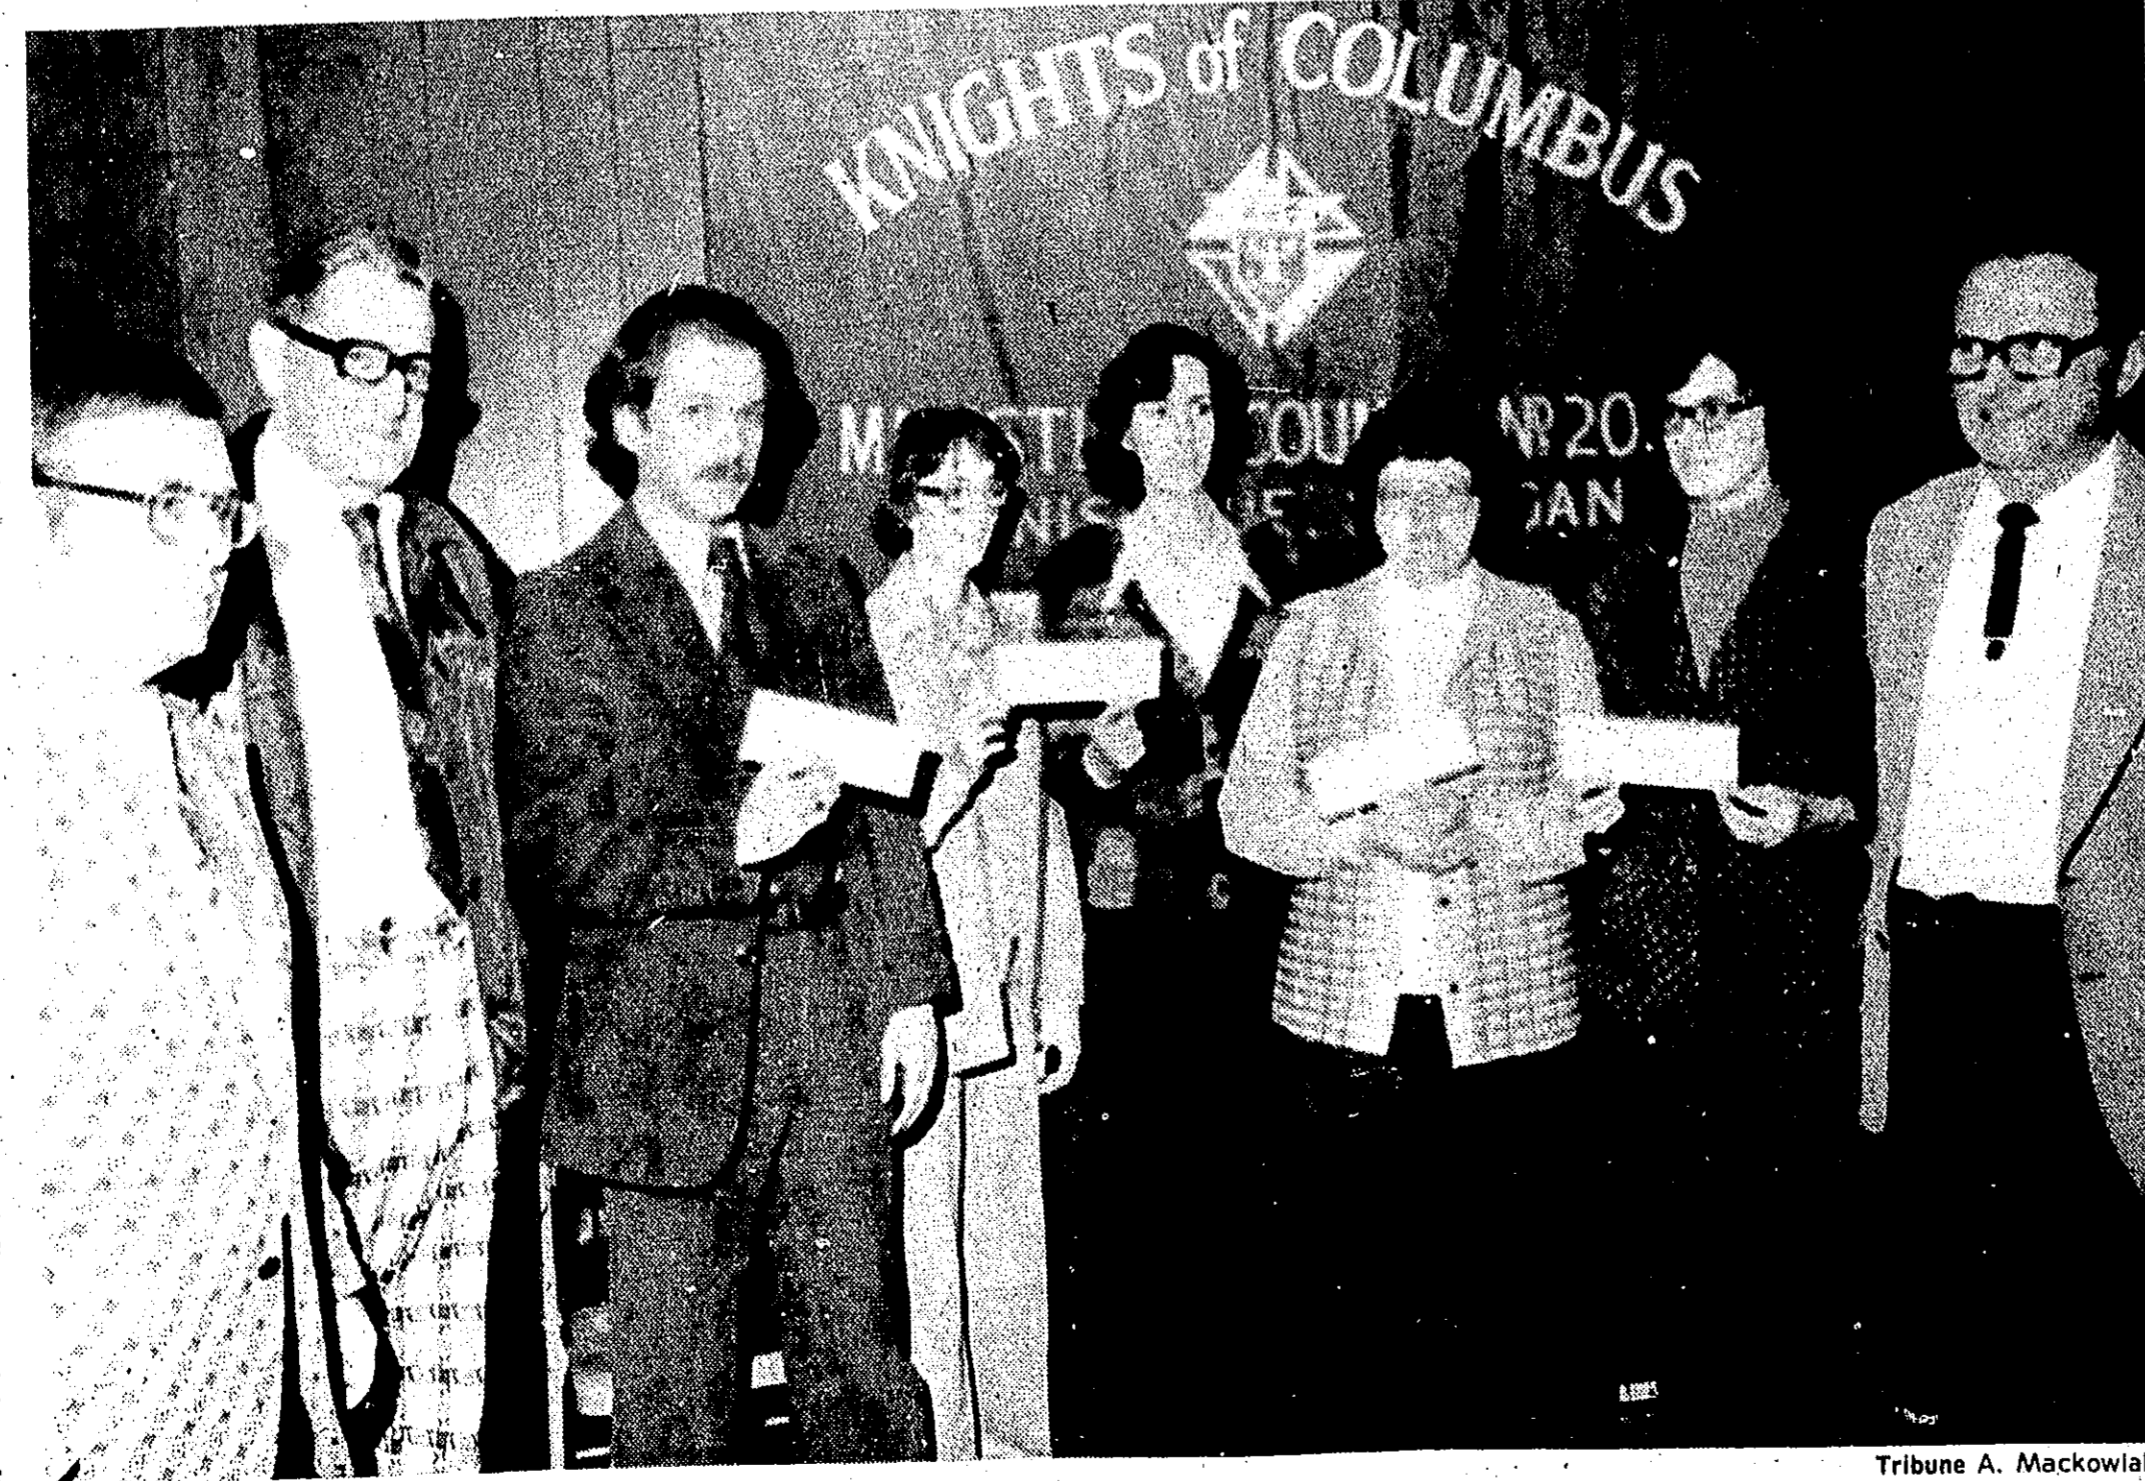

Other successful deer hunters are welcome to report their kills to the Pioneer-Tribune by calling 341-5200.

Algonac woman released from Marquette Hospital

An Algonac woman involved in a head on collision accident that killed a Manistique couple Oct. 31 was discharged from Marquette General Hospital Friday.

Brenda L. Bates, 21, had been listed in critical condition at the hospital shortly after the crash.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron E. Wright, both of Manistique, were killed in the accident.

Correction

The Tribune incorrectly stated police reports on the accident in its Nov. 4 edition. In actuality, Miss Bates was the driver who police said had tried to pass the semi-trailer. She was traveling in an eastbound direction. Mr. and Mrs. Wright were on their way to Fayette.

by Mrs. Eleanor J. Rutte 641-2522

Chosen for First All-American Indian Band are Sharron Groleau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Groleau of St. Jacques, Barry Hardwick son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hardwick of St. Jacques and John Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller of Cooks. They are among 160 high school musicians chosen for the First All-American Indian Band. All three are students at Big Bay de Noc High School. The trio left Saturday, Nov. 12 for intensive rehearsals in Utah. From there they will fly to Washington D.C. for a performance during the Washington Redskins and Dallas Cowboys, football game on Nov. 27.

While in Washington the agenda for the band also includes sightseeing and concert performances. Their music instructor at Big Bay is Roxanne House.

The Kates Home Ec. Club met at the Molly Guertin home Nov. 10. The Christmas party was planned to be held in the evening on Dec. 15 at the Della Tatrow home.

Each member is to bring 3 prize gifts and a dish to pass, also an exchange gift. On Nov. 28 there will be a lesson on funerals, to be held at Escanaba in the extension building at 9 a.m. Anyone interested in going, call Della Tatrow at 644-2466 or Ruth Willet at 644-2321.

On Dec. 1 the group will attend the Christmas Tea to be held at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Escanaba. The group will leave at 10 a.m. from Della Tatrow home.

Wood hunting season open

LANSING—The wood hunting season has been open for a long time. Hopefully most deer hunters heading for their favorite northern hunting spots have laid in a good supply of wood a long time ago.

The best wood is dry wood obtained from tree tops left after logging, advised Harold W. Kollmeyer of the Department of Natural Resources Forest Management Division.

Dead and downed trees provide a good source of fuel. If the hunter owns the land, this search for wood should provide an excellent opportunity for him to clean up his forest land. Best source of fuelwood is the local firewood supplier. A check of the classified ads in local newspapers or shopping guides will provide the phone number of several suppliers in the area.

The great demand for firewood permits and new logging methods has exhausted the supply of easily available fuelwood on much of the DNR and U.S. Forest Service land in the northern part of the state. The cutting of trees and wood on public and private land without written permission is a crime which will be prosecuted by local law officials.

Remember that trees located along roads are the property of adjoining landowners, Kollmeyer cautions.

Informed sportsmen know that it is illegal to dig pits or cut Christmas trees on private land. Written permission is needed to cut Christmas trees on private land. Hunters should plan to purchase their Christmas tree at home or from one of the tree growers retailing trees in northern Michigan. "Be sure you have your bill of sale, as you may be stopped and asked to show it," Kollmeyer says.

Winter cold creates moisture related problems inside house

Water spots on your ceiling may mean that your roof leaks. But they may also mean that excess moisture inside your home is condensing in the attic and seeping through the ceiling.

The consequences may include peeling paint, crumbling plaster and even rotting wood in the roof.

"These kinds of problems sometimes occur when people insulate their older homes," observes Jim Boyd, extension housing specialist at Michigan State University. "To try to save on heating fuel, they seal up the house so tightly that it can't get rid of moisture that accumulates in the air from breathing, cooking, bathing, washing clothes and other daily activities. When the air can't hold any more, moisture begins to condense on windows or walls or in the attic on the roof."

Check for a winter condensation in the attic after a couple weeks of really cold weather. If the rafters or the underside of the roof have a layer of frost on them, you have a moisture problem.

Foggy or drippy windows, mildew growing in the bathroom and wet basement walls are other warning signals. To remove moisture from the attic, install some sort of ventilator, Boyd advises. Screened inlet outlets under the eaves and louvered outlets that total one square foot for each 300 square feet of attic should do the trick, he says. An attic fan is necessary only if the ventilators don't do the job.

To minimize moisture problems in the rest of the house, change the air inside occasionally by opening a door and window or fireplace for a few minutes, Boyd suggests. If you select a sunny, relatively warm day, airing the house shouldn't add noticeably to your heating bill. And it will help prevent costly damage to wood, plaster and painted surfaces.

Be sure that gas-burning appliances and clothes dryers are vented directly to the outside, he advises. One of the products of combustion is water, he points out. And, obviously, the moisture your dryer takes out of your clothes has to go somewhere.

"Some moisture in the air during the winter is necessary for comfort. It minimizes problems with static electricity and makes the air more comfortable to breathe."

Many people use humidifiers to add moisture to the air in their homes in the winter. In a tight, well insulated home, this may not be necessary. It may even lead to excess moisture problems.

"The amount of moisture a house can hold is usually determined by the coldest surfaces within it, which are generally the windows. The colder the temperature is outside, the colder the windows will be and the lower the relative humidity must be to avoid condensation. Dripping or ice-covered windows are a good sign that there's too much moisture in the air.

"If you're humidifying, it means that the windows are taking water out of the air as fast as your humidifier is adding it. So do yourself a favor—turn the humidifier off or reduce the amount of water it's adding to the air—especially in the below-zero weather. Not only will you probably avoid some moisture-related problems, but you'll save some energy, too."

The chips leave the hammermill rotor (not shown), pass through a screen and are deflected to the ground by the hood. If desired a container can be placed to catch the chips.

Notice the heavy gauge sheet plate from which the "CHIPSTER" is constructed. Normal maintenance will give your machine a long life expectancy.

This top view of the "CHIPSTER" shows three small branches being processed at the same time. The feed chute holds them horizontal, the powered feed rolls convey them to the hammermill rotor. The operator is busy getting additional branches.

The left side view of the "CHIPSTER" shows the 8 h.p. Kohler gasoline engine (detachable) with which it is powered. Also shown are the 2.75 x 10" wheels, feed chute and the large handle which makes moving the chipper an easy job on most surfaces.

The metal shield (top) covers the chain drive, clutch that automatically stops the feed roll when rotor is overloaded and other mechanism. It can easily be removed when servicing is desirable.

In the right side view, the metal shield covers the "grip" bolts that drive the rotor. Bolts can easily be tightened as desired. Tightener fittings are provided.

The Lickity Line

We'd like to take this space to introduce the Lickity "Chipster", the biggest little chipper on the market.

We'd also like to point out that the chipster comes in several different models.

Like the Lickity Brush Chipper, Model WPM-6 featuring 60 h.p., 4 cylinder, aircooled engine. Or the all NEW model F.P.M.-6 60 h.p. industrial engine.

But rather than us trying to tell you about these remarkable machines, why don't you stop down and take a look at one.

We'd also like to demonstrate our model Lickity Log Splitter or if you'd like your own demonstration we have log splitters for rent. Stop down this week and take a look at these remarkable machines. Only at your remarkable Lickity Dealer.

Emeralds overpower Munising

by Nancy England

The Emeralds completely overpowered the Munising Mustangs with a worrisome full-court press Tuesday night, defeating the visitors, 55-25.

By halftime, the Emeralds had pulled away to a 19-point lead. Coach Diane Stimac then removed her press and gave her starting five a rest.

The Emeralds continued to pull away to complete the lopsided margin by game's end.

Krusic led the Emerald offensive attack with 19 points. Robin Larson dropped in 10 and Mary Gregurash swished 8 points.

The Emeralds out-rebounded the Mustangs, 45-23. Karen Krusic grabbed 12, Robin Larson ripped down 11 and Jackie

Sports Pioneer-Tribune

Krusic and Terry Gould pulled down 5 each.

The win brought Manistique up one notch to 5-6 in the Mid-Peninsula Conference.

Miners prevail

It was indeed a heart-breaking loss for Coach Diane Stimac's cagers last Saturday afternoon.

The Negaunee Miners, co-leaders of the Mid Peninsula Conference, slipped by the determined Emerald team, 38-34.

The loss dropped the Emeralds to 4-6 in the conference.

A combination of bad passes and costly fouls stymied the Emeralds as the Miners, playing without their star forward, Connie Erickson, capitalized on 6 out of 11 charity shots.

The Emeralds hit for 43 percent of their field goal attempts as compared to the Miners' 38 percent.

The Emeralds advanced to the second frame holding on to a slim 12-10 lead, obtained mainly through the efforts of Jan Creeden, Karen Krusic, Robin Larson and Mary Gregurash.

The Manistique quintet then shifted into high gear, scoring three consecutive baskets in the final two minutes and the Miners trailed 20-14 at the intermission.

The Miners didn't give up, however, scoring 16 points in the third quarter to tie it up at 30 all. Scoring for the Emeralds were seniors Robin Larson, Karen Krusic and Mary Gregurash.

The score was knotted again, 34 all, with two minutes left in the game. However, the Miners managed to sneak in two buckets. The time ran out with the Emeralds on the short end, 38-34.

Karen Krusic was the top Emerald scorer with 14 points. Mary Gregurash and Robin Larson followed with 6 points each.

Karen Krusic also led the Emeralds attack on the boards pulling down 10 rebounds. Jackie Krusic followed, ripping down 7 and Robin Larson grabbing 6.

Rifle shot language of the woods

When a fellow is hunched deep in his shivers on a deer stand, with hot toddies and cold feet monopolizing his thoughts, there's nothing that can bring the object of his discomfort back into focus as quickly as a distant rifle shot. His swiveling backside immediately points him in that direction, the rifle is brought into the ready position and shivers take on an entirely new dimension.

It doesn't matter that the shot came from a mile away...it's obvious to the man on the stump that within thirty seconds, a buck will conveniently emerge from the draw thirty yards to his front. It rarely happens that way, of course...primarily because the great majority of shots heard on frosty November days have absolutely nothing to do with deer.

Random shots are avoided on opening morning of course, and during the first and last hour of each day throughout the remainder of the season. Rifle fire during those hours must be considered legitimate deer talk...at all other times it is open to suspicion.

A single shot could mean a successful deer kill or a missed jump shot -- more likely it means there's one less porcupine to gnaw trees, one more rabbit for the camp pot or one more hunter satisfied that his trigger was not frozen.

Two or three slow, measured rounds could mean long range shooting at a running deer--more likely, it means delinquent target practice to check out the old sights or a series of near-misses involving a red squirrel in an oak tree. (on the other hand, a traveling series of slow, measured volleys fired from north to south can only mean a late flight of sky-high geese...all of whom will continue unimpaired.)

A discord of rifle fire involving many weapons could mean a desperate buck running the gantlet of deer stands overlooking Big Swamp...in all likelihood it means the troops have returned to camp for lunch and are unloading their weapons the fun way.

Hunters in our deerless patch of woods know all this but they're still reluctant to dispute the sincerity of neighborhood gunfire, simply because of the brief excitement it provides. In fact, random shots and red squirrels dragging their feet through dry oak leaves are just about all the thrill any of us can handle...

JV Emeralds top Mustangs, lose to Miners

The Emerald JV team set the pattern for a successful girls' cage night Tuesday as they stomped the Mustangs 33-14.

Everyone on the Emerald team played in this foul-riddled triumph. Cindy Hastings was high scorer for the JVs with 7. Barb Bontekoe followed with 6 and Kim Bowler had 5.

Bowler was also the top rebounder with 11. Becky England grabbed 8 rebounds. Mary Walters pulled down 7 and Cindy Hastings had 6.

It was a catch-up game all the way for the JVs Saturday as the Negaunee Miners defeated the Emeralds 41-33.

Top rebounder for Manistique was Becky England with 14. Mary Walters had 7.

In scoring, Walters lead the Emeralds with 12 and Barb Bontekoe had 7.

State trout streams surveyed

LANSING--"Trout Streams of Michigan," an attractive volume describing some of the state's finest trout fishing waters, has been published by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

Expected to become a standard reference for beginning and experienced anglers alike, the publication contains detailed descriptions by Michigan fisheries biologists of more than 300 trout streams in the Upper and Lower Peninsulas. Maps of the streams are included.

Thomas E. Huggler of Genesee, one of Michigan's leading authorities on fishing, edited "Trout Streams" and wrote two chapters on Michigan's trout and how to catch them.

John D. Voelker of Ishpeming, renowned trout fisherman and writer, authored a foreword to the book. Under the pen name of Robert Traver, he wrote "Anatomy of a Murder," "Trout Madness," "Trout Magic," "Anatomy of a Fisherman" and other books.

Reports contained in "Trout Streams" cover species found in each stream, habitat, natural foods present, stream access, stream bottom types, tributaries, historical data, topography and other information of interest to fishermen.

A few of the streams described include the Escanaba, Fox, Ontonagon, Paint and Two-Hearted Rivers in the Upper Peninsula.

All proceeds from the sale of "Trout Streams" will be used by MUCC for conservation programs carried out by the non-profit organization.

MUCC is making the book available at a special price of $1.95 (plus 50 cents for tax postage and handling) until Sept. 15. Thereafter, the book will sell for $2.95 (plus 50 cents). Orders may be placed by writing MUCC, Box 30235, Lansing, MI 48909.

Too late to change

On page 2C an ad appears for Tri-State Homes which lists the model homes as located: "1 1/2 miles north of Manistique on M-94. Open House Saturday and Sunday or shown anytime by appointment."

There will be no open house on Saturday and Sunday, but the model home will be shown by appointment anytime.

Two persons were slightly injured Monday in a two-car mishap at an exit at the Manistique Ramada Inn.

George Babladelis, 79, of Manistique, and Robert Cousino, 57, of Engadine, were both treated and released at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital.

State Police said Babladelis was pulling out of the Ramada Inn parking lot onto US-2 when his vehicle pulled into the pathway of the westbound car driven by Cousino.

Babladelis was ticketed for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Four Manistique persons were injured in a two-car accident on County Road 440 about a mile off M-94 Sunday morning.

William J. Hough, 19, of 1124 W. Lakeshore, Manistique, was listed in stable condition Monday at Marquette General Hospital. He was taken there Sunday by car from Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital.

Patrick M. White, 18, of Route 1, Manistique, was treated and discharged at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Sunday.

Robert Peterson, 19, of 144 Garden, Manistique, and Robert Rozich, 17, of 1144 W. Lakeshore, Manistique, were treated and discharged from Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Sunday.

State police said the car driven by White came around a curve and lost control on the ice. Going in a southbound direction, it slid across the road into the path of the vehicle driven by Hough. Peterson and Rozich were passengers in the vehicle driven by Hough.

The accident took place about 10 a.m. on a clear day with snowy road conditions.

Police said they ticketed White for speeding and having no operator's license.

Michigan State Police at the Manistique were charged with a total of 2,254 hours during the month of October according to the post's monthly activity report.

There are 13 troopers assigned to the post. They made 127 traffic arrests and covered 25 traffic accidents during the month. The troopers also drove a total of 12,850 miles.

Visions of life's memories go by

With a vision clouded haze over her eyes, the elderly lady sat and stared. She stared at nothing in particular. Rather, she was watching a selected run of memories, hopes, dreams and aspirations.

Many years had passed since she first set out on her own to reach that star, conquer that mountain and fulfill a lifetime of happiness.

Compared with today's standards, she reminisced, life was pretty hard during her active working life. But at the time, life was as it was. Nobody called it hard, but no one called it easy, either.

Perhaps it shouldn't be considered as difficult, but rather call it "interesting," much like life today is interesting, she thought, making a mental note to write that down for future reference.

A swirl of memories flashed by as she remembered bits of her life that had made it interesting.

The first time she witnessed a car moving down the street, with horses rearing up in opposition to the new travel break through.

The first time she saw Pres. Wilson on television and how handsome she thought he looked, in his own right, of course.

She wondered what new things would come in the future to provide interesting moments to current generations. Then she remembered that everybody thought they were living in the most advanced civilization when she was growing up. But new things came along anyway, despite the repeated comments that there was nothing more to appear.

Education played a great part in advancing technology, she mused, but she couldn't help but wonder of the price of education was too high. Oh, she didn't mean in dollars, but in time spent and worth gained.

She was reminded of a German teacher she once had in high school. He had his doctorate and a smarter man never lived. He was very influential on her own life, she decided, remembering the times he would come over to visit her family while she was still a young girl.

He was persnickety. That's right, persnickety.

And the word that that had taught her so many years ago came flooding back into her mind like a great dam breaking and revealing the wall of water it upheld.

Yes, what he gave me was perpetuity, she thought. As yet one more forgotten word came back as if plucked from the great depths of knowledge that still existed within her mind.

That knowledge that he had so painstakingly given her so many years ago was still with her, like an annuity that was payable forever.

But she still couldn't help but wonder if education was placed too high on the ladder of life. For when that man left here and went to work in Detroit, then just beginning hub of the world, he was broke. And later when World War II edged into everyone's life, he was fired because he was German. A brilliant educated man was defeated by the very same system that allowed him to rise in stature through education, defeated merely because of his nationality.

He, and that very pretty wife of his, died broke some years ago, she remembered, shuddering at the thought of the darkness that laid just beyond her own door.

But for all his education he was still a man.

And she remembered the time that he came to her church wearing a newly purchased suit of fine cloth, with the price tags still dangling from its sleeve and on the back of his coat, swaying with every walking motion.

The thought of that incident made her smile as she remembered the giggles from the congregation until one lady of some pretense and society, escorted him to the side and removed the flailing tags.

Now so many years later, she sat with a vision over her eyes and only memories to keep her alive.

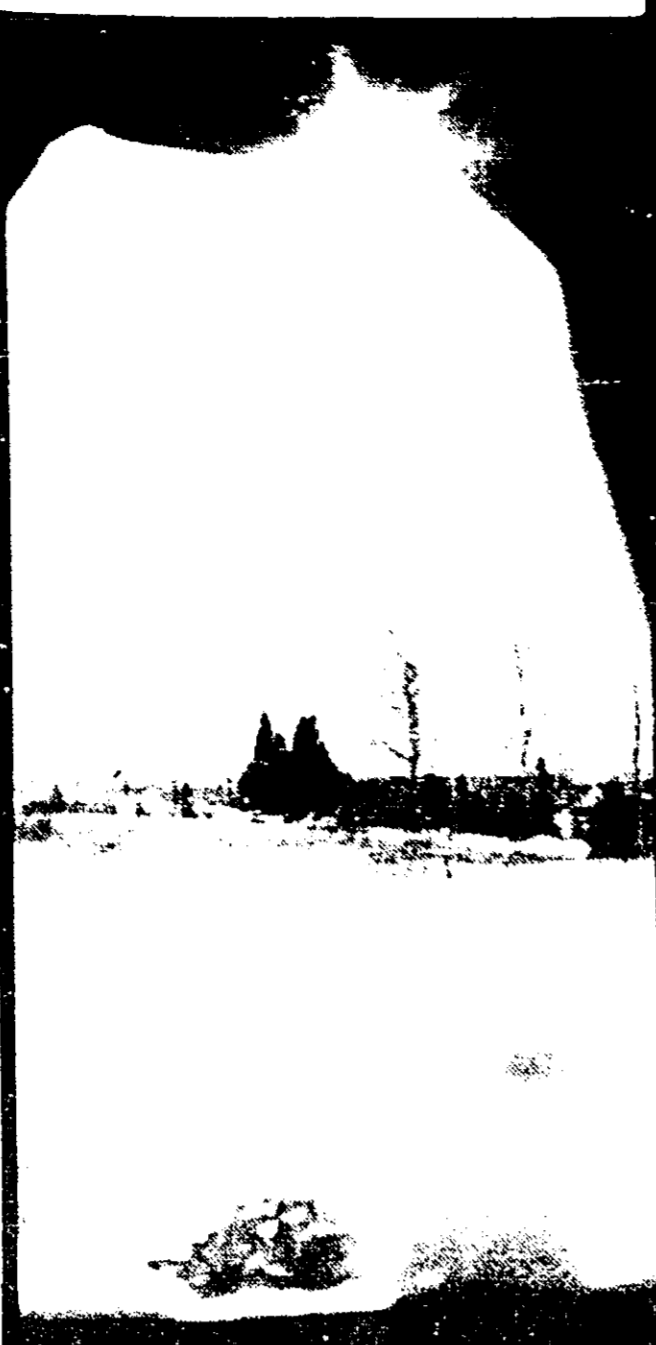

The visions began to clear and she looked at the door, finally deciding that the memories were worth it, and that if she was blessed with this many, she could be blessed with many more to come.

And that in the upcoming years new inventions would timidly step into existence and make life interesting for all generations. And, probably, she thought, some would be good while others would be bad; but they would all be a product of education.

And men like the German teacher would instill high ideals on the young minds of the country, paving the way for still more developments in mankind's quest for making life easy.

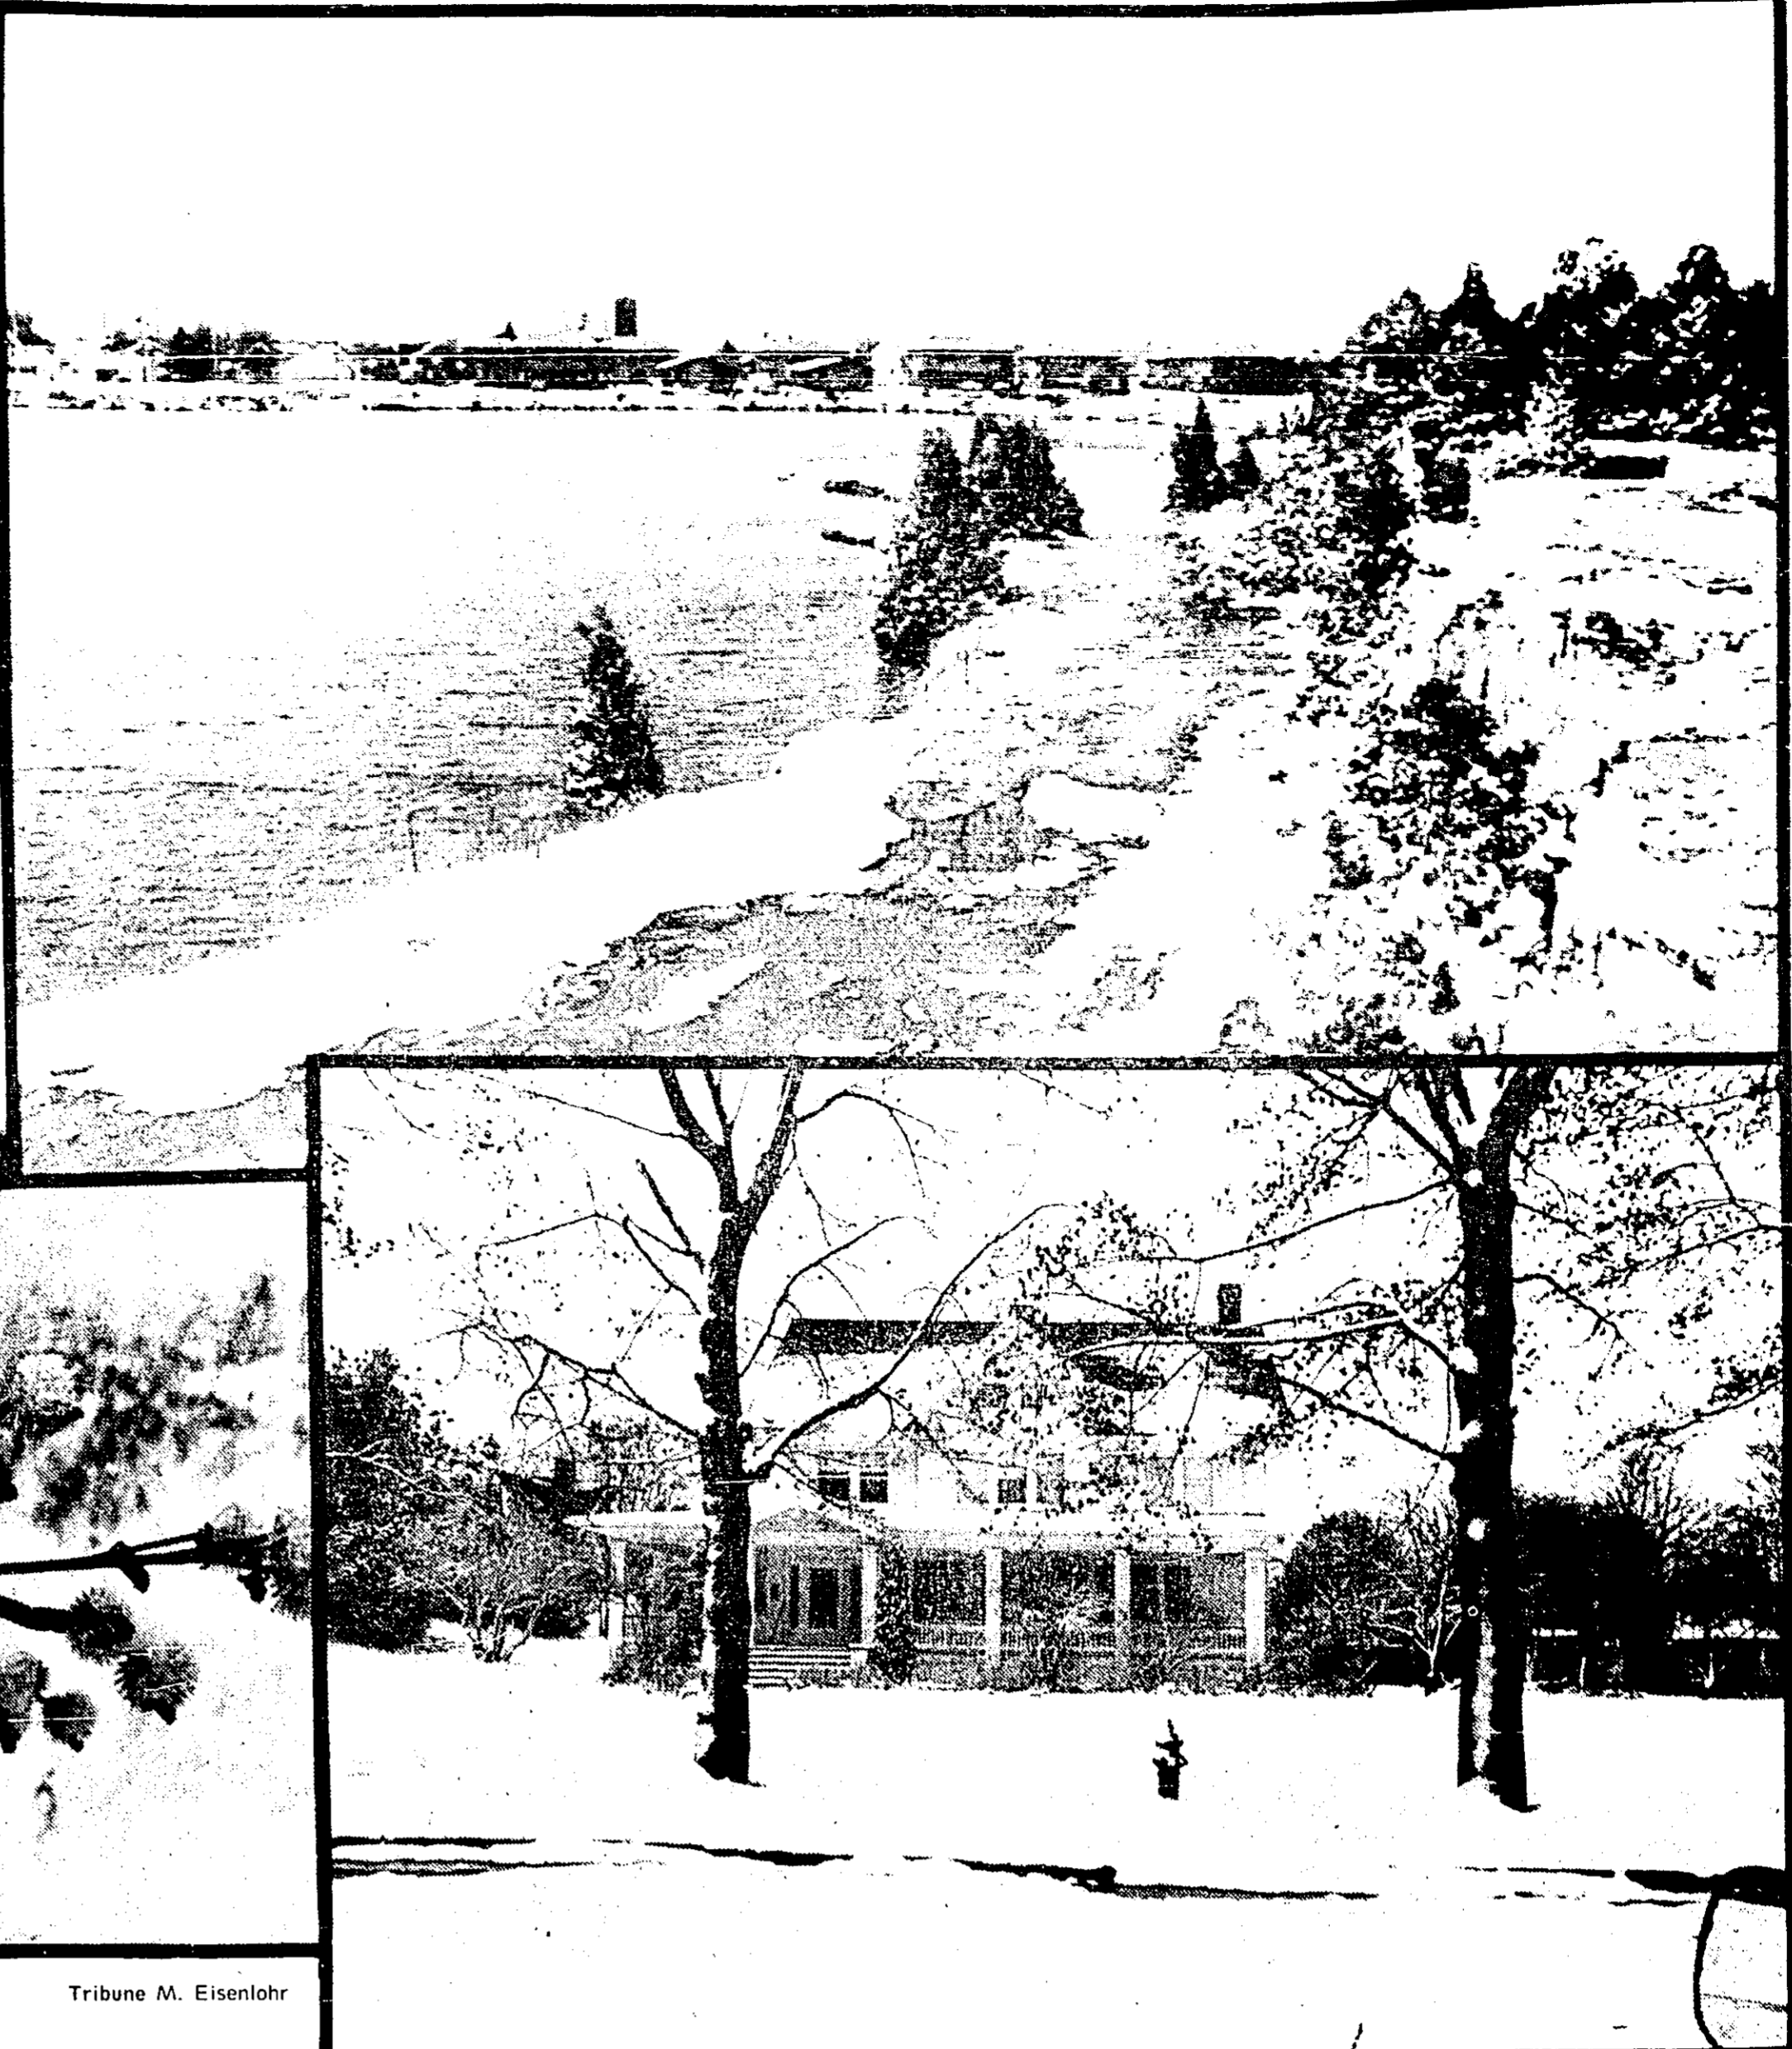

And some of those teachers would die broke. Others would make it well. But all would probably be remembered by one student, somewhere, sometime.

In Memoriams

The restless tides of life have all too rapidly ebbed for a fellow officer and friend, and we, his fellow members of the First National Bank honor and cherish the memory of Gary D. Gustafson, but we do not mourn for him for he has found refuge in the harbor of eternal peace. Rather it is for ourselves we mourn, for a good friend has slipped away in the night and is no longer with us.

We of The First National Bank mourn our loss. It is a personal experience shared by each of us. May our course be as true as his, may our faithfulness and fidelity be as sincere. Let us find consolation for ourselves in the knowledge that when God wills, we too will join him there, and with him enjoy eternal tranquility....
We bid him hail and farewell.

Have we a cause for grief and woe
Knowing that God has willed it so?
No, he is happy waiting there
Where the winds are soft and the skies are fair.
We know it's a sorrow we all must share.

In memory of William N. Caffey who passed away Nov. 18, 1974

Mrs. Wm. N. Caffey & family relatives.

In loving memory of our beloved husband and father who died three years ago today, Nov. 24, 1974. Three years now have passed since this earth you have departed. Still as on that day we are still so broken hearted. How often do we dread the path that leads us to the grave. Of the one we loved so dearly, but whom we could not save. To have to hold and then to part, is the greatest sorrow in our hearts. Though tears in our eyes do not always sad, There is never a night or a morning, we do not think of the dad and husband that we had.

Helpful hints for cooking venison

Hunting season is with us again and many of you will have venison to cook by the time you read this.

We have a reprinted bulletin in the extension offices near you called "Venison - Upper Peninsula Style" by Gail Bowers. Gail Bowers was an Ag agent and County Director in Menominee County for 32 years. This bulletin contains information on dressing out the deer, cutting it up and cooking. These recipes have all been tried at hunting camp and in his home.

Call the extension office nearest you for a bulletin.

A few suggestions from the book:
-Hanging the deer properly will cook the meat faster therefore, the meat will be kept from spoiling.

-Do not haul the deer around on the fender of the car. The trunk and top of the car would be better.

-Most of the objectionable or gamey flavor comes from careless handling of the deer once it has been shot.

-The other place you may find a gamey flavor would be in the fat. Remove as much fat as possible and add beef suet, butter, pork or bacon if you want juiciness. Barbecued Venison No. 2

2 onions, chopped 2 Tbsp. salad oil
2 tsp. paprika 1 cup water
2 drops Tabasco sauce (optional)
2 Tbsp. sugar ½ cup vinegar
Slice cooked venison
2 tsp. dry mustard
2 Tbsp. Worcestershire sauce

Brown onions in salad oil. Add remaining ingredients except venison. Arrange meat in casserole. Pour sauce over meat. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes or until sauce thickens.

President Carter signs wage bill

WASHINGTON -- President Carter has signed legislation raising the federal minimum wage annually for the next four years, until it reaches $3.35 an hour in 1981.

The first increase, effective Jan. 1, 1978, establishes the minimum at $2.65 an hour. It will increase the pay of 4.5 million workers by a total of $2.2 billion.

In 1979, another 5.1 million workers will benefit, by a total of $2.1 billion, when the minimum reaches $2.90.

The 1980 minimum -- $3.10 an hour -- will add $1.9 billion to the pay of 5.2 million workers. The last scheduled step up, in 1981, will provide increases amounting to $2.3 billion to 5.4 million affected employees.

Holiday travel

Although Michigan motorists will travel only half as many miles this Thanksgiving weekend as over a summer holiday period, this could be the most dangerous holiday on state roads this year, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Twenty-nine persons died in Michigan traffic during the Thanksgiving weekend last year, compared with an average 28 deaths of each of 1977's three summer holiday weekends.

Motorists will drive an estimated 370 million miles in Michigan over the 102-hour Thanksgiving weekend as compared with an average 715 million miles for the 78-hour Memorial Day, Fourth of July and Labor Days holidays. The Thanksgiving weekend runs from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 23 to midnight Sunday, Nov. 27.

High-risk auto insurance policies can be obtained

Many consumers are shocked when their insurance company refuses to renew their policy or cancels the insurance on their home or automobile, but they should not automatically brand themselves as uninsurable.

Not only do some insurance companies specialize in high-risk auto policies, the state also sponsors two special programs for consumers who have been denied home or auto insurance by private companies.

Automobile and homeowners insurance are often referred to as essential because consumers usually do not have the option of going without them. While state law requires private insurance, many mortgage lenders refuse to grant mortgages unless the home and title are insured.

The supply of essential insurance, however, often falls short of the demand because insurance companies sometimes refuse to accept an applicant due to high risk factors. For example, an 18-year-old person with a new sports car and a bad driving record might have a difficult time finding auto insurance.

Although some automobile insurance companies advertise for high-risk customers, a person should expect to pay more through a high-risk specialist than through a regular insurance company.

If you cannot find essential insurance in the private insurance market, the state has established two programs to provide auto and homeowners insurance for those who have been denied insurance elsewhere. The Michigan Basic Property Insurance Association is also known as the FAIR

Consumer Comment

by Linda Joy
Michigan Consumers Council

(Fair Access to Insurance Requirements) Plan. It makes homeowners insurance available to those who can't buy it from a private company.

Unlike the auto facility, which redistributes applicants to private companies, the FAIR Plan is a separate company. It inspects property, issues policies, and settles claims. The plan provides the standard Michigan fire insurance, along with vandalism and other extended coverage.

An applicant can contact the plan through an insurance agent or by writing to the Michigan Basic Property Insurance Association, P.O. Box 86, Detroit, MI 48231.

If you feel you've been unfairly refused essential insurance, there is something you can do about it. The Michigan Deceptive Insurance Practices Act forbids discrimination by insurance companies on the basis of age, sex, marital status, race, and geographic location (redlining).

If you have any questions about insurance, contact the state Insurance Bureau at its toll-free number: 1-800-292-5943.

New phone directory being distributed

A scene of two boys fishing the famous AuSable River at Flashlight Bend in Crawford County is featured on the front cover of General Telephone's new expanded directory, now being distributed to customers in the communities of Garden, Gulliver, and Manistique, according to Lois Reagan, division manager for the company.

The directory will be larger this year because of additional white and yellow page listings and four new information pages at the front of the directory. Mrs. Reagan said.

Pages 1 through 3 remain the same, with emergency numbers readily accessible on page 1, dialing instructions on page 2, and telephone company service numbers, business office numbers and bill payment locations located on page 3.

The name, address and telephone numbers of gas, electric and water utilities, as well as the telephone company, now appear on page 4 as a convenience to customers who may want to inquire about service or report a problem. The telephone number of the consumer services division of the Michigan Public Service Commission also appears on that page.

Long distance dialing information, time zones, and area code examples continue to appear on pages 6 and 7. However, page 8 will now include the detailed explanation of the telephone bill which previously appeared on page 4.

An entire new section on customer rights and responsibilities has been included on pages 9 through 11 and the general information once included on page 8 can now be found on page 12.

Questions concerning the directory, or any other phase of telephone service, should be directed to the General Telephone business office.

The province of Victoria, Australia is trying a new venture—day-care centers for the aged.

The elderly patients there received all they need in the way of medical attention and nursing. The diet is good and there are also programs of work and activity for those who would like it. The people are picked up in the morning by hospital ambulance and returned home in the evening the same way.

Dr. John Wiseman, who launched the program, says it is a success. Families are spared two big worries—complete separation and expense of round the clock care in a nursing home.

In reporting on the Australian experiment, recently, the Journal of the American Medical Association estimated that the number of elderly patients who need only day care may be closer to 70 percent of those now in the nursing homes. The JAMA adds that the program is worth a try in other parts of the world.

We receive so many calls for the people to stay in the homes of the elderly and there is no one who seems to be willing to do that kind of work. This could be a very viable project for the future years.

Perhaps someday we could have a day care center with facilities to take care of 10 people in our new multi-purpose center and have our van with the wheelchair lift picking up the people in the morning and returning them at 5 p.m. Those who are working and caring for an invalid parent can rest assured they are being taken care of properly. All they would have to do is give them an evening meal and put them to bed. There is so much that can be done if we only have the vision to get up and do them.

Birthday greetings go out to: Mae Barker, Helen Pawley, James Rogers, Mary Gregurash and Mable Hartman, Nov. 17; William Bellore and Bernadette Houghton, Nov. 19; John Anderson and Walter Peterson, Nov. 20; Lottie Carlson, Emma Phillips, Ernest Brown and Hilma Scharstrom, Nov. 21; Frances Carlson, Jim Ballas, Dorinda Warshawsky, Alhbir Beckman, Robert Hoar and Lula Heinz, Nov. 22; Edwin Gray and Velma Reeder, Nov. 23; Florence Rubick, Nov. 24.

Center offers many activities to the senior citizens in Germfask

Germfask Senior Citizens

by Alma Thibideau 586-9697

We recently attended a Halloween Party at Cooks Town Hall by invitation of the Manistique Senior Citizens Center and wish to thank them for the nice time everyone had.

Our people appreciated all the time and effort that went into putting on the program and commented that the ones that didn't go really missed something.

We have a chore service aide working now and if you need help in your home, cleaning floors, walls, windows and etc. give us a call here at the center and we'll be happy to set up an appointment for you.

This service is free of charge, so if you need help, please take advantage of it.

In case some of you have forgotten on what days our activities are at the center, on Mondays and Wednesdays we have our nutrition meals at noon. If you or your spouse are 60 years of age or older you are welcome to attend. Please call a day ahead for reservations.

On Monday afternoon we have a ceramic class which begins at 1:00. Thursdays we have potluck. Bring a dish and come join us.

Friday the van goes to Manistique for doctor appointments and shopping. Activities every afternoon, cards, games, or whatever you wish.

Blood pressure clinics are held on the last Thursday of every month at 1 p.m.

We are planning on making quilts to make money for the center by raffle or selling them outright. If you would have any material suitable for quilting pieces that you would care to donate, we would appreciate them very much, also any help that you could give us in quilting them.

Received a letter from a lady way out in New York who had her 80th birthday on the day the paper was delivered to her. The issue contained the poem, "So I'm 80" written by Lolah Losey, one of our senior citizens. It was nice of her to write and let us know she enjoyed it so much. The

 ENERGY MONTH

The citizens of Michigan are faced with a crisis that came to the forefront four years ago and has yet to be resolved. It is the energy crisis.

The crisis has many facets: it is a crisis of diminishing resources and increased dependence on foreign imports; it is a crisis of skyrocketing costs and of waste; and, unfortunately, it is a crisis of disbelief.

Many citizens are not yet convinced that we are indeed confronted with an invisible enemy that touches all aspects of our lives. Michigan is particularly vulnerable since it must import close to 95 percent of its energy supplies. But the energy crisis is such that individual efforts can make a difference.

Therefore, I, William G. Milliken, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby declare November, 1977, as the second annual Energy Month in Michigan. I urge every citizen in the state to focus in on the issues of energy and the importance energy plays in our lives. And I urge every citizen to seek new ways to conserve energy while at the same time developing a new energy ethic.

Michigan Electric Association RESOLUTION COMMENDING PUBLIC ATTENTION TO ENERGY MONTH

WHEREAS, energy has evolved from a novelty, with the discovery of fire, to the lifeline of the industrial revolution to a vital ingredient of modern-day living; and

WHEREAS, the lives of Americans are personally affected by, and dependent upon, energy in its multiplicity of forms for jobs, food, clothing, transportation, heat, light and the many personal comforts to which they have been accustomed; and

WHEREAS, in recent years, energy has become a world political issue, intensified further by the realization of finite supplies as well as related economic and population pressures; and

WHEREAS, wise use of energy resources has clearly emerged as a national priority, essential to the very survival of the nation and this state as we know them; and

WHEREAS, the Governor of the State of Michigan has proclaimed November, 1977, as Energy Month to bring about greater awareness of critical energy issues among the people of Michigan; now therefore be it

RESOLVED, by the MICHIGAN ELECTRIC ASSOCIATION that it is the hope of this organization and its members that the citizens and institutions of the State of Michigan should especially take note of Energy Month, November, 1977; and be it further

RESOLVED, that all residents of Michigan should make the personal commitment to become more knowledgeable about the energy situation of Michigan, America and the entire world, and develop awarenesses and habits for the wise use of energy resources; and be it further

RESOLVED, that Michigan and America should encourage the strengthening of systems for the development and distribution of energy resources for the benefit of their citizens.

Adopted: September 30, 1977
