

Nice dose of rain

THESE DAISIES received a healthful dose of wet stuff this week as some 3.47 inches of rain was recorded over the past seven days. The rain should ease the predicted drought conditions for this area but July and August still loom ominously ahead with their notoriously scorching days. Last year only .77 of an inch was recorded during the month of June. Total this year has soared to 5.33 inches. The figures are taken from the Manistique City Sewage Disposal Plant on M-129.

Youth parade starts at Triangle Park

The Manistique Area Target Committee, an off shoot of the recent town meeting, has announced plans for Independence Day celebrations in Manistique.

According to Rose Vincent, secretary of the target committee, festivities have been set for Saturday, July 2, and will run from a 10 a.m. youth parade to fireworks and a dance Saturday evening.

Area youngsters are asked to gather at 9:15 a.m. at Triangle Park to line up for the youth parade. Judging will take place at 9:45 and the parade will start promptly at 10 a.m.

The youngsters will leave Triangle Park and head north on Cedar Street. At Main Street they will turn east and then north on U.S. 2 and proceed to the AF Hall Stadium where awards will be given out.

Other participants in the parade will include the high school band, Precisionettes, Boy Scouts and the VFW men and auxiliary.

Awards will be given in three categories: patriotic, original and prettiest. First and second place awards will be given in each of the following groups: ages 1-3; 4-6; 7-9; and 10-12. In addition, groups of two or more carrying out a theme, vehicles and pets will be awarded place finishes.

Kiddie games will be held for grade school children before the fireworks, at 9:30 p.m. Saturday. The games are sponsored by the Manistique Youth Commission. Helpers will be Patti Alexander, Kris Reque and Sally Turan.

A dance, featuring the band Free Flight, will begin at 9 p.m. at the band shelter. A $1 admission fee will be charged. The dance is scheduled to run until midnight.

Barbara Bontekoe will be in charge of the chaperones. The Elks Club will also be helping with chaperones.

All ages are invited to the dance. While the young at heart dance to the music, fireworks will dance across the sky beginning at 10 p.m.

50 homes eligible for city's housing program

by Arnold Mackowiak

Applications for Manistique's 1977-78 HUD-funded housing rehabilitation program will be taken next week, with about $100,000 available for low interest loans.

About 50 homes will be eligible for the city-wide program, City Manager Robert Risik told the city council Monday night. Risik said the emphasis will be on low and moderate income persons. "A cumulative family income above $10,000 will not qualify," Risik told the council.

The money will be targeted for four major groups, broken down as follows: 17 for elderly or handicapped; 25 small family dwellings; eight large family houses. The county building inspector will determine what repairs are needed.

Risik said massive renovation of each house may not be possible, because the average loan will be for $2,000, with a maximum of $3,500. Payback time for the loans will be five to seven years, at an interest rate of three percent.

The city manager announced the appointment of John Matthews to assist in the administration of the program on a part-time basis, at an annual salary of $5,000.

The council approved the assignment of one-tenth of the annual salaries of Sue Raredon and Risik to HUD, to compensate for administrative time spent on the program. In other business at the council's regular meeting Monday night, councilmembers heard a response to its decision to adopt a $3.50 per foot seasonal charge for boats moored at the municipal marina.

Risik paraphrased a letter from Keith Wilson, chief of the Waterways Division of the Department of Natural Resources, objecting to the rate.

"The position of the state is that the taxpayers of the city of Manistique are being asked to subsidize a special interest group with funds taken directly from the city general fund," Risik said.

"Their position is that marina operations in which they have jurisdiction should make every effort to be completely self-supporting, based entirely on user fees."

Wilson said in his letter there was no justification for deviation from the DNR recommended rates of $10 per foot for a 25-foot boat and $8.33 per foot for longer boats.

"I'm having trouble figuring out what these fellows mean by justification," Risik said. "My first justification is that their rates are too high."

Besides user fees, the council has budgeted $7,000 from the general fund to operate the marina.

Councilmember Bob White said the harbor has lost some value for boaters.

We've lost 3 1/2 feet of water in the harbor," White said. "It's no longer a good harbor like we had a few years ago."

Risik was asked to invite the Manistique Harbor Commission and Wilson to the next council meeting on July 1 to further discuss the matter.

In other business, the council: -labeled a request from the Schoolcraft County Fair Board to connect sewer and water service to the site of the planned fair building north of the county medical center. Councilmembers said they first wanted to obtain a cost estimate for the project.

Pat Kelly, fair board member, said the 80 x 200 foot structure will be a multi-purpose building that will have a potential as an enclosed hockey rink during the winter months. Elvin Hepker, county extension director, said the interior would be large enough for horse shows as well.

Total cost for the building is estimated at $63,000 with about $30,000 to come from CETA for labor, and a similar amount from state pari-mutual funds.

"We're not sure that we can get the building constructed in time for the fair," Hepker said. The county fair is set for Aug. 27-28.

-responded to an inquiry from Gordon Archer, representing the Manistique Area Target Committee, about plans for the Paul Bunyan sign on the west side. The City Manager said the city had no immediate plans to remove the sign, but is investigating the possibility of having it painted through a Department of Agriculture program.

-turned down Risik's request for authorization to enter into an agreement with Piometer Associates of Chicago to conduct a water system leak survey by the end of the summer. Cost for the survey, to be financed by allocated HUD money, was $5,000.

With Councilmembers Mary Moffat and Doug Rose absent, Mayor Frank Hewitt and White voted in favor of the survey, but Councilmember Peter Mathson voted no. A majority of the council, three members, is necessary to carry a measure.

Mathson said the field that other firms should have been given a chance to bid. -authorized Mike Faketty, superintendent of public works, to set up a special assessment district to cover costs of extending city water lines to McNamara's Trailer Park on East Lake Shore Drive.

County Sanitarian Mack McDonald told the council the park has an on site water supply that is not up to state health standards.

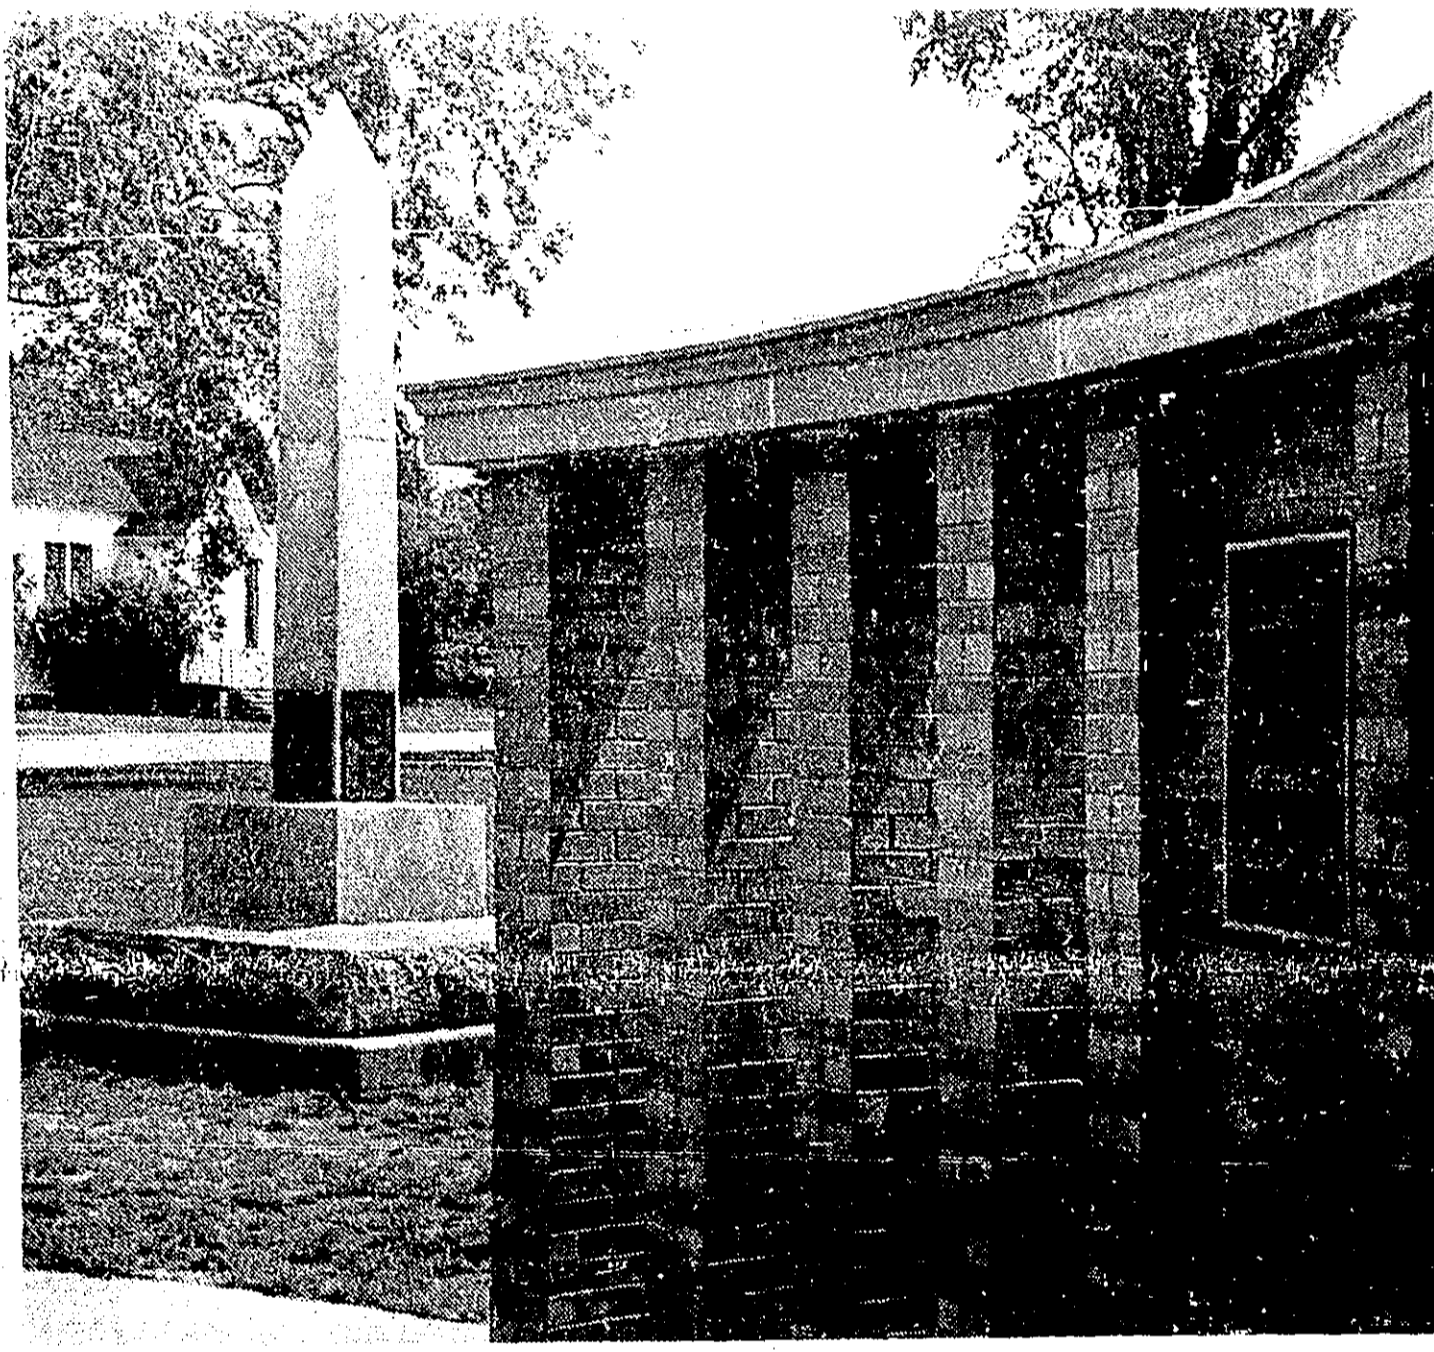

Councilmembers suggested a three-year assessment district, with McNamara raising rents in the 22-trailer park $5 a month until the estimated $3,700 project costs is covered. A public hearing on the district tentatively was set for the July 12 meeting.

-approved charging $100 a month for five years with a renewable option for the General Telephone Company to fence off a 80 x 180 foot area north of city hall for a pole yard.

-agreed to rent a park area on the west side from the county at a cost of $1 per year for 20 years. Under the agreement with the county parks and recreation committee, the city will be responsible for maintaining the ball diamond, playground and picnic area planned south of Elk Street between Fourth and Fifth streets.

The area is to be prepared and leveled this year, Risik said. -approved a one-day liquor license for a July 2 reunion of the 1962 class of Manistique High School.

-approved appointment of Beth Burnis, Gail Mathson, Judy Provo and Gil Studing to the Manistique Youth Commission.

THE WORLD WAR II Memorial has been restored to its new resting place on the courthouse lawn at the All Veterans Memorial Site. The memorial was broken last May as members of the VFW attempted to lift the memorial to its new base. It was quickly sent to the Peninsula Granite and Stone Co. of Iron Mountain where it was repaired. The memorial carries only a slight scar where it was broken in two.

Law suit threatened in boycott of Press

John McGoff, president of Panax Corp. reacted Wednesday morning to the threatened boycott of his newspapers by threatening a law suit in an angry call to Charles Follo of Escanaba. Follo had chaired Monday night's town meeting that passed resolutions encouraging the boycott.

"We're going to sue your ass off," McGoff was quoted as saying. Follo said that McGoff went on to say that, "this matter has been turned over to my attorney in Detroit."

When contacted by the Delta Reporter, Gladstone newspaper, Escanaba Daily Press general manager Edward McCarthy said that he knew of no law suit contemplated by Panax.

"This whole matter has been unfortunate, but we maintain that it is an internal matter and should be handled as such," McCarthy said.

McCarthy also disputed claims in news stories in both the Detroit Free Press and Milwaukee Journal that over 200 Escanaba Press subscribers had cancelled subscriptions. McCarthy said that the number of cancelled subscriptions was closer to 25.

A resolution encouraging an economic boycott of the Escanaba Daily Press by subscribers, advertisers and distributors was approved by a majority of persons attending Monday night's Town Meeting held at Bay de Noc Community College.

Over 350 area residents attended the three and one-half hour meeting to protest the news policies of Panax Corp., publishers of the Escanaba Daily Press and Marquette Mining Journal.

The meeting was called by the Town Hall steering committee following firing of Escanaba Daily Press editor David Rood, last week. Rood had refused to publish two stories from Panax New York bureau chief George Bernard. One story alleged that President Carter was grooming his wife Roselyn for the office of vice-president. The other story alleged that Carter was privately condoning promiscuity for his male staff members.

The economic boycott of the Escanaba Press was part of a seven point plan adopted after town Meeting participants had been divided into five workshops to plan and formulate resolutions.

Other resolutions adopted by the group included a letter writing campaign to Panax president John McGoff and to journalistic societies across the country.

The action taken by the Town Meeting group was also to be sent to Rep. Morris Udall (D-Ariz) who is currently drafting legislation concerning the monopolistic practices of chain ownership of newspapers.

Town Meeting chairman Charles Follo of Escanaba said that the meeting was called in part, "to protest drug store journalism."

Following the firing of Rood last Tuesday, the storm of protest that followed was broadened into a protest of the news policies of Panax Corp., the parent company which publishes the three largest daily papers in the U.P. Marquette Mining Journal editor Robert Skuggen and three staff members resigned last week over a dispute about the same two stories that led to Rood's firing. The Other Panax paper in the U.P., The Iron Mountain News, carried the stories.

In opening remarks before the Town Meeting participants, Tom Yondorf, coordinator for the Delta County Board of Commissioners, justified the community's involvement in what may have seemed as an employee-employer conflict.

"We think a local editor can better reflect the standards of the community than someone with an axe to grind in Lansing," Yondorf said.

Panax president John McGoff of East Lansing did not respond to the Town Meeting steering committee's invitation to attend. No representatives of Panax or its U.P. newspapers spoke in defense of the paper's news policies at the meeting.

Some of the persons attending the Town Meeting expressed doubts that an economic boycott of the Escanaba Press could be successful. A news report in the Wednesday Detroit Free Press, however, quoted sources at the Press stating that over 200 subscription cancellations had been received and "they're still coming in."

In an action related to the local boycott, the Escanaba Rotary Club on Tuesday agreed to ask other Rotary Clubs in cities where Panax owns newspapers to join in the boycott.

Bethel school opens Sept. 7

Twenty-six students currently are registered to attend the first classes of the Bethel Baptist Christian Day School, scheduled to open for the first time on Sept. 7.

Sections for Kindergarten through the sixth grade will be housed in the gymnasium adjacent to the church on Elk Street, according to Rev. Ronald Allen, church pastor and school administrator.

"We're planning for 40 students," Rev. Allen said. "We've had quite a bit of interest by parents."

He said the church is still taking applications for teachers, planning for a total staff of three or four persons. So far, the staff tentatively consists of Debbie Myer as an elementary teacher, and Lori Allen, the pastor's daughter, as Kindergarten teacher. Coral Oakley will serve as school secretary.

"It's a Christian school," Rev. Allen explained. "We're going to have emphasis on the Bible and patriotism, reviving an old concept. We feel that was a superior way of building character, through respect for God, respect for each other."

Gary LaMore, instructor in history and education at Maranatha College in Watertown, Wis. is assisting church officials this week in setting up a curriculum for the new school.

Rev. Allen said the school will be concerned with instilling spiritual as well as academic values.

"We feel what is being taught is more important than swimming pools or other physical facilities," he said.

A daily chapel service and Bible classes are planned, with prayer and the pledge of allegiance to be included in the program.

Persons need not be members of the Bethel Baptist Church in order to send their children to the tuition-supported school. Applications are available at the church.

A get-acquainted night for teachers, staff, parents and children is being organized for Sept. 6, with classes to follow the next morning.

Last chance to save

Today's the day. It's your last chance to start or extend a present subscription to the Pioneer-Tribune before higher rates become effective on Friday, July 1.

Right now, readers may subscribe at the annual local rate of $7.50, or less than 15 cents per copy. Outside Schoolcraft, Alger, Luce, Mackinac and Delta counties, the charge is $9 per year.

Starting Friday, local subscription rates will go to $9 locally and $11 for other areas.

By starting a subscription or renewing one that has time left on it, a Tribune reader can save at least $1.50.

A handy subscription order blank appears in this issue. Mail orders must be postmarked no later than today.

Early copy for Tribune

The three-day Fourth of July weekend will mean a loss of one day's production time for the July 7 issue of the Pioneer-Tribune.

The newspaper office on 212 Walnut St. will be closed and employees will share in celebrating the nation's birthday.

In order to avoid a last-minute rush on Tuesday, readers and advertisers are asked to have copy ready by Friday, July 1. The help will be appreciated.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR James J. Damman made a tour of the Upper Peninsula this week to "learn and listen." One of Damman's stops was in Manistique where he attended a question and answer session at the Manistique City Hall.

Cattell quits Sault

Rush Cattell, former Manistique city manager, last Thursday announced his resignation as city manager of Sault Ste. Marie.

Cattell, who was hired by Sault Ste. Marie in April, 1976, cited "health reasons" for his resignation in the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News.

"I am not leaving Sault Ste. Marie under any animosity but because of news I received about my wife's health," Cattell was quoted as saying.

Cattell's wife Imogene, recently underwent surgery in Ann Arbor. Mayor Jerald Peters said, "because of the seriousness of Rush's wife in Ann Arbor and because of Rush's heart condition...he feels he should be with his wife now and more in the future than he has been. So for these reasons he has informed us he has decided to resign."

Until a replacement can be found, Cattell plans to stay on as acting city manager and continue living in the Sault area.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. Derwin

What's Going On

by Anne McDonald 341-5210

Summer is bringing the usual migration to the Upper Peninsula. It is definitely the time for renewing old friendships.

Mr. and Mrs. John Miller are talking over old times with Karen Elenberger and daughters Christina and Julie from Chicago. Carolyn and Karen worked together in Chicago.

Chicago's Roman grade school pal of Corla McKilligan traveled north to spend a few days with the McKilligans on Indian Lake.

Charlotte is enjoying the company of her sister-in-law Ruth "Bicky" of Alpena. Charlotte even managed to find time to have garage sale last week.

Mrs. Joanne Swanson and sons of LaSalle spent a few days enjoying the company of and good cooking of her mother Mrs. Cornelia Arrowood. Other guests of Mrs. Arrowood were her sister-in-law Mrs. Leonard Hendrickson and Mrs. Anita Hopkins of Newberry.

Peggy Hawn came home from Northern Michigan University to help her sister Patti celebrate her 18th birthday. On Friday Patti's family hosted a family party for her and on Saturday she cooked tacos for the family and a few special guests.

Bonnie LaBar spent the weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur LaBar. Bonnie will graduate from cosmetology school in Green Bay in July.

Some Manistique residents decided to reverse the trend and headed south.

Barney Johnson had the privilege of attending the wedding of his first grandchild in Columbus, Ohio. Jill Williams, daughter of Barney's oldest daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams, married Tim Russell at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 25.

Mr. and Mrs. John Carstenes biked to Green Bay on their Harley for the weekend. They visited nieces and nephews, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blosser and family and Mr. and Mrs. David Tegtmann and family.

Leanna Senger and Elizabeth, John Peter, and Christopher spent the Father's Day weekend in Milwaukee with her father, Norman Trebilcock.

While they were there, her father was chosen as SCORE man of the year for the state of WISCONSIN. He has been very active for several years in SCORE, which is a group of retired business executives who counsel people in business in connection with the Small Business Administration. Elizabeth upon her return was given an appointment to have her tonsils removed. She will enter the hospital today.

Hazel Bellore is spending part of the summer in the hospital too. She is a patient at Ford Hospital, room H-406. Her phone number is 313-876-0384.

Lynn White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike White, is spending two weeks with her sister Laurie and her husband Kip. They have recently moved to Mt. Pleasant. In May, Kip graduated in engineering from Purdue University in Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hofer (formerly Elva Shampine of Manistique) of Texas, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shampine and other relatives in the vicinity. The Hofers spent a month in Chicago attending graduations and weddings both in Chicago and lower Michigan. They toured many areas of interest in the county of Schoolcraft. After leaving here they will visit with other relatives in Upper Michigan, then will tour Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Metcalfe, of Royal Oak parents of Barbara Metcalfe, of 646 Manistique Ave., are visiting her and her husband William for the next two weeks.

Kiwanis starts new program

A program designed to build trust, self-confidence, self-worth, moral judgement and attitude among area children, will be developed and instituted this fall by Phil Jones, Schoolcraft County mental health director.

Jones spoke to Kiwanians at their last regular meeting about the program called "Friends." It will serve children from ages 8-17.

Members of Kiwanis expressed interest in the program and may volunteer their help this fall to start the program on its way.

Jones told the group that in other areas currently running the program, the adult "Friend" must commit himself to 12 months with one child. He is trained and reports on his child every two months. Jones indicated that the area program does not have to follow these guidelines.

Kiwanians will hold a round table meeting at the July 6 meeting. Next program assignment belongs to Ed Doyle for the July 13 meeting.

Ray Linderoth

Mike Faketty

After 21 years, helm of DPW changes hands

by Mark Eisenlohr

After 21 years of arriving to work at a quarter of six, Superintendent of Public Works Ray Linderoth will retire.

Linderoth's retirement will become effective Friday, July 1. Mike Faketty, a long-time city employee, has been chosen to fill Linderoth's position.

Linderoth started to work for the city of Manistique on May 7, 1956 while the city was under the direction of Manager Orson E. Livermore. During his long career of public service, Linderoth has worked under nine different city managers, including the present city manager, Robert Risik.

"I've worked with the public 21 years now," says Linderoth. "It's been very nice and we've had a wonderful city crew. They are a crew to be proud of," added Linderoth, of the 21 city employees who make up the Department of Public Works.

When Linderoth started work, he was located at the old city hall on Cedar Street, and had 25 men under his employ. Four of those 25 men are still with him.

"I've always treated them decent and we've always been friends," says Linderoth. "I suppose I shouldn't say that because a boss that gets along with everyone is no good."

While that adage may hold true for others, it certainly doesn't for Linderoth, who says he just can't help but get along with people.

"I'm going to miss going out and helping people in the middle of the night. When they would call we would always go out. The public has been very cooperative and has treated me good," says Linderoth.

Linderoth lives at 111 N. Fourth Street with his wife, Angela. They were married on Nov. 4, 1939. They have one son who currently resides in Phoenix, Ariz.

He was employed before 1956 with Walt Linderoth, Sales and Service and prior to that with Ogby North and Mining company, working on the boats in the Great Lakes.

In the normal wake of progress, Linderoth says that there have been many improvements over the years. Included in that list are the new water and sewage plants, street paving, and water lines extended where there were none previously.

In the evening before going to work, Linderoth says he plans out the next day although changes the next morning when he arrives at work usually outdates his schedule.

Linderoth will continue to make out an outline after retirement. "If I didn't I'd be lost," claims Linderoth.

When Linderoth started for the city, machinery consisted of a 1955 Ford equipped with a one way plow, a grader and a snowblower. Three dump trucks were also used.

According to Linderoth the only change over the years has been the service, requiring the addition of more machinery.

"When I started out in 1956 we were allowed 400 + 80 pound bags of salt for the winter. In addition we used raw sand that we spread by hand for the streets.

"Now, we use 350 tons of salt, 100 tons of chloride, 400 tons of a chloride-sand mixture and for snow removal we have a tractor-mounted snow plow, two end loaders, five dump trucks, a caterpillar tractor, jeep snow-plow, a grader and two trucks equipped with underneath blades," says Linderoth.

City manager Robert Risik expressed his appreciation for the many years of service Linderoth has given.

"Mr. Linderoth did an excellent job for the city," Risik said. "The city of Manistique is very happy that he was taking care of the crew."

Risik also announced the appointment of Mike Faketty to the position of superintendent.

"I think Mike is exceptionally well qualified having served the city for a number of years. I think he will be able to tackle Linderoth's job without breaking stride."

Faketty will begin his duties on Friday, July 1.

Faketty, who will turn 51 next month, lives at 520 Garden Ave. with his wife, Sarah and five of their eight children. He has worked for the DPW for 29 years.

According to Faketty, current plans include re-organizing the DPW employees who, he says, "are not producing what they are capable of doing."

He is also concerned about public relations and indicated he will work in the area informing people affected by DPW work to tell them just when the work will take place and why it is needed.

Out-dated machinery, says Faketty, is also costing the city excess money in repairs and parts then need be.

"The machinery is really depleted. It's old. My biggest concern will be to try desperately to get a new sweeper and two dump trucks," Faketty anticipates the purchase of that equipment within the first year.

Faketty indicated that he was pleased that he was chosen from the ranks to head the department rather than the city hiring a superintendent from an outside source.

"I am very pleased that I was appointed, starting here 29 years ago on a garbage truck, to this. I feel it's quite an honor."

"I think a year from now we will be well on the way in our progress. A year from now will tell the tale," Faketty said.

Rain is a welcome sound

Hi, everyone.

We are certainly having some nice rainy days. After a summer like we had last year, all this rain is really being appreciated; I'm sure by everyone and everything looks so nice and green and clean afterward.

The patients here are working real hard in diversional therapy and the results of their labors certainly show it. We have a display in Lauerman's department store window and many of the items on display have been sold there and have brought many people to the facility to see some of the patients at work.

The luncheon of June 14 which was sponsored by the St. Francis Church Women was a real treat as the ladies visited with the patients and the entertainment was exceptional. The Krusic family played guitar and sang several selections and Jerry Burnis played the Garden oil leak contained

GARDEN—An unspecified amount of waste oil leaked into the Garden Creek last week and flowed approximately three quarters of a mile to the mouth of the creek before officials could contain the spill. The leakage was attributed to vandalism.

According to MKI Henry Ducommun, Coast Guard Officer, out of Sault Ste. Marie, in charge of on-the-scene operations, a small amount of the oil seeped into the Big Bay de Noc from the creek but caused no environmental damage. It is not known where the oil leaked from.

The spill was controlled by the use of booms and a vacuum truck. Additional oil was soaked up by the use of absorbent pads, placed on the oil.

Ducommun said that he and two other men were on the scene from Tuesday until Friday. In addition, the Department of Natural Resources and a private clean-up contractor were utilized.

Planning commission postpones discussion

The Schoolcraft County Planning and Zoning Commission postponed its scheduled revision of the county zoning ordinance Tuesday night, failing to obtain a quorum for the meeting.

Members attending the meeting were Kerry Burns of Germfask, George Daunt of Gulliver, Gene Kee and Russ King of Manistique. Absent were Pete Derber of Gulliver, Gerald Turek of Thompson, Clifford Van Schoyck of Germfask, and John Way of Cooks.

During unofficial discussion, King asked Rich Jackson, representative from the Central Upper Peninsula Planning and Development Agency, to give more attention to agricultural needs in developing a new zoning map.

The present zoning ordinance practically ignores agriculture, King said. The board's next meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. July 12 at the courthouse.

Chamber music concerts in July

The Community Concert Committee is preparing to present another in the annual series of chamber music concerts, which began eight years ago when they were initiated by Dr. Robert King and Mary King, who came to the area 12 years ago. Concerts this year will be presented at the Zion Lutheran Church at 8 p.m. Sunday, July 10, 17 and 31.

"I am very proud of the quality of programs we present here," Dr. King said. "We play the very best music in the chamber music repertoire, with attention to variety in style, period and instrumentation. Many of the works we have done here often appear in concerts in New York and other large cities."

Guest artists for the current season will include David Townsend, clarinetist, married to the former Joan Schuster of Manistique, who is teaching at Concordia College and is solo clarinet with the Fargo-Moorhead Symphony. He will appear on a program July 10.

A concert cellist, John Riley, assistant principal cellist with the Hartford Symphony, with a Masters in performance from Eastman, will perform on July 31.

GenTel shoots film in area

A six-man filming crew was scheduled to shoot some footage in the Manistique area on Wednesday for a 25 to 28-minute coporate movie for General Telephone. According to Lowell Kinney, public information manager for the company, the crew was to film Fayette, Big Spring and Inland Lime and Stone for GenTel's first coporate movie. The film, to be completed by the fall, will focus on several regions of the state and

"promote communities in areas we serve," Kinney said. Showing present telephone facilities as well as the various landscapes of the state, the film will be used to attract bond purchasers and provide general information for the public. The film will be available for rent at the company's film library at Norton Shores, Kinney said.

July fourth; a day we look upon as a day of celebration. We celebrate our good fortune to be entitled to live in the United States of America and enjoy the freedoms of this great nation. We realize, too, the millions of people who, living under oppression, cannot share this day of joy with us. May we someday have an entire world dedicated to the dignity of man and the spirit of freedom.

Do you remember your life's past?

The old man pauses for a minute, sets his glass down, and proceeds with his story. The young fellow next to him listens intently, trying to grasp the elder's meaning.

"Imagine yourself back in the 1930's..." the old man is saying. He had been stopping frequently during his story and now had stopped again. The young man was growing impatient.

"...No, I don't think you can," the old man continues.

They looked at each other for a while. The young man wanted to decide if he should press the old man for more information; the old man thinking it's no use, nobody will ever know what it was like to grow up back then.

Lines and creases showed on the old man like a withered prune and when he sat and thought, the lines on this forehead would press together in contemplative meaning.

The young fellow wrote for the local paper and wanted to hear about the strange, new town he was working in. Perhaps it would be a good feature story, he thought to himself.

This guy has been here all of his life. What an interesting person he must be with all the knowledge of the world when it comes to this town.

The young man sat and fondled his beer for a while, then his thoughts drifted back over his own young life. Remembering the girlfriends he had in high school, the dances, the parties and skinnydipping in the lake.

He tried to place his classmates in his mind, and finally gave up. He wondered what they were doing now. He had kept in touch with some, but in the few years since school, he had met so many people that names and faces were now a blur.

He thinks of the girl he almost married two years ago. About the times they took off on trips and the fun they had together. Their moments spent walking on the beach looking in each others eyes and laughing with the waves.

"How soon we forget," he says, half aloud, half to himself.

"What?" the old man looks up, a hopeful look on his face. He thinks this guy wants to talk some more.

"Oh, it's nothing," the young man says. What a shame that an era of life could die out because he couldn't remember it. Perhaps that is what happened to the old man's life. Maybe somebody should listen to these people and write down what they say.

The beer had taken its toll on the old man, and was beginning to work on the younger man. The bar lights began to whirl and wind themselves before their eyes as they sat and looked down at their feet in silence.

The old man fondled his beer for a while then his thoughts drifted back over the many years of his life. Remembering the girls he had kept over the years, the dances on Saturday nights at the opera house and the traveling bands that supplied the music.

Oh, how I could dance all night, he thought, he and his girl swirling and dipping and swirling and dipping until the last chord of music drifted out on the fresh night air. He remembered how he looked into her blue eyes and asked her to marry him.

He thought of their life together, the parties they threw at their house—at the pretense of being social—all in vain now as he looks back through the years. He thought of their grandchildren, perhaps a little older than this fellow here, he muses.

He thought back on his life as a youngster growing up. The parties in the fields and skinnydipping in the river. He tried to place some of his old friends and finally gave up. He wondered what they were doing now. He had kept in touch with some, but over the years he had been to so many places and met so many people, that names and faces were a blur.

"How soon we forget," he says, half aloud, half to himself.

"What?" the young man looks up, a hopeful look on his face that the old man will begin to talk again.

"Oh, it's nothing," comes the reply.

The two sit there for a while longer, both engrossed in their own thoughts, the bar hums with activity oblivious to their concentration and the many years and miles being recalled on the bar stools.

They look at each for a last time, then with a sigh, get up, shake hands and part their ways.

"Maybe next time when I see him I'll write down what he says," the young man says to himself. He gets in his car and drives away.

"When I see him again I'll tell him all about the good old days," the old man thinks, pulling his collar up against the cold night air and begins his long walk home.

THE MAKING OF A DAISY

What does the name Shasta daisy mean to you? Perhaps a superb perennial for your garden. Or the word daisy may, if you are a regular flower buyer, conjure up such names as Majestic, Supreme, Esther Read or Marconi. By any name you want to call them, Shasta daisies are among the most beautiful and longest lasting cut flowers of midsummer. Although some Shasta daisies normally show a bit of yellow on their petals, most are snowy white when they open. The cells in their flower petals have such an affinity for dyes, however, that in flower shops they are to be found in every conceivable hue.

Shasta daisies owe their origin to that great plantsman Luther Burbank, and it was he who named them for the snow peak of Mt. Shasta. He combined the genes of four wild chrysanthemum species to create his masterpiece:

Senior Citizens

by Eileen Males

We are planning on having potluck picnics again during July and August and if anyone cares to share their cottage with us...let us know.

We have been invited by Howard and Maggie Benson to enjoy the beautiful Arrowhead Inn Friday, July 15, starting at 2 p.m. There will be outdoor games set up and if you play cards, you have to line up your own tables.

The Senior Singers will play at 4 p.m. followed by our evening meal at 5 o'clock. Only July 22, Bob and Jerry Sleeper have invited us to their cottage on Smith Lake. You'll read all about it in your July newsletter.

Those of you who live out of town and want to receive an interesting eight-page newsletter of professional quality with many inspiring and worthwhile articles, you may subscribe to it by writing me, Eileen Males, care of the Senior Citizens Center, 823 Range Street, Manistique, Mich. The subscription is $2 a year and we'd like to know your birthday so we can wish you a happy birthday in it.

At this time I'd like to pay tribute to a friend of the center and of mine. It's hard to say goodbye to those "old-timers" who have meant so much to us and though I know Henry DeSautel has suffered much in the last few years, it's still painful because he had a special place here.

Henry was on the center's board when I started in 1970 and he was one of those guys who through the years accumulated a vast store of information. He knew every dog, every raspberry patch, every cranberry bog...all the hidden fishing holes where the biggest trout could be caught...and all the land around here with its bounteous supply.

Henry had a sense of humor with a twinkle in his eye and he could tell you stories about the old days which would really tickle your funny bone. When I'd visit Henry and Minola at their home, the first thing he'd say was "Sit down and have something to eat." I'm sure Minola had many unexpected meal guests because of Henry's invitations "to come and eat with them."

Henry was a very generous person...he was always ready to take out his checkbook and pay the tab. Henry...we'd like to say "Good-bye", but you'll always be remembered because you have given us a little better idea of what life is all about.

Birthday greetings go out to: Leo Bowersox, Irene Halverson, June 30; Elizabeth Hanson, Dorothy Cook, Leon Rice, July 1; Isabel Bunker, Mabelle Hill, Marguerite Popish, Fred Faulkner, July 2; George E. Marin, Conrad Anderson, Charles Fagan, July 3; Jack Williams, Orin Baker, Eisa Creighton, Marian Cockram, Theodore Linck, July 4; Clifford Smith, Elaine Hawley, Nora Cowman, July 5; Gunhild Hokenson, William Fagan, Rose Moran, Leola Engle, July 6; Anna Leonard, John Vaughn, July 7.

Memorials given to the Manistique Senior Citizens Center in the name of Henning Mattson came from John M. Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan Rosenbaum, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Farr and Mrs. and Mrs. Roy Briggs. A memorial was given to the Center in the name of Henry DeSautel by Dorina Desautel.

Thrift store donations came from Gladys Heinz, Mary Quain, Mary Ann Donaldson, George Oberg, Sally Lauzon, Stella Paul, Adelaide Williams, Marilyn Moreau, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Rice and Lena Theibault.

Bingo prizes were given by May McDermott and a person who wishes to remain anonymous. Baked goods were brought in by Ethel Howland, Dorothy Carlson, Hazel Bolitho and Frank Provo. Building Fund donations came from Chet and Frances Elliot and from a person who wishes to remain anonymous.

Thank you all for your generosity. We really appreciate your concern.

"You have another chance," whispers the spirit of America.

Our nation was founded by colonists who shook free from the oppression of the Old World and created a new future. Unparalleled growth and development came through the shattering of old traditions and through courageous change and creativity. Today's social and economic problems will yield to the same trust in new possibilities.

A gracious, open future is promised in God's Word. The basis of hope is the revelation of an all-powerful God who guides history and fulfills our individual destiny. The miracle of rebirth and forgiveness is rooted in His divine love.

How better might you celebrate Independence Day than to support the Church and nourish the spirit which whispers: "You have another chance!"
