Marquette General to remain blood supplier for hospital

James Gardner, Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital administrator, announced Tuesday plans for the hospital to continue its blood supplier relationship with Marquette General Hospital.

Gardner said that the terms of the relationship remained the same. However, drawing dates for persons donating blood have been changed.

He said the first drawing date will be Wednesday, Dec. 14 at the hospital from noon until 9 p.m. Future drawing dates will be held once every two months.

The terms of the agreement allow Manistique residents to continue donating blood on a credit basis at the hospital.

Gardner said persons wishing to donate blood may make an appointment at the hospital laboratory during normal working hours.

"We reviewed several alternatives to determine the best service for our patients," Gardner said.

The hospital started negotiations for a new blood supplier about one and one-half months ago. At that time, the Marquette hospital said it could still supply blood but could not economically justify doing the blood drawing.

A program of the Red Cross in Petoskey was seriously considered by Gardner. However, it would have meant higher costs for blood for the hospital.

Recently, Gardner has been able to resolve some technical problems with the Marquette hospital to make it desirable to continue their services.

Gardner said donors must be between the ages of 18 and 66 and weigh more than 125 pounds for males and 110 pounds for females.

A donor is temporarily prohibited from giving blood when any of the following conditions exist: cold, flu, fever, major or minor surgery and recent inoculations.

Donors should eat a light meal prior to donating and avoiding fatty foods for four hours prior.

A medical history, temperature, body weight, pulse and blood pressure will be taken prior to donating.

Vet facility politics begin

by Arnold Mackowiak

As a special committee continues its feasibility study for a Michigan veterans' facility in the U.P., a political chess game apparently is already underway in the Legislature.

On Wednesday, Rep. Charles Varnum (R-Manistique) told the Pioneer-Tribune he received assurances from the chairman of the House Military and Veterans' Affairs Committee and from state veterans' organizations to support whatever site the committee may recommend.

Manistique, along with Marquette, Escanaba, Iron Mountain, Kincheloe Air Force Base, Houghton-Hancock and Ironwood, has applied for consideration as a site for the proposed facility.

Suggestions that Rep. Dominic J. Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) might use his influence as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee to establish Marquette as the site for the 120 to 125 bed facility brought this vow from Varnum:

"If the committee recommends that it not go to Marquette," Varnum told the Pioneer-Tribune in a telephone interview, "and if Jacobetti gives it to Marquette, denying the committee's recommendation, then I'm going to ask the governor to line item veto it."

Varnum explained that in its present form, House Bill 4247, which would authorize construction of a U.P. branch for the Michigan Veterans' Facility in Grand Rapids, would not specify a site. He indicated that a separate appropriations bill might name a site, however.

He said he was confident Governor Milliken would veto the appropriation if Marquette was named in such a situation.

Varnum said he favors Manistique as a site, while Escanaba would be his second choice. On Wednesday, he said at this point he would go along with a site recommendation of a special 10-member committee scheduled to present its findings to the Grand Rapids facility's board of managers by Jan. 1.

The board is then scheduled to forward the recommendations to the legislature for action.

Varnum said he doesn't expect any final action before February, though HB 4247 may be reported out of the Military & Veterans' Affairs Committee before then. Varnum, a member of the committee, said the Michigan Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, and commanders of other state veterans organizations would support a committee-recommended site.

"If Manistique is recommended they will do everything in their power to see that appropriations designates the same site," Varnum said.

Rep. Charles J. Harrison Jr. (D-Pontiac), chairman of the military affairs committee, also will support the special committee's recommendation, according to an aide for the legislator. The aide said that the special committee, of which Harrison also is a member, does plan to visit Manistique before reaching a decision.

The committee, formed in November, is chaired by Kenneth Kent of L'Anse and is composed of representatives of the board of managers, the governor's office, the Legislature, and veterans groups.

So far, the committee has visited Escanaba and Iron Mountain.

Varnum said he received good comments from two legislators about a four-page special supplement on Manistique as a vet facility site. The supplement appeared in the Nov. 24 issue of the Pioneer-Tribune.

Rep. Jacobetti was unavailable for comment Wednesday afternoon.

Judge prohibits DNR gill net interference

A temporary injunction prohibiting the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) from interfering with the gill net operations of 27 commercial fishermen will remain in effect following a ruling in Circuit Court on Tuesday.

Judge Clair Hoehn ruled that a temporary injunction against the DNR would remain until a permanent injunction could be agreed upon.

Hoehn's ruling cleared the way for fishermen to continue using gill nets for whitefish. The DNR had contended that the gill net fishery interfered with the Department's lake trout restocking program. At issue was the incidental catch of lake trout by fishermen setting nets for whitefish. During certain times of the year, whitefish and lake trout share the same waters and spawning grounds.

In Tuesday's ruling, Judge Hoehn stated that the DNR has the right to prohibit gill net fishing, but had failed to do so in accordance with the administrative procedures act.

"In order to amend an individual license, individual consideration must be given to the actions of each licensee," the ruling stated.

Fishermen had maintained that the broad changes in their licenses by the DNR had them of due process. Judge Hoehn upheld that opinion.

The ruling is expected to be appealed by the DNR.

Truck-train crash injures Gulliver man

A 21-year-old Gulliver man was injured in a truck-train collision at the Soo Line Railroad Crossing on County Road 432 south of Gulliver about noon Saturday.

Douglas E. Jones, of Rt. 1, Monday was listed in critical condition at Marquette General Hospital North following a transfer from Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital.

Witnesses to the accident say Jones was headed in a northbound direction at 15-20 miles per hour, approaching the crossing at a slowing rate when he was hit by the train, according to state police.

Police also say the crossing light at the track was operating when they arrived at the scene. However, they say the northside bell was not ringing and the southside bell rang only weakly.

Dear . . . ?

Intercepted Letters Department: The envelope bore the address "Route 1, 2004," with the numbers written in reverse. A couple of stick figures were added, and Christmas Seals adorned the front.

It appeared to be a letter from Santa that turned up in the Tribune's postal box the other day. But the note inside carried a private message in inch-high printed letters: "Larry, I am coming over to your party. Jeff, Bobby, Chris."

Sorry about that. Hope you didn't miss the party.

Santa here on Saturday

Santa and Mrs. Claus and their entourage of elves will be in Manistique Saturday.

Area youngsters 12 and under who are accompanied by parents are welcome to receive a personal interview with the jolly gentleman from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the entry way of Manistique High School.

Elves will pass out goodies to the children in a setting decorated by the 4-H Team Club. From 900 to 1,100 children are expected.

Costs for Santa's appearance will be covered with extra proceeds from last year. The visit is made possible by area businesses, and is sponsored by Santa's New Helpers.

Also at 10 and 1:30 p.m. annual canned goods Christmas shows will be held at Cinema I, sponsored by the Manistique Women's Club and First National Bank. Each child must bring at least one labeled can for admission. It will be an all-cartoon show.

Lions Club, physicians donate defibrillator

The defibrillator, said to be one of the lightest, most convenient and rugged models of its kind in the world, was purchased last week for Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital at a cost of $5200.

Helping to pay its cost were the Manistique Lions Club, Manistique physicians, the Medical Care Facility, Dr. Milton Ketchik, of 215 Walnut St. and funds from the estate of Dr. Harold Sell. The defibrillator will be stored in the hospital.

Dr. Sell said the uses of the modules are threefold: as an instrument for recording the changes of electrical potential occurring during the heartbeat, used especially in diagnosing abnormalities of heart action (electrocardiograph); as an instrument to restore the rhythm of a fibrillating heart, one in which rapid and irregular contractions of the muscle fibers of the heart result in a lack of synchronism between the heartbeat and pulse; and as an instrument to relay by radio electrocardiograph information to the hospital where doctors or trained staff can monitor it.

Dr. Sell said the modules contain a power pack strong enough to keep the system charged for a long trip -- say, from Manistique to Ann Arbor.

However, he said that the radio function of the modules is not being used at the present time.

He said he hopes to have the radio function operating in the future as more funds become available.

Dr. Sell noted that the modules may have already helped to save the life of a patient in its first week at the hospital.

Plan board discusses setback

The Schoolcraft County Planning and Zoning Commission discussed mobile home parks, lake shore and river districts, commercial districts and the region four districts at its Nov. 22 meeting.

Rich Jackson, of the Central Upper Peninsula Planning and Development office, presented a proposal to change the mobile home ordinance so that home parks would be subjected to state home park regulations. The county would only set up the locations of these parks.

Also, the 75-foot river and lake shore setback was again discussed. It was thought by commissioners that this setback distance coupled with 20,000 square feet lot sizes would be more environmentally sound than the present 50 foot setback and 11,250 square feet lot size.

The commission confronted the problem of trying to establish commercial areas for future expansion. Light and heavy industrial districts were combined leaving a general commercial district.

Mack MacDonald commented that the size of a region four lot should be increased from 20,000 square feet to 40,000. He said the present size is inadequate for multi-family dwellings if sewer and water are not present.

The next meeting of the commission is scheduled for Dec. 13 at 7 p.m. in the conference room at the county building.

Specialists to discuss U.P. uranium mining

A panel of internationally-recognized specialists will discuss uranium mining in upper Michigan at a public meeting sponsored by the Upper Peninsula Environmental Coalition (UPEC) at the Marquette Holiday Inn 7 p.m., Dec. 13. The meeting will include 10-minute presentations on the topic by the panelists and time for questions from the public.

UPEC President, Roger Harbin of Rapid River said that the meeting would be the first real opportunity for the public to learn what has been happening in uranium prospecting in the U.P. The public will have questions answered about plans and what sort of participation it may have in those plans.

According to Jane Bower, head of the DNR minerals division in Lansing, there have been no applications made for minerals leasing in Schoolcraft County. However, she said Monday that 380,000 acres of land in the U.P. is involved in other applications. She said that the amount of land in the applications for leasing is decreasing as the department eliminates some applications.

Presently, the DNR is revising its mineral and oil leasing policy—an action that followed environmentalists' protest over DNR handling of the Pigeon River country for oil drilling.

She said that the new lease application policy will not equate the right to explore with the right to prospect.

A number of exploration companies have applied for leases for mineral rights on U.P. land. However, to date, none have been granted and none will be until the new lease policy has been written, she said.

She said that no private nor state geological surveys, to her knowledge, had conclusive evidence of uranium ore deposits in the U.P.

Barbara Clark, a UPEC board member and a part-time teacher of biology at Houghton public schools, said the prime targets of the exploration companies are located in areas between the Hiawatha and Ottawa National Forests.

Among those scheduled to attend the Marquette meeting:

--Jorma Kallioikoski, head of Department of Geology and Geological Engineering, Michigan Technological University, who will present information on geological considerations.

--Don Sutherland, project manager of the American Copper and Nickel Company-Tennessee Valley Authority, of Michigan, who will discuss projected development and growth impacts on the U.P. economy.

--John Dernbach, Environmental Law Society, University of Michigan Law School, Ann Arbor, who will discuss constructing legislative safeguards for mining and reclamation.

--Al Viviora, engineering department, Rio Algom Mines, Elliott Lake, Ontario, who will present the industrial view of the Elliott Lake mining experience.

--Homer Seguin, staff representative, United Steel Workers of America, Elliott Lake, who will discuss union members' concerns about uranium mining.

--James Curry, Division of Forestry, Fish and Wildlife Development, T.V.A., Norris, Tenn. who will discuss industrial responsibility in environmental protection.

--Elizabeth Valentine, Michigan Department of Natural Resources, Lansing, who will speak on the role of the state with reference to public interest.

--Robert Augenstein, Office of Radiation Programs, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C., who will discuss the role of the federal government.

--Alex Sagady, Coordinator, Environmental Action of Michigan, Lansing, who will speak on the hazards of uranium mining.

Clark, a principal organizer of the Marquette meeting, said the two panelists from Elliott Lake in Canada, Viviora, an engineer and Seguin, a union staffer, may make a significant contribution to the meeting. Elliott Lake is the largest uranium mine in the world, she explained.

Shipments of basic bulk commodities—iron ore, coal and grain—in Great Lakes commerce during October totaled 13,710,526 net tons, the Lake Carriers' Association reported today. Volume for the month was the least since 1960, reflecting continued labor problems in upper Lakes iron ore mines.

An alternative could be 'Viking Birdsfoot Trefoil'

Are you looking for another alternative in your farming operation? Growing "Viking Birdsfoot Trefoil" seed may be just the ticket for you. It offers two possibilities for income and the 2nd cutting harvested for seed. Here's how the program works.

New York State utilizes around 300,000 lbs. of Birdsfoot Trefoil seed annually. Because of production problems such as root rot in the traditional seed producing areas, the seed companies are having to import seed from Europe to satisfy the demand for seed. Because of this situation the seed companies are trying to develop seed producing areas in the Upper Peninsula. Our climate and lack of alternative cash crops make the Birdsfoot Trefoil production a viable alternative for a cropping program.

One meeting on this program was held in Sault Ste. Marie in November and a similar meeting will be held in January. The place to be determined yet. Basically the program works like this: All production is done under a strict contract. The contractor furnished foundation seed, pay all certification fees, pays for seed when delivered and accept all seed regardless of certified or not.

County Extension

by Elvin Hepker

The growers agree to grow seed to the best of his ability to reach certified seed standards, to deliver all seed produced to a seed company designated by the contractor and pay seed cleaner for services performed by the cleaner.

It may seem like a stiff contract, but using the necessary recommended practices the contract should present no serious problems.

The price of the seed is negotiable, but a suggested price of $1.25 per pound minimum was discussed and yields could reach 4 or 5 lbs. per acre under ideal conditions and with good production practices.

Insurance agencies consolidate

Jack Reque of Denny's Insurance Agency and Dan Malloy of Beaudin-Malloj Insurance Agency announced Friday their consolidation into the Denny-Beaudin-Malloj Insurance Agency.

Established in 1899 in Manistique, the Beaudin-Malloj agency is presently owned by Bill Beaudin and Malloy. Denny's agency, established in 1952 by Gordon Denny, is presently managed by Reque. Together, the agencies will employ five office persons and two agents. The new agency occupies an office across from the water tower on River Street.

Beaudin-Malloj was the oldest insurance agency in Schoolcraft County, Malloy says, and the new agency will be the largest.

Emeralds outlast Norway; Mustangs here tonight

There will be no rest for Coach Seb Rubick's Emeralds when they play host to Munising tonight.

The game, originally scheduled for Friday, was moved up one day to allow more Manistique fans to travel to Marquette Friday to see the Emeralds' girls team compete in the Class-B regional tournament.

Tonight, the Emerald boys will encounter a Mustang team that fell to Ishpeming 63-50 in its opening game Friday.

The Emeralds pulled out some well-fought games against Mid-Peninsula opponents this past week, knocking off Negaunee 56-45 on Friday and Norway 64-62 Tuesday night.

Senior John Pistulka paced the Emeralds in both contests. The 6-foot-6 forward collected 23 points, 11 rebounds, blocked five shots and accounted for 9 of his squad's 18 assists against the Miners. And at Norway, he had 20 points; 18 rebounds and seven assists.

Against the Knights, rated high in the Class C U.P. ranks, Manistique shot and rebounded better but still allowed 71 Norway field goal attempts for the night. "Their pressure defense caused us to turn the ball over more than we caused them to turn the ball over," Coach Rubick said of the Knights' full-court man to man press.

Hitting from the outside, the Emeralds sank 31 of 60 from the floor for 54 percent, while Norway hit 25 of 71 for 35 percent. Manistique dominated the boards with 41 rebounds to their hosts' 26.

After trailing 17-12 at the first stop and 32-28 at halftime, the Emeralds surged past the Knights in the third quarter to gain a 46-41 advantage going into the final eight minutes.

Manistique expanded the gap to 54-44 with six minutes to go and led 62-54 with less than four minutes remaining. The Knights closed it to 62-60 at 1:15, but Giles sank two free throws with forty seconds remaining to make it a fourpoint margin.

John Osterman, who led Norway with 23 points, meshed two free throws with 20 seconds left to finish the scoring. Norway had one more free throw opportunity, and another field goal try with one second left, but both missed the mark.

Others scoring for Manistique included Jim Curran, 14 points, and Gary Kaiser 10 points and 7 assists. Bob Danko and Norm Jahn chipped in 8 apiece. Giles had four points and 11 rebounds.

For the Knights, Van Goethem had 17 and Dave Kimichik, averaging 28.5 this year, was held to 11.

On Friday, the Emeralds had a rough time with Negaunee most of the way, falling victim to the Emeralds' disciplined fullcourt press in the first half. Negaunee, using short jumpers and layups, built up a 16-8 advantage by the first stop.

The Emeralds crept back in the second period, finally tying the game at 22-22 with an eight-footer by Pistulka. With 16 seconds left in the half, Kaiser put Manistique ahead for the first time 24-22 on a layup following a 55-foot pass from Pistulka.

The Miners tied up by halftime however, at 24-24.

In the third frame, the Emeralds fought off the Miner press to hold a 35-33 lead going into the fourth quarter. The Miners tied the game at 37-37 with 6:06 to go, but the Manistique outscored the visitors 15-4 in the next three and a half minutes as Negaunee's shooting fell off.

Manistique sank 21 of 40 field goal tries for 53 percent, compared to a 20 of 51 Miner success rate of 39 percent. The Emeralds outbounced their foes 26-20 and were better from the free throw line, 64-56 percent.

Jim Curran came off the bench to finish behind Pistulka with 16 points, and Kaiser added 10. Rubick credited Jahn with fine floor play to thread an offense through the press.

Steve Brownell led Negaunee with 10 points.

Rubick said sub George Danko, who tore ankle ligaments before the Miner contest, would be out for another week.

The agony of defeat shows on the face of St. Ignace wrestler John Garcia Tuesday night shortly before he is pinned by Emerald wrestler ace Brian Garcia (top). Manistique won the match 34-27.

BLACK BEARS

Grand Marais moans!

Mark Tatrow, stalwart Black Bear rebounder

Big Bay to host Emeralds Tuesday

The Big Bay de Noc Black Bears zero in on Grand Marais Friday in preparation for a big game clash against Manistique next Tuesday.

"I don't think they'll be overconfident when they come in here," said Big Bay Coach Dave Pelletier about the Emeralds.

The Black Bears, after sustaining a 70-60 loss at the hands of Claw River Friday, bounded back to rapid Bark River-Harris 75-66 Tuesday night. The victory brought the Bears' record up to 2-1 on the young season.

"We're getting better on offense," Pelletier said. "We're adjusting better." The coach noted an unorthodox triangle and two defense employed well by the Rockets was less troublesome when used by the Broncos Tuesday.

Pelletier said opponents are using this alignment and a box and one to cover his hot-shooting son, Gregg. Despite the pressure, the Bear guard-forward pumped in 26 against Rapid River and 30 points against the Broncos.

As Coach Pelletier explained it, the Bears sputtered in the first half Tuesday, claiming a 15-8 first period edge, but clung to a 27-26 edge by halftime. The Bears, with a 26-11 rebounded advantage in the second half, aided by sub John Miller, showed the margin to 51-40 by the final stanza.

The Broncos outpointed the Bears 26-24 in the final quarter to close the contest.

Contributing to the point totals were Fred Fox with 13, Mark Tatrow with 12 and Mike Pelletier with 10. As a team, the Bears hit 45 percent from the floor.

At Rapid River, Big Bay suffered through a cold third quarter after owning a 28-26 halftime edge. The Rockets took a 46-36 lead going into the fourth frame and outscored the Bears 26-22 the rest of the way.

For the night, Big Bay connected on only 26 of 86 for 30 percent. "You can't win ball games against Rapid River shooting like that," Pelletier said.

The Rockets were led by John McLenthan with 17 points. Tatrow had 12 and Fox 8 to aid the Bear cause.

Wrestlers top Saints to open up season

The Manistique Emeralds wrestling team, sponsored by the athletic booster club, started their season on a high note Tuesday night by beating the St. Ignace Saints 34-27.

Coach John Cappoferri said Wednesday that the team was hurting in the lighter weights during the match.

"We are inexperienced in some weights and in others just didn't wrestle to our potential," he said.

However, wrestlers in weights from 145 pounds up were more aggressive, he said.

Manistique gained 12 points early in the match on two forfeits by St. Ignace in the 98 and 105 pound class. However, the next four decisions went against the Emeralds.

Then at 145 pounds, D.J. Brady came through with a major decision over St. Ignace's Steve Campbell and stopped the Saints' momentum.

Brady won the match by a score of 12 to 2. In high school wrestling, if a wrestler beats his opponent by eight points, an extra point is added to the regular decision team score of three. For a difference in points of over 12, the team received five points.

Despite a loss at 155 pounds, the Emeralds won the remaining three out of four decisions by pins -- giving them six team points each.

Pinning their opponents were Brian Fountain, Ed Roddy and Jay Bowman.

Cappoferri said going into the 191 weight class, Manistique was behind by five points. The pin by Roddy enabled them to go ahead by one point.

The outcome of the match came down to the last contest between Bowman and St. Louis.

The coach said the number of people attending the match was helpful to the team effort. He said he hoped attendance would continue to improve.

Manistique meets Munising and Ishpeming at Munising Tuesday night.

Knights top JV Emeralds

The Manistique junior varsity Emeralds aim to get back on the victory train at 6:15 tonight when they host the Munising Mustangs.

The JVs were toppled by Norway Tuesday night, 50-48.

The Manistique junior varsity cagers posted their second win of the year against no losses by edging Negaunee 45-41 Friday.

The Emeralds led the entire contest and held off a late rally by the Miners. Jeff Savoie led the way with 19 points and 12 rebounds, followed by Paul Culey with 8 points and 11 rebounds. Other key scorers were Ben Godlewski with 8 and Gary Kettick, 6.

"We really put forth a great effort and came up with a big victory," said Emerald Coach Bob Ryan.

Freshmen 0-2

The Manistique Freshman Emeralds, 0-2, entertain Munising today, at 4:30 p.m.

The freshmen, who have sustained losses to Negaunee 59-30 and Norway 42-36, are hoping to break into the win column.

Girls blitz Maroons for 'B' district trophy

by Nancy England

After four years of being second best, the Emeralds girls finally put it all together last Thursday night, squelching the Menominee Maroons 41-28, to claim the first girls district title in the school's history and the first under coach Diane Stimac's tutelage.

The Emeralds now advance to regional action in Marquette and will clash with Gaylord, the Petoskey district champs at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Marquette High School gym.

With an 11-8 record and the home court advantage, the Maroons were said to be the stronger team. But the Emeralds stormed into the first quarter and took control of the game.

Karen Krusic began the Emerald drive, dumping in three consecutive baseline tosses. Jackie Krusic and Mary Gregurash rounded out the scoring, as the Emeralds racked up 10-2 lead at the end of the first eight minutes.

Coach Stimac's quintet had no intentions of giving up their lead and in the second quarter continued to outscore the Maroons, 10-7. Emeralds Jackie Krusic, Robin Larson, Jan Creeden and Mary Gregurash contributed to a 20-9 advantage by the intermission.

The Emeralds, who had played all season with the disturbing habit of late game slumps, conquered their handicap and stretched their lead to 28-18 at the end of the third frame.

The Emeralds, playing a slowdown strategy, still outscored the Maroons in the final quarter, 12-10. Jan Creeden, Jackie Krusic, Mary Gregurash and Robin Larson keyed the offensive attack.

An excellent Emerald defense smothered all hope of a Maroon victory.

The victory was unquestionably a balanced team effort as Mary Gregurash led the offensive attack for the Emeralds with 13 points. Robin Larson and Jackie Krusic followed with 8 apiece and Karen Krusic and Jan Creeden each dumped in six.

Wendy Evorsen and Becky Johnson were the offensive leaders for the Maroons, each donating 10 points.

The Emeralds totally dominated the boards, out-rebounding the Maroons, 57-22. Robin Larson pulled down 19. Karen Krusic held on to 16 and Jackie Krusic ripped down 14 missed shots.

Gaylord, 14-5, next foe

Gaylord will provide a stiff test for the Emerald girls in the Class B regional tournament at Marquette High School Friday night.

The Blue Devils, who will face Manistique in a 7:30 p.m. contest for the right to play Calumet for the regional trophy at 3 p.m. Saturday, own a 14-5 record.

Gaylord Coach Jim Mongeau told the Pioneer Tribune his team's record was built up in "a weak league", the Huron Shores Conference. But the blue Devils managed the mark despite some injuries and a lack of height.

Gaylord defeated Cheboygan 49-43 last Thursday night at Petoskey to claim the Class B district.

Overall, Manistique is 12-11 going into Friday's match-up. The Marquette regional champ will advance to the state quarter-finals at Flushing on Wednesday.

It was a joyous Manistique girls' cagers team, upper left, that defeated the Menominee Maroons in last Thursday's action in Menominee. The action-packed game brought the bench warmers to their feet, upper right, more than once as they rooted for their teammates on the floor.

Cheryl Turan helps provide an integral part of any ball game, middle right, that of cheering on the team to victory.

Robin Larson, 34, middle far right, gets off a pass to a teammate as the Maroon cagers try to avoid any more fouls.

It was a sad day for the Menominee Maroons as they unsuccessfully attempted to take the ball game away from the Emeralds.

City Police

Two incidents of malicious destruction, a burglary and possession of marijuana were reported by Manistique City Police Friday.

Barbara Traven, of the Colonial Motel in Manistique, reported malicious destruction of motel property on Nov. 25. She said towels and wash clothes were missing along with damage to a door that had been kicked in. The crime is still under investigation.

Wilbert J. Rousse, of 706 Oak St., reported malicious destruction to his vehicle on Nov. 28. He said the vehicle, which was parked behind his store on South Cedar Street, had its rear windows broken.

Patricia Johnson, of 111 S. Mackinac Ave., reported a burglary on Nov. 30. She said six tires were stolen from a storage shed at the rear of her house sometime last month. The tires included four F-78-14, two of them radial and two snow; two HR-78-15, both of them snow tires. The make of the tires was not reported.

John M. Ezakovich, 20, of Caro, was arrested at Arbutus Avenue near the forest service building Nov. 27 about 2 a.m. on charges of possession of a small amount of marijuana. Police said it appeared that Ezakovich and another person in the vehicle with him were spying on the conservation officer who had parked his car at the service building.

The officers had been chasing a pickup truck which was seen shinning deer. Since the Ezakovich vehicle had a CB radio antenna, the police said they might be acting as a lookout for the pickup. When they checked the identification of the driver, they said they smelled marijuana.

4H Report

by Chris Keener

4-H programs take a holiday vacation

December is a great time of the year. It is a time of joy. It is a time to think about your families and loved ones.

4-H programs in most townships will take a rest until after the new year. I'm really happy to hear that. We all need to take a break now and then.

I will be taking a vacation starting Dec. 5 until Jan. 13. So I will not be in the office. Please feel free to call or stop in the office. Bill Rakozy, 4-H Youth Agent, will be glad to help you.

Thompson Township 4-H Clubs will be holding a Christmas Party on Dec. 7 for all 4-H'ers, leaders and parents and friends in Thompson. Contact Charlene Turek for further information.

Inwood Township leaders and interested persons will be meeting at Mrs. Jim Hardy's in Cooks on Tuesday for craft workshops and get-togethers. I attended last Tuesday evening and really enjoyed the chance to visit and to learn at the same time.

Other townships may want to try this. I think it gives us all a chance to get to know one another better.

I want to wish everyone happy holidays and leave you with this message for the holidays. "Always laugh when you can. It is cheap medicine."

Doyle Township needs someone to help eight boys learn the basic skills in wood working. Contact Grace Jackson at 283-5991 if you have some spare time to help out.

Rural route carrier

There is a vacancy at the Gulliver Post Office for a substitute rural route carrier. Applications will be taken from Dec. 8-14. Contact the postmaster at the Gulliver Post Office.

A home full of family memories

It was holiday time and the old house was filled with merrymaking relatives, laughing and dining and playing and catching up on a lot of memories that each had over the years.

The children all had grown up in the house and its surrounding acreage. After graduation and marriage they dispersed to start their own families and live in their own houses, but for holidays they always came back.

It was a good time to travel back in time. It presented a feeling of warmth and happiness. As one said, "Your home is your home. Whether you live in it or not."

All in all, the children had some good times in the house through the years. "What great parties we used to have back in the old days," one said, as he continues with, "remember the time..."

It was always a festive time at the gatherings and the more solemn business of the world was put aside to rib younger brother about his earlier exploits as a growing child. It was a time of togetherness, when everyday "guards and defenses" could be let down.

The years have passed and now the children's children are grown up, some having children of their own. Mom and dad have passed away years earlier, but the festive occasions still occur every year, but in different houses with different children.

Talks always seems to go towards the old home and how many things have changed. One even tells of taking his kids to the house, walking up the front porch and taking a picture of his youngest playing on the porch where he played. He explained to the bewildered and bemused owners that, "my grandfather built this house and I wanted a picture of my kids on the front porch."

Sometimes it's not always possible to go back to your own home, as in the little story above. Such is the dilemma Hazel Hughson must be experiencing now. Hazel, along with her husband, Holly, owned the farm house which burned down on River Road last week. They owned the place for many years, until it was sold several years ago.

Hazel had stopped in last week, and was talking of the many fine memories she and her children had of the house.

The Hughsons were the first to have electricity wired in the house. They also planted all the trees that now stand so stately and majestic throughout the yard.

Their family was born and raised on the farm, as well as the Richards family of Manistique.

It's a piece of history that will be missed by all who were connected with it.

The following letter was received from Mrs. Geraldine Arbogs, 927 Garden Drive, Apt. 1-B, Baltimore, Maryland, 21221:

"Dear Sir,
"I am writing to inquire for your subscription rates. I am an old resident of Manistique, and in fact am the daughter of the last lighthouse keeper. His name was Walter Ottosen, and I am the youngest of the family, Geraldine.

"With the passing years so rapidly, I had not really taken stock of how fast they were passing until just today. I have meant to write to you before this, but you know what procrastination does to us all.

"The fall always reminds me of Manistique, the beauty of the colors and the changing colors of the leaves. When I go down to West Virginia and the mountains there, I relive my childhood over and over, and so starts my memories to return of the magic of childhood and its never-ending dreams.

"My one way to help me to refresh memories is a subscription to your paper. "I used to know a lady that worked for the Pioneer, but with the passing of time, I do not know that she is still with you...I cannot even remember her name; except on recall I do remember she said she used to call her children with a whistle instead of her voice? Do I ring any bells? Please write as soon as is convenient for you.

"Sincerely, (signed) Mrs. Geraldine Arbogs (Ottosen)."

The following article appeared in the Newberry paper recently:
"In the days of the Model-T, Dort, Essex and Hupmobile pollution was effectively minimized with an annual five-month ban on traffic in downtown Newberry. The restriction was enforced without issuing a single ticket simply by not plowing the streets.

"With a low steel roller, about eight feet in diameter and 10 feet wide, the snow was packed hard for sleigh and cutter traffic. This ponderous machine was propelled along its squealing course with four horse power: exhaust steaming from frost-whiskered nostrils in the crackling cold. To see a 350 HP auto match that feat might lead one to believe that they don't even make horse-power like they used to.

"Fewer autos were in use county-wide than the number of junked Jalopies along one stretch of township road today. This lack of congestion can be attributed to two factors: the cash-on-the-barrelhead-ownership policy for cars and the scarcity of limited access freeways. Road construction depended on the labor and equipment contributed by the households along the thoroughfare. The main arteries were 'improved' logging roads with encroaching shoulders of hardwoods too dense for public littering or billboard advertising.

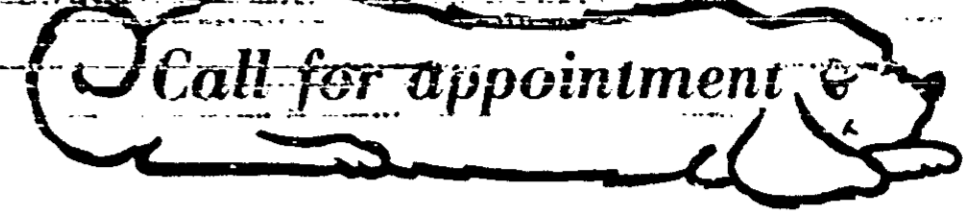

"Just as today, opposing views regarding fuel conservation were held by the gimlet-eyed auto owners and the fledgling petroleum industry. The unjustly maligned supplier established a precedent by pegging the price of petrol a fraction below the prevailing wage (an astronomical dollar a day). The very suspicious motorist of that pre-credit card era countered by insisting that the glass measuring tank be hand pumped plump full. When it descended to the prescribed level the meniscus had better be a full three-eighths inch past the mark and the hose completely drained into the tank.

"The gas tank was up forward for proper consumer surveillance. There would be no 'thumb on the scales' capers behind his back with an electric slot machine ripping off his hard earned bread."

Out Our Way

News from Road 437
by Josie Peterson

Hi Folks
On my awakening to Thanksgiving morning I beheld a gorgeous sight. Wednesday the crystal stary shaped snowflakes unnumbered, began to fall silently. They seemed to know they had a special task to perform on this drab looking earth of ours.

They kept falling well into the night, forming a soft blanket of white, covering the bareness of the ground. There wasn't a tree, shrub, even the weeds that were't wrapped in soft velvet.

The troughs of the brick and popular were brims in white giving them a look of peace. The pine trees looked like they held heavy white bouquets of fluffy cotton, which was scattered all over their branches.

Even the stumps had a beauty of their own, with huge piles of fallen snow covering them, made them look like huge mushrooms. Folks, this is really nature's Christmas card to the world.

Saturday, started out with a beautiful sunrise, making the landscape sparkle and glisten. Such beauty is hard to find anywhere, but in our flaky winter wonderland.

After a new snowfall there are no footprints to mar the beauty of her sculptor's work in the forest.

Evening brought the forest, how it flamed above the world, its wild red glory clouds lit up the dying day as the shades of night began to fall. The sky seemed to be splashed with whips of fire, as the sun dipped to rest, while colors of gold and orange flames shot up from the west.

To me, this is really God's writing across the sky. I never can lose the thrill of nature's many mysteries.

December, our last month of the year. As it comes to an end, may we all leave our part behind. We all at one time, or another have some sorrow and pain, for the many a flower we had wished to have, has had a thorn hidden to bring us a bit of pain. Yet, we have had some blessings in between.

As the clouds cover the sun at times, they cannot banish it completely. After a rainfall, the sun comes out to shine, a rainbow may appear, then courage returns to fill our hearts, and face the day. Peace and contentment can always be found, when you close to nature; if we just open up our eyes to the beauty that surrounds us.

As our year comes to a close keep in mind this quotation of Henry David Thoreau's: "If I can put one touch of a rosy sunset into the life of any man or woman, I shall feel I have worked with God."

Journalistic integrity versus balance sheet

News, publicity roles

For every approach an editor may take in running a newspaper, there are perhaps 50 more approaches on the part of readers and advertisers in the community.

This is good. And surprising as it may seem, there is quite a bit of plurality in the decision-making process on a weekly newspaper such as the Pioneer-Tribune. The production and placement of news articles are not the result of any one person's whim.

Those considerations should serve as a backdrop for the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital board's public criticism of the Tribune last week. The board endorsed a doctor's disappointment in the size and placement of a story on the hospital's accreditation by The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

The board is understandably proud of achieving a two-year accreditation, when nearly half of all hospitals reportedly fail to do so. The hospital deserves commendation. And the board understandably sensitive to "bad" publicity on what it may consider as internal problems.

But public relations for public institutions is not concern to be delegated to a newspaper. It should be important enough to merit special attention when frequent developments at the hospital are in the public interest. The newspaper then has a role in communicating these and other developments, both at its own initiative and at others' suggestions.

The higher goal for both sides should be to serve the public as a whole, and not merely to pursue narrower institutional and newspaper interests. To accomplish this, there needs to be an openness on the part of public institutions and a willingness on the part of a newspaper to present a balanced view.

We believe we can do better and we think the hospital can, too. And we'll be glad to discuss this matter with the board at any regular meeting.

Support the girls

The Manistique Emeralds' girls basketball team has earned congratulations from the community for winning the school's first girls cage district trophy.

The girls opened favored Menominee last Thursday to advance to Class B regional play against Gaylord at Marquette at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The winner meets Calumet at 3 p.m. Saturday in the finals.

Like obliging gentlemen, the boys teams' scheduled contests with Munising were moved back from Friday to tonight to allow more Manistique people to travel to the games at Marquette High School.

Let's see that we do.

Along the Sidelines

and control. "Instead of issuing editorial commands from headquarters (a la William Randolph Hearst and a la John P. McGoff) today's chains practice something called 'local editorial autonomy,' a soft shoe phrase that can cover a lot of omissions," the article says.

There is uncertainty here over exactly what a "soft shoe phrase" is, but there is also the conviction that local autonomy is preferable to corporate dictatorship. Better a soft shoe than a poke in the eye with a sharp stick.

Chain or independent, a newspaper must reflect a community's needs and standards and opinions, as well as its news. To be effective, a newspaper must be willing to assume a leadership role in comforting the afflicted and afflicting the comfortable.

That doesn't make everybody happy, but that's not the function of a newspaper. The function of a newspaper is to be accurate, complete, objective, honest, consistent and fair, among other things. Those objectives do not sit well with the absentee tycoons who place profits and political power as their prime objectives.

If we must have absentee ownership of our newspapers...and for many communities there is no alternative...then it is far better to insist on local editorial autonomy and independence than to quietly acquiesce to the whims of absentee arrogance and the pitiful performance of the journalistic prostitutes who conform in the fear of losing their jobs.

It's a question of pride, perhaps. Pride in your job, pride in your community, pride in the newspaper that you work for. Pride in yourself, your God and you conscience.

To some people, those things are not important. Thank heavens a lot of people feel otherwise.

Time magazine recently chose to examine what it called the problem of "The Vanishing Home-Town Editor," and the temptation to comment is just too great.

The basis for commentary is 22 years as a home-town editor, plus an involuntary vanishing act last June precipitated by the arrogant eccentricities of an absentee owner enjoying a monopolistic situation.

Thomas Griffith, the author of the piece, was right on target with some of the observations, but also managed to flounder around in the back 40 with others.

As might be expected, we are presented with an analysis of the American Press as viewed from the towers of Rockefeller Center in New York City. That's fine for objectivity, but a little weak in the nuts and bolts departments.

Griffith deprecates the role of transient editors and publishers "brought in from the outside and just passing through in their careers." He notes, "Some have about as much feeling for a community's sense of itself and its needs as does the imported manager of a franchised taco joint on the highway outside town."

Right on, bunkie. Add to those the frightened incompetents who have attained their position by surviving periodic purges by the chain ownership, and you do indeed get editorial "leadership" that is anxious not to rock the boat locally.

And that local leadership is not about to come from corporate headquarters, where various hacks and accountants carefully scan the balance sheets while ignoring the news content. Under chain ownership, a newspaper's success is measured by a financial, rather than artistic, yardstick.

The sad part about this is that local merchants and advertisers are being suckered into financing the eccentricities and political bias of the absentee owner and failing to get responsible editorial comment and direction in return.

The corporate concern is the bottom line, and editorial excellence be damned. Indeed, they do not want editorial excellence, for that denotes a certain independence of thought that might run contrary to the power structure that feeds their bloated balance sheet.

Curiously, the Time magazine article chooses to denigrate local editorial effort

Ants and grasshoppers

Came across this interesting fable the other day and thought it was clever enough to be passed on to Tribune readers. It's one of those pieces with a purpose that should get you thinking.

There was once a colony of ants who spent all their time scurrying about looking for morsels of food which they hauled home to their granary. It was hard work but they knew it was necessary to keep them from starving during the long winter months.

One day a large family of grasshoppers moved into the neighborhood—a noisy, carefree crew who spent all their time dancing and singing. This carousing continued far into the night, to the great annoyance of the ants who wanted to sleep after their exhausting work.

The situation became worse as more and more grasshoppers swarmed into the neighborhood. The ants figured that the first arrivals had sent out signals inviting their friends and relatives to join them; but in any case the old neighborhood was no longer the nice place it used to be.

Twice as hard
In an effort to keep their minds off the troubles created by the grasshoppers, the ants worked twice as hard as usual and they looked forward to the winter. Then, they hoped, things would quiet down and they could relax and enjoy themselves while nibbling on all the delicious food they had stored up.

However, this was not to be. Hardly had the ground frozen solid when a delegation of grasshoppers showed up at the door leading to the underground maze where the ants lives.

Asking to see the boss ant, the spokesman for the grasshoppers addressed him in these words:

"Pretty chilly, isn't it?" The ant nodded and after a moment's silence the grasshopper continued.

"The fact is, we need some food for our people," he blurted.

The boss was outraged.
"Look, you lazy bums," he exploded, "all summer long you did nothing but loaf while we knocked ourselves out storing up food for the winter. That food is ours because we worked for it, so just bug off!"

The spokesman for the grasshoppers drew himself up haughtily.
"You don't understand. We didn't work because your kind of work isn't our bag. We're in show business and couldn't get any engagements. So if you don't give us food we're just gonna take it."

"By what right?" asked the ant.
"Because we're bigger than you," was the reply. And with that the grasshoppers kicked down the granary door and forced the ants to haul all their precious grain to where the grasshoppers were spending the winter.

A Long Winter
With all the good food the grasshoppers enjoyed themselves all through the long winter, merrily dancing and singing. Unfortunately, when the warm weather returned, there was nary an ant alive, all having perished of hunger.

When the days became warm and pleasant the grasshoppers came out into the sunshine, and once again they frolicked as they had the year before. Never once did they give a thought for the morrow. Indeed they never even auditioned for a TV spot or visited a recording studio.

So when the weather again turned cold the grasshoppers once more found themselves with nothing to eat. But, alas, this time they did not have a colony of ants with which to share the wealth.

Finally, (silk) dye was cast

This is a column that has taken nine years to write.

It's supposed to be good to relate embarrassing moments to others, I think. But perhaps the only blushing experiences we tend to relate are the simple, harmless ones.

The type that involve personal, long-enduring ignorance and timidity are a bit tougher.

The subject is ties. Some men declare they absolutely will not wear them. A few admit, only to their wife, that they will wear one, but they don't know how to tie it.

For years and years I followed that latter path. But as a single person, pride had control. And as a college student, it was too embarrassing to acknowledge such an inability to make oneself socially presentable.

Only quick requests for someone down the dorm hall to tie a "windsor."

Side Tracks

by Arnold Mackowik

whatever that was, saved me from devastation at the hands of peers.
Observing others knotting up their necks with colorful cravats, and a lesson sheepishly sought annually or less often, all failed. I still couldn't get the hang of it.
Time went on. Tired of re-using knots a dozen times, and with a few more years of college behind me, I came to the inevitable conclusion that someone wishing to present himself as an educated person should be able to at least tie a Cub Scout knot.

The shame was too much. The (silk) dye was cast. I went to the college library to study, in words I could understand, the deep secret of windsor-making. To be honest, the words didn't help much. But the accompanying pictures were great.

While no one was looking, I took the material back to the dorm. And I practiced and practiced and practiced when nobody was around.

Success! But no one was going to find out how long it took (about 21 years). A few days later, a friend down the hall, an impeccable dresser from South Carolina watched me proudly knotting up.

"You know how to tie a double Windsor?" he exclaimed. "Would you show me?"

"Sure, kid," I said, as if I had done it since I was three.

10 MPH limit

To the Editor:

Dear Mayor Hewitt and The Council:
The day before the newspaper articles on downtown speeding appeared, Public Safety Director Joe McDonough invited one of the United Involved Citizens directors, Reg. B. Christensen to cruise downtown Manistique at different speeds. At the 25 mile per hour limit, I said to Director McDonough of Public Safety, "How could a driver stop in time, if some elderly senior citizen was crossing or some youngster was in the middle of the street?"

It appeared that both myself and Director McDonough agreed that they could not. Then Director McDonough and I both agreed that a lowering of the limit of 25 MPH, which apparently is an old ordinance could be changed. A new limit of 10 MPH for downtown areas was thought to be safe.

From the side of United Involved Citizens we strongly recommend this be done as quickly as possible. Even one life lost due to the present 25 MPH limit, would be too many. Precious souls should not be put in jeopardy with the existing limit. And local public safety people have carried out faithfully enforcement at the existing speed limit of 25 MPH.

Reg. B. Christensen

This communication concurred to by the 5 directors of United Involved Citizens.

School's impact

To the Editor:

The high school impact on the community or the community impact on the high school? The proverbial two sides to every question.

What the students wish to smoke and drink is their choice. However, the impact of the students before school and at noon on the community, their verbal and visual use of four letter words, their destruction of property, their intimidation and harassment of people, and their planned parenthood demonstrations do not create an atmosphere of willingness to vote for school millage proposals. Littering should be listed, too.

Questions about government

To the Editor:

Are we entitled to know why and how our county government functions? Why does there seem to be two sets of rules to go by?

Why are there septic systems being installed on the shores of Indian Lake, with building permits in low flood plains areas, and in other areas, in equal lands or better, persons are not permitted to do so?

Why can't our board of appeals of three, override with their yes vote of two the right to issue a permit to install a septic system? Why do we need an appeals board if they cannot overrule the board of health?

Why is not our state representative, Charles Varnum, a man voted in office by the people of our community to represent them in controversial matters of this nature, allowed to help make a decision on such important matters?

Does any county official have the right to suggest to a prospective purchaser of property in the Ash Resort Area, be sure and get an attorney before you buy? Why are there so many county officials so ready and willing to condemn this property here in the Ash Resort area without good and just cause?

Why does the valuation on these lands continue to be so high when they, the assessors, know they are in question as to their value?

Why does the county road commission refuse to maintain the main road in the Ash Resort area, when my people pay in more than $25,000 a year in taxes?

Why are there certain county officials that have requested the land sales division of the State of Michigan to check my sales and operation herein the Ash Resort area? And they did so, in my home with all my records, and have found nothing wrong in any way. They found that I have operated within the law, 100 percent. There are no charges of any kind against me for violations.

The lands sales division of the State of Michigan says, as of Oct. 1, 1973 that we, as private owners of land may sell up to 25 parcels without being in violation of any acts.

Why should Mrs. Ash and I have to apologize to anyone here in this county or anywhere else, for the way we have operated our affairs? We have not butted into their affairs, so why should they in ours?

Of Evel, Heath bars; more important things

There are a couple of things you should know, about how to treat TV executives, and how to eat Heath candy bars...

...Evel Knievel recently pleaded guilty to charges of hitting a TV executive with a baseball bat, breaking the guy's arm. Evel didn't like something the executive had written about him.

This sounds like a great idea for a TV series. People are bored watching brave Knievel jump his motorcycle over canyons and buses. Why doesn't he jump it over a long line of TV executives, live and in color, once a week?

The TV executives could be lined up, flat on their backs, on a football field. They could be arranged according to their contributions to the nation's culture.

At the far end, nearest to Knievel's descending wheels, could be the executive who decided it would be cute if one of the Osmond brothers were a girl. Next could come the executive who introduced Laverne to Shirley.

There also would be dangerous spots reserved in Knievel's line for all TV bosses responsible for big-family shows in which hundreds of siblings resolve each other's crises by exchanging boring sermons while waiting to get into the bathroom.

Viewers would vote each week on which executives should be added to the imperiled line below Evel's soaring motorcycle. At least one executive would be added each week, and none would be allowed to leave, except to go to the siblings' bathroom.

The terrible suspense would grow weekly, right along with the length of the line of prone executives. The series would not end until either Knievel or at least three TV executives were killed.

The details of the fatal statistics would not be important to the Nielsen ratings. The important factor would be that, no matter who lost the thrilling gamble with death, the viewing public would be the winner.

...The dumbest commercial currently on TV stars several people taking huge, crunching bites out of Heath candy bars. Anyone who knows anything knows this is no way to eat a Heath bar.

Heath bars are delicious but they have always been a small, and they shrink more every year. Therefore they must be savored, not chomped.

As you must know, a Heath bar is a thin piece of hard toffee, thinly coated with chocolate. It is this constant thinness that makes it difficult to eat a Heath properly, but it can be done if you

If It Fitz

by Jim Fitzgerald

really put your mouth to it.
The important thing is to eat the chocolate off the toffee without breaking the toffee, which is exceedingly brittle. Your teeth must barely penetrate the chocolate, without touching the toffee. Once the chocolate coating is dislodged, it should be slid gently off the toffee. This is done by slowly pulling the toffee out of your mouth while your teeth keep the chocolate on your tongue.

It is sometimes possible to remove the chocolate coating in only two large pieces, one from each side of the bar. Such a maneuver is rare, but when it happens it is more satisfying than peeling an orange in one peel.

The chocolate should be eaten slowly while the toffee is held far away from your mouth. Sometimes I put the toffee on a table and walk away from it, as though I really didn't care. This is fun, but not a good idea if you own a cat.

When the chocolate is gone, put the toffee in your mouth. You still do not bite it. You suck it; moving it occasionally from cheek to cheek, but always with caution. You still do not want to break the toffee.

As the candy melts, it becomes bumpy. The bumps irritate your tongue slightly. This irritation is a warning that your Heath bar is nearing its end and if you want that marvelous taste to remain longer you'd better quit sucking.

Put the diminishing toffee in the corner of your mouth and try to forget it's there. Act the same way you did when you put it on a table.

Eventually, of course, the Heath bar will be gone. But you won't believe how long it lasted under proper handling. Once my sister, Terrible Jean, started eating a Holloway Sucker at the same time I started on a Heath. When my Heath lasted longer than her Holloway, it drove her nuts.

I'll never champion a Heath. It is often said there is a little boy inside all grown men. The little boy inside me eats all my candy for me.

Invitation extended to singers

If you love to sing the hymns of the Christian Church, you are cordially invited to come and sing with Adventist friends in their newly refurbished church at the corner of Range and Walnut streets, Manistique, at 3 p.m., Dec. 10.

"As cold and snowy as the day was last year when we had the hymn sing," stated Dr. Merle Wehner, local elder of the congregation, "every word and every chair was filled. This year, we plan to have more hymn singing, interspersed by about five special numbers to highlight the program."

Pastor C. Jim Danforth and Dr. Wehner welcome Christians of all faiths. "We have so much to be happy about, and singing is one of the finest ways to express this happiness," stated the Pastor.

The program will last about an hour and 15 minutes.

Family Bible study

A serious need for regular family Bible study will be stressed in the Manistique congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses as a result of suggestions made at a weekend Christian assembly in Menominee.

Edward Clement, local Witness spokesman, said the assembly also highlighted the need to gather regularly at Christian meetings, large and small.

Maurice O'Callaghan, of Brookline, New York, midwest overseer of Jehovah's Witnesses, told the delegates Sunday that Christians need to pay close attention to the promises of God to be fulfilled in our day and not to give out in doing fine works. "Wait on Jehovah patiently for the full vindication of his name and the salvation of God's people," he said.

More than 55 area residents were among the 1,385 persons in attendance Sunday for O'Callaghan's address, "Maintain Your Callings Firm to the End."

The conference was sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York on behalf of 19 upper Michigan and northeast Wisconsin congregations.

King's Daughters

King's Daughters of the Bethel Baptist Church will hold their annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Carlton Hollister on Dec. 15. Participants are reminded about secret pals or $2 exchange gift, and to bring two dozen Christmas cookies for lunch.

Medical Care

Diversional therapy keeps patients busy

Time is going by so fast for me with the busy holiday coming up that I have not even taken time to write the news. At this point, three weeks ago seems like last week to me but it has all been fun. It do enjoy the rushing and everything else that goes with Christmas.

Our patients here have been very in diversional therapy making all kinds of pretty things for Christmas. They are very proud of the work they have done and have good reason to be as they have turned out twice as much as last year and some of them have made their own gifts for family and friends as well.

Thanksgiving was very special for everyone here this year. The meal was served family style with all the tables set with tablecloths and the food was dished out to each individual at their table. The turkey was carved by A.J. Diller while they watched and a small glass of wine was served with the meal.

The reaction of the patients made it all worthwhile. One of the ladies said she cried afterwards to think that young people would work so hard and they that day so special for them and they all enjoyed the meal. The time efforts go to the staff for all the special thank you's poured into this project and to the kitchen for the extra work in preparing the food.

A Thanksgiving party was held Nov. 22 and was sponsored by the Lutheran Church Women. A luncheon was served and entertainment was provided by the ladies. The party had a good turnout and the afternoon was enjoyed by all. Patients who were unable to attend were served in their rooms.

Thank you to Merle Archey for bingo prizes.

Birthday greetings for the first two weeks of December for to Anna Somervald Dec. 3, Marie Leonhardt and Barbara Deterville, Dec. 4, Anna Bradford Dec. 5, Dale Streeter Dec. 7, Louise Halsey Dec. 8.

Have a nice week.

Who would doubt that there is much evil in the world today?
Whenever man lives, his hatred and cruelty can frustrate all hopes for a better way of life.
But man's gross impulses must be restrained. His energies can be harnessed for constructive goals.
The Church, a powerful force for good, labors to redeem men and to make a better world.
Today the Church needs you - and you need the Church.

Senior Citizens
 by Eileen Males

As you can see by our advertisements for invitations for bids for our new Manistique Area Senior Citizens Center, another step towards our new building has been taken.

I would like to ask each one of you to take time and include our new center in your prayers because we have certain things not in our favor. Our timetable is extremely short and this is an unfavorable time to solicit such bids. But our hands are tied because our contract with the Office of Services to the Aging says it has to be done now. But I know if you remember us with your prayers God will see that all of these problems will be taken care of.

Saturday night I stayed awake all night worrying even though I prayed, "Lord, it's in your hands, I give my problems to you." He was willing to take them but I wasn't willing to give them to him so I had a big minus because I didn't have faith. But I firmly believe it was through prayer that we got the grant for our new center and I know it'll be through your prayers in our behalf that we'll meet all the deadlines and get sufficient interests in these bids. Please pray daily for your center. Thank you!

Even though I've been concerned about the cost of the building, etc., a bright spot comes in my day that sends me sky high and the kindness you people show us overwhelms me. Last Friday our good friend, Bill Olsen, gave us a snow blower. This man has been an inspiration to me for a long time and what he does for us is beyond measure. I told the girls at work after we priced snow blowers and we didn't have anyone answer our ad to sell us a used snow blower that we just would have to pay about it because this was a service our people really needed. Thank you, Bill.

We had such a good time at the Gulliver Community Building last Thursday evening. We will have our Christmas program there Dec. 15. Our time has been changed and please notice this: doors will be open at 5 p.m. and potluck will be served at 6 p.m. After our meal we will have a Christmas program, then cards and bingo will be played. Please line up your own table.

You don't have to be a senior citizen to join in our fun as we are doing this strictly on a volunteer basis. Sharon and Rita live at Gulliver Lake and I am a part-time resident. Plans for this program started last summer when we bought the "Hen House". Our greeters for Dec. 15 will be Kathryn and Edwin Johnson. Please attend and join in.

We will have health screening Dec. 21 and hope our rural friends will use this day for their screening appointment. This test would cost you about $80 if you should have to pay for it. The fee is $3 for persons 55 and over and $5 under 55. It is open to anyone 25 years of age and older.

Extensive tests will be given—such as blood pressure, vision, vital capacity, hearing, electro-cardiogram, urine testing for sugar, albumin, acetone and blood, blood testing for hemoglobin, uric acid, creatine, cholesterol and glucose and a tuberculin test.

Memorials were given to the Manistique center in the name of Gordon Denny by Ken and Doris VanEyk, Eva L. Broman, Milton E. and Mabelle LaPorte, Mrs. Hector Popour J.P. and Marcella Quick, Charles Rustecki of Manistique Topi and Die. Donald and Betty DeSautel, Eugene and Ruth Haskins, Chauncey and Irene Hinkson, Dick and Dorothy Larson, Mike DeJonge, Bill Demond, Michael K. DeJonge, Barb Stoll, Ralph Saveland, Gerrit DeJonge, Elsie and Malcolm Nelson, Bob and Walter Nelson, Alice and Vern Nelson, Conrad Nelson, Denton Nelson, Robert Nelson, Harry and Evelyn Swarstrom, Don and Sis Hoholik, Theron and Helen Southard, Twin City Service Agency, Inc. Harriet Abramsen and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Abramsen.

Memorials were also given to the center in the name of Ken Seidell by Bob and Jerry Sleeper and family and in the name of Mary (Marie) Smith from Helen and Rudy Evonich.

Building fund donations came from Ernest and Freda Smith, Dorina DeSautel, Rose Curley, Lawrence and Grace Tennat, Bill and Mae McDermott, Cornelia Arrowood, Carol Shelly, and one donor who wishes to remain anonymous.

The following have held card parties and donated the proceeds to the building fund: Lil Farley, Myrtle Quick, Dorothy Carlson, Celestine Christensen, Eileen Males, and Elma Bowersox.

Thrift Store Donations came from Bill and Mae McDermott and Vera Seidell.

Mrs. Robert Sellman brought in some lovely gifts that can be used as Christmas gifts for nursing home patients.

The following are wished a happy birthday: Lester Brietzman, Edith Vandyk and James Jacobs, Dec. 8; Adelaide Schulte, George Tufnell, Matthew J. Weber and Seb Weber, Dec. 9; Charles S. Reid, Virginia Foye, Marjorie Burley and Margaret McNeil, Dec. 11; Mina Boonstra, Evelyn Baron and Wilbert Lambert, Dec. 13; and Emma Harrington, Dec. 15.

Nutritious ideas for pre-schoolers

Family Living

by

Cecile Turner

Extension Home Economist

During the preschool years, the foods children eat and the food habits they establish are very important to their growth and development and lifelong eating habits.

For a number of reasons, snacks play a big role during these years, says Anita Dean, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University.

"First of all, small children have small stomachs," she points out. "There's just no way small children can eat enough in three meals to provide all the nutrients and energy they need. Good snacks are necessary to complete a nutritional balanced diet."

Second, the foods children learn to snack on during the preschool years tend to be the foods they snack on as adults. If cake and candy and other sweet foods become a childhood habit, they will probably continue to be a favorite munchies of the adult, who probably cannot afford all those calories.

Providing children with nutritious snacks takes some planning, but it isn't all that difficult. Choose foods from the four basic food groups, and offer them in forms children prefer.

From the fruit and vegetable group, for instance, you can choose raw carrot, celery, cucumber sticks, apple wedges, orange sections, fruit juices, banana slices, raisins, cauliflowerets, raw turnip strips and crunchy cabbage wedges.

From the meat group, choose hard-cooked egg in wedges or slices, cold meat cubes or strips, peanut butter on crackers, cheese cubes or strips, or cottage cheese.

Nutritious cookies like oatmeal and peanut butter, crusty bread made with enriched flour, enriched crackers and unsweetened cereals are some of the possibilities from the bread and cereal group.

From the milk group, choose milk, chocolate milk, cheese, plain or fruit or ice cream.

Preschoolers especially like foods they can eat with their fingers. They usually prefer milk-flavored foods to spicy or strong-flavored ones. And children over age 2 enjoy crunchy foods.

Parents can help children establish good food habits by setting a good example. If Mom and Dad eat nourishing snacks, the small fry are likely to do so, too.

Encourage your children to try new foods, but never force them. Give them just a tiny bit the first time -- so children easily get discouraged by large servings. If they like it, they can have more. If they don't like it, don't make a scene -- but don't give up. Children like and dislikes change frequently. Maybe the next time you serve it, they love it.

EASY TURKEY DIVAN

6 slices cooked turkey or 2 cups cooked turkey
2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen broccoli spears, cooked and drained
6 slices process American or Cheddar cheese, about 6 ounces
1 can (12 1/2 ounces) evaporated milk
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream mushroom soup
1 can (3 1/2 ounces) French fried onion rings

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Arrange turkey in ungreased baking dish, 11 x 7 1/2 x 1 1/2 inches. Top with hot broccoli, cover with cheese. Stir together milk and soup; pour over cheese. Bake uncovered 25 minutes. Sprinkle with onion rings and bake 5 minutes longer. 4 to 6 servings

Holiday treats overflow; precautions for parents

Dishes overflowing with candy and nuts set out for all to sample are a familiar sign of the holiday season. But for families with young children they can lead to a holiday nightmare.

"A child finds these 'goodies' irresistible. And in a state of excitement, the youngster can easily 'breathe in' a candy or nut. Such small objects can choke him or her or lodge deep in the lungs, causing severe lung problems," warns Ted Adiska, RRT, Department of Respiratory Therapy, St. Francis Hospital, Escanaba, and president of Michigan Lung Association's UP Regional Board.

These tragedies are needless, according to the Michigan Lung Association. But they are the leading cause of accidental death in the home among children under six. It has been estimated that 87 percent of these cases are the result of carelessness.

Peanuts are the most common objects aspirated, says Adiska. Other leading offenders include popcorn kernels, small toys, pins and buttons. These objects abound during the holidays.

The Christmas Seal people offer the following precautions:

- don't leave children unwatched.
- don't set a bad example for children by holding pins or other objects in your mouth, or biting on pencils, toothpicks, straws, etc.

Cut your own in the forest for just $1

Though it may not be well known, individuals may cut Christmas trees from national forest lands for $1 per tree with a permit.

A spokesman for the forest service headquarters at Manistique said Friday that the service has designated areas in the local forest where trees may be cut. Areas include:

For Spruce, Sec. 18, township 43 north, range 18 west, on the west side of Stevens Lake Road.

For Red Pine, Sec. 28, township 44 north, range 17 west, on the south side of Thunder Lake Road between M-94 and Steuben.

For Balsam Fir, any where on forest lands except in the areas of timber production by private firms and camping areas.

The spokesman said this offer is only valid during the Christmas season. Permits may be obtained at the forest service headquarters.

'Chicken George'

The Christmas Seal people have come up with a tasty main dish that can be prepared the night before, and served with quick-cook rice and a salad.

CHRISTMAS CHICKEN GEORGE

3-1/2 pound chicken
1 tsp. each paprika, celery salt, curry powder, oregano
1-1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. freshly-ground pepper
1/4 cup butter, melted
1 cup sliced almonds
1-1/2 cups cream of half & half
1/2 cup cultured sour cream

Heat oven to 350. Combine all seasonings and stir in melted butter. Use more fat if chicken is plump. Put chicken in baking dish, spread with fat and seasoning, coating pieces well. Add Almonds. Pour cream around pieces. Cover baking dish. Bake 45 minutes. Uncover. Mix a little of the sauce in the dish with the sour cream and pour over and around pieces. Bake uncovered 15 to 20 minutes or until chicken is tender and top is browned.

Remember: mail early

As the height of the 1977 holiday season approaches, Postmaster Karen Robbins urges all Manistique residents to immediately begin depositing greetings and parcels in the mail stream.

Although mail volume will increase tremendously between now and mid-December, the Postal Service is committed to having all post offices clear of mail by Christmas Day.

"In view of the excellent cooperation received from early mailers so far this year," Postmaster Robbins said, "we are confident that holiday mail deposited immediately will be delivered in time for Christmas.

"The employees of the Manistique Post Office are doing an extra-ordinary job of processing and delivering the large holiday mail volume with dispatch and efficiency.

"The general public can assist further by shopping and mailing as early as possible," she added.

Customers sending gifts and greetings to military personnel stationed outside of the United States and to friends in foreign countries should consult the local post office for suggested mailing dates to overseas destinations.
