

A hunting tale: the missing hunt the missing

by Ed Zaske

Hunting stories following hunting season come a dime-a-dozen. But a 45-year-old Manistique citizens band radio club operator definitely has one out of the ordinary.

Mrs. Eunice Olsen, of Indian Lake, was at home Thanksgiving night at about 7 p.m. when a call came over her radio. "Break...Break"

She listened for a reply but heard none and decided to answer herself.

On the radio, she learned from Bernard Allen, a deer hunter from Coldwater in his 50s, that two persons in his party had not returned from a boat trip down the West Branch of the Manistique River.

Since the state police CB antenna is out of commission, she placed a call to the police for Allen.

After the police received the call, they notified the Department of Natural Resources conservation officer, Dale Myer.

Myer then contacted the men through a citizens band radio and arranged to meet them near their camp to discuss the disappearance of the hunters.

That was not enough action for the hunters, however, and they set two of their party down the river in another boat to search for the missing two. The hunting party numbered six in all.

By this time it was nearly Friday morning. The two hunters at the camp stayed by their radios relaying messages of the incident of Mrs. Olsen.

Friday at daybreak, not one of the four hunters had returned. The two back at camp were very anxious about the whereabouts of their buddies and Myer said he anticipated the necessity of calling an all-out search. However, about 10 a.m. Friday the two arrived back at camp.

Piecing together reports from Mrs. Olsen and Myer, this is what happened: Six hunters, Bernard, Greg and Daryl Allen from Coldwater, Dan Weaver from Quincy and Wendall Marvin and Harry Kegerise from Farmington Hills, were eating their dinner Thanksgiving Day about 4 p.m. at their hunting camp.

As one of the hunters looked up, he saw a face in the window staring at them. The hunters were camped at the Al-ma Keg Camp near the joining point of the Stutts Creek and the West Branch of the Manistique River.

The location of the camp is about 25 miles northeast of Manistique and a long way from any other residents.

Once the man who belonged to the face in the window was brought into the cabin, the six learned that he was lost -- had been lost and wandering in the woods since 7 a.m. that morning.

The young man, said to be about 25 years old and from Flint, seemed dazed and he told the six hunters in the northern fashion, they offered to escort the man back to his starting point.

In talking to the lost hunter, they discovered that he and a few other hunters in his party had put a boat into

Fire claims 87-year-old farm house

An 87-year-old house and former riding academy on Manistique River Road burned to the ground Tuesday.

The blaze, cause undetermined as of Wednesday, started in the rear of the building and quickly climbed the two-story wooden structure and ignited the roof.

No one was home at the time, according to Mike Boyd, who had recently moved into the house with his wife.

Manistique Public Safety officers and volunteer firemen answered a call at 10:50 a.m. from a neighbor who spotted smoke coming from the 10-room house. Water from the city's 500-gallon capacity tanker-pumper was rapidly pumped, however, and the flames reached the roof while the truck had left for a refill. Officers said no back-up tanker or nearby source of water was available.

Losses were estimated at more than $25,000. The house was insured by Hazel Hughson, who was selling the house on a land contract to William Davis, in Georgia at the time of the fire.

The Boyds, who were renting, had no coverage. Staying at his parents' place on River Road, Boyd said the couple had need for towels and bed linens and kitchen utensils. They have already received many donated items, he said.

Mrs. Hughson said the house was headquarters for the old Bismarck Riding Academy, which operated with 21 horses on the 8 1/2 acre estate until the 1940's.

Few things saved

FIREMEN FROM the Manistique Public Safety Department watch as flames engulf the second floor of a house on River Road Tuesday. The fire went out of control after the city's tanker-pumper left the scene for a refill of its 500-gallon capacity tank. Volunteers and officers were able to save some of the building's contents, however.

City eyes savings on jobless pay

The Manistique City Council Monday night authorized an agreement designed to save the city approximately $12,000 in unemployment compensation payments next year.

The council authorized Mayor Frank Hewitt to enter into a contract with the Michigan Municipal League's Unemployment Compensation Group Account for nearly 50 city employees, effective Jan. 1, 1978.

Under the plan, the city will pay into the account one percent of the first $6,000 for each employee.

According to City Clerk Pat Erickson, the city will pay about $3,000 next year. That compares with an estimated $15,000 expense incurred from Oct. 1976 through September 1977 while the city reimbursed the state 100 percent for unemployment compensation, she said.

In other business during the hour-long meeting, the council relieved DeGrand Construction Inc. of Escanaba from its water transmission lines contract for which the firm was low bidder at $144,290.

The council approved the firm's withdrawal and awarded the contract to Kakud Excavating Construction Co. of Stephenson of the same low bid. Kakud was second low bidder on the project. Both firms agreed to the change, the City Manager Robert Risk said it was acceptable to HUD, which is supplying funds.

The council entertained a suggestion by Reg Christianson of United Involved Citizens to erect speed limit signs along Cedar Street South from State Savings Bank.

"There's no sign posted anywhere in the business district," Christianson said, adding that speeding by people of all ages in the area is threatening pedestrians.

He said some vehicles have been estimated at 65 miles per hour down Cedar Street.

"It (a sign) might slow down the one who would be responsible for the death of a senior citizen," he continued. He said the suggestion was not intended as a criticism of the Public Safety Department.

Risk said the matter would be looked into.

The council also set Dec. 27 and Jan. 9 as dates for public hearings on the Community Development Program for 1978-79. Risk said the city should have more leeway than last year in how it spends the HUD funds.

Heard a request from the Sood tribe of Chippewa Indians for available city land for a tribal education center.

Approved the elimination of two parking spaces, one in front of First National Bank and the other in front of Rodgers TV Sales and Service, for better traffic visibility at the corner of Cedar and Walnut streets.

Paul in storage

The city's Paul Signan facade and calendar of events sign at the intersection of M-94 and US-2 is in cold storage.

City crews tore down what remained of the structure this week after the city council Monday night indicated its desire to wait until spring to decide what to do with the 17-year-old sign that was repainted recently. The sign had been damaged in the windstorm last week.

"They want to keep him," City Manager Robert Risk said, "in case he is put back together again like Humpty Dumpty."

Free Flight plans benefit

Band members of Free Flight have organized a dance to be held for the benefit of Mike and Pam Boyd, whose personal possessions were destroyed in a fire on Tuesday.

The dance will be held on Thursday, Dec. 8 from 8-12 p.m. at the Armory. Members of the group are: Larry Fissette, Rick Obermiller, Calvin Blower, Rick Buser-Grimmer.

A donation of at least $2 is being asked. Donations of household items and clothing in addition to monetary donations will also be accepted.

Campaign report deadline today

December 1 is an important deadline for thousands of elected officials and political committees in Michigan, according to an urgent reminder from Secretary of State Richard H. Austin. That's the date when penalty provisions of the new Campaign Finance Reporting Law go into effect, ending a 10-month grace period. At that time, all reports filed since June 1, 1977, including Statements of Organization, must be in compliance with the law. The grace period allowed time for candidates and political committee treasurers to become familiar with their obligations under the new law.

The Department of State and the county clerks throughout the state have until the six-month period prescribed by law to educate candidates and committee treasurers of their reporting obligations.

After the Dec. 1 deadline, however, persons who have failed to comply may be subject to penalties ranging all the way from late filing fees to felony charges, depending on the nature of the violations.

'Priorities mixed'

Hospital board criticizes Tribune

The Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Board Monday night expressed unanimous dissatisfaction with pioneer news reportage by the Manistique Pioneer-Tribune.

Speaking in his capacity as chief of the medical staff, Dr. Robert Urban said he thought "the priorities (of the newspaper) are very mixed."

Dr. Urban cited an article appearing in the Nov. 3 Tribune on the hospital's accreditation by The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals of Chicago as a prime example.

"I think it deserves more than one paragraph considering the amount of time the medical staff, nurses, administration and board put into it," he said. Dr. Urban said that only 51 percent of all hospitals receive a two-year accreditation by this commission.

"The accreditation story is placed one paragraph below the column where Mary Jo is visiting with her mother for the weekend," Dr. Urban said.

Yet, he said, when a nurse gets fired it winds up on the front page with at least four paragraphs.

James Gardner, hospital administrator said he personally felt as strongly as Dr. Urban about the paper's news coverage.

"I think if I'm going to be a patient in this hospital, it is going to be a damn primary interest to me what the quality of care is in this hospital is. Therefore, I think it should haul a pretty high mark as far as importance to the news," he said, speaking of the accreditation.

Gardner then made a motion which was seconded by board member Mercedes Grimm to formalize Dr. Urban's statement about the Tribune news coverage.

Dr. Urban later explained to a Tribune reporter attending the meeting that the hospital had been preparing for accreditation throughout the year by writing medical audits, getting charts updated and making sure records are kept straight.

General Manager of the Tribune,

Arnold Mackowiak, said Tuesday that it may be correct the accreditation was a major news story.

However, he said, "it wasn't clear to me from a one and one-half page news release on the accreditation that it was of major significance."

Mackowiak said that the issue had been so much about how the news relations the hospital is getting in the community. "And the newspaper is an important part of that public relations," he said.

Mackowiak said he felt that community institutions have to take some responsibility to help coordinate information about their functions to the public.

"Not just information that is apparently favorable to them," he continued, "but all information that the public should know and needs to know."

"It's one thing for us to try and explain what accreditation means to the public and perhaps we can do that," he said. "However, we can do a far better job on a month by month basis or more regularly by using information that the hospital will let us have access to--more specific information than has been given in the past."

"This will convey an image of

School and raffles

At the regular meeting of the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education last week, the board was reminded by the superintendent on the school's legal position on raffles.

Richard Bonifas said the raffles are illegal and unconstitutional and the school should not be associated with them.

He said he said that the laws are being violated all the time.

Bonifas said he tries to prohibit such raffles from the school. However, he said sometime the sponsors are perfectly innocent, in not knowing the law.

opness on behalf of the hospital, and I think that this is probably good for everybody," he said.

In other action, the board discussed installation procedures for a new "80" boiler it plans to have in the hospital. Presently, there are two "80" boilers supplying heat to the facility.

Gardner reported that he was having trouble finding new televisions that would fit the specifications of the TV network in the hospital.

William Cowman, who is Manistique county treasurer, outlined the hospital's funds. As of October 1977, total assets were $499,983.78. Total credit under the categories of fund security and revenues amounted to $2,240,426.19.

Gardner also announced plans to negotiate with local food stores for meat prices on turkeys or hams to be given to employees during Christmas. He said that a party had been ruled out this year because of unfairness to those attending who would be experiencing a conflict between their work and the party.

They were married on Dec. 25, 1927. They have one son, Richard Kitt, of Plymouth, Indiana, and two grandchildren, Anne and James.

Qualifications for disability

"Social Security pays disability benefits to 167 individuals in the Schoolcraft County area," according to Peter Ross of the Escanaba Social Security office.

To qualify for disability, a person must be unable to do any substantial gainful activity, because of a physical or mental impairment which is expected to last at least 12 months or result in death.

"Basically, substantial gainful activity may be any work done for wages or profit that involved physical or mental duties", Ross said. Work may be considered substantial and gainful even though it may be only part time and lower paying than other jobs a person has had.

Ross stated that if a person is doing some work at the time he or she applies for disability, it must be determined if the work constitutes substantial gainful activity. If the person is not working, it must be determined if the person is capable of doing substantial gainful activity.

For more information about disability benefits, persons may write the Escanaba Social Security office at 2015 First Avenue North and ask for the publication titled "If You Become Disabled". The office may be called anytime Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. The local telephone number is 786-2632. Toll free number is 1-800-562-4820.

number of years, and the grandson of the former Gladys Hruska of Saginaw.

Last but not least, a helpful hint for all car owners. Our favorite meter maid Verna Blowers was sent a cartoon by a friend which depicted a man and wife sitting in a car in a deluge of rain. The wife is saying to her husband "I took the wiper blades off because I kept getting parking tickets under them."

Mortgage burning

BETHEL BAPTIST CHURCH Minister Rev. Ron Allen sets fire to the mortgage on the church's Awana facility at services Sunday.

The building, a gymnasium was constructed about two years ago at a cost of about $40,000. However, the mortgage was for an amount under $20,000. In the facility are showers and restrooms plus a small area for spectators for sporting games. Supporting the plate on which the mortgage rests are Fred Hahne middle, of the First National Bank, the mortgage holder, and Clyde Strasser of the State Savings Bank.

the Manistique River about two miles west of the location where Merwin Creek dumps into the river.

Two of the hunters, Marvin and Kegerise, both in their fifties, figured they would float downstream in their boat and find the spot where the lost hunter said his party had beached its boat.

However, in floating down the river, the lost hunter became extremely disoriented. None of the surroundings looked familiar. Finally, when the boat had floated far enough to reach the Manistique River, the lost hunter acknowledged the spot where his party had put in -- and later the beaching spot was found.

What the lost hunter apparently did was to, without a map nor compass, start out from the beaching spot to walk up river. His plan was to walk far enough up river to reach the put-in spot where his uncle, he said, owned a cabin. (However, this has not been confirmed, and the lost hunter has not been located for his comment.)

But instead of the lost hunter walking along the Manistique River, he followed the course of the West Branch of the Manistique. The West Branch intersects the Manistique very near the spot where the lost hunter said the party put-in its boat.

As it turned out, the lost hunter ended up walking over three miles through one of the wildest swamps in Michigan to reach Al-ma Keg Camp. Dazed, confused and disoriented, he apparently knew of no other solution to get to his uncle's cabin but to follow the course of "the" river.

Feeling good over the return of the lost hunter to his beaching spot, where he could wait and rendezvous with the rest of his hunting party, the two started the long boat trip upstream to their camp.

However, darkness came over the land before the two were anywhere near their destination. And then it happened.

The boat, a 14 foot aluminum craft with a seven and one-half hp engine, apparently struck a dead head stump and immediately tossed the two into the icy water.

Kegerise, who said later that he doesn't swim a stroke, sank to the bottom of the river. Feeling something with his feet, he said, he submerged himself completely and tried to crawl along the bottom to shore.

However, when he came up for air the second time, Marvin, who swims, grabbed him and pulled him to the bank of the river.

They had lost the boat in the river. The temperature was about 10 degrees Fahrenheit. It was nearly pitch black out except for possibly some moonlight. And the two were soaking wet from head to toe.

What to do?

The two decided to walk long the shore, hoping eventually to encounter a vacant or occupied cabin.

Eventually, after about an hour of walking, they found a vacant cabin.

Since they couldn't get in through the windows, they busted down the door. Once inside, the two found a bottle gas stove which they immediately tried to light. The two later said their fingers were so stiff they couldn't hold a match.

However, after several unsuccessful attempts, the fire was lighted and the two began the process of trying to dry out and warm up. But, they said, that took quite awhile since their zippers were frozen shut and had to be thawed out first.

Back at camp, it was after midnight. The two hunters had been gone for over eight hours, the police has been notified and waiting was hell.

Two of the hunters at the camp decided to float down the river in search of their missing friends.

However, before too long, the engine "on their 12-foot boat died" out and their was no restarting it. That forced them to get out of the boat, into the river, and beach the boat.

In an effort to prepare themselves for the night ahead, the two walked along the shore of the river to find a cabin which would give them shelter.

After a short walk, they saw the lights on in a cabin a short distance ahead. Running to keep warm, the two happily approached the door and entered the cabin.

Inside they found a strange sight. There were two men in hunting clothes soaked from head to toe, frantically huddling around a gas stove trying to dry their clothes and keep warm.

After a joyous reunion, the two drier hunters fixed coffee for the two wet hunters and put them to bed in the cabin.

Early the next morning, all four hunters oriented themselves and walked along available roads to their base camp.

The boats, with the help of Mrs. Olsen who had contact with the base camp for most of the ordeal, were hauled out of the river Saturday. Mrs. Olsen let the hunters use her seven-horse outboard motor to do the job.

Myer said Tuesday that the CB Club of Manistique, which monitors channel 3 also offered to conduct a search for the missing hunters, was to be commended for its involvement.

Board accepts mediation in custodial dispute

The Manistique Area Schools Board of Education has moved to accept mediation as the next step in resolving a nearly three-month dispute with its custodial staff.

The unanimous decision came at the board's regular meeting Nov. 22 at which a decision of either mediation or arbitration was needed.

Superintendent Richard Bonifas said that Walter Quillico, an arbitrator, had called him Monday to discuss the custodial grievance. The Teamsters had already contacted Quillico relative to going to the next step in the grievance.

However, Bonifas said Quillico wants some assurances that if he mediated between the administration and custodians his recommendations would be followed.

On Sept. 2, seven members of the custodial staff staged a "sick out" day to protest the board's reduction of the number of custodians.

Bonifas then required doctor's excuses for the men to be allowed back to work again.

An issue is whether the custodians should be charged a sick leave day for the time they took to get the excuses.

The custodians filed a grievance on Oct. 18 that they not be charged the sick leave day. However, the board denied it.

The Teamsters Union, which represents the custodians, has said that it will follow through with the grievance.

Bonifas recommended to the board that Quillico be brought in as the mediator.

"If (the custodians) don't stick to his recommendations then they will lose face," he said.

The next step after mediation is a three-member arbitration panel which would be binding, he said.

In other items, the board received a list of district-wide maintenance problems from the director of maintenance, Joe Wood.

Wood indicated that his staff has been unable to take care of the problems because of a lack of personnel with the time capabilities to carry out the maintenance tasks.

Wood told the board he thinks he is getting 80 percent production out of his staff--which he says is comparably good to other similar institutions.

The board agreed to try to hire more help in maintenance as soon as possible--when the budget allows it.

Bonifas also presented information from the state attorney general relative to using school monies to contract with approved commercial driving schools to teach driver education.

The answer was that schools are not authorized to do such a thing. Also, it is not acceptable for parents to pay for their children's driver education.

As it leaves the situation, the school must offer driver education in about the same way during the summer as previously.

In a report on the driver education program at the school, it was revealed that the estimated cost per student for a four-student program would be $186.47. However, the last program served 22 students with a per capita cost of $61.54.

In other discussion, the topic of state-wide purchase of school buses was brought up. Member Denton Nelson said he was opposed to the idea, which is currently under review by the state department of education.

The board unanimously adopted a modified course of action for substance abuse offenses. The new procedure which started Wednesday of last week will provide for an indefinite suspension until a contract is secured among the parent, child, school officials and a social agency called in by the school.

Girls in 'B' district finals

by Nancy England

A Class B district championship and a trophy await the winner of tonight's clash between Manistique and tourney host Menominee.

The Emeralds, now 10-11 overall, earned their way into the 7:30 p.m. cage finals by overcoming Gwinns 28-27 on Monday night. The Maroons upheld Gladstone 43-39 Monday in a contest that saw 76 free throws, to land their finals berth.

The Maroons will carry an 11-8 overall record into the finals.

It was a tight defensive battle all the way but finally, despite a fourth quarter drive by the Model Towners, Coach Diane Stimac's Emeralds prevailed.

Free throws were the key factor in determining the outcome. The Emeralds profited from 10 of their 19 trips to the charity line while the Model Towners could manage only one in five attempts.

Emerald scoring in the first quarter was totally restricted to freebies as both teams played excellent defensive ball. Jackie Krusic swished three free throws and Karen Krusic donated a pair to make up their Emerald's 5-3 advantage at beginning of the second frame.

Jan Creeden, Robin Larson, Karen and Jackie Krusic each donated a field goal and Mary Gregurash added a free throw as the Emeralds stretched their lead, 14-7.

At the end of the third quarter, the Emeralds still retained a seven-point lead and, with comfortable 22-13 advantage it looked as if the Emeralds had an easy victory coming.

Sports Pioneer-Tribune

But the Model Towners finally got their offensive act together and proceeded to outscore Manistique 14 to 6 in the final frame.

With three seconds left in the game, the Model Towners were placed on the bonus line once again with the opportunity to tie it up. But the attempt fell short and time ran out.

Scoring for the Emeralds was relatively balanced with Jackie Krusic taking top honors with 8 points. Robin Larson followed with 7, Karen Krusic racked up 6, Mary Gregurash dumped in 5 and Jan Creeden swished for 2 points.

The Model Towners outbounded the Emeralds 36-33. Robin Larson was leading rebounder for the Emeralds with 20. Jackie Krusic pulled down 5, Karen Krusic grabbed 4, Mary Gregurash ripped off 3 and Jan Creeden saved 1.

The Emerald girls topped off their regular season play on Wednesday, Nov. 23 with a convincing victory over the Big Bay de Noc Lady Bears, 57-45.

The Lady Bears were the first to score in this Parents' Night contest; but it would be the only time the Emeralds would trail in this non-conference game.

Karen Krusic and Mary Gregurash poured in seven consecutive points to start the Emeralds' offensive attack, and by the end of the first quarter, the Lady Bears trailed by five.

The Emeralds scored impressively in the second quarter to lead 33 to 18 at the intermission.

By the end of the third quarter the Emeralds had stretched their lead to 16 points upon the efforts of Robin Larson, Jackie Krusic, Mary Gregurash, Jan Creeden and Karen Krusic.

The Emeralds' offensive drive didn't let up in the fourth quarter, as the Lady Bears bowed. Jan Creeden, Mary Goudreau and Terri Gould added to the final score.

The Emeralds finished their regular season with a 9-11 record.

Leading scorer for the Big Bay game was Karen Krusic with 18 points. Mary Gregurash swished for 16. Teresa Cayemberg led the Lady Bears with 10 points.

Leading rebounders were Jackie Krusic with 11, Karen Krusic with 10, Larson with 8 and Gregurash with 5.

As a team of Emeralds dominated the boards, 48 rebounds to 26 for the Bears.

Bears top Trenary 79-72

Big Bay de Noc High School opened its 1977-78 basketball season with a 79-72 trimming of Trenary Tuesday night.

"People expected us to beat them by more," Black Bear Coach Dave Pelletier said. "But anytime you go to Trenary you can expect a ball game."

The coach was referring to the tiny 64 by 30 foot Trenary court, which the Comets exploited with a 1-3-1 zone in the third quarter.

After leading 23-30 at the first stop, and expanding the gap to 18 points in the second frame, the Bears held a 49-38 halftime edge. But the Trenary zone cut the Big Bay margin to just three, 63-60, going into the final eight minutes.

The Bears also were hampered by foul trouble with both forwards Mark Tatrow and Neil Roder committing their fourth early in the second period.

Big Bay adjusted to the zone in the final quarter and outscored the Comets 16-12 to secure the victory.

The pressing Bears forced numerous Comet turnovers, but hit only 34 percent of their 98 shots from the floor.

Gregg Pelletier, 6-foot-2 guard-forward, sank 39 points on 16 field goals and seven of 10 free throws, to pace Big Bay. Fred Fox, a transfer student, netted 17 points in a supporting role.

The Bears face a major test Friday when they entertain highly-touted Rapid River in their first home game of the season.

ROBIN LARSON (34) jumps for a shot against Big Bay de Noc defenders. She is one of the team's top rebounders as well as shooter. The Emeralds face Menominee tonight in a Class B district finals contest on the Maroons' court.

JV girls flip Big Bay 42-18

The Emerald JVs and Coach Vern Annelin closed out their first season with a stunning victory over the Big Bay de Noc J.V.'s, 42-18.

High scorer for Manistique was Becky England with 11 points. Barb Bontekoe poured in 8.

England also led the attack on the boards with 15 rebounds.

Other scorers: Mary Walters, 6; Kim Danko, 6; Sue Videtich, 4; Julie Halverson, 3; Beth Cayia, 2.

The J.V.s finished their season with a respectable 13-7 record overall.

Elks hoop shoot set for Dec. 3

The annual Elks National Hoop Shoot Free Throw Contest will begin locally Dec. 3 at the Manistique High School gymnasium, the Manistique Elks Club has announced.

Competition for girls will start at 1 p.m., with boys to shoot at 2. The top three finishers in each group will then compete on Dec. 10 against winners from Germfask and Big Bay de Noc, also at Manistique.

No pre-registration is necessary for the contest, open to all boys and girls ages eight through 13.

Contestants in the ages 8-9 category will shoot from a line four feet in front of the regulation foul line. Ages 10-11 and ages 12-13 comprise the other categories and shoot from longer ranges.

In any age category if a child has a birthday on or before April 1, 1978, he or she will be placed in the older age category.

More information is available through the Manistique Elks Club.

JV boys rip Bulldogs

The Manistique Emerald boys' cage junior varsity sported to a 14-4 first quarter lead en route to burying Ruyard 62-32 Friday night.

Coach Bob Ryan's team charged to a 33-10 halftime advantage and a 52-18 bulge going into the final stanza.

Gary Keticik led the Emeralds with 17 points, followed by Jeff Savoie with 10 plus 7 rebounds, Paul Culey and Ben Godlewski with 8 apiece. Dean Wood chipped in 7 rebounds, while Scott Weber added five assists.

Manistique outbounded the Bulldogs 35-31. They also outshot the visitors by canning 30 of 63 field goal attempts for a 47 percent average, while Ruyard managed 13 of 52 for 25 percent. The Emeralds hit only two of 13 free throw attempts, compared to six of 22 for the Bulldogs.

A future foe

Iron Mountain, a prospective foe for the Emeralds, is entering its final basketball season in the Great Northern Conference, and is expected to be a threat in the league race.

Along with Iron Mountain, Ironwood will be leaving the GNC in 1978. The former will play in the Mid-Peninsula Conference and the Red Devils will be members of a revamped Copper Country circuit.

Mid-Peninsula coaches apparently are cheering for Iron Mountain in the Great Northern chase.

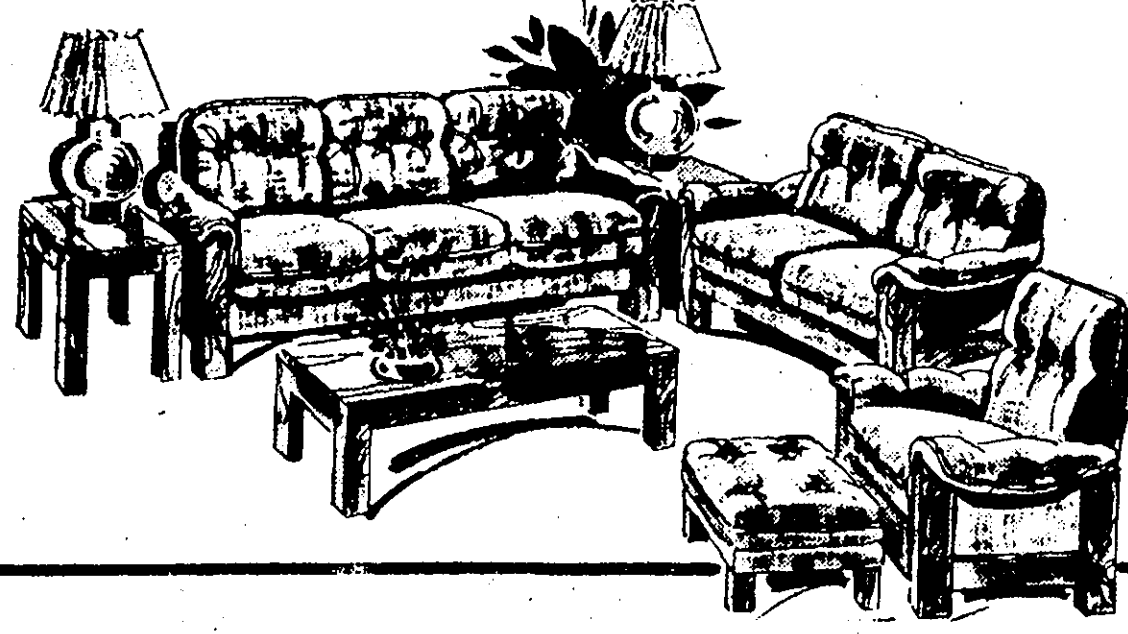

"The Mid-Peninsula, with Manistique (U.P. Class B champions) joining this year and Iron Mountain entering next year, will become a very strong conference," one of them said. "If the Mountaineers can win the Great Northern championship, it will add a lot of prestige to our league."

Miners to test Emeralds

After an easy warm-up against Rudyard, the Manistique Emeralds will have their authenticity more thoroughly tested by the Negaunee Miners Friday night.

The Miners, somewhat of an unknown quantity, will be playing their first game of the season on the Manistique court. "They're smaller than in the past," Emerald Coach Seb Rubick said. "But they're always good shooters, have a good defense, and are well-disciplined."

The Emeralds had little trouble disposing of Rudyard Friday night in their first game of the 1977-78 campaign. Using great muscle and hustle, Coach Rubick's crew bombed the Bulldogs 82-33.

"For a first game, I thought we did do well by not turning the ball over too much, and we took good shots," Rubick said. Manistique had 15 miscues, compared to more than 30 for Rudyard.

The Emeralds gunned through 32 of 60 from the floor for a 53 percent clip, while holding the Bulldogs to only 11 of 48 tries for 23 percent. Manistique employed a man to man defense for most of the game, switching to a zone in the third quarter. The Emeralds also toyed with a press for a while in the second period.

After getting the tip, the Emeralds wasted little time in taking command of the game. John Pistulka used his 6-foot-6 frame to lay up the first two points, answered with a 12-footer by Rudyard's Tim Loveless. Driving layups and some medium-range shooting propelled the Emeralds to a 20-10 first quarter edge.

Defensive pressure and consistent Rudyard miscues created a 25-point margin by halftime, 40-15. Emerald scoring was spread among Pistulka, Bill Giles, Gary Kaiser, Jim Curran and Bob Danko during the surge.

The contest became a total rout in the third stanza, as the Emeralds steadily built up an insurmountable bulge to 66-19 going into the final quarter.

Pistulka drew his fifth foul with 1:45 left in the period, but the reserves did the rest of the way. Coach Rubick mixed up his alignment in the final quarter and the Emeralds still outscored the Bulldogs 16-14.

Pistulka led all scorers with 16 points, followed by Norm Jahn with 10. Top rebounders were George Danko with 9, Curran, 8, Giles 6, and Pistulka 5. Jahn led in the assists department with 8. Pistulka added 5 and D.J. Anderson, 3. Overall, the Emeralds held a 41-22 rebounding advantage, and hit better at the charity stripe, 18 of 32. The Bulldogs connected on 11 of 27.

Cowman helped

A former Manistique High School grid star had a hand in molding 1977 Class A state football champion Birmingham Brother Rice, which defeated Portage Central 17-7 for the Title Saturday.

Robert Cowman, who played quarterback for the 1967 Emerald team that finished in a tie with Negaunee in the old Great Lakes Conference, coached Brother Rice's 1974 freshman team. Some of his players, now seniors, keyed the Detroit area Catholic school at a 12-0 record.

Cowman, a 1972 graduate of Northern Michigan University, currently is Dean of Students and athletic director at Detroit Holy Redeemer.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cowman of 650 Michigan Avenue Manistique.

HELP US... GET THE FAULTS OUT OF 'NO FAULT'!

MICHIGAN'S "NO FAULT" AUTOMOBILE LIABILITY LAW HAS ALREADY PROVED THE "NO FAULT" IDEA CAN WORK, AND WORK WELL. BUT THE LAW ITSELF HAS SOME FAULTS. AND IT IS THOSE FAULTS THAT WILL DRIVE INSURANCE COSTS UP AND UP, WHILE, AT THE SAME TIME, POSSIBLY CAUSING SOME INSURANCE COMPANIES TO CEASE ACCEPTING AUTO INSURANCE BUSINESS IN OUR STATE. IT'S TIME WE ALL SPOKE UP AND SHOW OUR LEGISLATORS OUR DISPLEASURE IS GOING TO COME BEFORE OUR LEGISLATURE IN OCTOBER OF THIS YEAR. WE ARE ASKING OUR CLIENTS AND NON-CLIENTS TO COME INTO OUR AGENCY AND SIGN A PROTEST CARD WHICH WE WILL MAIL TO OUR INDEPENDENT INSURANCE AGENTS ASSOCIATION OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN, WHICH IN TURN WILL BE SENT TO OUR LEGISLATORS IN LANSING.

A good year for Manistique

"Daily newspapers may carry their stories of financial depression, city folks returning to Manistique may relate their accounts of "bread lines" and our own dyed-in-the-wool pessimists (thanks, there are only a few) may continue their doleful gossip—but, believe it or not, Manistique has enjoyed a splendid year.

"True, we have heard so much about "hard times" from the outside that some of our own people really have become imbued with the idea that such a condition really exists here. Such is not the case, however.

"A survey made among some of the Manistique leading business houses reveals that business in general has been better this year than it was in 1976.

"The tourist business was a wonderful asset, to be sure, one which accounted for a large volume of trade. There was an increase in the number of tourists rooming houses this year and the majority of them report an excellent business.

"The activities of Inland Lime and Stone Company at Port Inland have been of inestimable value in relieving what otherwise might have been a serious condition in local business.

"While other cities may have been suffering from the unemployment situation, Manistique has been steadily forging ahead. At this period of Thanksgiving, let us give thanks for our good fortune. Future times, will be, in a measure, what we make them."

It sounds, like Manistique wasn't hit too hard by the Depression Years, as some people have related earlier. Wonder if anybody else would care to remark on this subject.

Last April 14, Memoirs carried an article dealing with the first white child born in Manistique. The distinction was given to Elizabeth Brassel, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brassel, two of eight adults living in the community at that time.

Elizabeth was born on Oct. 15, 1866. In the next issue, a story on the "second born in Manistique" appeared in this column. That distinction was given to William Woodard, who claimed he was born "two or three weeks after Elizabeth Brassel."

However, some mathematical calculations brought out some interesting points. First, a newspaper clipping, which the story was based on, stated that Woodard was 87 in 1961. That meant he was born in 1874, eight years after Brassel. No children were born in eight years. I can understand that, considering that not that many families lived here (four) at the time.

Memoirs

By Mark Eisenlohr

Now, to complicate matters, comes the story of the visit of one Henry Brassel (the same name as the first Henry Brassel, who had a daughter, Elizabeth, the first born white child in Manistique?) who claimed that he was the third white child born in Manistique.

That article reads: "Henry Brassel, who claims the distinction of having been the third white child born in Manistique, visited with old time friends in the city this week. Mr. Brassel is now located at New Orleans, Louisiana. He was born 62 years ago when only a few white families had settled here. M Brassel at one time operated the old American House. This is his first visit in 15 years."

Now, if this is understood, the first white child was born in 1866, the second white child was born in 1874 and the third white child was born in 1868. Next, someone will say that the fourth white child was born in 1862.

Actually, it appears that the two Brassels, Henry and Elizabeth, were brother and sister. Henry was probably the second born, and the distinction of third born goes to William Woodard.

If nobody contradicts that, it will stand as the official roster of the first three white children born in Manistique.

An unusual situation. While looking in the back issues of the paper, I came across an ad for a local telephone company. That ad extolled the cheap virtues of a three-minute call to Calumet, then 90 cents, station to station, operator assisted.

A call to a local operator revealed that a three-minute call to Calumet from Manistique today would cost $1.08. Considering that a loaf of bread cost 9 cents in 1930, 9 cents was quite an investment. But, today, a $1.04 charge is comparatively cheap.

Another 1930 note: Formal opening of the Snooker Golf Course, operated by Max Kuehn in the store formerly occupies by Waters and Stamness in the Sattler Block, took place last Sunday afternoon and since that time has attracted good sized crowds of players each evening. The new sport is one of the most popular of indoor games and is a combination of indoor golf and pool. Ladies, as well as men, are invited to participate in the new sport.

Perhaps someone would know about: "Resumption of operations of the local sauerkraut factory formerly owned and operated by the Manistique Lactic Food Company, was announced today. A new company to be known as the Peterson-Pollock Company has taken over the plant and will begin operations at once.

"Fred Peterson, who formerly operated Cloverland Dairy, and Ben Pollock, who first established the sauerkraut business, are leaders in the enterprise."

Appearing in the paper in 1930: Do you remember 'shy back when—the old horse would shy every time he saw one of "those new automobiles."

"Speaking of automobiles: A Shell Oil ad in 1930 was quoted as saying: "The automobile handcrank is practically a 'museum relic.' "

Wonder what it's called today?

Tests show no PBB trace in county

by Ed Zasko

The possibility of PBB contaminated cattle in Schoolcraft County seems unlikely considering the number of dairy cattle in the county and those slaughtered every year.

This conclusion was reached in Manistique, Germfask and Marquette. Only one, Dr. Bruce Steinfeldt of Manistique has reported even testing a cow for chemical traces of the contaminant.

Steinfeldt said Monday that he biopsied one dairy cow in Gulliver about six weeks ago.

However, Dr. Gerald Reed of the state agriculture department in Escanaba said Friday that of the cattle tested in Schoolcraft county, no test results had come back positive. The testing started in early October for all farms in Michigan.

Recently, five cattle with PBB traces in their fat were detected in the U.P. Two were found in Menominee County, two in Houghton and one in Chippewa.

County extension director for Schoolcraft County, Elvin Hepker, said Tuesday that the four animals found with PBB in Houghton and Menominee counties had not been fed grain purchased from the Farm Bureau. Also, a farm in the Lower Peninsula had not been using bureau feed and had PBB discovered in its animals.

The Farm Bureau initially received the toxic fire retardant chemical from Michigan Chemical Company in 1973. The company had originally sent the fire retardant to the bureau instead of a cattle feed additive. The bureau then distributed the feed to farmers throughout Michigan.

Since then, thousands of cattle with high levels of PBB have been slaughtered and buried near Kalkaska.

Hepker said that how the contaminated feed got into the U.P. remains a mystery to investigators and the extension service.

He said there are 185 dairy cattle in the county and that about 35-50 are slaughtered every year.

A public information spokesman for a special PBB unit in Lansing said Friday that no two cattle found with PBB traces came from the same farm in the U.P.

All dairy cattle to be slaughtered in Michigan must be biopsied for traces of the chemical. This process involves a local veterinarian taking a fat sample from the rump of the cow. Also, milk samples from the cow are tested.

The state limits for allowable PBB traces are 20 parts per billion in fat samples and 5 parts per billion in milk.

Over 11,000 samples for the state of Michigan have been received by a state-wide research organization to date. As of Friday, only 210 of those fat samples have revealed excessive amounts of PBB traces. No samples of milk have revealed the chemical at contamination levels.

State school bus checks lag

Item: Michigan State Police not able to complete school bus safety inspections in 1977.

That simple statement of fact must cause us to wonder at state priorities. Given the importance all of us place on the lives of our children and the importance of their being carried to places of education in safety, how can it be that the safety inspection program is lagging?

Locally, the Manistique Area Schools' 15-bus fleet has not been inspected this school year. No major problems were detected in the fleet last year, according to Bob Ebli, transportation supervisor, who still expects an inspection call before the end of 1977. The fleet passed state inspection made near the end of October last year.

Statewide, nearly one in four school buses fail inspection. Two Michigan children died last year in accidents involving buses and more than 1,000 children around the state were injured in school bus accidents.

The two fatalities, however, did not involve a child aboard a bus or bus safety defects.

What's going on? Well, we certainly are not critical of the state police officers making the safety checks. They haven't been goofing off.

As usual, it's a matter of manpower. The inspectors have been concentrating on checks of tanker trucks. By Nov. 15, all of the tankers must pass a safety check or stay off state roads. Most of the tankers failed their first inspection.

The inspectors were switched to the tanker checks because of a rash of spectacular and at times fatal crashes. No one can say taking them off school buses and putting them on the tanker trucks was an error. The accident statistics bear out the logic that made the tanker truck problem the greater priority for state police action.

But, as usual it appears we are flirting with potential disaster. When the troopers were concentrating on school buses the tanker inspections were neglected. And--we know there was a risk to public safety in that decision.

Now, because of limited manpower, the school bus safety inspections fall behind and we risk the lives of our school children.

Sgt. Jay Kennedy, the man who heads the state police unit assigned to make the safety checks, is worried. He says the state has been fortunate that a disaster has not struck one of the unchecked school buses.

522 of the state's 587 school districts had all their buses pass inspection last year. It's likely, Kennedy said, that seven of the remaining 65 school districts will have their school bus operations shut down for failure to comply with safety requirements.

It's good to know that the troopers know where they must concentrate their limited efforts. We need reassurance when the man heading the program says his program is in jeopardy.

But, the ultimate fault must go to the Governor and the Legislature. There has been an obvious need for greater manpower for safety inspections of school buses and tankers and it is obvious, that is not where state money went.

Upper Inwood: 'Sin City' of frigid forest

My friend Helmut C. Tuscavaara, editor and publisher of the Upper Inwood Advertiser, is a vanishing breed.

He is a crusading editor of the old school, working diligently to comfort the afflicted and afflict the comfortable; pounding the editorial desk and tooting the editorial trumpet for a variety of causes.

Who among us can forget his continuing crusade for rutabaga price supports and demanding higher tariffs on imported Canadian turnips? Or his pro-pornography stand? ("When Thomas Alva Edison invented the phonograph he didn't intend it as a 'porn machine.' Pornographs for everyone, that's what the Bugle-Advertiser says!") And absolutely nobody has even come close to matching his persistent campaign in favor of adequate rainfall: a campaign that persisted until the Big Indian went over its banks and flooded the Bugle-Advertiser composing room.

Now he is caught up in an even more exciting cause. Helmut is proposing legalized gambling for Upper Inwood.

He has joined that careful corps of observers who are watching what happens next in Atlantic City, the decaying New Jersey resort center that's trying to sparkle again with a casino gambling jackpot.

His reasoning is that if Atlantic City can make it big, why not Steuben and Upper Inwood?

"They've got the Boardwalk and the Atlantic Ocean," he concedes, "but we've got the Indian River and the Little Bass Lake campground."

His enthusiasm is not dampened by the fact that there is some local opposition. Louise Bolitho wandered in the office the other day and peeled him a good one with her bumbershoot while telling him he was decadent and dissolute, two words that Helmut had to look up in the office dictionary after she had left. He was pleased with what he found, however; he didn't think that Louise thought that highly of him.

He is not without his supporters, however. Our mutual good friend Maybelle McZoom, the noted Hollywood starlet, called up all excited about the prospect after she read about it.

"I know I'm a 38C," she told Helmut, "but don't you think I could be a 21 girl? Or a B-girl, if I didn't breathe so deeply?"

As Helmut pointed out later, Maybelle is a sweet girl but she is always confusing her physical measurements with her sex.

Rev. Harrie Hardwick of the Free W. Church of the Forty Gallon Full Immersion is opposed not only on moral grounds, but is fearful that organized crime will move in and take control of gambling and everything else in town, but Editor Tuscavaara poot-poots these fears.

"We have Constable Stacey Gooder and Deputy Cody Waasinen protecting us at all times," he points out. He adds that the local law enforcement officers make a special point of warning strangers not to play pool with Arnold Stanley, which irritates Arnold quite a bit but has saved a lot of strangers from disaster.

Now one might think that the owner of the area's leading nightspot might favor such a proposal, but Belgrave T. Seertamaki, owner and operator of the Aragon Ballroom and Billiard Parlor, is adamant in his opposition.

In fact Helmut had to explain it to him very carefully.

"You mean it would be legal to play seven card stud in the backroom?" asked Belgrave.

"Absolutely," said Helmut. "We wouldn't have to keep the money off the table when we're having the snooker tournament?"

"We could post the football pools up on the back bar for everyone to see?"

"You could advertise them," suggested Helmut.

"No way," said Belgrave. "You're spoiling all the fun. What's the use of doing all that if it's perfectly legal?"

The last he heard Helmut was still trying to think up a logical answer. Frankly, we expect the next issue of the Bugle-Advertiser to come out in favor of Daylight Savings Time year around, and forget the gambling business. Helmut knows when he's licked.

U.S. races with pony and loses

Despite the news releases put out by the public relations men who work for the U.S. Postal Service telling of the speedy delivery and high speed efficiency achieved by the department, everyone has a story to tell of delayed mail deliveries.

One week, we picked up our mail on Thursday morning at the Gladstone Post Office. In the mail was an ad for Holiday that was scheduled to run in this week's paper. The envelope had been mailed on Monday from Minneapolis.

Also in Thursday's mail was another envelope from Holiday in Minneapolis. This piece also contained an ad, but scheduled to run in last week's paper. The post mark on the outside of the envelope indicated that it had been mailed nine days earlier and had arrived one day after the paper in which the ad was to appear had been printed.

Postal delays cost us over $90 in advertising revenue for last week's paper. It isn't the first time, nor will it be the last.

One of the delays that has been a big puzzle to me of late is the time it takes for the Pioneer-Tribune from Manistique to reach our office in Gladstone. The paper is mailed Wednesday night from Manistique and takes until either Saturday or Monday to travel the 42 miles west to Gladstone.

There seems to be no rhyme or reason to it.

There have been times when something was mailed late in an afternoon to Lansing and arrived by the next morning. It doesn't make much sense for something to travel several hundred miles overnight and yet take 3 days to move from one town to another a distance of 42 miles.

One of the best mail horror stories I've heard in a long time was passed along to me by my brother in Washington. He knows a woman who was sitting at a bar last Saturday opening her mail when to her surprise, she received a Mother's Day card mailed to her this past May from a son living in New Hampshire.

Pony Express could have delivered the mail faster.

The woman commented to the bartender how nice it was that her son had remembered her on Mother's Day. Which prompted three gentlemen sitting next to her to rush out to try and buy Mother's Day cards for their mothers, thinking they had forgotten the observance the previous Sunday.

How glad I was to see Josie Peterson's column again. It renewed my interest in the Pioneer-Tribune and my confidence in the publisher. Congratulations to both of you.

The Prisoner of

Electric Ave., Manistique

A Manistique woman, who asked to not be identified described "an electrifying day" to her husband. --Ed.

Dear Hubby, Slowly rising, I swat at the buzzing alarm, turn off the electric blanket, switch on the light and dash for the bathroom; opening the door to the ultimate in convenience.

Awaiting me is a hot shower, electric razor, blow dryer, curling iron, make up mirror, skin machine, hot leather machine and the electric toothbrush. Twenty-eight feet of cord.

Refreshed and beautiful I'm kitchen bound where the flick of a switch illuminates a whole world of automation. A refrigerator cools my juice and preserves my bacon and eggs. A flick of another switch and soon the aroma of fresh brewed coffee fills the room. Now the dilemma, how to prepare the eggs and bacon. Shall I use the range, electric griddle, microwave oven or electric fry pan? Decisions, decisions!

On my search for the griddle I come across the waffle iron, crepe maker, crock pot, blender, ice crusher, toaster oven (great for pizza) can opener, food grinder, mixer, deep fryer, presto burger, hot dogger, electric knife, bun warmer, corn popper and knife/scissors sharpener. (Another 78 feet of cord.) Have eaten my quota of cholesterol, caffeine and vitamin C, dirty dishes are then placed in the dishwasher, garbage is put in the compactor and crumbs are vacuumed from the floor.

Now for the laundry...just pop 'em in the washer and in 20 minutes they're put into the dryer. Presto: clean wrinkle free clothes.

The rest of the day is filled with mending on the electric sewing machine, vacuuming the rest of the house (between phone calls and T.V. soap operas) and exercising to stay in shape.

What brought all this on, you ask? A feeling of thanksgiving for some of these appliances and an overwhelming feeling of fear. Yes, fear.

My home has been invaded by gadgets and before long I'll be replaced by the "master gadget" programmed to push all the buttons and flick all the switches that I now so dutifully do.

Now how can I live one more day without the electric peeler? That's the latest in gadgets you know. Alas, a new way to drown out the sound of my children's endless questions and petitions. Just the flick of a switch, just three more feet of electrical cord and I'll have enough to hang myself.

How did the women of old ever find time for volley ball, bridge, T.M. health spas and visits to the psychiatrists?

I've furnished my home in Early American decor to mask nearly total automation. What on earth would I do if someone were to come along and snatch up all my gadgets? What if someone doesn't? How many more inventions are around the corner to gobble up more and more electrical energy? It all began because someone told Benny to go fly a kite. Where does it end?

By the way honey, don't buy me a Christmas gift that has a cord. Perhaps a padded cell?

Something like 'Mayberry Mirror'

How the media image of newpeople has changed in the past few years.

Remember viewing the movies of the 1940s and 1950s, when foot-stomping, cigar chomping reporters in floppy hats pushed and shoved their way to sensational stories? Witnesses leaving a Hollywood courtroom were virtually assaulted with a cacophony of questions. Journalists looked like a lynch mob.

Today, thanks in part to Watergate, a fatherly Lou Grant lectures his reporters on their personal and professional responsibilities. Grant is an editor for the fictional Los Angeles Tribune, investigating public outrages, crusading for the public good, a friend of the average guy.

Side Tracks

by Arnold Mackowiak

The television show, a spinoff from Mary Tyler Moore, somewhat undercuts an idea a community newspaper staff had a couple of years ago.

It was for a TV pilot focused on a small-town newspaper. Sort of like Andy Griffith with green eye shades and a roll-top desk.

There was plenty of human interest to pack into a half-hour show, the staff thought. Some real drama, too. For instance, one morning the paper received in the mail an apparent suicide note from the estranged wife of a local man.

The anguished statement was accompanied with a $5 bill for its publication. The woman died inside a house that burned to the ground the night before. The whole subject of suicide, at a national or a small-town level, seldom is examined.

What an opportunity. There were plenty of lighter moments, too.

Another person repeatedly came in with letters to the editor charging certain public officials as being criminals and liars. Just as repeatedly, he was thrown in jail for child support arrearages. He offered no real proof for the charges, but said his wife agreed that the attorney who handles their divorce didn't handle it correctly.

The paper's attorney, a friend of the divorce attorney, said the letters were libelous.

In another township, neighbors and public officials said one of the residents was a Communist after he defied a zoning ordinance.

The person, who was guilty of running a business in his home, took pictures of a news photographer as the newsman was taking pictures of the home-business. A subsequent township meeting, at which some women in the audience knitted while zoning debates raged, was a lesson in local government.

The story ideas seemed endless, a colorful cast of characters inexhaustible. But a three-way staff fight for the leading role eventually drowned a potential hit series.

Each male newsman wanted to be played by Robert Redford.

Gulliver seniors proud

To the Editor:

We the Senior Citizens who are very proud that we now have meals on Tuesday and Thursdays for the senior citizens of Doyle and Mueller townships at the Mueller Hall, were very disappointed in your paper.

Of all the nice pictures you had to print, you really insulted a wonderful person and run our program right in the ground. I believe you owe the lady an apology.

We are so glad we don't have to drive 25 or even 18 miles for a nice meal. So many could not afford it on their limited income.

We are wondering how come all of a sudden the Manistique center is concerned about the Gulliver area senior citizens. It wasn't concerned before these meals were started Oct. 25.

Why decide to have potluck on Thursday when we have hot meals then? When we senior citizens need help none of you are anywhere around or could care less.

There are some wonderful helpers and wonderful senior citizens coming. Keep it up you wonderful people and make this a big success.

Please do not print my name for was written by all citizens and print it all half of it.

Is this real, or are we in Doonesbury?

Leftover notes from a Washington notebook...

...Around the corner from our hotel in downtown Washington is a tiny delicatessen with the world's most sophisticated clerks. A sign in the front window says: "All Languages Spoken Here."

"That store goes to a lot of trouble to sell baloney," my wife said.

"I noticed the same thing at the 'White House,'" I said. (Obviously, I married the woman for her straight lines).

...Twenty-nine other columnists and I met with President Carter in the Cabinet Room, just a few steps from the Oval Office. We sat around the same long table where countless famous fannies have squirmed. I sat in the labor secretary's chair, according to the engraved plaque on the back.

The chairs are made of rich wood and soft leather, well stuffed. They all look brand new, with no historical patina--no toothmarks made by John Foster Dulles while gnawing back at gnawing problems.

"The chairs are all new because there is a rapid turnover of cabinet members, and when each member leaves, he takes his chair home with him as a souvenir," a White House aide explained.

As a taxpayer, you might protest that it would be a lot cheaper if the departing statesmen simply swiped some White House ashtrays. Relax. The cabinet members pay for their chairs, currently at $700.

Costs and cartage would be more manageable if cabinet members sat on the type of folding chair rented by funeral parlors. The discomfort would be less Washington baloney rotting in the delicatessens of the world.

I probably should be careful about solving all these big problems so quickly. If I don't cut it out, there won't be anything left for Ann Landers to do.

...The President of the United States must be the most pictured man in the world. When Carter entered the Cabinet Room for our press conference, the first two minutes were turned over to the photographers. Twenty-four of them (actual count) burst through a back door and began clicking furiously.

When the two minutes were almost up, a White House aide began a countdown, much like on a launching pad: "Six seconds...five seconds...." Honest, I am not kidding you.

At blast-off time, the photographers were supposed to stop snapping and leave the room. Most of them did, clicking as they left, walking backward.

If It Fitz

by Jim Fitzgerald

One persistent guy wouldn't quit until an aide grabbed his arm and pushed him towards the door while whispering sternly into his ear.

The object of this mini-riot, President Carter, didn't appear to be aware of it. He talked to the columnists while the camera whirred and clicked, the strobe lights flashed, and the photographers bumped into each other. We couldn't hear a word he said.

"I don't believe I am seeing what I am seeing," I told the columnist in the Secretary of State's chair. "I think I am reading this in Doonesbury."

Later I asked an aide how many of those hundreds of pictures would ever be published anywhere. "Probably none," he admitted, "or maybe less than one percent. Everyone already has plenty of pictures of the president."

Then why all the waste of film and manpower?

"We do it all the time," he explained. "I guess the White House wants a photo record of the president's every moment, right up to his last moment."

Suddenly my memory triggered a motorcade in Dallas and the Zapruder films.

Cheer up.

The weather was grand, and we spent several hours walking around Washington, admiring the handsome buildings. Many of them contain the headquarters of huge organizations, such as the National Rifle Association, which like to be near enough to the delicatessen to lobby for their favorite baloney.

One of the most impressive buildings is at Fifteenth and M streets--the National Housing Center. Its glass front leans forward dramatically, like the Tower of Pisa.

"How would you like to wash these windows?" my wife asked.

"I would lean over backward to do it," I said. (I love that woman as much as Costello loved Abbott).

What farmers should consider when buying land

Farmers considering buying additional farm land should make sure they have the financial resources to withstand two or three years of low farm earnings.

Usually farm land value is based on its earning potential but an equally important factor is the variability in farmer's income, which at this time could be a risk, according to Dr. Lindon Robison, Michigan State University Agricultural Economist.

Even though farm land prices are declining or remaining constant for the first time since the 1960s, this may be the time for farmers with high debt loads to forego any postponable capital investment which increases debt load.

U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) statistics show that currently 94 percent of the farm land purchases are financed on credit compared to 44 percent in the 1940s and 1950s. The potential danger is lack of credit reserves to meet mortgage payments. If farmers lack the cash reserves either from earnings or borrowings to withstand two or three poor income years in succession, they may be forced to liquidate, even though they may be earning acceptable rates of return.

County Extension

by E.W. Hepler

The key is the stability of the borrower's income in addition to assessing how much the land will return. Usually, farm land value is based on its earning potential and therefore is associated with farm market prices.

By 1979 or 1980, farm land prices will show a rather steady increase, although it won't be as rapid as the price rises seem in recent years.

Part of this reasoning stems from inflation rates, and mood of the Carter Administration to prevent low income by reintroducing price supports to reduce uncertainty of farm income. Because stability of income is valued by farmers, it is expected that a more stable farm income will result in higher land prices.

Generally, farm owners with high rates of return on their investments are the best borrowers, but net returns may not be the only criterion to consider when buying land. Many small farmers still run a small enterprise while supporting themselves with stable off-farm jobs and they can be acceptable real estate borrowers.

Therefore, lenders and farmers should consider the stability of the farm's cash flow in addition to assessing how much the land will earn. If the borrower's loan is fixed at the time the loan is made, the lender is not protected should the loan-making costs increase. Lenders should be in a position to assist the farmer during low income periods, and this can be accomplished through shorter renewable contracts or through variable interest rates.

Providence...

...the capital of Rhode Island! The river on which that city is situated! But both derive their common name from a word that meant much to the early Pilgrims.

The word, providence stands for the goodness, the faithfulness of God. It reminds men that He has provided everything to meet our daily needs. It dwells on spiritual as well as material blessings.

Thanksgiving is man's reverent response to God's providence. In colonial history that word became associated with a single day, an occasion set aside for appreciating our blessings... expressing gratitude in worship and celebration.

But providence is a reason for worshipping God all year. And it is a reason for celebrating our religious convictions in daily conduct for one another.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS

Board of Commissioners

Monday, October 31st, 1977

An adjourned meeting of the October 1977 annual meeting, of the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners, was held on Monday, October 31st, 1977, at the Courthouse, City of Manistique, Michigan, commencing at 7:30 P.M. E.S.T.

The meeting was called to order by the Chairperson, Ernest S. Hoholik. The roll was called and noted as follows: Present: Earl LeBrasseur, William Tennyson, Lindsley Frenette, Edward Way, Kenneth O. Mortensen, Daniel Klarich and Ernest S. Hoholik. Absent: None.

It was moved by Earl LeBrasseur, supported by Edward Way, that the minutes of the October 11th, 1977 meeting be approved as printed, a copy of which was furnished each member present. Motion carried by unanimous Aye Vote.

The Chairperson then announced that the period of 7:30 to 8:30 P.M. would be reserved for a public hearing on the 1978 General Fund Budget, along with a public hearing on the 1978 Anti-Recession Money Budget, and the 1978 Federal Revenue Sharing Money Budget.

Commissioner Frenette asked the Finance Chairman why the appropriation for the City Firetruck was increased from $50,000 to $130,000 in the FY-1978 budget. Commissioner Tennyson responded that this was due to the request of the fire chief in which he noted need for some major repairs. The discussion was continued with Frenette noting that whereas the City Fire Truck is subsidized, that line of the Township Fire Departments are not. Fire protection is given to the Township unless previously contracted for, and the contract requires annual payment by the Township to the City of Manistique.

It was moved by Finance Chairperson, William Tennyson, and supported by Commissioner Mortensen, that the following Salary Schedule for FY-1978 be adopted. Motion carried by unanimous Aye Vote.

YACC to hire 20 employees

The Manistique district of the Hiawatha National Forest has announced that 20 persons will be hired from the Michigan Unemployment Security Commission to work in the Young Adult Conservation Corps.

Forester Jim Klus said that by today 10 men and 10 women between the ages of 16 and 23 who have been unemployed and applied at the unemployment office would be chosen. However, the applicants would be interviewed before their selection, he said.

All in all, 160 people are going to be selected to work in the Hiawatha forests under the program. The YACC is part of President Carter's economic stimulus package designed to give temporary employment to young people.

Klus said the program differs from the Youth Conservation Corps operated in the summer for high school students. The YACC employees will work primarily in the outdoors on wildlife and timber resource projects.

Meeting

The regular meeting of the Thompson Township Board will be held Wednesday, December 7, instead of Tuesday, December 6 at the Thompson Town Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Blessings on Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving blessings for the Manistique Manor residents on Wednesday, Nov. 16, gave the Manistique Women's Club Manor House Committee another way of showing its concern for others.

Cindy Pawley told a story entitled "The Broken Arrow" illustrated on pilgrim hats. Several vocal selections were provided by Mrs. Paula Comstock with Mrs. Ruth Brundage accompanying.

Refreshments were furnished by Marie Grover and Helen LaFave of the Women's Club and Florence Asquino of Chicago. Also assisting in the afternoon's activities were Helen Hase, Mary Jones, Dorothy Hoholik, Beth and Luke Comstock and Robin Pawley.

As a result of a community school education program, Wilfred Taylor, a manor resident, read from his text book and other residents showed interesting, graded papers from other courses offered by Manistique Area Schools.

Birthday cakes are furnished each month by the Kiwanis Club and the V.P.W. Auxiliary sponsor a bingo party each month for the residents.

The Christmas party will be held on Dec. 14 with the Swinging Senior Citizens Band providing entertainment and Mrs. Leo Curran and Mrs. Roland Hoholik providing refreshments.

WHEN HOLIDAY season snow falls, a helpful hand is appreciated from just about everyone. Charles Hawthorne, left, and Dan Savoie, both three years of shovel sidewalk near their respective homes on Garden Avenue in Manistique.

Homemade gifts can stimulate imagination

Homemade gifts can stimulate the imagination and cut down on Christmas costs.

These gifts appeal primarily to young children, notes Betty Garlick, child development Extension specialist at Michigan State University. Fill a "dress-up" box or old suitcase with discarded hats, men's vests, dresses, purses, beads, scarves, feathers, and bits of old costumes.

A crate used for shipping a piano or refrigerator can become a house, puppet theatre, or hideaway. Big boxes can provide many hours of enjoyment for a child. Put a real hammer and plenty of nails in a box for storage. Include with them an assortment of wood scraps of different sizes and shapes.

Put some scraps of yarn, felt, and cloth and paper bags in a grocery bag. Include a few samples of paper bag masks or puppets with the materials for making others. Take things that can be pasted on to give three-dimensional effect--cotton, scraps of paper, braid, feathers, leaves, corn husks, discarded jewelry, dried beans and scraps of cloth--and wrap them up for collage materials.

With a little imagination, you can make personalized homemade games that copy commercial games. All you would need is some construction paper, scissors, and a magic marker.

A trip to your local library can provide dozens of gift ideas that can be homemade. In addition to checking handicraft books, look up older issues of children's magazines for suggestions. After the child receives the gift, make a play area for them. "Creating is usually

Family Living

by Cecile Turner
Extension Home Economist

not a tidy process," says Garlick, "having the right setup will make it easy for everyone."

A safety guide for Christmas

Reflections of colored lights bounce off the sparkling ornaments that hang from the tree. All is well with the world, and you feel safe and secure.

And you will be safe if you take a few precautions before you sit back and enjoy the holidays.

Every year fires and severe electric shocks from holiday decorations end the season abruptly for thousands of Americans. Sports and recreation equipment and toys -- great holiday gifts -- also increase the injury toll if they are not selected and used with care.

The following accidents were taken from the files of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. The names are fictitious, the facts are true.

Malfunctioning Christmas tree lights threw off sparks that ignited the presents and carpets underneath the tree in the Fisher home. Lorraine tried to put out the fire, but it spread rapidly through two floors of her apartment building, causing $250,000 in damage. Some residents had to jump off their balconies to escape the smoke and fire.

Six-month-old Jack fell onto his toy truck. The metal prongs on the truck penetrated his skull and had to be removed at a hospital emergency room. He was hospitalized for two days.

Thirteen-year-old Peter Daly was permanently paralyzed from his waist down when he fell off his skateboard after it hit a rise in the sidewalk.

To help you prevent such accidents and keep your holiday season joyful, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission offers these safety suggestions.

TREES

A dry tree is a fire hazard, so before you buy a cut tree, check it for freshness. The needles on a fresh tree will bend; needles on a dry tree feel brittle and break or fall off when you try to bend them. When you bring your tree home, cut the butt end off diagonally one or two inches from the bottom. The diagonal cut allows more water to be absorbed into the tree. Make sure the tree is held securely in a sturdy tree stand. Fill the tree stand with enough water to completely cover the cut line and check it every day to make sure there is plenty of water in it.

Set your tree up away from the fireplace, heat vents, and other heat sources. And make sure it is not in a heavy traffic area where someone could knock it over or fall into it.

LIGHTS AND DECORATIONS

Before you put the tree lights on, check the strings for frayed or exposed wiring, loose connections, and broken or cracked sockets. Throw out or carefully repair any damaged sets. Replace burned out bulbs before you put the strings on the tree, so you don't have to stretch to some hard-to-reach place later. Be careful not to overload extension cords and wall sockets.

Never decorate metal trees with electric lights. This could present a severe shock hazard. Instead, use a colored spotlight to light up the tree.

When you put on the ornaments, remember to place the delicate glass ornaments high on the tree, out of reach of children and pets. And don't use lighted candles to decorate your tree; they can easily start a fire.

For outdoor lighting, make sure the lights are designed and clearly marked for outdoor use. As with the indoor tree lights, check the strings carefully before you set them up outside. Always turn off and unplug your holiday lights, inside and outside, when you leave the house or go to bed.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission has put together a checklist for toys and recreational equipment for your convenience.

TOYS

Keep the child's age, interests, and skill level in mind, especially when you buy toys for pre-schoolers.

Look for well-constructed toys.

--Make sure there are not sharp edges or points on the toys.

--Check for small, loosely attached parts--including buttons--that can be pulled off and swallowed.

--Avoid toys that produce excessive noise that can damage hearing and propelled objects that can injure eyes.

--Electrical toys with heating elements should only be bought for children over 8 years of age.

--Remember that adult supervision can prevent accidents.

SPORTS & RECREATION EQUIPMENT

--Select equipment that is right for the age, size and interest of the person. A child could lose control, for instance, of too large a bicycle that he is supposed to "grow into."

--Look for well-built equipment.

--Buy protective gear for competitive sports.

SKATEBOARDS

--Look for a well-constructed skateboard.

--Make sure both the wheels and trucks (connects wheel and boards) are properly secured. They should be checked regularly during use.

--Beginners should practice the basics before trying tricky maneuvers.

--Never skateboard in the street or around cars.

--Wear tennis shoes, long pants and a long-sleeve shirt. Even better, dress like serious skateboarders do: elbow pads, knee pads, heavy gloves and helmet.

The following safety tips are for specific winter sports equipment:

SKI EQUIPMENT

--Equipment must be properly fitted, adjusted and maintained. The beginner should rely on a reputable ski shop for fit and adjustment.

--The ski boot should fit well into the binding. To avoid a mismatch, take the boots along when you purchase bindings at a ski shop.

SNOWMOBILES

When you buy, look for:

--Guards for the drive chain and all other moving parts.

--Adequate padding on the dash, steering bar, and back end of the seat.

--A snowflap in back to keep snow off the tail light.

--A windshield which does not have a sharp edge that the driver could hit on collision.

--A built-in emergency shut-off switch that is easy to reach.

--Shielding around exhaust pipes and other high temperature engine parts to protect you from burns.

When you use a snowmobile, wear warm, windproof protective clothing, including snowmobile-type mittens and felt inner-liner boots. A safety helmet and goggles are necessary.

SLEDS, TOBOGGANS, AND SNOW DISKS

--Check for sturdy construction.

--Look for secure handholds.

--Avoid equipment with sharp, jagged edges and protruding rivets.

--Look for an energy-absorbing pad for the seat of toboggans.

--Check sleds for easy steering without jamming.

The holiday season should be a happy time for everyone. Don't let your be spoiled by an unfortunate accident. Buy carefully, use properly, and enjoy the warm memories of a safe holiday.

Aroma of good things

Holiday recipes good for the heart

For many people the weeks between Thanksgiving and New Year's Day are the most exciting and pleasurable time of year.

The house seems always filled during this time with the aroma of good things baking and there is a flurry of family dinners, cocktail parties and enough merry-making and holiday festivities to carry us through the January doldrums.

During this time, you may be the host or hostess enough times to run yourself out of ideas for what to serve yet another group of celebrators.

How about some new ideas—or adaptations of some traditional recipes—that are not only delicious but heart-healthy, as well? From the American Heart Association Cookbook, available in both hard cover and paperback at any office of the Michigan Heart Association, here are some delightful examples.

Holiday tip — AHA Cookbook would make a thoughtful gift for anyone on your Christmas list — and don't forget yourself!

POOR MAN'S CAVIAR

A dark mixture with flavor tones from the Middle East, this is not only a delicious snack, but a nutritious one as well.

- 1 large eggplant
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 small onion, finely chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ½ cup raw green pepper, finely chopped
- 1½ tablespoons lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon salt

COARSLEY GROUND PEPPER

Slice eggplant in half and rub with 1 tablespoon of the oil. Place halves cut side down on baking pan.

Broil on middle rack of oven for 20 to 25 minutes, or until eggplant is quite soft. Cool slightly. Scoop out pulp and mash well with fork.

Saute onion and garlic in remaining oil until brown. Stir into eggplant pulp with remaining ingredients. Add more salt if necessary. Chill for 2 or 3 hours. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve with bread rounds or toast.

ROAST STUFFED CORNISH HENS

- 1 package wild rice mix or long grain and wild rice combination
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- ½ teaspoon sage
- ½ cup brandy
- 1 cup orange sections

To make the stuffing, cook rice until it is still slightly firm. Drain. In a skillet, melt margarine and cook chopped onion until browned. Add rice and sage; toss gently.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F.

Clean, wash and dry hens. Stuff lightly and skewer or sew the vents closed.

Brush hens with ½ cup melted margarine and place breast side up on a rack in a shallow pan. Roast uncovered about 1 hour, basting occasionally with the melted margarine.

Make a sauce by adding ½ cup water to the drippings in the roasting pan, stirring to dislodge browned particles from the pan. Add ¼ cup brandy and 1 cup orange sections. Cook 2 minutes. Serve with hens.

Wash and trim carrots. Cook in a small amount of boiling salted water for 15 minutes, or until tender. Drain.

Melt margarine in a skillet or saucepan. Add sugar, honey and carrots. Cook over low heat, turning carrots frequently until well glazed. Sprinkle with chopped parsley or mint, and serve immediately.

- ¾ cup margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 3 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder

- ½ cup cream sherry grated almonds or tiny candies.

Cream margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in egg. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with the sherry, beating until smooth. Wrap dough in foil and chill several hours, or overnight.

Old-fashioned holiday ideas

The smell of pine from the Christmas tree mixer with the aroma of cookies baking in the oven. There's mistletoe hung in the doorway, a wreath on the front door and a cat curled up in front of a warm fire.

It's the image of an old-fashioned Christmas, a mood many of us try to recapture in our homes today.

A good place to start is with live greenery-holly, mistletoe, boxwood, pine and fir-brightened with fruit or red ribbon.

One simple decoration, part of Dutch Christmas tradition, recalls the legend of the three bags of gold that Saint Nicholas gave to three young women as their dowry. The decoration combines pine sprigs and three oranges representing the bags of gold. The pine sprigs are bundled with florist wire at the branch end, and the orange are embedded with wire and attached to the pine.

A more elaborate decoration, popular in the mid-1800s, is the kissing bell. Made of boxwood, mistletoe, candles and apples suspended with yarn, the bell provided an excuse for young couples to exchange a kiss as they tried to take a bite from the apples.

Other traditional decorations, easily constructed at home, include dried flower wreaths and delarobbia wreaths in which assorted fruits such as apples, tangerines, lemons and limes are wired to pine or fir boughs.

Complete instructions for making these and other old-fashioned Christmas decorations are included in the November-December issue of the Historical Society of Michigan Newsletter. The instructions were prepared by professional staff members at Greenfield Village.

The newsletter also includes a calendar of events listing information about tree trimming workshops, Christmas walks, and other Christmas activities in the metropolitan Detroit area and throughout the state.

Copies of the newsletter are available for $1 each from the Historical Society of Michigan, 2117 Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor, Mich. 48104.

A nonprofit organization with 6,000 members, the Society promotes the preservation of state and local history.

Looking for free gift? Try lonely dog

by A Lost Dog

A week ago Sunday I wandered away from home during that big wind storm we had in Maristique. I found a place on Old State Road that I thought I might like. The people are kind, but I can't stay with them indefinitely.

I am the most loveable male puppy imaginable. I am white with touches of black and brown. I have a coat that is as soft as goose-down. I think I am referred to as a "mutt," but I'm sure one of my parents was a collie.

Someone must have really loved me at one time because I am wearing a baby blue silver-studded collar from which dangles a tiny silver bell. Whoever I belonged to failed to have any dog-tag identification attached to my collar. Maybe because I am so young, and they just didn't get around to it yet. This is most likely one of the reasons I'm in such a predicament right now. No one knows to whom I belong.

I am well behaved and am definitely an "outdoor" dog. I respond to "sit" and "stay" and I know I could learn lots more if only someone would teach me.

For two days now the people have phoned the radio station to announce: "FOUND-a little lost puppy." These are nice people and they are trying to help me. However, if no one claims me, I know I will be turned over to the proper authorities and I fear the outcome of that move.

I just know there's someone—some little boy or girl—out there in Schoolcraft County who has been shedding some tears for me. I only wish I knew who they were! I would come back and promise never, never to stray from home again.

But, please—ANYONE—would YOU like to adopt me? Call 341-5466

The annual tradition of Hanukkah

On the evening of December 5th Jewish families the world over will gather together to commemorate one of the most significant events in Jewish history—an event marked by a miracle.

The celebration of Hanukkah, or the "Festival of Lights," marks the recapture, by Judas Maccabaeus and a small band of Israelites, of the temple in Jerusalem which had been profaned by the pagan Syrian king, Antiochus IV. That was in 165 B.C.

After Maccabaeus had seized the temple from the Syrian army, it was purified and dedicated to God with festivities that lasted eight days. Despite the fact that only one cruet of oil, enough for one day, was available for the dedication ritual, the one cruet lasted, miraculously, for the entire eight days.

The celebration of Hanukkah today is centered upon the lighting of an eight-branched candelabrum called the Menorah. One candle is lit on each of eight nights until all eight are lit.

In the spirit of ecumenism, Rabbi Louis I. Newman, of New York City, has observed: "The Maccabean spirit of the Hanukkah festival belongs not only to Jewry and Israel, but to all freedom-loving peoples. The preservation of the Jewish faith by the Maccabees made possible the birth of two daughter religions, Christianity and Islam. The world will always gratefully remember the contributions of Hanukkah."

Some of the typical foods for the eight joyous days of feasting are latkes, or potato pancakes; kugen, or a potato pie; and the loaf of bread called Cholla.

Since Hanukkah is a time to receive guests, as well as a family reunion, Jewish homes are decorated with candles and flowers to enhance the festive atmosphere of the occasion.

Blue and white flowers, combined into beautiful arrangements by a local florist—or created by the hostess herself from materials obtained from the florist—enjoy a special tradition as a centerpiece for the Hanukkah table.

Among the varieties of flowers available at this time of year are carnations, white or tinted blue, white roses, lavender snapdragons, and lavender-blue asters. And mixed bouquets of white and blue daisies, placed on either side of the Menorah, make for a simple but attractive backdrop for the edible "goodies."

Favorites for Jewish holiday

LATKES (Potato Pancakes)

- 2 cups raw grated potatoes
- 2 whole eggs
- A pinch of baking powder
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 tablespoon flour, bread crumbs or matzo meal

Peel large potatoes and soak several hours in cold water; grate, drain. Beat eggs well and mix with the rest of the ingredients adding a little pepper. Drop by spoonfuls on a hot, well greased frying pan, in small cakes. Turn and brown on both sides. Serve with apple sauce.

KUGEL (Potato Pie)

- 5 wheat bread rolls
- 1 Teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ lb. suet, chopped fine
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 1 grated lemon rind
- 1 tablespoon molasses
- 1 tablespoon water
- Salt
- ½ lb. prunes, stewed

Soak rolls in water, then press quite dry. Mix rest of ingredients except prunes with the soaked bread to make a dough. Line an iron pot with alternate layers of dough, and stewed and stoned prunes. Bake 2 hours; baste often with prune juice.

CHOLLA (Sabbath Twists)

- 8 cups flour
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 cups hot water
- ½ oz. compressed yeast
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 tablespoon salt
- ¼ cup lukewarm water
- 2 eggs

Pour water over salt, sugar and fat in mixing bowl. When lukewarm, add yeast dissolved in lukewarm water, add eggs, beaten, and flour gradually. Mix and stir, then knead until smooth and elastic. Cover, set aside in warm place to double its bulk. Turn ½ of dough on board, cut into 4 equal parts, roll each 1½ inches thick, twist, 3 into a braid; fasten ends well and place in floured bread pan. Cut remaining 1/4 into 3 parts, roll each part ½ inch thick, braid and lay on top of braid in pan. Brush with beaten yolk of egg and sprinkle with poppy seed. Bake in hot oven 1 hour, 400 degrees F., first 15 minutes, then at 350 degrees.
