

A handy guide to keep your cool during 'Dog Days'

Mark Eisenloh

If you've been feeling kind of "doggy" lately, don't lose your cool. Every year people all over the country suffer through a malady known as "Dog Days."

Commonly referred to as the hottest part of the year, Dog Days last about 40 days, beginning the first of July and carrying through to about the middle of August.

The name comes from ancient times when our ancestors applied the term of the heliacal rising of Sirius, the dog-star. Helical is the first rising of a star after its invisibility due to conjunction with the sun.

If you live in a big city—like Detroit or Chicago—the dog days are appropriately named.

Manistique location on Lake Michigan provides a cool breeze most of the summer, keeping sweltering temperatures down. But, if you feel a need to "beat the heat," a few suggestions may prove helpful.

For youngsters, a program run with federal funds offers some possibilities.

Pep-Lot, offers youngsters a variety of activities to keep their minds off the heat. A recent Pep-Lot activity included a cooling session with two commercial products: "Slip and Slide" and "Water Wiggle."

"Slip and Slide" is a long plastic sheet which is kept wet, allowing youngsters to slide down the length of it. "Water Wiggle" is a device attached to the end of a hose.

Pressure is built up when the water is turned on, causing the hose to wiggle while spraying out gallons of cooling water.

Pep-Lot is conducted in two locations in Manistique—Lakeside and Lincoln. It is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon. Any kids between the ages of 7 and 9 are invited to attend. But there is only one week and a half left so you'd better hurry if you want to cash in on some of that coolness.

The Lakeside Pep-Lot will also be traveling to the Manistique Marina this Friday, July 23, for an old fashioned water balloon fight, an activity that promises heat relief.

For the adults, a cooling drink may be just the thing to relax on the beach or in the back yard with. The following recipe for a Vodka Slush comes from Jean Barber, 534 Park Ave., and makes about a gallon of refreshing thirst quencher.

Start with two cups of hot water and pour over four green teabags. Let cool for 20 minutes. Boil seven cups of water, add two cups of sugar and let cool for 15 minutes. Add 12 ounces of frozen orange juice, 12 ounces of frozen lemonade and a pint of vodka to the sugar mixture. Add tea mixture. Mix and place in freezer for 24 hours.

To use: spoon mixture into a glass until glass is half full, add squirt to top glass off. Unused portion can be kept in freezer. The mixture will not freeze because of the alcohol but will remain "slushy"

Several variations of the recipe are currently in use around town, Mrs. Barber says. It can be adjusted to suit individual tastes.

For youngsters of all ages, there's swimming at one of the many lakes in the area or in cool Lake Michigan at one of the many parks and roadside swim areas along the highway.

The Manistique City Recreation Department maintains an open swimming session at Indian Lake State Park which offers supervision for swimmers.

Two buses pick up interested swimmers at the Manistique Youth Center, on Maple Street, and at Lincoln School, Deer Street, at 1 p.m. Monday through Friday and return them at 4 p.m. Three lifeguards are on duty during the swimming hours.

All ages are invited to use the pick-up service, but the city asks that youngsters have completed the first grade.

Several roadside parks offer excellent Lake Michigan swimming or if you prefer, just a walk on the beach looking for semi-precious agates.

For a totally refreshing activity, try revisiting Palms-Books State Park for another look at the crystal clear water which maintains a constant 45-degree temperature throughout the year.

Canoeing is also a popular form of heat relief which has its cool aspects. Several

County grants Indians option on property

The Sault Ste. Marie Band of Chippewa Indians will have 90 days in which to purchase a 1 1/4 acre parcel of county land on which they plan to erect an educational center.

The Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners Tuesday night granted the option to buy the parcel on the east side of M-94, just north of the city limits, for a price of $3,000.

Prosecutor John Thompson told the board bids were not needed because the land is being sold for a special purpose.

Milt Herro, representing District 4 of the band, said a $140,000 federal grant is available to construct a one-floor wood frame building to house three offices, meeting hall and conference room. The building would serve an estimated 700 persons of Indian descent in the Manistique, Naubinway, Garden and Shingleton areas that comprise District 4, he said.

The land is in section two of Hiawatha Township.

In other business, Lawrence Tennant of Tennant's Acres suggested to the board that county building inspector George Daunt resign.

"He gave a building permit to Ernest Robinson that did not come up to building code on Tennant's Acres subdivision," Tennant said in a written message to the board.

Tennant told the board that the house in question did not fulfill a plat requirement of 1,000 square feet of floor space.

Prosecutor Thompson responded that the county is responsible for enforcing minimum standards adopted by the county, and that Tennant must enforce his own private restrictions.

In other action, the board: —approved a resolution stating no objection to a dam construction project on the Fox River designed to control the level of Manistique Lake. The construction site lies within Schoolcraft County, but is owned by Luce County. Commissioner Earl LeBrasseur opposed the motion in the 5-1 vote.

—accepted a 20-year lease agreement with the city of Manistique to allow the city recreation department to develop 6.59 acres of property south of the intersection West Elk Street and south Fifth Street for a West Side Park.

—learned that the courthouse employees union has refused to use a time clock installed in the courthouse. LeBrasseur said the matter should be discussed in contract negotiations for next year.

—moved to contact Steve LaFond of the Six-County Consortium for Employment and Training on development of a park at the Pines.

W. Ted Tyler

Tyler to succeed Hahne in posts at First National

W. Ted Tyler, 38, of Marshall has been named president and chief executive officer of the First National Bank of Manistique, Manistique Lakes Bank and the First Manistique Corporation.

The boards of directors of the bank holding company and each financial institution announced the appointment at their board meeting held on July 6.

Tyler will succeed Fred H. Hahne, who has served as an officer of the bank since it opened for business on Oct. 1, 1934. Hahne first was elected executive vice-president and chief executive officer. He served in that capacity until January, 1952, when he was elected president.

He resigned as president and a director on Dec. 17, 1975 in order to sell the stock of the First Manistique Corporation.

Hahne expressed his appreciation to the directors for their support during his administration and to all of the employees for their cooperation. He also thanked Gerald Graphos and Mercedes Downing for their help and dedicated service.

Hahne will continue to serve as chairman of the board of the First Manistique Corporation and will be available for consulting.

The appointment of Tyler, currently serving as president and director of the National Bank of Marshall, takes effect Aug. 1.

A native of Kalamazoo, he graduated from Comstock High School in 1957. He attended Northwestern University and holds a degree in business administration from Western Michigan University and a degree from the Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin.

Prior to his position at Marshall, Tyler served in the U.S. Coast Guard and was employed with the U.S. Treasury Department as a national bank examiner and has worked in banks at Kalamazoo, Muskegon and South Haven.

He has served as president of the Exchange Club of Marshall, and as a board trustee and assistant treasurer of Oaklawn Hospital.

Additionally, he has held membership on the advisory board of the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service of Calhoun County, Marshall Public Schools Board of Education, the Marshall Area Chamber of Commerce, and Calhoun County Environmental Advisory Task Force, the Marshall United Fund, the Marshall Michigan Week Committee, and the Marshall Historical Society Home Tour Committee. He also has been chairman of the MBA Consumer Credit Committee, and director of the MBA Wolverine Club.

Tyler is married to the former Beverly J. Marks of Lawton. They have two children, Scott 12 and Leann, 11.

He will assume his new duties at Manistique on Monday, Aug. 1. His family will be moving to the area in mid-August.

Fair building faces tests for new Central Park site

A proposal to construct a multi-purpose building in Central Park for the Schoolcraft County Fair Wednesday faced at least three more hurdles.

An alternate site, selected by the Schoolcraft County Fair Board Monday night, placed the proposed 80 by 200 foot pole building on city land and north and east Cardinal Field.

The southwest corner of the building would be about 100 feet from the backstop, according to Elvin Hepker, county extension director and fair board member.

"On Wednesday, the City Zoning Board of Appeals was to hear a request for a variance on the property, which is presently zoned for residential and recreation."

Also on Wednesday, the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees is scheduled to decide whether or not to oppose the new site. The board of the adjacent Manistique Medical Center also was going to review the new location.

Fair board representatives also planned to obtain the approval of the City Council Monday night to use a 300 by 300 foot section of land on which the metal building would be constructed.

Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners.

He told commissioners that there may be trouble securing CETA funding; if the site was moved to the Pines, because the intended use of the building is stated in the contract.

Under CETA Title VI funds, $30,048 is expected to cover labor costs, with an additional $33,103 coming from state parimutuel money for materials.

Ernest Hoholik, county board chairman, adjourned the meeting to visit the new site. The length of the building would run east and west, with the east end facing Lakeview Cemetery.

After the site inspection, commissioners returned and rescinded the county-owned site they approved at their June meeting. The county board awaited reaction on the site from the city council, hospital and medical center boards.

CETA funds will be held up until site, zoning and other problems are resolved, according to Steven LaFond of the Six-County Consortium for Employment and Training.

Board permission to build, all building and other permits must be approved, and any objections that local unions have to the construction must be worked out with the unions, the fair board and CETA," LaFond said in a news release. "Until these problems are satisfied, the proposed construction may be delayed a short time."

"The building is not expected to be completed in time for the fair," said Dan Pitcher, summer extension assistant working on the fair project. Pitcher said pole tents will be located at whatever site is approved for the Aug. 27-28.

At the beginning of Monday night's fair board meeting, a letter of resignation by Pat Kelly was read. Kelly, who had served as chairman, resigned because he serves as a legal counsel for the hospital, which opposed the original site.

Pickets demonstrate at Ramada

"Pickets have been demonstrating at entrances to the Ramada Inn on highway US-2 east on behalf of the Service Employees' International Union, in advance of a union election by employees at the motel-restaurant."

Frank J. Andler, organizer for Local 79 of the union, a branch of the AFL-CIO, said an election to unionize Ramada employees will be held from 2 to 3 and 5:30-6 p.m. on Aug. 11 at the Inn.

Hired pickets began demonstrating Friday and continued throughout the weekend. Andler said this was the first attempt to unionize motel-restaurant employees in the U.P., but that his union would file against the Holiday Inn in Marquette and also work in the Ironwood, Sault Ste. Marie and Menominee areas.

"If the guy would have abided by the labor laws," Andler said of Ramada Inn owner and manager Nat Dellis, "I wouldn't be here now."

Andler charged that employees were threatened with lay-offs if the union was voted in, and that employees were being paid substandard wages and allowed no fringe benefits.

"There's no coercion on our part," Dellis said in a separate press conference. "They (employees) have been given the facts as we have them. It's up to them to make the choice."

Dellis said the National Labor Relations Board was petitioned by both union and management for a free election by secret ballot.

Until the vote, Dellis added, both sides can meet with employees and urge a particular vote, but not make promises or intimidate them.

Earlier, Andler said the union would be seeking at least $1 an hour increases for workers earning minimum wage, plus vacation, retirement and insurance benefits.

On Wednesday, Dellis had not received verification of an election date and that no employees had joined the pickets. The Ramada Inn has remained opened for normal operations during the demonstrations.

Water plant operator joins city

Jerry Richards, plant operator at the Gladstone Water Treatment Plant, left his post on Sunday, July 10, to begin a new job as superintendent of the Manistique plant on Monday.

Richards, who has been employed by the water plant for the past three years, ran chemical tests at the plant, analyzed the water, operated pumps and worked on water meters. He holds an Associate of Applied Science degree from Bay de Noc Community College having studied in the two year water program there.

Richards, who was one of two operators under Superintendent Willard Morley, will supervise two operators on two shifts at the Manistique plant. The production of more water at the Manistique plant is the reason for the two shifts, Richards said.

A native of Gladstone, Richards lived for several years in Escanaba and graduated from Escanaba Area High School in 1970. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Richards of 620 So. 15th St., Escanaba. His wife, the former Judi Villeneuve, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Villeneuve of 1204 So. 13th St., Escanaba.

Richards views his new position as a move up in his career and looks forward to the change. He and his wife will move to Manistique in the near future.

Jerry Richards

Can it be moved?

IT'S A PROBLEM. How to move an 84 year old house without men or equipment within 30 days. The house is a log cabin that was part of the Hiawatha Colony founded 1893 and given to the Schoolcraft County Historical Society to be moved to a site near the old water tower. Norma Johnson, member of the society, examines the structure, which remains in good shape.

The two apartment duplex is located about 15 miles north of town on M-94 and is made almost entirely of hand hewed logs. The opening at the right is for a window. The group is currently seeking help and suggestions for transporting the cabin to town. Plans call for a museum space in one "apartment" and storage place for the historical society in the other "apartment." The current owners of the building have told the historical society that it will be disposed of within 30 days if they cannot move it.

12th annual art show draws hundreds

Exhibitors, craftsmen and painters from Manistique, Marquette, Menominee, Munising, and Akron, as well as Green Bay, displayed their handiwork Saturday at the 12th annual Art and Craft Show sponsored by the Manistique Art Club.

The area surrounding the old water tower was filled with exhibitors and visitors from early morning until 7 p.m. Paintings in oil, acrylics, and water color; sculpture, pottery, jewelry, macrame, wood block prints, knitted and crocheted articles, and a hand-spinning demonstration were displayed on the land under the shade of the large trees surrounding the water tower.

General chairperson for the event was Mrs. Helen Davenport. Other chairpersons included Mrs. Mary Chartier and Mrs. Nancy Derwin, paintings; Mrs. Peggy Peck and Mrs. Norma Johnson, crafts; and Mrs. Jean Thomas and Mrs. Dorothy Conlin, registrations.

"Best of Show" was awarded to Dietmar Krumrey, Indian Lake, nationally known artist.

Winners in various areas were: Crafts—Martha J. Norton, Green Bay, woodburning, first; Joel Polter, Menominee, stoneware pitcher with etching, second; Marie Krumrey, Indian Lake, macrame covered bottle third; and Marion Orr, Manistique, batik, honorable mention.

Art Work—Portraits: Paul Grant, Marquette, "Indian Boy" first; Nancy Derwin, Manistique, "Young Girl," second, Caroline Stoll, Gulliver, "Man Telling Story," third, and Elizabeth Cook, "Small Boy," honorable mention.

Pencil Drawings: Al Dean Manistique, "Dog," first; Elizabeth Cook, Manistique, "Trees and Bird," second; Marion Orr, Manistique, third; and Al Dean, Manistique, pastel drawing, honorable mention.

Door prizes were awarded to Lois Belleville and Dorothy Hoholik of Manistique; Thomas Carlyon of Marquette; and Jean Wall, of Loveland Ohio.

Zoning revised

The Schoolcraft County Planning and Zoning Commission has begun its task of dismantling the old rural zoning ordinance with an eye of re-establishing a zoning ordinance that reflects today's needs of the county.

The commission discussed the possibility of placing restrictions on site placement of schools, churches, multiple dwellings and mobile homes, at its regular meeting, July 12.

A tabulation of statistics on the agricultural industry was also presented to the commission by members of the CUPPAD. A resolution requesting that the county board of commissioners adopt the agricultural standards and make them a part of the comprehensive plan, was passed by the commission.

The planning and zoning commission will hold its next meeting on July 26 in the extension conference room of the courthouse. The agenda will include continuing a review of the old zoning ordinance, including the establishing of an agricultural production district.

The Knights of Columbus will sponsor a picnic for families and guests and adult and Junior Foresters at 1 p.m. Sunday, July 24 at the Indian Lake State Park.

In the event of inclement weather, the picnic will be postponed until July 31.

Hot dogs, watermelon, marshmallows and ice cream will be furnished free of charge. Refreshments will be available for a nominal fee.

Stroke Club

The Manistique Pioneer Stroke Club will meet July 26 at the Medical Care Facility in the Conference Room. The meeting will be on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Earl LeBrasseur will review the book by Mary Cavia Dean, telling of her travels through the Fiji Islands and Tahiti in a wheelchair by herself.

Photo demonstration

Arnold Mackowiak of the Pioneer-Tribune will give a demonstration on black and white photography at today's meeting of Schoolcraft County Starving Artists at Old Deerfield Restaurant.

Tickets for the luncheon and seminar may be purchased Couture's Paint and Paper, 119 Walnut St., Manistique.

The program is scheduled to begin at 11:45 a.m. and end by 2 p.m.

Next week's demonstrator will be Carol Stoll, who will show how to use a pallet knife in painting with oils.

Pool board meets

The Manistique Pool Advisory Board will meet on Sunday July 24 at 5:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Schuster, River's Bend.

On the agenda

City Council
7:30 p.m. Monday, City Hall: Agreement with county on west side park; fair building site; city attorney's opinion on appointment of Fall Mathson to the Manistique Youth Commission; request from the Unification Church for any city regulations regarding religious solicitation.

MHS Board of Education
8 p.m., Tuesday, Manistique High School: continued discussion of budgets; and a report from committee on feasibility of extending lease to Mueller Township from property owned by the school near the old Mueller School.

Planning and Zoning Commission
7:30 p.m. Tuesday, courthouse: Continuation of reviewing zoning ordinance and establishing an agricultural production district.

Agendas were not complete as of press time, and other items may be scheduled for discussion.

sports stores in the area offer canoe rentals down area rivers.

Canoes can be rented for as little as $15 a day, paddles included, when you pick up and return the canoe.

There are numerous other possibilities for cooling off including sailing, boating, waterskiing or just taking a quick cold shower.

A word of advice on the shower: experts advise that a cold shower over five minutes is counter-productive because it induces shivers, a heat producing function of the body. It's best to rub your body vigorously which causes friction, a form of heat release.

For the less ambitious, your best bet is to seek out a little shade, stretch out and take a nap.

Chances are that's what your dog will be doing during the remaining 21 "Dog Days."

MARIA DEL PILAR GONZALEZ is the guest of the Manistique Rotary for the next six weeks. Marina charges proposed

The City of Manistique may propose a three-year agreement on seasonal marina rates to the Department of Natural Resources Waterways Division in an effort to compromise with the department on the rental fees charged boaters.

Under the proposal, fees would remain at $3.50 per foot this season, increase to $5 per foot for the 1978 season, and increase to $6.50 per foot for 1979.

Keith Wilson, chief of the recommended $0.50 per foot to the city council.

City Manager Robert Risik said Tuesday during a special session of the Manistique Harbor Commission and city council that Wilson had indicated he will accept no less than 65 percent of the $10 fee.

The harbor is currently about 50 percent filled with seasonal rentals. The council expressed fears that an increase would mean many boaters removing their boats from the harbor.

"Adoption of this schedule would protect local boat owners from arbitrary decisions (in fee increases) by the DNR," Risik said Monday. "1980 will be the next season and will have to worry about it (the fees) I hope that these figures will be low then."

By adopting a three-year schedule, Risik said, it should allow boaters and the city budget better. Risik will draft a letter to the waterways division explaining the reasons for a three year schedule and that the fee should not be increased to the $10 per foot charge.

Do plants have feelings?

Whether it is true, as some researchers claim, that plants have feelings, one thing is certain: plants that grow in air conditioned locations are almost always superior to those grown in uncooled areas during the summer months. As a matter of fact, air-conditioned greenhouses have been in use for years, enabling florists to present their customers with high quality flowers regardless of the season.

Mrs. Dorothy Wieland, who is Mrs. Mildred Mattson's sister-in-law has returned to her home in Utica, following a two month visit at the Mattson home. She was accompanied home by her son, Howard Wieland who came to Manistique for his 15-year reunion. Mr. Wieland has returned to the Air Force Base in Biloxi, Miss., where he has enrolled for a one-year special training program in the Air Force National Guard.

Also, Jerry Mattson of Utica has returned home after a week's visit with his mother, Mrs. Mildred Mattson. While in Manistique Jerry attended his 15-year class reunion.

Doctors Van and Mike Mueller and daughters, Edith and Vanessa returned to Minneapolis after visiting for two weeks at their cottage on Indian Lake. They also visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mueller in Manistique and Mrs. Ruth Kerridge.

John and Elaine Bredlau and Barb and Todd have returned from a 10 day camping trip traveling the Circle Route around Lake Superior. They enjoyed the beautiful scenery including numerous waterfalls. John fished once and was pleased with his catch: two speckled trout that weighed 2 1/2 lbs. each.

The family spent a day mining amethyst and reported some interesting finds. A visit to Thorsonite Beach and Maurice and Tania Fiegal awarded them a good deal of information about Thorsonite—the most distinctive Minnesota gem stone. Mr. Fiegal showed them his large collection of Thorsonite—many pieces being irreplaceable. They spent five days in Duluth, Minn. and attended a religious gathering before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carlson of Rockford, Ill. spent several days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Carlson. Mrs. Carlson (Ingeborg) is Arvid's sister. While here, they visited her niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Bredlau, and her nephew, the Larry Carlsons vacationing at Gulliver Lake and other all-time friends and neighbors.

Mrs. Kevin (Shirley) Lane and daughter, Cathy, of Peck, visited for a week at the cottage, Blarney Castle on Indian Lake with her parents, the Emmet McNamaras.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Beaurine of West St. Paul, Minn. are visiting the Mountain Ash Resort with their daughter, husband, and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Robinette and Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dalton and children Brian, Christina and Lori Ann from Lexington, Ky. spent a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson of Blaney Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Dahlin and James R. Anderson of Minneapolis attended the funeral of their uncle, Conrad Anderson. While here, they stayed with the Harry Andersons of Blaney Park.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Flores of Indian Lake from Honduras, Central America were Mr. and Mrs. Modesto Donaire, Mrs. Suzanne Zepeda and her daughter, Sister Elia Zepeda, who is a social worker in Guatemala City, Central America.

Mrs. Donaire and Mrs. Zepeda are sister of Louis Flores who he hasn't seen for 12 years. This is their first visit to the area. During their ten day stay, they enjoyed the scenery of Munising Pictured Rocks and the locks at Sault Ste. Marie.

They flew from the Honduras to Detroit, then came by Greyhound bus to Manistique, then to Chicago, where they spent several days sightseeing. Then, they flew home by the way of New Orleans, Louisiana.

Miss Robin Flores and friend Debbie Stein of Lavana, Mi. are visiting for three weeks with Robin's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Flores of Indian Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray DeRousha and son of Ypsilanti are vacationing with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ray DeRousha. Accompanying them is Grandmother Anna Marguerite Christie who was originally from Gould City.

The Merle Baumans are having a busy summer. Daughter Lynn, her husband Jack and their two children Chere and Jarred of Mason visited them two weeks ago. Mrs. Bauman then travelled with them to Black Duck, Minn. to visit her daughter and son-in-law Mary Ellen and Craig Johnson and children Jeffrey and Craig. On her return, her sister Mrs. Reuben (Doris) Johnson came for a visit. Mrs. Johnson also attended the Gardner family reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nelson enjoyed a visit from their niece and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Winters of Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Barr of L'Anse are spending time in the sun at their cabin on Indian Lake. He is the son of Mrs. Frances Barr.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Hoholik are spoiling grandchildren this week. Their daughter Mrs. Dan Malloy and children from Newberry are visiting.

Summer birthdays are always more fun; first birthdays are always special. Jason Yirsa combined them and had a great time at his first birthday on July 9. Hosting the party were his parents Mr. and Mrs. John Yirsa. Guests were: his big sister, Jennifer; Janet, Cathy, Sherry and Amy Heinz; great grandmother Anna Yirsa; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Yirsa; Mr. and Mrs. James Yirsa. Jason is reported to be making plans for his second birthday already.

James Norton, son of Mrs. Rose Norton who was ordained into the Gospel Ministry earlier this year, at the Church of Redeemer is serving as minister at Troy Grove Presbyterian Church, Troy, Ill. and Triumph Methodist Church, Triumph, Ill.

Heidi and Haley LeBrasseur of Aurora, Wis. are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. LeBrasseur, 318 Range St. On Friday they will leave for Milwaukee to visit their father, Mr. and Mrs. Pierre LeBrasseur of New Berlin, Wis.

Pierre Le Brasseur, business agent for Operating Engineers 139 of Milwaukee, spent Friday and Saturday in Escanaba and Cooks transacting business and spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Le Brasseur.

Mrs. Dorothy Makei's son and his family, and daughter and her family from the Detroit area left Saturday after a week of camping at Indian Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Johnston and daughter Catherine of Royal Oak; and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Makei and children Kim and Shelly of Sterling Heights rushed to grandmother's house Thursday night, however, curing a thunderstorm.

Mrs. Makei recently returned from an eight-day trip to England accompanied by Peg Corson. They observed the changing of the guard in London, but curtsy practice turned out to be needless, as the queen didn't show.

Readers of this column may continue to send news items to the Pioneer-Tribune office at 212 Walnut St., as the feature will be prepared at the paper.

Employment program

A state-funded program, seeks to employ 42 low-income and adjudicated youths between the ages of 15 and 23 in energy conservation in Menominee, Delta, and Schoolcraft counties, Lorraine Shiner, Community Action Executive Director, announced Monday, July 18.

The CAA expects to administer the program within the tri-county area in conjunction with its winterization project.

The $81,600 program funded by the state legislature was initiated because a recent federal survey showed youth make up about 50 percent of the nation's unemployed.

The report cited both rural and urban youths as having inabilities to find jobs with long-term career potential. Included in this employed youth population are many young people who are wards of probate court or the state Department of Social Services.

"The funding of this program gives these youths a chance to learn a marketable skill," William Dubord, CAA State Youth Employment Program Director, said.

The state legislature provided financial resources to Michigan CAAs to establish a system of job development, job training and permanent job placement for unemployed low-income youths. Youths employed by the program can be placed in governmental agencies and private, non-profit organizations.

Dubord indicated about 10 of the 42 youths can expect to work with CAA's Energy Conservation Program. These youths would work in the program's wood stockpiling and home weatherization and insulations efforts.

All youths employed with the program will be supervised by existing work personnel, he said. Job responsibility depends on the young person's age and capabilities.

Once hired, they will work full-time until the program expires on Sept. 30, he added. Dubord said he expects to be working closely with county offices of the state Department of Social Services and offices of probate court in placement of the young workers.

Any governmental, unit or non-profit agency interested in supervising and training youths should contact Dubord at 786-7080. In addition, any youth who meets income guidelines should see Dubord at 1219 N. 19th St., Escanaba or the local Community Action area representative.

Area clean-up

An area clean-up on Sept. 16-17 and assistance for the Schoolcraft County Fair in August were activities approved by the Manistique Area Target Committee Monday night.

The committee will be making an "eyesore list" and plans to assign clubs to various blocks in the city in a clean-up contest. Help for posters and hauling away refuse is being sought.

Committee members agreed to work with the Schoolcraft County Fair Board in developing more activities for the fair on Aug. 27-28.

Suggestions included bike and skateboard races, flea market, cake walks, a fish pond and a beer tent.

The group, an outgrowth of the Manistique Town Meeting in June, plans to meet again on Aug. 11.

Camping bulletin developed by U.P. Home Economists

This past year a special set of bulletins called "Camping Capers" have been developed by U.P. Home Economists. The bulletin set consists of three leaflets which are free to people living in the U.P. and people camping here.

The Cooking Capers consists of recipes on new and different ways to cook vegetables on the grill, some fruit dessert ideas and tips on cooking meat which might be helpful on the day you can't think of something to make.

The next Capers is called "Wild Capers" (or how to tame those wild berries). This leaflet will encourage you to use strawberries, blueberries, raspberries and thimbleberries. Have you heard about the foil crust pastry?

The third bulletin in the series is Crafty Capers. This is designed for kids to have something to do when they are away from their friends and wishing the parents would hurry up and go home. Parents may find them enjoyable too. Some of the ideas are making vegetable prints; playdough jewelry, etc. Another part is on looking at the stars and finding interesting constellations.

Then there is an evaluation card which we would like you to fill out and tell us whether it was worthwhile or not. For returning the card, we will send you three more camping bulletins—Camper's Tips,

Family Living

by Cecile Turner Extension Home Economist

Other Creative Projects From the Beach and Family Games While Traveling. We want you to be honest in your evaluation because this is a first time for this camping series and if you feel it is worthwhile maybe we could have it printed again, or maybe put the funds to printing other bulletins. The card is postage free, so send us your negative comments too.

Give the Extension Office nearest you a call if you are planning to go camping soon, or better yet, stop in and pick up the "Camping Capers". We may make your camping trip more fun.

Hamburger Picnic Bundles

Cut medium sized, firm tomatoes in half crosswise, and season with salt and pepper. Place a thin slice of onion between the halves. Fasten with a toothpick and wrap each tomato in a 6 inch square of heavy aluminum foil. Bake at edge of hot grill for 15 to 20 minutes. Delicious with broiled ham or grilled fish.

Filing Medicare claim forms

People who have Medicare's medical insurance coverage must file their own claim forms to be reimbursed by Medicare. The medical insurance or Part B portion of Medicare covers physician services, and out-patient hospital care.

To claim reimbursement, one must complete the top part of a Request for Medicare Payment. These forms are available at the Social Security office, or at any Blue Cross - Blue Shield office. The top portion of the form requires name, address, Medicare claim number, and signature.

The bottom portion of the form must be completed by the doctor, if he is accepting assignment of Medicare benefits. If he is not accepting assignment, the patient should attach his bills in this space, and mail the form and bills to the Medicare carrier in the state in which he received the services. The address for each state is in the Medicare Handbook.

Persons needing assistance in filing claim forms may see the representative who comes to the Manistique office, located at the second floor of the court house. The office is open from 10:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. Aug. 5 and 19, and Sept. 2 and 16. For further information persons may call a toll free number: 1-800-562-4820.

Pioneer-Tribune

The Manistique Pioneer-Tribune is published each Thursday at Manistique, Mich. as second class mail matter, by the Senger Publishing Company, 212 Walnut St., Manistique, Mich. 49854. Office hours: 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. M-F. Subscription prices: $9 per year in Schoolcraft, Delta, Alger, Luce and Mackinac counties; $11 per year elsewhere. MSHDA approves concept of home for young adults

A home for emotionally handicapped young adults of the Upper Peninsula—called BridgeWood—may be a reality within a year if current work proceeds as expected.

The home would house 12 emotionally impaired adults from 18 to 40 years of age and would involve therapy sessions, arts and crafts, yard maintenance, and general household training.

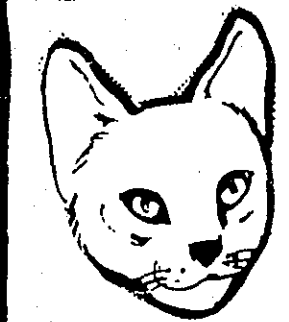

Kathi Peterson, chairperson of the Board of Advisors of BridgeWood, indicated that the board is currently in the process of raising $15,000 in local monies to purchase and develop land.

The Michigan State Housing Development Authority had previously approved the concept of the home. Matching funds will be available on the final approval of the MSHDA.

An informational poll of the U.P. has indicated that nearly 100 young adults could currently profit from such a program. Approximately 50 percent of the eligible clients have expressed a willingness to relocate in Escanaba, the planned site of BridgeWood, to take part in the program.

Senior All-Stars face Marquette

Champions!

EXUBERANT State Savings Bank players rejoice over their 11-5 victory over Curran Chevrolet for the 1977 City Championship Saturday. Coach Jim Marks carries his son Scott off the field in the celebration. (Tribune photo)

The Manistique Senior Little League All-Stars are aiming for the Upper Peninsula Championship with only two games left before they can lay claim to the title.

The All-Stars will take to the diamond Saturday, July 23, at 11 a.m. at Cardinal Field against Marquette in a double elimination tournament game. The second game has been scheduled for 3 p.m. that day.

In case of a split, the two teams will play a third game currently scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday, July 24.

In earlier action, the All-Stars defeated Munising Friday, 6-2, and Menominee Saturday, 11-3. Al Schuetter was the winning pitcher in the Munising game and Bob Danko was the winning pitcher in the Menominee game.

The team sports a .387 batting average with Bill Giles leading the team with four hits. Ben Godlewski follows with three and Kevin Johnson, John Reid, Bob Danko and Gary Keteck each register two.

In last Friday's action against Munising, pitcher Schuetter held the opposing batters to one hit. He struck out ten and walked three.

Munising registered six errors. Munising's ball thrower allowed Manistique batters to claim six hits for eight runs, while walking five. He struck out three batters. Manistique committed three errors.

In Saturday's action against Menominee, Danko held the opponents to four hits, with only three runs registered. Menominee chalked up five errors.

Manistique scored 11 runs on 10 hits and committed three errors.

Marquette has beaten Portage Lake, 4-0, and Ontonagon Valley, 9-10. Marquette has been described as a "good team with good pitching".

PITCHER Bob Danko confers with catcher Brian Smith in the sixth inning of the Senior League All-Stars' 11-3 victory over Menominee on Saturday at Cardinal Field. The locals face Marquette here this Saturday. (Tribune photo)

State Savings upends Curran's for city title; all-stars off to Wells

State Savings Bank ousted Curran Chevrolet as Little League City Champion Saturday, 11-5.

Winning pitcher was Scott Marks, while Mike Godlewski picked up the loss.

Curran's was city champion last year. It's "March Madness" in July as the local Little League All-Stars hit the tournament trail beginning this Friday at the Wells Recreation Field.

In the tournament opener, the defending Area 4 and U.P. Champs, the Gladstone Jaycee Little League, will play the Manistique All Stars at 2 p.m.

The nightcap at 4:30 will have the Area 4 runners-up for the last four years in a row, the Escanaba Jaycee All-Stars, pitted against preseason favorites, the Menominee All-Stars. The title game will be played Saturday at 2 p.m.

Gladstone has made believers out of area baseball fans the past couple of years by winning two straight District 4 titles and last year, the U.P. Championship.

This year's team is expected to be a respectable entry in the tournament and should be a good opponent for any tournament team.

Ray Tapani and Gary Petersen will be coaching the All Stars. The team has three players back from last season's championship team -- Pete Peterson, Scott Boddy and Mike Ballard. The remaining players on the team are Joel Sargent, Steve Smith, Steve Theoret, John Nault, Ted Besaw, Jeff Robinson, Mickey Butler, Anyd Schwartz, Bob Stasewich, Scott Thomma and John Pelon.

For Gladstone there has been no starting line-up announced, and with their biggest asset of four to five pitchers to choose from, the line-up most likely will not be ready until game time.

Manistique is expected to go with their tournament pitcher from last season, Scott Marks. Just recently Marks, who throws a good hard curve ball, pitched and batted his State Savings team to the league title in Manistique. Besides Marks, Manistique is to have a good-hitting ball club.

Escanaba, who will be coached by Bill Dubord and Tom Boyle, is expected to win the tournament on their fine hitting, with Dean Altobelli their possible starting pitcher.

Menominee has a team back with quite a few regulars from last season and will have adequate pitching depth to go along with their hitting and fielding.

All in all, the tournament should be a real crowd pleaser. Fans from Gladstone and Manistique attending the games in Wells should pass the road construction on U.S. Highway 2 and turn left by the Family Inn Restaurant and proceed two blocks to the field.

Big Bay school board reorganizes; examines finances

The Big Bay de Noc School Board of Education held their annual reorganizational meeting recently, re-electing Barry Rochefort as president.

Kent Peterson was chosen as vice-president with William Hardwick as treasurer and Carol Morrison as secretary. New board members Jon Haindl and Carl Van Remortel were administered the oath of office by President Rochefort.

Van Remortel's term on the board had expired this year and he successfully sought re-election. Haindl replaces Lavina Bennette who did not seek re-election. The new board reconvened into its regular meeting and discussed the financial situation facing the Big Bay de Noc School District.

The members heard a report from Superintendent Terry Brooks on the financial needs of the district for the coming year and discussed the possibility of borrowing money against anticipated state aid and anticipated taxes.

No formal action was taken on that matter.

In other financial matters, the board authorized the sale of old and unused books and equipments including trampoline with minimum bid of $75. Bid will be accepted at the superintendents office before 12 noon on Aug. 8.

The council also moved to pay one half the salary for a full-time counselor under a Title IV (Indian Education), program but no formal approval was given on that motion.

The Nahma bus garage, the Garden School, and the building adjacent to the Garden School were all put up on the auction block by the board of education.

Further information can be obtained by calling the school office.

The board also approved the resignation of Mrs. Camilla Haindl as head cook and will advertise among hot lunch employees who have been laid off. In related action the board voted to reduce the kitchen staff from 45 persons to four, including the head cook.

In other action at the July 12 board of education meeting, the board:

-voted to join the Michigan Negotiations Association. A report on negotiations with some staff including custodians, bookkeepers, office personnel and CETA employees, was heard by Van Remortel.

-adopted a school calendar for 1977-78 school year. Teacher orientation has been set for Sept. 6 with students beginning classes on Sept. 7.

-discussed the need for adequate storage at the school with Orville Olsen. Discussion was also held on the selection process of personnel for any openings; and administration evaluations; insurance needs and costs on all buildings; and possible disposal of old band uniforms.

-heard a report from Supt. Brooks on the transfer of property from the Big Bay de Noc School District to the Munising School District.

-moved to adopt a resolution concerning the Campaign Finance Act 388 of 1976 and a resolution on the energy crisis and its relationship to Michigan Economies.

Biggest horse show

The recent 4-H Horse Show held at Central Park was termed a "tremendous success" by members of the 4-H Horse Council at its meeting last week.

The horse show, held July 10, was the biggest in the 5-year history of the local horse shows in terms of entries and gate receipts.

Entries were received from Schoolcraft County, Skandia, Escanaba and Canada. The next horse show is scheduled for Aug. 28 at Central Park.

Pasty sale Thursday

The United Methodist Women will be holding their monthly pasty sale on Thursday, July 28 at the United Methodist Church, New Delta, and Gambles Store, downtown Manistique. Advanced orders can be placed by calling 341-5491 or 341-5812.

River 16th cleanest in state

The Manistique River is rated 16th out of 36 rivers in Michigan for cleanliness, the Department of Natural Resources has reported.

On a water quality index scale of 0 to 100, with 100 being pure, the Manistique River measures an average of 76 at the mouth of the river.

The water quality index (WQI) was developed by the DNR to "communicate in terms people can understand," levels of water quality.

The data which DNR scientists gather from water sampling sites are fed into a computer and processed according to a complex formula. The end result is the single number which can be applied to the scale.

The WQI was developed by the National Sanitation Foundation in Ann Arbor after scientists and water quality experts throughout the country were polled about what constitutes good water.

There are nine factors that determine the quality of water in a stream. They include, oxygen, fecal coliform, pH, biochemical oxygen demand, nitrates, phosphates, temperature, turbidity and total solids.

Water scoring 50 or less on the scale is considered poor, 51 to 70 is medium, and 71-100 is considered good.

The water quality index is not a water pollution index, according to the DNR, with other factors such as weather, geology and geography causing natural variations in water quality. However, WQI's measuring less than 70 are almost always caused by pollution problems. It also does not take into account toxic materials such as DDT, PCB or mercury.

Bids requested

The Big Bay de Noc Board of Education is requesting sealed bids on the following buildings and sites:

1. The Nahma Bus Garage-Nahma
2. The Cooks Bus Garage-Cooks
3. The Garden School and property including the white building on the west side of the property.
4. The Garden School and property excluding the white building on the west side of the property.
5. A separate bid on the white building on the west side of the Garden School to be removed from the premises.

For further information contact the Big Bay de Noc Office at 906-644-2773 or at 906-644-2619.

The Board reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids.

Bids are to be mailed to the Big Bay de Noc School no later than 12:00 noon, August 8, 1977, Cooks, Michigan 49817.

Top-O-Lakes Sport and Gift Shop last May. Weber was sentenced to three years probation with the first 120 days of the probation to be spent in Schoolcraft County Jail. He was further ordered to make restitution to the victim and county in the amount of $693. Charges against three other defendants named in the case were dismissed due to lack of evidence.

State Police

A 22-year old Manistiquie man Wednesday was listed in stable condition at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital after a motorcycle accident on Saturday, July 16. State Police report that James F. Prater, 22, of Chippewa Street, was southbound on C.R. 441 in Hiawatha Township when he failed to negotiate a curve, left the road and struck a tree. On Saturday, July 16, Donald Jenerou, 42 of Manistiquie escaped injury when his small airplane was forced to make an emergency landing near Thompson. According to Police, Jenerou was flying low over the Thompson area when his left wing clipped a tree. Jenerou nosed the plane into treetops. Extensive damage was reported to the plane. The incident is under investigation by the Michigan State Police and the Federal Aviation Administration.

State Police also report a breaking and entering of a cabin in Thompson Township sometime after October of 1976. Police say a cabin owned by Joe Weingartner of Muskegon, was broken into by kicking the door down. It is unknown what was taken at the time. The cabin is located on Flodin Road, south of US-2.

City Police

Manistiquie Public Safety Officers report that Fred Hahne, 82, of 724 Range St., was taken to the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital following a two-car accident in downtown Manistiquie Tuesday, July 14. According to officers, Hahne was driving his car on Walnut Street on south Cedar Street and collided with a car driven by Dean Collar, 44, of Lake Orion. No citations were issued and both cars were badly damaged, officers said. Hahne was treated, released from the hospital and is convalescing at home. A 27-foot Chris Craft boat, owned by an Illinois man ran aground 75 yards off the shore at Lakeview Park at 6:30 p.m. Monday. Manistiquie Public Safety officers reported. Officers say the "Jondee", owned by John A. Wickom of Evanston, Ill., sustained minor damage to the hull. The boat was turned around into the waves and pushed off the bottom into deep water Monday night after the driver and his wife, the only two persons on the boat at the time, apparently got lost in heavy fog and low visibility conditions. Public Safety officers towed the disabled boat into the Manistiquie Harbor using an 18-foot open steel boat owned by Peterson's fisheries of Manistiquie.

Memoirs

by Mark Eisenlohr

AL HALVERSON brought in this label from the Indian River Brewery. The brewery was in operation for a dozen years until it burned down in 1909. Free beer was offered through a spigot near the brewery with a cup hanging handy for thirsty travelers. It may possibly be the only label in private hands as Halverson says he has never seen another brewery label in this area.

Revival of vaudeville in Manistique Aug. 2-6

"Ladies and Germs."
"For instance, take my wife—PLEASE, take my wife."
They may be corny lines but they are probably two of the best known "one liners" that evolved from those vaudeville days of early Hollywood.

The "American Folk Theatre" or "Toby" shows were the fore-runners of vaudeville days, originating in this country long before the Civil War.

Up until the 1930's these shows were the main source of theatrical entertainment in the United States, performing in Opera Houses in the winter and in tent during the summer months.

At the height of their popularity from 1900 to 1930 there were hundreds of such shows on the road, playing in nearly every community in the nation, presenting family entertainment to approximately 70 million people each year.

Today there is only one old-time dramatic repertoire show left in America. It is the Rosier Players of Jackson. And on Aug. 2 they will make their debut here in Manistique sponsored by the Manistique Kiwanis Club.

In Michigan alone there were at one time, at least 30 companies that toured the state each year and it was not uncommon for a small town of 1,000 population to have 800 people out to see the show.

Some of the more mature citizens might remember the Slout Players, The Jack Kelly Show, The Rosalee Nash Players, The Ginnivan Dramatic Company, The Skippy LaMore Show, The Wright Players and The Henderson Stock Company that toured Michigan.

The Rosier Players were formerly the Henderson Stock Company that was formed by Richard R. Henderson in 1898 and today is the last of the old shows that will give three-act plays and vaudeville just as they were given 50 to 100 years ago.

The plays were creative and featured such memorable names as "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde", "Trails of the Lonesome Pine", "Shepherd of the Hills", "Mr. Pepper's Pepper-Upper", and "Mr. Wimple had a Dimple."

While very few plays were of a controversial nature, one exception, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" did more to change the course of a nation than any other play ever written.

Accordingly, this type of theater was good training ground for many young actors that later went on to become famous. A few of the best known were Ed Wynn, W.C. Fields, Warner Baxter, Jennifer Jones, Spencer Tracy, Clark Gable, Ralph Bellamy, Melbourne Stone, Lawrence Welk and Ann B. Davis.

The Rosier Players will be appearing in Manistique for five nights beginning Aug. 2 and running through Aug. 6.

The opening play Tuesday night is "High and Mighty" which takes place in 1898. On Wednesday "Tildy Ann", a 1925 show, will be presented. "The Pedigree" and "The Downfall of Squire Greeley" will be on Thursday and Friday evenings, respectively. Saturday's performance will be "Rosier Roaring Twenties Revue" with music from the twenties and old time skits.

On opening night one lady will be admitted free with each paid adult ticket. Admission is $1.50 for adults and $1 for children under twelve.

The doors open at 7:30 p.m. and curtain time is 8:30 p.m. The plays will be held at the Manistique High School Auditorium.

I received a copy of the Manistique Centennial Official Souvenir Book this past week.

There was some confusion earlier over the motto, and as it turns out, it was understandable. At first it was thought that the motto read "With knowledge of the past, we look to the future."

That motto had appeared on the Germfask Centennial book. "Respect for the Past, Confidence in the Future" was the motto that appeared on the cover of the Manistique Centennial book.

Over the next few weeks, I'll try and recapitulate some of the information of our history as presented in this book, and offer it for your reading. It appears that there are very few copies of this book left so it should make interesting reading.

I did find out a little about the brewery on the Indian River. It was operated for a dozen years before burning in 1909.

Al Halverson, a partner in the famed Halverson Brothers whistling act brought down the following clipping from a newspaper:

"The breweries promoted public acceptance of their beers by gifts of free beer to brewery visitors in their racking rooms—before taxes. The worst villain in the Upper Peninsula Brewery Hall of Infamy is the man who burned the Willebrand-Manistique Brewery.

"The brewery burned on the morning of Sept. 4, 1909 and a jury found a Manistique man guilty of arson. He was sentenced to 6 to 12 years in Jackson Prison. The brewery was not rebuilt. It was an omen of Prohibition, then 11 years distant."

Mr. Halverson also brought in the label from the brewery, reprinted above, possibly the only label in private hands today.

Hand-made eagle

ITS 12-FOOT wing span looming high on a wall of the Bethel Baptist Church, a huge representation of an American eagle was a centerpiece for patriotic program presented Sunday afternoon at the church. From left to right, Rev. Ron Allen, his wife Sheril, daughter Lori and son Mark participated in the program which is being planned again at the church in August. Lori and Mark built the model of the eagle from cardboard paper mache and a wood "skeleton."

Toms helped escort President Carter

Navy Fire Control Technician Third Class David B. Toms, whose wife Diane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lakosky of rural Manistique, provided escort service for a Presidential submarine cruise.

He is serving as a crewmember aboard the destroyer USS Arthur W. Radford, homeported in Norfolk, Va.

His ship provided security services off Cape Canaveral at President Carter made an indoctrination cruise aboard the nuclear submarine USS Los Angeles on Memorial Day weekend.

He joined the Navy in January 1974.

Camping at Indian Lake; Fair plans developing

An outdoor experience in 4-H Camping is being held this week at the Indian Lake West Shore Drive State Park.

Sixty 4-H'ers from Alger, Luce and Schoolcraft counties are in attendance. This is a first-time experience for most Schoolcraft County 4-H'ers.

4-H'ers are preparing and cooking their own food, sleeping in tents, learning about African and Indian Culture, bicycling, canoeing, swimming and various crafts along with just enjoying the out-of-doors way of living.

Parents are welcome to come for a visit on Friday evening.

FAIR PRE-REGISTRATION

Pre-registration of all animal exhibits for the 1977 Schoolcraft County Fair is now underway. Any Schoolcraft County resident may enter an animal exhibit whether you are an adult, youth or 4-H member. Deadline for all entries is Aug. 5, by which time all entries must be registered at the county extension office.

FAIR DEVELOPS

The Schoolcraft County Fair will be a fair for everyone to participate in! During the Aug. 27-28 fair, any Schoolcraft County adult, youth or 4-H member may enter their handicraft and livestock exhibits.

Special emphasis is being placed on the involvement of county businesses, churches, organizations and artisans. Free booth space will be available for such groups and individuals at the fairgrounds. An Aug. 19 deadline is set for all space reservations so we can coordinate activities and determine space requirements.

In addition to fair week activities, the

4H Report

by Chris Keener

Schoolcraft County Fair Association is creating a Souvenir Fair booklet. The booklet will contain information concerning fair exhibit entries and activities. Advertisement pages are also available to local businesses for inclusion in the Fair Booklet. Cost for quarter, half, and whole page ads are $5, $10 and $20 respectively. Upwards of 5,000 booklets will be printed for free distribution throughout the county.

Family, individual and youth sponsorships will be available for inclusion in the Fair Booklet. Adult sponsorships are $7, Youth, $1. These will be included in special sponsorship pages in the 1977 booklet.

Any business, group or individual interested in booth space, advertisements or sponsorships may contact Daniel Pitcher at the County Extension Office, 341-5050. Please call as soon as possible before the Aug. 19 deadline for booth space so we can coordinate activities and determine space requirements. All advertisements and sponsorships must be submitted by Aug. 5 so the fair booklet can be in circulation a few weeks before the fair weekend.

We look forward to everyone's participation and cooperation to make this 1977 revival of the Schoolcraft County Fair as successful as possible.

An approach to the news

What is fit to print? Believe it or not, it's an issue in places other than the courtroom.

Editors and publishers of thousands of community newspapers across the nation continually wrestle with the question. After all, they want to please the largest possible number of readers in order to maintain and build circulation.

In smaller communities especially, news policies can determine the public's attitude toward the veracity and respectability of the local press. Moreover, news coverage can have an effect on the paper's volume of advertising.

One editor-publisher out in Kansas, though a news veteran, recently retreated from a policy of personally covering local board and council meetings. The heat got too strong.

"Our policy in the future will be to publish what comes in the front door, or what is brought in to us as news—so long as it is not controversial," publisher Everett Daves wrote in an editorial on the front page of the Clifton News-Tribune. "We will no longer cover city council or school board meetings so as not to upset those who don't like to be quoted or those who don't like the newspaper reporting those things said in public that may be detrimental to the community image."

It seemed like a good idea, because it was easier to change an editorial philosophy than to change the minds of readers who said that coverage of controversial matters "makes the town look bad."

But the new editorial approach lasted only one week. Complaints about the blandness of the subsequent issue came from readers and advertisers alike. And the publisher-reporter went back to routine coverage of boards that are responsible to the public.

That incident occurred in an area smaller in population than Schoolcraft County. Still, similar questions regarding news policies sometimes are directed at this paper.

And there are no precise answers, for despite all the rules taught in journalism schools, the newspaper field is far from being a science.

There are some considerations, however, that underpin the Pioneer-Tribune's approach to the news. They include:

--a news item on any issue is usually not the final word on a subject. Many community matters are long-running and connected to other problems and concerns in the community. A week's worth of newprint is like a passing glance.

--care must be taken, despite the fleeting nature of the value of a single newspaper issue, to see that both sides are represented in any controversial matter. Fairness demands that much.

--controversial issues should be exposed in the news when they bear significance to the public welfare. The activities of boards of government, education and institutions responsible to the public certainly fall in this category. The public does not merely want to know—it needs to know what such boards are doing.

--the avenue of public expression through the letters to the editors columns should remain as open as possible to permit divergent views to be aired for the public's consideration. In this fashion, the principle of "freedom of the press" can be extended beyond the whims of editors and publishers—and to the public, on which its vitality rests.

A judge has decreed that the trouble with this nation is most people are so selfish that they would rather go to the bathroom than go to court.

The Lapeer County Press recently surveyed its readers, asking them which they wanted to spend tax money on: a public toilet or a new courthouse. The toilet won by a 3-to-1 margin.

District Judge John Spires was outraged. In a letter to the editor, he said:

Human beings are, for the most part, incapable of seeing beyond their own little egocentric world. They cannot take the broad view, looking to the best interests of their community and the nation. They sit on the throne of their water closet, and see only the contents of the bathroom, with no conception of things beyond those four walls. And it is this shortcoming of human nature which will ultimately lead to the destruction of our democracy.

Wow.

In case you haven't been paying attention, Lapeer County is where I used to live and work. It's 60 miles north of Detroit. I still have strong ties there, including a son who swipes the tires and a house I can't sell. I still care about what happens to the people there.

And I must confess that one of the things I always have cared most about is what happens to the people in downtown Lapeer who have to go to the bathroom but can't find one.

I worry more about them than I do about lawyers and drunks who might sweat out each other because there's no air conditioning in an old courthouse.

I always figured that my preference for public plumbing over new courtrooms was an innocent—even noble—choice, caused by an ordinary compassion for the human condition. I didn't think I was doing any great harm beyond prompting courthouse employees to grind their teeth at me.

But now Judge Spires says my preference for johns can lead to the destruction of our democracy. As I said earlier, wow. Lapeer has the oldest courthouse still in use in Michigan. A distinction noted by a historical marker on the front lawn. Most residents of Lapeer are proud of the wooden building, and they guard it jealously against whippersnappers who would replace it with a monument of bricks and mortar.

It generally is agreed that the ancient courthouse, built in 1839, will always stand and will someday be a museum, after the judges have been moved into new chambers.

But when will that move be made? The

If It Fitz

by Jim Fitzgerald

Judges says it is years overdue. The state's oldest courthouse may be quaint, but it also is cramped and cold in the winter and hot in the summer. When jurors need a restroom, they must be marched across the street to a restaurant.

Years ago there was a public restroom in the courthouse basement, but it was closed because of vandalism.

The space was converted into offices for Judge Spires and his staff. One night a troubled soul, irked by the absence of public facilities, used the judge's carport.

The downtown area was renewed recently with millions of federal dollars, but public toilets were not included. The last gas station has closed. A couple of bars offer johns, but many women do not want to parade their squirming children through taverns.

Most of the stores hide their restrooms and issue maps to employees only.

I know a young man who once had to go so bad that he accepted employment at Kroger's as a checkout boy just long enough to cure his discomfort.

It is a problem that has bugged downtown Lapeer shoppers for many years. I am not surprised that these people want their money spent on $30,000 public restrooms before a $3 million courthouse is built.

The average person may get inside a courtroom once in a lifetime. How often does he go to the john?

Judge Spires claims that our democracy will be destroyed by persons who worry more about bathrooms than courtrooms. I suggest that he is forgetting what a democracy is all about. It is government by the people.

The people decide what is most important to the people.

Democracy suffers when the people don't get what they want. This happens when the people's power is abused by government officials who stop looking to the best interests of their community two minutes after they get the keys to the executive washroom.

A legislative bill on old profession

The other weekend, the Michigan legislature adjourned after a marathon and sometimes stormy session. Legislators got down to name calling as they were locked into the house and senate chambers so work that had been piling up all year could be passed before the session ended.

During the final 24 hour meeting of the legislature, 3.8 billion in budget bills were approved. Of the over 400 bills that were introduced in the Senate during the past session, only 40 won final approval. Fortunately, the legislators now have two months to lick their wounds, dream up new legislation and explain to the people in their home districts how productive the current session really was.

Reading the account of the final chaotic moments of the Michigan legislature reminded me of an incident in Montana not more than two or three years ago. The legislature for that state, in its infinite wisdom, had introduced a bill to legalize the world's oldest profession—prostitution. That prompted one Montana editor to put his tongue firmly in cheek and write:

It doesn't matter whether the legislature meets annually or biennially, or, for that matter, three times a year. The lawmakers will always find more than enough to do.

One reason is that legislation generates legislation. A law passed this year will have to be corrected, amended or otherwise modified...even repealed...next year. Often, laws are passed which produce effects the sponsor didn't anticipate, and those effects have to be dealt with later.

A good example is the proposal to legalize prostitution, introduced by a Billings legislator.

We can all thank our lucky stars that bill was killed.

Had the measure passed, the next legislative session would have seen a flood of bills designed to make prostitution a more perfect profession. Among the first would be proposals to set up complicated rate structures, with a concurrent drive to place brothels under the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission.

Questions of advertising regulation would arise. Some senator would seek to attach a presumption of malice to the transmittal of venereal disease.

Environmentalists would insist on a Sporting House Siting Act, designed to keep the houses out of the scenic areas (or in the scenic areas, we're not sure). Other environmentalists would oppose them altogether on the grounds they constitute pollution. The other side would say they provide jobs.

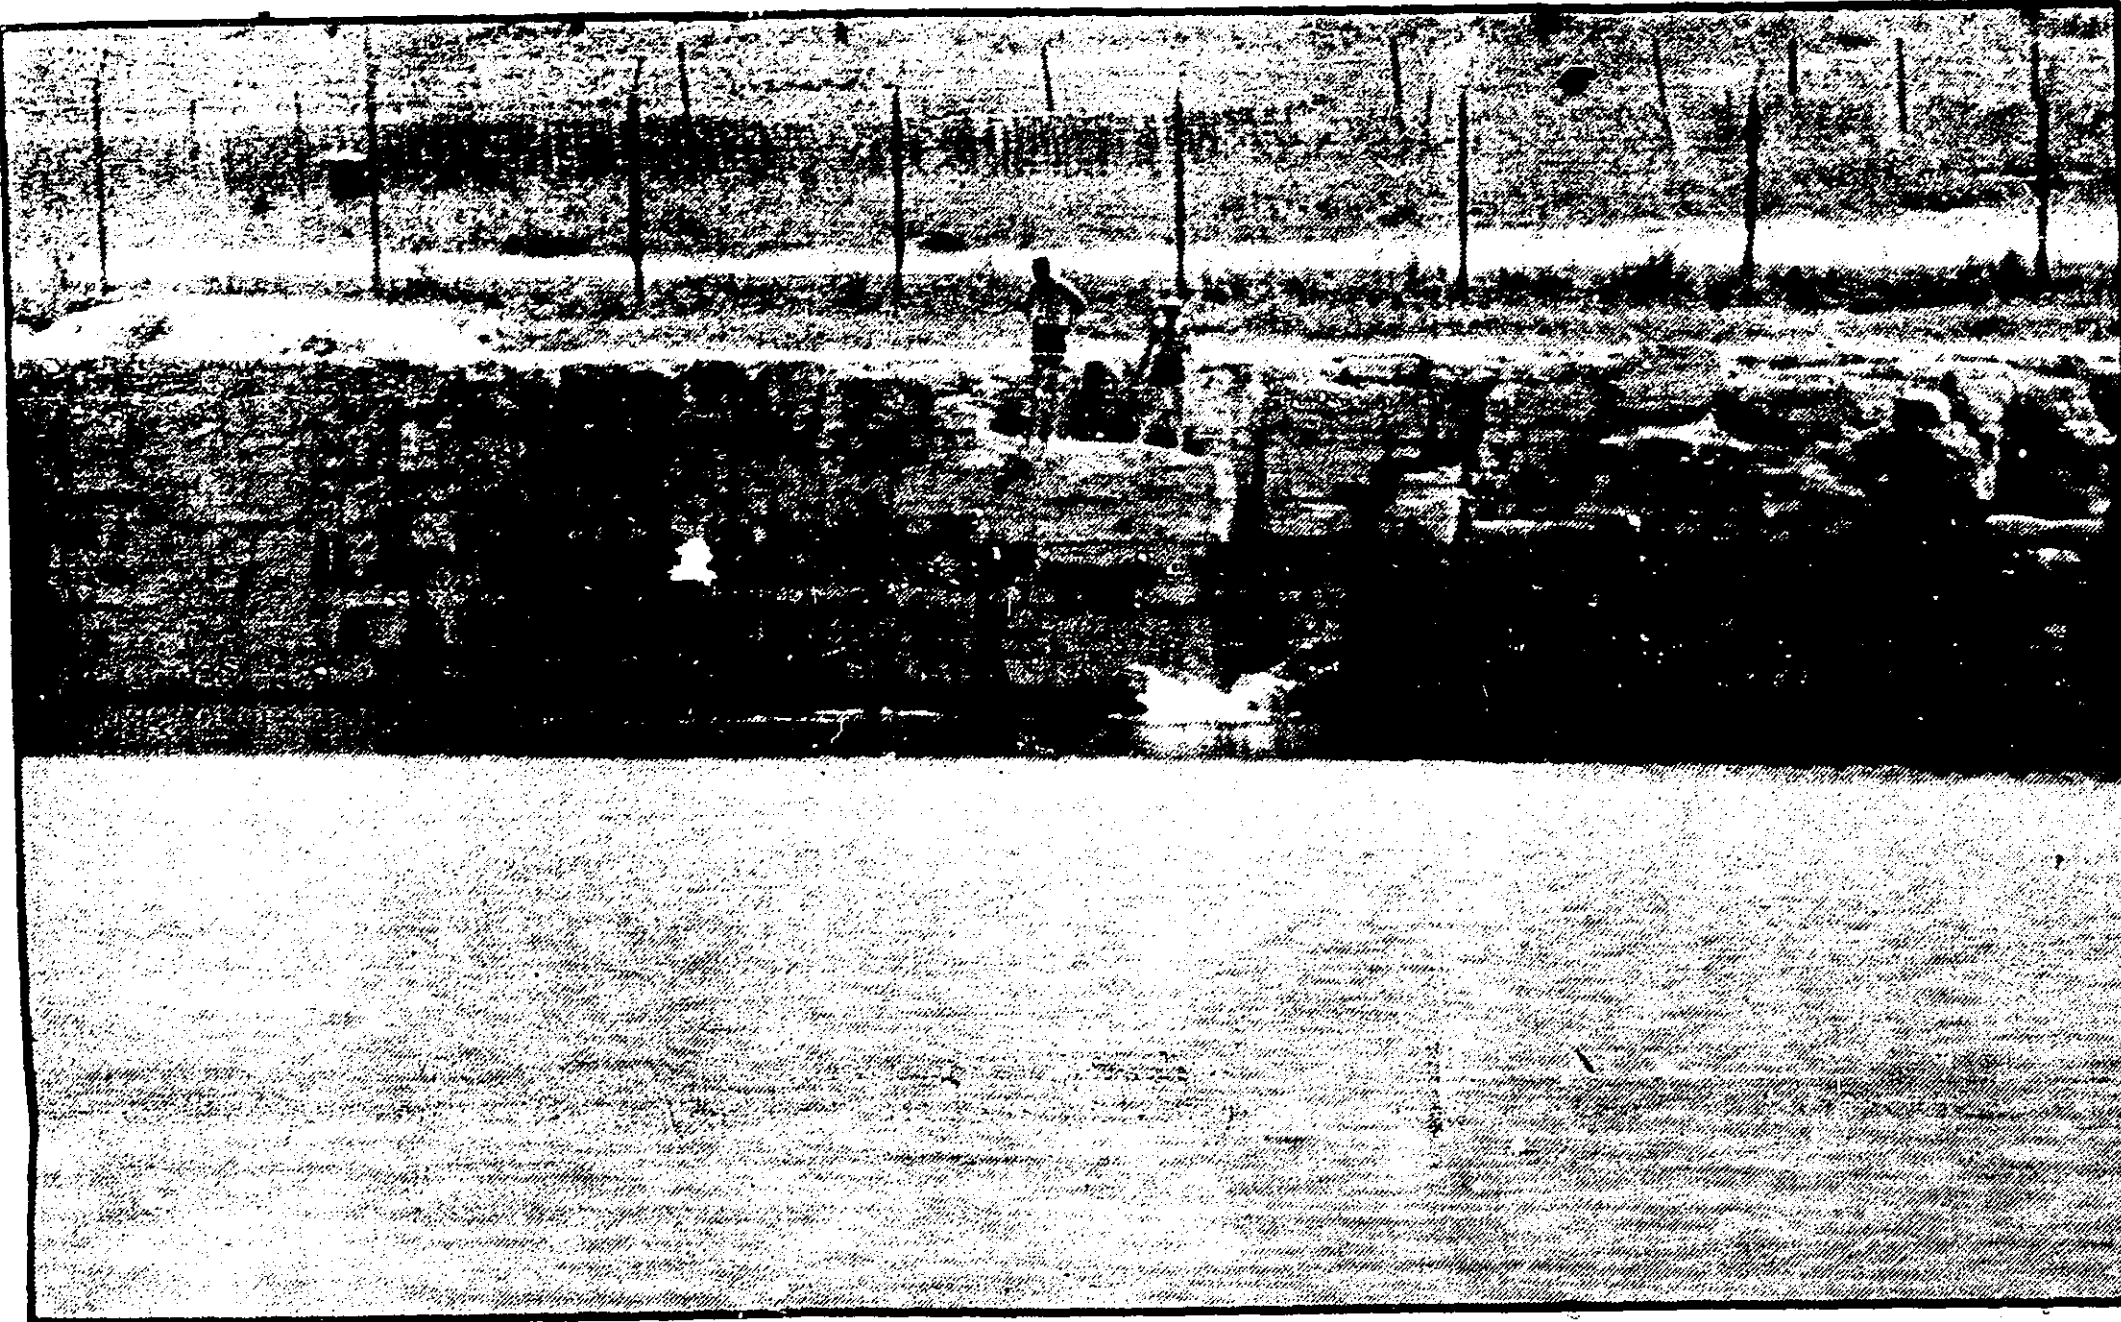

The Civil Rights people would appear to demand that the houses be kept free of discrimination by race and, we're afraid, by sex, too. Senior citizens would lobby to make sure no lady is deprived of her job on account of age. Women's lib groups would insist on measures to protect the dignity of the prostitute.

Licensing and taxation proposals would occupy committees endlessly.

Naturally, labor would sponsor bills to establish rules for job safety, hours, and piecemeal. There'd be the question of union houses and the right to strike. Vacation rights, health insurance and pension benefits would have to be settled.

Consumer groups would argue for refund provisions. Welfare groups would argue for free fun provisions.

And the legislature would run overtime.

THE BRACING waters of the quarry in Central Park may look inviting, but swimmers in the polluted pond are cooling off at their own risk. The area has been fenced off and signs declare no trespassing, yet youngsters on Saturday sought relief from the 80-degree temperatures by jumping in the 30-foot deep waters. Parents are advised to help their children find a safer place to swim. (Tribune photo)

'Monster' movies sound familiar

The latest onslaught of movie monsters is upon us. Gigantic sharks, vengeful whales, unruly gorillas, and ornery octopuses are sufficing some of our fine Hollywood stars.

It is difficult to see what draws the crowds to these films, but they seem to be the rage once again. In my day, my pals and I were content to watch monstrous birds, ants and caterpillars overrun cities as our popcorn trembled.

Back to 1977, we may not have recognized the monster potential of things around us. If so, here's a movie guide to make things easier:

"Paws" (2 stars): A pervasive thing that seems to have no head emerges out of fresh water, tormenting fishermen, hunters, boaters and city councilmen. It is suspected of mental warfare, as its code name turns up on documents, letters and park signs, provoking a blood-curdling scream. "DeeEnArghhh." Efforts to reason with the beast prove futile, but humans try to bargain their way to the stalanete, anyway. Melodrama.

"The Building That Moved." (2 stars): An entire community stands agape as a huge exhibition building which has no form becomes a battleground. Persons armed with hockey sticks hold their ground as an aggregation on horseback lays siege to the apparition, which suddenly moved a few hundred yards. Mystery.

"The Shallows" (1 star): A lake mysteriously becomes an ocean of islands. Puzzled residents try to determine if the ground is rising, while looters scoop up fish in knee-deep water. Science fiction.

"Turtle" (no rating available): Apathy grips a town as a massive snapping turtle emerges from Lake Michigan and begins an agonizingly slow journey over building tops. County and City government can't agree on whether to make soup or sell tickets to watch the drawn-out spectacle. Three and a half hours.

On second thought, reading is better for you anyway.

Need for a city clean-up

To the Editor: Speaking of clean-up day for the city of Manistique.

Here are a few comments I've heard, from locals: "It's a depressing sight re-entering the city—all the litter and garbage." The tourists: "The stores are clean—." Locals: "It's too bad we have such dirty streets." Others: "This is the dirtiest town I've ever lived in—"

Who is the blame? Comment: Not all young people are irresponsible about litter. I've been stopped and asked where they might put a neatly tied bag of garbage. I've seen other young people also disposing of etc. Unfortunately, there are those who do not care.

But there is litter and lots of it—old flattened out beer cans and other litter that's not been touched or bothered with for who knows how long?

One suggestion or possibility: People are always raising money for some worthy cause—and there are plenty—why not raise money by cleaning up certain sections of the city? It's a thought!

Incidentally it has occurred to me if there are other planets, I hope they are not as polluted or treated as shabbily as old Mother Earth.

CBC in public eye

To the Editor:

Many thanks for the publicity given the 1977 CBC program here in Schoolcraft County. We were given a generous amount of publicity including pictures which kept us in the public eye to put across the best drive ever.

Thanks for Ride-In

To the Editor:

We finally decided to take a few minutes from our busy schedules to say thank you to everyone for the great time on the '77 Ride-In.

A big thank you to Sue and San at the Fireside Inn for making us feel so at home and comfortable and to Fred at the Three Mile Inn for putting up with us. Next, a special thank you to Mrs. Joe Davis for letting us use Joe even though she and the kids were sick with the flu. She deserves the bouquet of the week.

Joe is a super guide and each year we enjoy hearing the adventures of our forefathers. Must not forget the other guides Jim Wood, Paul Villemure, Joe Wood and Casey—all these were not only day guides but helped us find our way home in the wee morning hours. We hope to have Fred LaMuth with us next year—we really missed him.

Next is Jesse Gutierrez who made sure we were all happy and having a good time. "What time is it Jesse?" Last a sincere thank you to the people in your town for sharing it with us for the three days. You are great people and we really appreciate your hospitality you so generously offer. We hope to visit again with you next year.

School Census Shows More Boys than Girls Here

In Schoolcraft County there are 40 more boys in a 5-19 year old category than girls. This was determined from the 1951-52 school census released this week by Ada Watson, County Superintendent of Schools.

Only in the age group from 1-5 years do the girls outnumber the boys, as is common through the country.

In the 1 to 5 year group there 218 boys and 257 girls. In the 5-19 age group there are 628 boys and 589 girls. The grand total from 1-19 is 1682 students.

Women representatives of the Indian Lake Golf Club attended an invitational golf tournament on Wednesday, July 16 at the Escanaba Country Club.

Those attending were: Mrs. E. J. Thompson, Mrs. Earl H. LeBrasseur, Mrs. Barney Johnson, Mrs. Carl Carlson, Mrs. Dan Estren, Mrs. Bud Malloy, Mrs. John Kasun, Jr., Mrs. Nick Modders, Mrs. Elmwood Taylor, Mrs. W.W. Cockram and Miss Joan Sheahan.

Feedback: millage

By a three to one ratio, respondents to last week's question are opposed to holding another school millage election in Manistique this year.

Some responses follow:
No (6): "Taxpayers just can't take it...we've wasted enough money already...we have to live within our budget, too...save money for school instead of on elections...got enough taxes as it is. They just doubled ours...our taxes are high enough...we're on Social Security and they raised our taxes so much I don't know how we're going to pay it...on the installment plan, I guess...I don't think they should hold another election this year."
Yes (2): "Yes, for the sake of the kids."

This week's question: Did the fair board make the right decision in favoring the Central Park area over the Pines for a multi-purpose building to house a county fair, winter ice rink and horse shows? Call the Tribune at 341-5200 and ask for the news department.

Emergency help

To the Editor: Please allow me to use your "Letter to the Editor" column to try and reach some of the many people who assisted me when I was in an accident on Friday evening, July 1.

It's a terrifying experience to find yourself in an overturned car; but I was fortunate to receive help from a number of unknown "passers-by." They were real "good shepherds" in many ways; and I want them to know how much I appreciate all that they did for me. To the unknown doctor, a special "thanks." Your stopping is all too rare in today's world.

Also, I hope you and your readers know how fortunate you are to have fast, competent, and concerned emergency help. Some of the by-standers sounded "local", and the Engadine ambulance and Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital emergency room personnel were all you could ask for and more.

Thank you, everyone.

P.S. Other than some bruises and sore muscles I'm fine thanks to seat belts that held and the hand of God. The accident took place on U.S. 2 near Millakokia Lake Rd. just after 6 p.m.

Senior Citizens

by Eileen Males

We have some important events coming up that we'd like to bring to your attention. July 29 we are invited to attend the Delta-Menominee-Schoolcraft Community Action Agency picnic for Senior Citizens at the Pioneer Trail Park. The picnic starts at 2 p.m. with games, prizes and dancing. The meal is between 4 and 5 p.m. and costs $2.25. Call 341-2021 for reservations.

Aug. 12 is the date for the Senior Citizens' Convention in Munising. The cost is $4 per person and reservations must be turned in immediately. This will take care of all tours and meals. We'll leave at 9 a.m. and will return in the evening. Our band will compete with other U.P. bands.

Aug. 19 is Senior Citizens Day at the U.P. State Fair held in Escanaba. Our queen entry for Senior Citizens Fair Queen is Bertha Davis. So we'll be taking a bus over for that day if enough people care to go.

Next Friday, July 22, Jerry and Bob Sleeper are hosting a potluck party for the senior citizens of our area at their cottage on Smith Lake. Everyone is invited. Bring a dish to pass and your own plate, cup and silverware.

We really had an enjoyable and fun time at the Arrohead Inn last Friday afternoon. Maggie and Howard Benson did a beautiful job in hosting the party and Gene Newman took the people on his pontoon boat and showed them a very enjoyable time. We wish to thank these three individuals who helped us out in this endeavor. We really appreciate their time and concern to make others happy.

Monday morning of this week we had the pleasure of entertaining 41 seniors from the Marquette Center. They said our center really was appealing and commented about the warmth and cordiality of our center's staff. That makes me feel real good because we are concerned and all of us wish to feel we are accepted and loved.

We wish the following birthday greetings: Phyllis Beaudry, Roxie Klarich and Elfreda Mulligan, July 21; Elizabeth Erickson, July 23; Christine Lindstrom and Clifford O'Donnell, July 24; Pauline Oberg and Linda Walters, July 25; Bertha Davis, Al Dean and Esther Sablack, July 26; Rhoda Olesak, Lefey Edwardson, Eva Sangraw, Patty Johnson, Lillian Schurer and Addie Burnis, July 27; Anthony Buech and Stanley and Carlyon, July 28.

Thanks go out to the following for donations to the Thrift Store: Jane Henson, Elma Bowersox, Thor and Florence Reque, Ida Howard, Dorothy Wieland, Mary Blomquist, Mabel Hill, Donna Swayer, Nel Nelson, Frank and Rose Provo, Mary Carlson, Esther Hanyno, Marian Haas, Barb and Dick Bonifas, Mary and Cathy Moffat and Hazel Bolitho. Memorials were given to the Manistique Senior Citizens Center in the name of Henning Mattson by Agnes Erickson and Elsie Johnson of Ferndale, A.G. and Veramae Erickson of Detroit, the Samuel McFarlands of Rapid River and Charles E. Howard of Berkley.

A memorial was given to the Manistique Senior Citizens Center in the name of Agnes Swanson Wigginton by her husband, A.H. Wigginton.

Another memorial was given to the center in the name of James Mattson by his mother, Mildred Mattson.

Building fund donations came from Dorothy and Edward Cook, Lorna and Jim Mitchell, and Mabel DeSautel.

Mrs. John Thornton of Littleton, Col. sent me a book she co-authored on New and Innovative Senior Citizens Programs. Mrs. Thornton is Susan Atwater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Atwater.

Baked goods were brought in by Esther Bonifas, Elma Bowersox, Elsie Cowman and Freda Smith.

We wish to thank Peg Beckman for the lovely afghan she made and to Betty Ericson for the toaster cover and her dish covers she made to be sold at our Thrift store with proceeds going to the center.

All of these acts of kindness are deeply appreciated. May God bless you for your love that you've shown us by this support.

If anyone living on meager incomes needs yard work done, storm windows (first floor) puttied and painted, walls painted, homes cleaned, windows washed, odd jobs done, call me at the center because we have people who are employed here to help you and this can be done at no cost to you. This service is for people who are up in years, living on a low income and cannot do these tasks themselves. We'd be tickled pink to give you a lift, so call us at 341-2021.

Ian Crawshaw

to present concert

There will be a conference on Practical Christian Living at the First Baptist Church on Aug. 5-7, featuring Ian Crawshaw.

Services will be held Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday morning. Ian Crawshaw will present a Sacred Concert on Sunday evening.

Calvary Mission Sunday has been set for Sept. 18. Details will be announced soon. The 5-Day Clubs, Backyard Bible Schools, are once again being planned for the First Baptist Church. Back yards are needed by the church.

Guest speaker

Rev. Michael Peterlin from the United Methodist Church was the guest speaker at Church of the Redeemer, Presbyterian, Marvin Frederickson was worship leader, and John L. Thompson the soloist.

Next Sunday, Rev. Stephen Graham of the First Baptist Church will be guest speaker, with Betty LaPointe Soloist, and Philip Ott worship leader.

Patricia Putvin on honors list

Big Rapids-Ferris State College honored 1,622 students for scholastic excellence, including Patricia Putvin of Manistique, during the spring quarter by naming them to the academic honors list.

To be named to the list, a student must earn at least a 3.25 average on a 4.0 basis and carry a full academic load. A full load is defined as 14 quarter hours of credit.

On dean's list

Stephen Wood of 803 Range St., Manistique has been named to the dean's list at Marquette University for the recent grading period, the university reports.

NMU Board of Control meeting

G. KATHERINE WRIGHT recently presided at her first Northern Michigan University Board of Control meeting as newly-elected chairman. Here, she confers with Dr. Larry Sell, vice chairman. Mrs. Wright is a Marquette housewife and mother of four children. She has been on the NMU board since 1977. Dr. Sell, a Manistique physician and Northern alumnus, was named to an eight-year term in 1975.

Memorial books donated

The Big Bay de Noc School Library has been presented a book in memory of Mrs. Helen Krutina from the John Batchelder family.

"How to make Treasures from Trash", by Artis A. Eckstein, displays dozens of designs for gifts, accessories, and home ornaments made from throw-aways. The book comes illustrated with color plates, photos and step-by-step drawings.

Ten projects described within the book are easy and varied to accommodate the blunt-nose-scissors set to the more experienced craft teachers. The book is processed and ready for fall circulation.

"The Vogue Sewing Book" revised edition, by Vogue Pattern Company, has been presented to the Manistique School & Public Library as a memorial to the late Madge Jenero.

The new publication, given by members of her family, contains, easy to follow, step-by-step instructions on fabrics, colors, fashions, patterns and accessories with a special section on sewing methods required today for men's fashions.

The book is currently available for circulation.

Tricounty picnic

The Second Annual Tricounty Area Senior Citizens picnic is scheduled for 2 p.m. Friday, July 29, at Delta County's Pioneer Trail Park. Theresa Nelson, Escanaba Center coordinator, has announced.

"A variety of games, contests and food will be available for those elderly participating at the picnic," Mrs. Nelson said. "Senior citizens from Community Action's eight activity centers have indicated a lot of interest. In addition, seniors from the Manistique Center have been invited," she added.

Mrs. Nelson said she hopes to have everyone registered for the picnic by July 22. The registrations will also be used toward door prizes.

More information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Nelson at 786-8850 or by contacting the senior citizens center in your vicinity.

TRANQUILITY

Mrs. Baxter looks as if she doesn't have a care in the world. She is always perfectly groomed. Her house and her garden, with its beautiful flowers, are always just so.

She isn't trying to give a false impression; in fact, she would be horrified at the thought. But the truth is that things have not been all that easy for her. Her husband is a semi-invalid; their only son was killed in a tragic accident. She works in her husband's business three days a week, to help keep things going.

Where does she get her serenity? How has she had the courage to accept so much adversity with so much grace? A friend asked her one day, and she pointed to the tall, white steeple at the end of the street.

Many people have found their answer in the Church. Have you looked there?

YCC proves valuable to USFS

"We would like to accomplish our work with them," says Nils Johnson, camp director of Clear Lake Camp ground, referring to youngsters from all areas of the state of Michigan who are currently participating in a Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) program.

The YCC is sponsored by the United States Forest Service, using funds provided to the Department of Agriculture by the Department of Interior.

During the five-week program, the youngsters stay at Clear Lake Campground with their families in the Manistee District and help working in the Manistee District of the Hiawatha National Forest. However, the work is in areas of forest management.

The past week, the crew of eight youngsters has been working in the Clear Lake Campground, a new type of forest management project.

At present, the youngsters are currently working on the Clear Lake Campground, a new type of forest management project.

The program has been operating since 1970 after an act of Congress established the program for youths from 15 to 18 years of age. According to Johnson, it is expanding each year.

The "enrollees" as the youth are called, work a 40-hour week and are paid $2.30 an hour minimum wage. Ten hours of each week is spent in environmental education.

"We have several objectives that we try to accomplish in the YCC program," says Johnson. "First, there's the work projects and second, the environmental education that is run in conjunction with the work projects."

The youngsters are recruited from high schools all over the state. They fill out an application, send it to Washington and a computer makes random selections from the applications.

The YCC camps are run throughout the United States and its territories. Some are conducted under the auspices of the USFS, others under the National Parks Service, and others state and recently by municipalities. It's everywhere that there are young kids," says Johnson.

During their five-week stay, the youngsters will camp at Clear Lake, which offers them several cabins and buildings.

During off hours, Johnson oversees them and schedules a variety of activities to occupy their time. Each weekend two hikes and a canoe trip are planned, as well as field trips and movies as part of their environmental education.

When out working in the field, they are under the direction of Steve Mumford, project coordinator, and one of eight crew leaders.

Mumford coordinates the projects that each crew of eight will be working on for that day and oversees each operation, checking work and seeing that everything progresses on schedule.

"Safety is stressed from the time they get here," says Mumford, who adds that only a few cuts, bruises, and blisters have been registered with the camp medic. "When they start a new job, the crew leader gives them specific safety talks, telling them about specific safety hazards involved with that job."

Two types of YCC camps are conducted by the government, residential and non-residential.

In the residential camp, enrollees are at the camp 24 hours a day, seven days a week for five weeks. In non-residential, enrollees work an eight-hour day and live at the camp for five days.

According to Johnson, the residential camp like the one at Clear Lake, provides a better service for both the sponsoring

One of four crews currently working under the Youth Conservation Corps, was in Manistee this past week helping Rick Larson, city recreation director, install new fence posts at a ball diamond in Central Field, above photo. The YCC will also help in constructing the Fifth Street Park, currently planned by the city. They should begin work within the next few weeks.

Clearwater Camp facilities that house the YCC. At top is the medic trailer, a "first" for the Corps this year. Below is one of eight cabins that house the youngsters. A dining room and a recreation hall are provided also. A stereo in the rec hall is quite popular, according to the YCC director, but no television is provided for the youngsters. A swim area is also provided, bottom photo, on one of the clearest lakes in Schoolcraft County.

A tedious but necessary task in forestry is the collection of Jackpine cones, above photo. At left and below, trimmers work in a Jackpine stand on the Eight Mile Cut Across. The trees are trimmed from ground level to 17 feet, insuring a better yield of lumber in future years. The tree trimming crew works in groups of three, with each member wielding a larger saw than the previous trimmer.

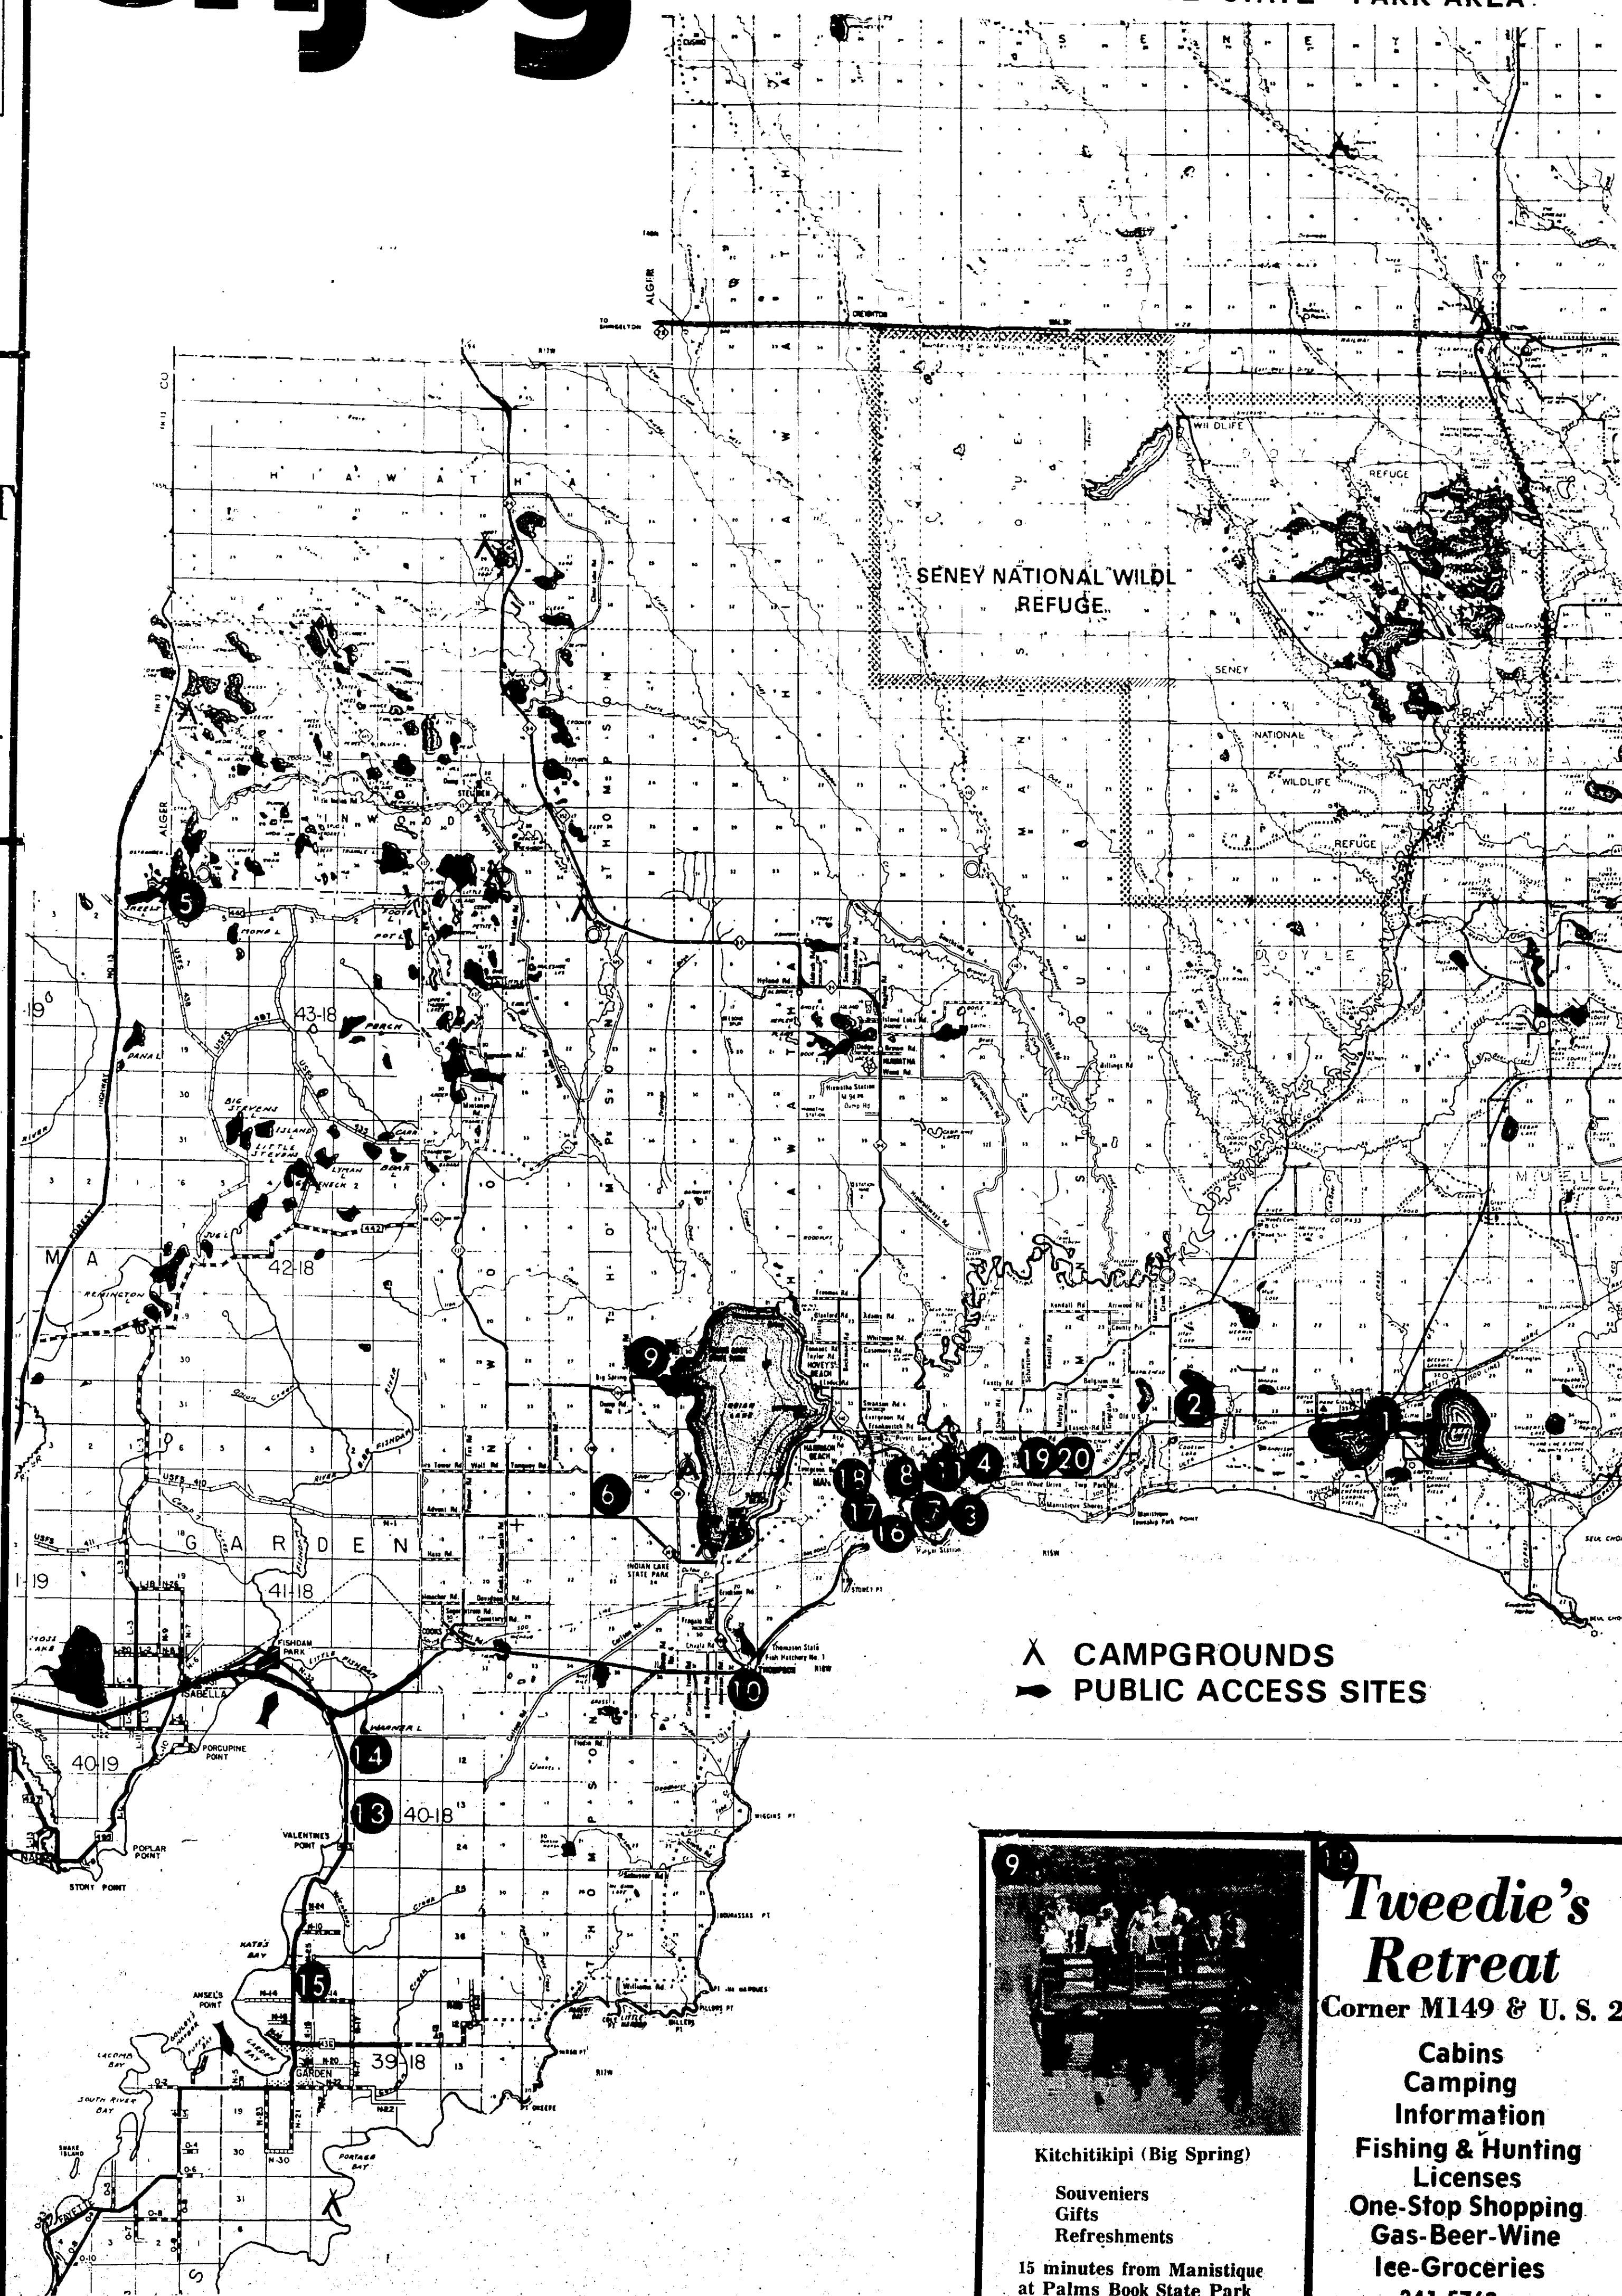

Steve Mumford, project coordinator, discusses the day's activities with Bruce O'Donnell, top right photo, one of eight crew leaders. O'Donnell's crew was picking Jackpine cones that day. The cones will later be heated, their seeds extracted, and used in replanting burned over areas. According to Mumford, the Jackpine tree is known as the fire species which regenerates best after a fire when a very little plant competition is offered. This girl, top left, works on collecting the 100 bushels of cones that the forest service will require. Lyman Lake also underwent some changes these past few days as YCC workers, left and above photos, work on installing posts to prevent cars from travelling in highly erodable areas. The workers are not allowed to use any power tools and were required to cut the cedar logs by hand.
